THE PENGUIN DICTIONARY OF QUOTATIONS

To fill up a work with these scraps may, indeed, be considered as a downright cheat on the learned world, who are by such means imposed upon to buy a second time in fragments and by retail, what they have already in gross, if not in their memories, upon their shelves.

FOREWORD

A DICTIONARY OF QUOTATIONS MUST SERVE AT LEAST THREE PURPOSES. Its owner must be able to find, with the aid of the index, the speaker or writer responsible for a phrase that has stuck – or half-stuck – in his head, or for a reference found during his reading. His dictionary must guide him to the context, giving him, where possible, line and page references to some easily available edition. By use of the index too, he must be able to see what has been said on a particular subject by a variety of men; to turn up such key-words as God, life, love, money, peace, war, word, and world is to discover a babel of opinions, with one or more of which he may care to embellish his own writing or conversation at the proper moment. Direct use of the first section, moreover, arranged under alphabetical order of authors, will give him some of the outstanding statements made by the great, or by the not-so-great who have for some reason been remembered.

It is remarkable that it is not always those who are most read or respected who have left the greatest number of sayings in the popular memory. Samuel Butler the elder, for example, can have few readers today, yet his once universally quoted political satire Hudibras has enriched the language with a great number of almost proverbial maxims, many of which are included in the present book. Wilde and Shaw coined ready-made quotations as they wrote; Henry James and D. H. Lawrence, though at present even more widely read, have left few phrases that are remembered. Single observations of theirs can seldom be detached from their context.

A large proportion of the quotations to be found here are necessary inclusions in any dictionary of quotations. The Bible, Shakespeare, Paradise Lost, and Boswell's Life of Johnson inevitably contribute a great number of pages. The compilers' free choice is limited to modern authors; and here they have to decide what will be read and quoted during the lifetime of their book. What to take from W. H. Auden, Christopher Fry, John Osborne, and Dylan Thomas; which, if any, of our present-day politicians will be remembered for anything at all; what newspaper, broadcasting, or advertising catchwords will last longer than the customary few months: these are problems which force them to take risks, at the price of possibly proving bad prophets.

Not only in the choice of modern authors, but also in the selection from writings in foreign languages, the present compilers have taken their own line. With the decline in the study of the Classics, it has seemed sensible to dispense with all quotations in the original Greek, and severely to limit the representation of Latin authors. On the other hand French is more adequately covered in this book than in most other dictionaries, and quite a few entries have been admitted in German. All foreign quotations are followed by a prose translation; and often, where the original does not stick in the English memory, the translation only is given. It would be pedantic, for instance, to print the very well-known sayings from Don Quixote in Spanish, since the book is invariably read in English.

Quotations are taken from the most readily available source; those from the Bible are, except when otherwise described taken from the Authorized Version; those from Shakespeare from the one-volume Oxford edition edited by W. J. Craig; those from the English poets from the Oxford Editions of Standard Authors; and those from the Latin from the Oxford Classical Texts. Line numbering invariably differs from edition to edition, particularly in Shakespeare, on account of the interpolated prose passages. Those possessing other editions therefore must be prepared to glance up and down the page.

The compilers hope that the book will prove easy to use. The index acts as a guide not only to the page on which the quotation is given, but to the number of that quotation on the page; and the indexing is, we hope, so thorough that the user will find the saying he wants by turning up any of the more striking words in it, that stick in his mind. Finally we hope that, in addition to its use as a reader's and writer's companion – and occasional aid in the solution of crossword puzzles – The Penguin Dictionary of Quotations will give some pleasure to those who browse in it.

9 Philistine must have originally meant, in the mind of those who invented the nickname, a strong, dogged, unenlightened opponent of the chosen people, of the children of light. [Ib. 'Heinrich Heine']

10 Philistinism! – We have not the expression in English. Perhaps we have not the word because we have so much of the thing. [Ib.]

11 [Shelley] a beautiful and ineffectual angel beating in the void his luminous wings in vain. [Essays in Criticism, 2nd Series, 'Byron']

12 He never spoke out. [(Quoting letter from Gray's friend, James Brown) Ib. 'Gray']

13 Gray, a born poet, fell upon an age of reason. [Ib.]

14 The difference between genuine poetry and the poetry of Dryden, Pope, and all their school, is briefly this: their poetry is conceived in their wits, genuine poetry is conceived and composed in the soul. [Ib.]

15 [Poetry] a criticism of life under the conditions fixed for such a criticism by the laws of poetic truth and poetic beauty. [Essays in Criticism, 2nd Series, 'The Study of Poetry']

16 He [Chaucer] lacks the high seriousness of the great classics, and therewith an important part of their virtue. [Ib.]

ST AUGUSTINE 354–430

12 Thou hast created us for Thyself, and our heart is not quiet until it rests in Thee. [Confessions, I. i]

13 To Carthage I came, where there sang all around my ears a cauldron of unholy loves. [Ib. III. 1]

14 It is impossible that the son of these tears should perish. [Confessions, III. 12]

15 Give me chastity and continency, but not yet. [Ib. VIII. 7]

16 The verdict of the world is final. [Contra Epistolam Parmeniani, III. 24]

17 There is no salvation outside the Church. [De Bapt. IV. 17]

18 Hear the other side. [De Duabus Animabus, XIV. 2]

19 Love, and do what you will. [In Ioann. VIII. 7]

20 Rome has spoken; the case is concluded. [Sermons, Bk I]

MARCUS AURELIUS ANTONINUS 121–180

21 Whatever this is that I am, it is a little flesh and breath, and the ruling part. [Meditations, II. 2]

22 And thou wilt give thyself relief, if thou doest every act of thy life as if it were the last. [Ib. II. 5]

23 Remember that no man loses any other life than this which he now lives, nor lives any other than this which he now loses. [Ib. II. 14]

24 All things from eternity are of like forms and come round in a circle. [Ib.]

25 The universe is transformation; our life is what our thoughts make it. [Ib. IV. 3]

26 Everything that happens happens as it should, and if you observe carefully, you will find this to be so. [Ib. IV. 10]

27 Remember this, that there is a proper value and proportion to be observed in the performance of every act. [Ib. IV. 32]

28 Everything is only for a day, both that which remembers and that which is remembered. [Ib. IV. 35]

29 Time is like a river made up of the events which happen, and its current is strong; no sooner does anything appear than it is swept away, and another comes in its place, and will be swept away too. [Ib. IV. 43]

30 Nothing happens to any man that he is not formed by nature to bear. [Ib. V. 18]

31 Live with the gods. And he does so who constantly shows them that his soul is satisfied with what is assigned to him. [Meditations, V. 27]

1 Remember that to change your mind and follow him who sets you right is to be none the less free than you were before. [Ib. VIII. 16]

2 Whatever may happen to you was prepared for you from all eternity; and the implication of causes was from eternity spinning the thread of your being. [Ib. X. 5]

JANE AUSTEN 1775–1817

3 An egg boiled very soft is not unwholesome. [(Mr Woodhouse) Emma, Ch. 3]

4 One half of the world cannot understand the pleasures of the other. [(Emma) Ib. 9]

5 A basin of nice smooth gruel, thin, but not too thin. [Ib. 12]

6 Drinking too much of Mr Weston's good wine. [Ib. 15]

7 Human nature is so well disposed towards those who are in interesting situations, that a young person, who either marries or dies, is sure to be kindly spoken of. [Ib. 22]

8 The sooner every party breaks up the better. [(Mr Woodhouse) Ib. 25]

9 But, surely, Mr Churchill, nobody would think of opening the windows at Randalls. Nobody could be so imprudent. [(Mr Woodhouse) Ib. 29]

10 Business, you know, may bring money, but friendship hardly ever does. [(John Knightley) Ib. 34]

11 One has no great hopes from Birmingham. I always say there is something direful in the sound. [(Mrs Elton) Ib. 36]

12 'And what are you reading, Miss —?' 'Oh! it is only a novel!' . . . or, in short, only some work in which the most thorough knowledge of human nature, the happiest delineation of its varieties, the liveliest effusions of wit and humour are conveyed to the world in the best chosen language. [Northanger Abbey, Ch. 5]

13 I have heard that something very shocking indeed will soon come out in London. [(Catherine) Ib. 14]

14 My sore throats are always worse than anyone's. [(Mary Musgrove) Persuasion, Ch. 18]

15 All the privilege I claim for my own sex ... is that of loving longest, when existence or when hope is gone. [(Anne) Ib. 23]

16 It is a truth universally acknowledged, that a single man in possession of a good fortune, must be in want of a wife. [Pride and Prejudice, Ch. 1]

17 She was a woman of mean understanding, little information, and uncertain temper. [(Mrs Bennet) Ib.]

18 A lady's imagination is very rapid; it jumps from admiration to love, from love to matrimony in a moment. [(Darcy) Ib. 6]

19 How can you contrive to write so even? [(Miss Bingley) Ib. 10]

20 It is happy for you that you possess the talent of flattering with delicacy. May I ask whether these pleasing attentions proceed from the impulse of the moment, or are the result of previous study? [(Mr Bennet) Ib. 14]

21 You have delighted us long enough. [(Mr Bennet) Ib. 18]

22 It does not appear to me that my hand is unworthy your acceptance, or that the establishment I can offer would be any other than highly desirable. [(Mr Collins) Ib. 19]

23 From this day you must be a stranger to one of your parents. – Your mother will never see you again if you do not marry Mr Collins, and I will never see you again if you do. [(Mr Bennet) Ib. 20]

24 Nobody is on my side, nobody takes part with me: I am cruelly used, nobody feels for my poor nerves. [(Mrs Bennet) Ib.]

25 'If it was not for the entail I should not mind it.'
'What should not you mind?'
'I should not mind anything at all.'
'Let us be thankful that you are preserved from a state of such insensibility.' [(Mrs and Mr Bennet) Ib. 23]

26 Next to being married, a girl likes to be crossed in love a little now and then. [(Mr Bennet) Ib. 24]

27 One cannot be always laughing at a man without now and then stumbling on something witty. [(Elizabeth) Ib. 40]

1 You ought certainly to forgive them as a Christian, but never to admit them in your sight, or allow their names to be mentioned in your hearing. [(Mr Collins) Pride and Prejudice, 57]

2 An annuity is a very serious business. [(Mrs Dashwood) Sense and Sensibility, Ch. 2]

3 The pleasantness of an employment does not always evince its propriety. [(Elinor) Ib. 13]

4 What dreadful hot weather we have! It keeps me in a continual state of inelegance. [Letters, 18 Sept. 1796]

5 Mrs Hall of Sherbourne was brought to bed yesterday of a dead child, some weeks before she expected, owing to a fright. I suppose she happened unawares to look at her husband. [Ib. 27 Oct. 1798]

6 I do not want people to be very agreeable, as it saves me the trouble of liking them a great deal. [Ib. 24 Dec. 1798]

7 The little bit (two inches wide) of ivory on which I work with so fine a brush, as produces little effect after much labour. [Ib. 16 Dec. 1816]

10 Fhairshon swore a feud / Against the clan M'Tavish; / Marched into their land / To murder and to rafish; / For he did resolve / To extirpate the vipers, / With four-and-twenty men / And five-and-thirty pipers. [The Massacre of the Macpherson]

FRANCIS BACON 1561–1626

11 If a man will begin with certainties, he shall end in doubts; but if he will be content to begin with doubts, he shall end in certainties. [The Advancement of Learning, I. v. 8]

12 [Knowledge is] a rich storehouse for the glory of the Creator, and the relief of man's estate. [Ib. I. v. 11]

13 They are ill discoverers that think there is no land, when they can see nothing but sea. [Ib. I. vii. 5]

14 But men must know, that in this theatre of man's life it is reserved only for God and angels to be lookers-on. [Ib. II. xx. 8]

15 We are much beholden to Machiavel and others, that write what men do, and not what they ought to do. [Ib. II. xxi. 9]

16 All good moral philosophy is but the handmaid to religion. [Ib. II. xxii. 14]

17 Fortunes . . . come tumbling into some men's laps. [Ib. II. xxiii. 43]

18 That other principle of Lysander, 'That children are to be deceived with comfits, and men with oaths'. [Ib. II. xxiii. 45]

19 Anger makes dull men witty, but it keeps them poor. [Apothegms, 5. Attr. by Bacon to Queen Elizabeth I]

20 Hope is a good breakfast, but it is a bad supper. [Ib. 36]

1 Certainly it is a heaven upon earth, to have a man's mind to move in charity, rest in providence, and turn upon the poles of truth. [Essays, 1, 'Of Truth']

2 Men fear death, as children fear to go in the dark; and as that natural fear in children is increased with tales, so is the other. [Ib. 2, 'Of Death']

3 Revenge triumphs over death; love slights it; honour aspireth to it; grief flieth to it. [Ib.]

4 It is as natural to die as to be born; and to a little infant, perhaps, the one is as painful as the other. [Ib.]

5 All colours will agree in the dark. [Ib. 3, 'Of Unity in Religion']

6 Revenge is a kind of wild justice. [Ib. 4, 'Of Revenge']

7 A man that studieth revenge keeps his own wounds green. [Ib.]

8 Prosperity is the blessing of the Old Testament, adversity is the blessing of the New. [Ib. 5, 'Of Adversity']

9 Prosperity is not without many fears and distastes; and adversity is not without comforts and hopes. [Ib.]

10 Prosperity doth best discover vice, but adversity doth best discover virtue. [Ib.]

11 Nakedness is uncomely as well in mind, as body. [Ib. 6, 'Of Simulation and Dissimulation']

12 The joys of parents are secret, and so are their griefs and fears. [Ib. 7, 'Of Parents and Children']

13 Children sweeten labours; but they make misfortunes more bitter. [Ib.]

14 The noblest works and foundations have proceeded from childless men. [Ib.]

15 He that hath wife and children, hath given hostages to fortune; for they are impediments to great enterprises, either of virtue, or mischief. [Ib. 8, 'Of Marriage and Single Life']

16 There are some other that account wife and children but as bills of charges. [Ib.]

17 Wives are young men's mistresses; companions for middle age; and old men's nurses. [Ib.]

18 He was reputed one of the wise men that made answer to the question, when a man should marry? 'A young man not yet, an elder man not at all.' [Ib.]

19 The speaking in a perpetual hyperbole is comely in nothing but in love. [Essays, 10, 'Of Love']

20 The arch-flatterer, with whom all the petty flatterers have intelligence, is a man's self. [Ib.]

21 Nuptial love maketh mankind; friendly love perfecteth it; but wanton love corrupteth and embaseth it. [Ib.]

22 Men in great place are thrice servants: servants of the sovereign or state; servants of fame; and servants of business. [Ib. 11, 'Of Great Place']

23 It is a strange desire to seek power and to lose liberty. [Ib.]

24 Set it down to thyself, as well to create good precedents as to follow them. [Ib.]

25 Severity breedeth fear, but roughness breedeth hate. Even reproofs from authority ought to be grave and not taunting. [Ib.]

26 As in nature things move violently to their place and calmly in their place, so virtue in ambition is violent, in authority settled and calm. [Ib.]

27 He said it, that knew it best. [Ib. 12, 'Of Boldness']

28 There is in human nature generally more of the fool than of the wise. [Ib.]

29 In civil business; what first? Boldness; what second, and third? Boldness. And yet boldness is a child of ignorance and baseness. [Ib.]

30 Boldness is an ill-keeper of promise. [Ib.]

31 If the hill will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the hill. [Ib.]

32 In charity there is no excess. [Ib. 13, 'Of Goodness and Goodness of Nature']

33 If a man be gracious and courteous to strangers, it shows he is a citizen of the world. [Ib.]

34 New nobility is but the act of power, but ancient nobility is the act of time. [Ib. 14, 'Of Nobility']

35 Nobility of birth commonly abateth industry. [Ib.]

36 The four pillars of government . . . (which are religion, justice, counsel, and treasure). [Ib. 15, 'Of Seditions and Troubles']

37 The surest way to prevent seditions (if the times do bear it) is to take away the matter of them. [Ib.]

1 Money is like muck, not good except it be spread. [Essays, 15, 'Of Seditions and Troubles']

2 The remedy is worse than the disease. [Ib.]

3 God never wrought miracle to convince atheism, because his ordinary works convince it. [Ib. 16, 'Of Atheism']

4 A little philosophy inclineth man's mind to atheism; but depth in philosophy bringeth men's minds about to religion. [Ib.]

5 For none deny there is a God, but those for whom it maketh that there were no God. [Ib.]

6 It were better to have no opinion of God at all, than such an opinion as is unworthy of him. [Ib. 17, 'Of Superstition']

7 There is a superstition in avoiding superstition. [Ib.]

8 Travel, in the younger sort, is a part of education; in the elder, a part of experience. [Ib. 18, 'Of Travel']

9 Let diaries, therefore, be brought in use. [Ib.]

10 Books will speak plain when counsellors blanch. [Ib. 20, 'Of Counsel']

11 There be that can pack the cards, and yet cannot play well. [Ib. 22, 'Of Cunning']

12 When he wrote a letter, he would put that which was most material in the postscript, as if it had been a by-matter. [Ib.]

13 Nothing doth more hurt in a state than that cunning men pass for wise. [Ib.]

14 Be so true to thyself, as thou be not false to others. [Ib. 23, 'Of Wisdom for a Man's Self']

15 Certainly it is the nature of extreme self-lovers, as they will set an house on fire, and it were but to roast their eggs. [Ib.]

16 It is the wisdom of the crocodiles, that shed tears when they would devour. [Ib.]

17 He that will not apply new remedies must expect new evils; for time is the greatest innovator. [Ib. 24, 'Of Innovations']

18 A wise man that had it for a by-word, when he saw men hasten to a conclusion, 'Stay a little, that we may make an end the sooner'. [Ib. 25, 'Of Dispatch']

19 To choose time is to save time. [Ib.]

20 The French are wiser than they seem, and the Spaniards seem wiser than they are. [Essays, 26, 'Of Seeming Wise']

21 It had been hard for him that spake it to have put more truth and untruth together, in few words, than in that speech: 'Whosoever is delighted in solitude is either a wild beast, or a god'. [Ib. 27, 'Of Friendship']

22 A crowd is not company, and faces are but a gallery of pictures. [Ib.]

23 Cure the disease and kill the patient. [Ib.]

24 Riches are for spending. [Ib. 28, 'Of Expense']

25 Neither is money the sinews of war (as it is trivially said). [Ib. 29, 'Of the True Greatness of Kingdoms']

26 He that commands the sea is at great liberty, and may take as much and as little of the war as he will. [Ib.]

27 Age will not be defied. [Ib. 30, 'Of Regimen of Health']

28 Suspicions amongst thoughts are like bats amongst birds, they ever fly by twilight. [Ib. 31, 'Of Suspicion']

29 There is nothing makes a man suspect much, more than to know little. [Ib.]

30 Intermingle . . . jest with earnest. [Ib. 32, 'Of Discourse']

31 [Dreams and predictions] ought to serve but for winter talk by the fireside. [Ib. 35, 'Of Prophecies']

32 Nature is often hidden; sometimes overcome; seldom extinguished. [Ib. 38, 'Of Nature in Men']

33 A man's nature runs either to herbs, or to weeds; therefore let him seasonably water the one, and destroy the other. [Ib.]

34 Beauty is like a rich stone, best plain set. [Ib. 43, 'Of Beauty']

35 Houses are built to live in and not to look on. [Ib. 45, 'Of Building']

36 God Almighty first planted a garden; and, indeed, it is the purest of human pleasures. [Ib. 46, 'Of Gardens']

37 There is little friendship in the world, and least of all between equals. [Ib. 48, 'Of Followers']

38 Studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability. [Ib. 50, 'Of Studies']

39 To spend too much time in studies is sloth. [Ib.]

1 Read not to contradict and confute, nor to believe and take for granted, nor to find talk and discourse, but to weigh and consider. [Essays, 50, 'Of Studies']

2 Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested. [Ib.]

3 Reading maketh a full man; conference a ready man; and writing an exact man. [Ib.]

4 Histories make men wise; poets, witty; the mathematics, subtle; natural philosophy, deep; moral, grave; logic and rhetoric, able to contend. [Ib.]

5 A wise man will make more opportunities than he finds. [Ib. 52, 'Of Ceremonies and Respects']

6 Fame is like a river, that beareth up things light and swollen, and drowns things weighty and solid. [Ib. 53, 'Of Praise']

7 It was prettily devised of Aesop, 'The fly sat upon the axle-tree of the chariot-wheel and said, What a dust do I raise'. [Ib. 54, 'Of Vain-glory']

8 The place of justice is a hallowed place. [Ib. 56, 'Of Judicature']

9 Lucid intervals and happy pauses. [The History of King Henry VII, § 3]

10 I would live to study and not study to live. [Memorial of Access]

11 For knowledge itself is power. [Religious Meditations, 'Of Heresies']

12 The world's a bubble; and the life of man, / Less than a span. [The World]

13 Who then to frail mortality shall trust, / But limns the water, or but writes in dust. [Ib.]

14 What is it then to have or have no wife, / But single thraldom, or a double strife? [Ib.]

15 What then remains, but that we still should cry, / Not to be born, or being born, to die? [Ib.]

16 I have taken all knowledge to be my province. [Letter to Lord Burleigh, 1592]

WALTER BAGEHOT 1826–1877

17 The best reason why Monarchy is a strong government is that it is an intelligible government. The mass of mankind understand it, and they hardly anywhere in the world understand any other. [The English Constitution, Ch. 2]

6 It is not that I have never existed before, nor thou, nor all these kings. Nor is it that all shall cease to exist hereafter.

As in this body the embodied soul passes through childhood, youth and old age, in the same manner it goes from one body to another; therefore the wise are never deluded regarding it. [Ch. II. 12]

7 He who considers this [Self] as a slayer or he who thinks that this [Self] is slain, neither of these knows the Truth. For it does not slay, nor is it slain. [Ib. II. 19]

8 For that which is born death is certain, and for the dead birth is certain. Therefore grieve not over that which is unavoidable. [Ib. II. 27]

THE BIBLE

Old Testament

Genesis

9 In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. [1:1]

10 And God said, Let there be light: and there was light. [1:3]

11 Fiat lux. [Ib. Vulgate version]

12 So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. [1:27]

13 Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth. [1:28]

14 And God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. [1:31]

15 And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. [2:7]

16 And the Lord God said, It is not good that the man should be alone. [2:18]

17 This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh. [2:23]

18 Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh. [2:24]

19 Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field. [3:1]

20 Ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. [3:5]

21 And they sewed fig-leaves together, and made themselves aprons. [('breeches' for 'aprons' in Genevan Bible, 1560) 3:7]

22 And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day. [3:8]

23 I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself. [3:10]

24 Upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life. [3:14]

25 In sorrow thou shalt bring forth children. [3:16]

26 In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread. [3:19]

27 For dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return. [Ib.]

28 The mother of all living. [3:20]

29 Am I my brother's keeper? [4:9]

30 The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. [4:10]

31 My punishment is greater than I can bear. [4:13]

1 And the Lord set a mark upon Cain. [4:15]

2 Dwelt in the land of Nod, on the east of Eden. [4:16]

3 The sons of God saw the daughters of men, that they were fair. [6:2]

4 There were giants in the earth in those days. [6:4]

5 Mighty men which were of old, men of renown. [Ib.]

6 The same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened. [7:11]

7 But the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot. [8:9]

8 In her mouth was an olive-leaf pluckt off. [8:11]

9 Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed. [9:6]

10 I do set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a token of a covenant between me and the earth. [9:13]

11 Nimrod the mighty hunter before the Lord. [10:9]

12 Thou shalt be buried in a good old age. [15:15]

13 His hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him. [16:12]

14 Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right? [18:25]

15 Behold behind him a ram caught in the thicket by his horns. [22:13]

16 Esau selleth his birthright for a mess of pottage. [25. Chapter heading in Genevan Bible]

17 The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau. [27:22]

18 And Mizpah; for he said, The Lord watch between thee and me, when we are absent one from another. [31:49]

19 I will not let thee go, except thou bless me. [32:26]

20 He made him a coat of many colours. [37:3]

21 Behold, this dreamer cometh. [37:19]

22 And the lean and the ill favoured kine did eat up the first seven fat kine. [41:20]

23 Jacob saw that there was corn in Egypt. [42:1]

24 Ye are spies; to see the nakedness of the land ye are come. [42:9]

25 Then shall ye bring down my grey hairs with sorrow to the grave. [42:38]

26 Ye shall eat the fat of the land. [45:18]

27 See that ye fall not out by the way. [45:24]

28 Few and evil have the days of the years of my life been. [47:9]

29 Unstable as water, thou shalt not excel. [49:4]

Exodus

30 Now there arose up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joseph. [1:8]

31 I have been a stranger in a strange land. [2:22]

32 Behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed. [3:2]

33 A land flowing with milk and honey. [3:8]

34 And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM. [3:14]

35 But I am slow of speech, and of a slow tongue. [4:10]

36 Ye shall no more give the people straw to make brick. [5:7]

37 Multiply my signs and my wonders in the land of Egypt. [7:3]

38 Even darkness which may be felt. [10:21]

39 With your loins girded, your shoes on your feet, and your staff in your hand. [12:11]

40 They spoiled the Egyptians. [12:36]

41 In the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh pots, and when we did eat bread to the full. [16:3]

42 Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand foot for foot. [21:24; also Deuteronomy 19:21]

43 Thou shalt not seethe a kid in his mother's milk. [23:19]

44 Thou art a stiff-necked people. [33:3]

45 There shall no man see me, and live. [33:20]

5 Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his! [23:10]

6 Be sure your sin will find you out. [32:23]

Deuteronomy

7 Man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live. [8:3; also St Matthew, 4:4 and St Luke, 4:4 (with 'alone' for 'only')]

8 If there arise among you a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams. [13:1]

9 The wife of thy bosom. [13:6]

10 Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn. [25:4]

11 In the morning thou shalt say, Would God it were even! and at even thou shalt say, Would God it were morning! [28:67]

12 He kept him as the apple of his eye. [32:10]

13 Jeshurun waxed fat, and kicked. [32:15]

14 As thy days, so shall thy strength be. [33:25]

15 The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms. [33:27]

20 The stars in their courses fought against Sisera. [5:20]

21 She brought forth butter in a lordly dish. [5:25]

22 At her feet he bowed, he fell, he lay down. [5:27]

23 Why tarry the wheels of his chariots? [5:28]

24 Have they not divided the prey; to every man a damsel or two? [5:30]

25 Faint, yet pursuing. [8:4]

26 Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness. [14:14]

27 If ye had not plowed with my heifer, ye had not found out my riddle. [14:18]

28 He smote them hip and thigh. [15:8]

29 The Philistines be upon thee. [16:9]

30 He wist not that the Lord was departed from him. [16:20]

31 From Dan even to Beer-sheba. [20:1]

32 The people arose as one man. [20:8]

Ruth

33 Whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God. [1:16]

34 The Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me. [1:17]

35 Speak, Lord; for thy servant heareth. [3:9]

36 Be strong, and quit yourselves like men. [4:9]

37 I-chabod, saying, The glory is departed from Israel. [4:21]

38 Is Saul also among the prophets? [10:11]

39 The Lord hath sought him a man after his own heart. [13:14]

40 Agag came unto him delicately. And Agag said, Surely the bitterness of death is past. [15:32]

41 Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands. [18:7]

1 Saul and Jonathan were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided. [1:23]

2 How are the mighty fallen in the midst of the battle! [1:25]

3 Thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women. [1:26]

4 Abner with the hinder end of the spear smote him under the fifth rib. [2:23]

5 Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown. [10:5]

6 The poor man had nothing, save one little ewe lamb. [12:3]

7 And Nathan said to David, Thou art the the man. [12:7]

8 Come out, come out, thou bloody man, and thou man of Belial. [16:7]

9 Would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son! [18:33]

1 Kings

10 A proverb and a byword among all people. [9:7]

12 My father hath chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions. [12:11]

13 To your tents, O Israel. [12:16]

14 He slept with his fathers. [14:20]

15 How long halt ye between two opinions? [18:21]

16 He is talking, or he is pursuing, or he is in a journey, or peradventure he sleepeth, and must be awaked. [18:27]

17 There ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like a man's hand. [18:44]

18 And after the fire a still small voice. [19:12]

19 Elijah passed by him, and cast his mantle upon him. [19:19]

20 Hast thou found me, O mine enemy? [21:20]

21 I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, as sheep that have not a shepherd. [22:17]

22 And a certain man drew a bow at a venture, and smote the king of Israel between the joints of the harness. [22:34]

23 Go up, thou bald head. [2:23]

24 Is it well with the child? And she answered, It is well. [4:26]

25 There is death in the pot. [4:40]

26 He shall know that there is a prophet in Israel. [5:8]

27 Is thy servant a dog, that he should do this great thing? [8:13]

28 The driving is like the driving of Jehu, the son of Nimshi; for he driveth furiously. [9:20]

29 Had Zimri peace, who slew his master? [9:31]

Esther

30 Let it be written among the laws of the Persians and the Medes, that it be not altered. [1:19]

31 Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour. [6:9]

Job

32 One that feared God, and eschewed evil. [1:1]

33 And the Lord said unto Satan, Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it. [1:7]

34 Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither: the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord. [1:21]

35 Skin for skin, yea, all that a man hath will he give for his life. [2:4]

36 Curse God, and die. [2:9]

37 There the wicked cease from troubling; and there the weary be at rest. [3:17]

38 The hair of my flesh stood up. [4:15]

39 Shall mortal man be more just than God? shall a man be more pure than his maker? [4:17]

40 Man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward. [5:7]

1 He shall return no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more. [7:10]

2 Canst thou by searching find out God? [11:7]

3 No doubt but ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you. [12:2]

4 Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. [14:1]

5 Miserable comforters are ye all. [16:2]

6 I am escaped with the skin of my teeth. [19:20]

7 I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth. [19:25]

8 Seeing the root of the matter is found in me. [19:28]

9 The price of wisdom is above rubies. [28:18]

10 I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.
I was a father to the poor: and the cause which I knew not I searched out. [29:15]

11 That mine adversary had written a book. [31:35]

12 Who is this that darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge? [38:2]

13 Gird up now thy loins like a man. [38:3]

14 When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy. [38:7]

15 Canst thou bind the sweet influences of the Pleiades, or loose the bands of Orion? [38:31]

16 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha; and he smelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains, and the shouting. [39:25]

17 Canst thou draw out leviathan with an hook? [41:1]

18 He maketh the deep to boil like a pot. [41:31]

19 I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee. [42:5]

20 So the Lord blessed the latter end of Job more than his beginning. [42:12]

21 Nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. [1:1]

22 Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? [2:1]

23 Thou shalt break them with a rod of iron; thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel. [2:9]

24 Stand in awe, and sin not: commune with your heart upon your bed, and be still. [4:4]

25 Lord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us. [4:6]

26 Let them perish through their own imaginations. [5:11, Book of Common Prayer version]

27 God is a righteous Judge, strong and patient: and God is provoked every day. [7:12, Book of Common Prayer version]

28 Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength. [8:2]

29 Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels. [8:5]

30 The fowl of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever passeth through the paths of the seas. [8:8]

1 More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb. [19:10]

2 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord. [19:14]

3 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God. [20:7]

4 My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? [22:1; also St Matthew, 27:46 and St Mark, 15:34]

5 O my God, I cry in the daytime, but thou hearest not; and in the night season, and am not silent. [22:2]

6 But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and despised of the people. [22:6]

7 Strong bulls of Bashan have beset me round. [22:12]

8 They pierced my hands and my feet.
I may tell all my bones: they look and stare upon me.
They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture. [22:16]

9 The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. [23:1]

10 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. [23:4]

11 The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. [24:1]

12 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.
Who is this King of glory? The Lord strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle. [24:7]

13 Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions. [25:7]

14 I should utterly have fainted: but that I believe verily to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living. [27:15, Book of Common Prayer version]

15 Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning. [30:5]

16 Into thy hands I commend my spirit. [31:6, Book of Common Prayer version]

17 I am clean forgotten, as a dead man out of mind. [31:14, Book of Common Prayer version]

18 Thou shalt keep them secretly in a pavilion from the strife of tongues. [31:20]

19 Sing unto him a new song; play skilfully with a loud noise, [33:3]

20 The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought. [33:10]

21 Eschew evil, and do good: seek peace, and ensue it. [34:14, Book of Common Prayer version]

22 I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread. [37:25]

23 I myself have seen the ungodly in great power: and flourishing like a green bay tree. [37:36, Book of Common Prayer version]

24 He heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them. [39:6]

25 Thou makest his beauty to consume away, like as it were a moth fretting a garment: every man therefore is but vanity. [39:12, Book of Common Prayer version]

26 Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble. [41:1]

27 Yea, mine own familiar friend, in whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, hath lifted up his heel against me. 41:9]

28 As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God. [42:1]

29 Deep calleth unto deep. [42:7]

30 My heart is inditing a great matter: I speak of the things which I have made touching the king: my tongue is the pen of a ready writer. [45:1]

31 God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. [46:1]

32 He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the spear in sunder; he burneth the chariot in the fire.

2 God is gone up with a merry noise: and the Lord with the sound of the trump. [47:5, Book of Common Prayer version]

3 Their inward thought is, that their houses shall continue for ever, and their dwelling-places to all generations; they call their lands after their own names.

Nevertheless, man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish. [49:11]

4 For every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattle upon a thousand hills. [50:10]

5 Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow. [51:7]

6 The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. [51:17]

7 O that I had wings like a dove! for then would I fly away, and be at rest. [55:6]

8 We took sweet counsel together, and walked unto the house of God in company. [55:14]

9 The words of his mouth were smoother than butter, but war was in his heart: his words were softer than oil, yet were they drawn swords. [55:21]

10 They have digged a pit before me, into the midst whereof they are fallen themselves. [57:6]

11 They are like the deaf adder that stoppeth her ear;

Which will not hearken to the voice of charmers, charming never so wisely. [58:4]

12 They grin like a dog, and run about through the city. [59:6, Book of Common Prayer version]

13 Moab is my wash-pot; over Edom will I cast out my shoe. [60:8]

14 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man. [60:11 and 108:12]

15 He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defence; I shall not be moved. [62:6]

16 If riches increase, set not your heart upon them.

God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God. [62:10]

17 When I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night watches. [63:6]

18 They shall fall by the sword: they shall be a portion for foxes. [63:10]

19 O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come. [65:2]

20 Thou crownest the year with thy goodness; and thy paths drop fatness.

They drop upon the pastures of the wilderness: and the little hills rejoice on every side. [65:11]

21 God be merciful unto us, and bless us: and shew us the light of his countenance, and be merciful unto us. [67:1, Book of Common Prayer version]

22 Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered: let them also that hate him flee before him.

As smoke is driven away, so drive them away: as wax melteth before the fire, so let the wicked perish at the presence of God. [68:1]

23 A father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows, is God in his holy habitation. [68:5]

24 Why leap ye, ye high hills? [68:16]

25 Thou hast ascended on high, thou hast led captivity captive. [68:18]

26 The singers went before, the players on instruments followed after; amongst them were the damsels playing with timbrels. [68:25]

27 They gave me also gall for my meat; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink. [69:21]

28 His enemies shall lick the dust. [72:9]

29 God is the judge: he putteth down one, and setteth up another. [75:7]

30 In the hand of the Lord, there is a cup, and the wine is red. [75:8]

31 A stubborn and rebellious generation. [78:8]

32 Man did eat angels' food. [78:25]

33 Then the Lord awaked as one out of sleep, and like a mighty man that shouteth by reason of wine.

And he smote his enemies in the hinder parts. [78:65]

1 Thou feedest them with the bread of tears. [80:5]

2 They go from strength to strength. [84:7]

3 For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness. [84:10]

4 Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other. [85:10]

5 Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God. [90:2]

6 Thou art God from everlasting, and world without end. [Ib. Book of Common Prayer version]

7 For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night. [90:4]

8 In the morning they are like grass which groweth up.

In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth. [90:5]

9 We spend our years as a tale that is told.

The days of our years are threescore years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away. [90:9]

11 Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. [91:3]

12 Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day.

Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee. [91:5]

13 For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone. [91:11]

14 But my horn shalt thou exalt like the horn of an unicorn: I shall be anointed with fresh oil. [92:10]

15 The righteous shall flourish like the palm-tree: he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon. [92:12]

16 They shall bring forth fruit in old age; they shall be fat and flourishing. [92:14]

17 He that planted the ear, shall he not hear? he that formed the eye, shall he not see? [94:9]

18 O sing unto the Lord a new song. [96:1 and 98:1]

19 Let the floods clap their hands: let the hills be joyful together. [98:8]

20 I am like a pelican of the wilderness: I am like an owl of the desert.

I watch, and am as a sparrow alone upon the house-top. [102:6]

21 As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth.

For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more [103:15]

22 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oil to make his face to shine, and bread which strengtheneth man's heart. [104:15]

23 The young lions roar after their prey, and seek their meat from God. [104:21]

24 Man goeth forth to his work, and to his labour until the evening. [104:23]

25 Thus were they defiled with their own works, and went a whoring with their own inventions. [106:39]

26 He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in sunder. [107:14]

27 They were even hard at death's door. [107:18, Book of Common Prayer version]

28 They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters.

These see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep. [107:23]

29 They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and are at their wit's end. [107:27]

30 Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool. [110:1]

31 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. [111:10]

1 He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth the needy out of the dunghill. [113:7]

2 The mountains skipped like rams, and the little hills like lambs. [114:4]

3 They have mouths, but they speak not: eyes have they, but they see not.
They have ears, but they hear not; noses have they, but they smell not. [115:5]

4 I said in my haste, All men are liars. [116:11]

5 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints. [116:15]

6 The stone which the builders refused is become the head stone of the corner. [118:22]

7 Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path [119:105]

8 Woe is me, that I sojourn in Mesech, that I dwell in the tents of Kedar. [120:5]

9 I am for peace: but when I speak, they are for war. [120:7]

10 I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help. [121:1]

11 He will not suffer thy foot to be moved: he that keepeth thee will not slumber. [121:3]

12 The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is the shade upon thy right hand.
The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. [121:5]

13 The Lord shall preserve thy going out, and thy coming in, from this time forth, and even for evermore. [121:8]

14 Peace be within thy walls, and prosperity within thy palaces. [122:7]

15 The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad.
Turn again our captivity, O Lord, as the streams in the south.
They that sow in tears, shall reap in joy. [126:3]

16 Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it. [127:1]

17 It is vain for you to rise up early, to sit up late, to eat the bread of sorrows: for so he giveth his beloved sleep. [127:2]

18 Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them [children]. [127:5]

19 Thy children like the olive-branches round about thy table. [128:3, Book of Common Prayer version]

20 Out of the depths have I cried unto thee, O Lord. [130:1]

21 If thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? [130:3]

22 Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!
It is like the precious ointment upon the head that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard, that went down to the skirts of his garments. [133:1]

23 His mercy endureth for ever. [136:1]

24 By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down, yea, we wept when we remembered Zion.
We hanged our harps upon the willows in the midst thereof. [137:1]

25 Sing us one of the songs of Zion.
How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land?
If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning. [137:3]

26 If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea;
Even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me. [139:9]

27 I am fearfully and wonderfully made. [139:14]

28 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, keep the door of my lips. [141:3]

29 Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilst that I withal escape. [141:10]

30 Put not your trust in princes, nor in the son of man, in whom there is no help. [146:3]

31 He gathereth together the outcasts of Israel.
He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds. [147:2]

32 He delighteth not in the strength of the horse: he taketh not pleasure in the legs of a man. [147:10]

33 Let the saints be joyful in glory: let them sing aloud upon their beds.
Let the high praises of God be in their mouth, and a two-edged sword in their hand;
To execute vengeance upon the heathen and punishments upon the people;
To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron. [149:5]

Proverbs

2 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge. [1:7]

3 Surely in vain the net is spread in the sight of the bird. [1:17]

4 Wisdom crieth without; she uttereth her voice in the streets. [1:20]

5 Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace. [3:17]

6 Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding. [4:7]

7 The path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day. [4:18]

8 Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her ways, and be wise. [6:6]

9 Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep. [6:10]

10 Can a man take fire in his bosom, and his clothes not be burned? [6:27]

11 He goeth after her, straightway, as an ox goeth to the slaughter, or as a fool to the correction of the stocks. [7:22]

12 Wisdom is better than rubies. [8:11]

13 Stolen waters are sweet, and bread eaten in secret is pleasant. [9:17]

14 A wise son maketh a glad father: but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother. [10:1]

15 The rich man's wealth is his strong city: the destruction of the poor is their poverty. [10:15]

16 Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counsellors there is safety. [11:14]

17 He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it. [11:15]

18 As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion. [11:22]

19 A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband: but she that maketh ashamed is as rottenness in his bones. [12:4]

20 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast. [12:10]

21 Hope deferred maketh the heart sick. [13:12]

22 The way of transgressors is hard. [13:15]

23 The desire accomplished is sweet to the soul. [13:19]

24 He that spareth his rod hateth his son. [13:24]

25 Fools make a mock at sin. [14:9]

26 In all labour there is profit: but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury. [14:23]

27 Righteousness exalteth a nation. [14:34]

28 A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger. [15:1]

29 A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance. [15:13]

30 Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred therewith. [15:17]

31 A word spoken in due season, how good is it! [15:23]

32 Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall. [16:18]

33 The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness. [16:31]

34 He that repeateth a matter separateth very friends. [17:9]

35 Let a bear robbed of her whelps meet a man, rather than a fool in his folly. [17:12]

36 He that begetteth a fool doeth it to his sorrow. [17:21]

37 He that hath knowledge spareth his words. [17:27]

38 A wounded spirit who can bear? [18:14]

39 There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother. [18:24]

40 Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging. [20:1]

41 Every fool will be meddling. [20:3]

42 Even a child is known by his doings. [20:11]

43 It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth. [20:14]

1 It is better to dwell in a corner of the house-top, than with a brawling woman in a wide house. [21:9]

2 A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches. [22:1]

3 The rich and poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all. [22:2]

4 Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. [22:6]

5 Remove not the ancient landmark, which thy fathers have set. [22:28]

6 Riches certainly make themselves wings. [23:5]

7 Look not upon the wine when it is red. [23:31]

8 The heart of kings is unsearchable. [25:3]

9 Heap coals of fire upon his head. [25:22]

10 As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country. [25:25]

11 A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass, and a rod for the fool's back. [26:3]

12 Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou also be like unto him. [26:4]

13 Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit. [26:5]

14 As a dog returneth to his vomit, so a fool returneth to his folly. [26:11]

15 Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? there is more hope of a fool than of him. [26:12]

16 The slothful man saith, There is a lion in the way; a lion is in the streets. [26:13]

17 The sluggard is wiser in his own conceit than seven men that can render a reason. [26:16]

18 Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall therein: and he that rolleth a stone, it will return upon him. [26:27]

19 Boast not thyself of to-morrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth. [27:1]

20 Faithful are the wounds of a friend. [27:6]

21 A continual dropping in a very rainy day and a contentious woman are alike. [27:15]

22 Iron sharpeneth iron; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend. [27:17]

23 Though thou shouldst bray a fool in a mortar among wheat with a pestle, yet will not his foolishness depart from him. [27:22]

24 The wicked flee when no man pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion. [28:1]

25 He that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent. [28:20]

26 A fool uttereth all his mind. [29:11]

27 Where there is no vision, the people perish. [29:18]

28 Give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me. [30:8]

29 The horseleach hath two daughters, crying, Give, give. [30:15]

30 The way of an eagle in the air; the way of a serpent upon a rock; the way of a ship in the midst of the sea; and the way of a man with a maid. [30:19]

31 The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings' palaces. [30:28]

32 Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies. [31:10]

33 Her children arise up, and call her blessed. [31:28]

Ecclesiastes

34 Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, vanity of vanities; all is vanity.
What profit hath a man of all his labour which he taketh under the sun?
One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh. [1:2]

35 All the rivers run into the sea; yet the sea is not full. [1:7]

36 All things are full of labour; man cannot utter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the ear filled with hearing.

37 All is vanity and vexation of spirit. [1:14]

38 In much wisdom is much grief: and he that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow. [1:18]

1 Wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness. [2:13]

2 One event happeneth to them all. [2:14]

3 To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven.
A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted. [3:1]

4 I praised the dead which are already dead more than the living which are yet alive. [4:2]

5 Woe to him that is alone when he falleth, for he hath not another to help him up. [4:10]

6 A threefold cord is not quickly broken. [4:12]

7 God is in heaven, and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few. [5:2]

8 Better is it that thou shouldst not vow, than that thou shouldst vow and not pay. [5:5]

9 The sleep of a labouring man is sweet. [5:12]

10 A good name is better than precious ointment; and the day of death than the day of one's birth.
It is better to go to the house of mourning, than to go to the house of feasting. [7:1]

11 As the crackling of thorns under a pot, so is the laughter of the fool. [7:6]

12 Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof. [7:8]

13 Say not thou, What is the cause that the former days were better than these? for thou dost not enquire wisely concerning this. [7:10]

14 In the day of prosperity be joyful, but in the day of adversity consider. [7:14]

15 Be not righteous over much; neither make thyself over wise. [7:16]

16 One man among a thousand have I found; but a woman among all those have I not found. [7:28]

17 God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions. [7:29]

18 There is no discharge in that war. [8:8]

19 A man hath no better thing under the sun than to eat, and to drink, and to be merry. [8:15]

20 A living dog is better than a dead lion. [9:4]

21 Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave whither thou goest. [9:10]

22 The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong. [9:11]

23 Dead flies cause the ointment of the apothecary to send forth a stinking savour. [10:1]

24 He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it. [10:8]

25 Wine maketh merry: but money answereth all things. [10:19]

26 Curse not the king, no not in thy thought; and curse not the rich in thy bedchamber: for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter. [10:20]

27 Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days. [11:1]

28 In the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be. [11:3]

29 He that observeth the wind shall not sow; and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap. [11:4]

30 Truly the light is sweet, and a pleasant thing it is for the eyes to behold the sun. [11:7]

31 Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth. [11:9]

32 Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them. [12:1]

33 The strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders cease because they are few. [12:3]

34 The almond-tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and desire shall fail: because man goeth to his long home. [12:5]

35 Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern.

as it was: and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it. [12:6]

1 The words of the wise are as goads. [12:11]

2 Of making many books there is no end; and much study is a weariness of the flesh. [12:12]

3 Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. [12:13]

Song of Solomon

4 Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy love is better than wine. [1:2]

5 I am black, but comely, O ye daughters of Jerusalem. [1:5]

6 As the lily among thorns, so is my love among the daughters. [2:2]

7 Stay me with flagons, comfort me with apples: for I am sick of love. [2:5]

8 Rise up, my love, my fair one, and come away.
For, lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone;
The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land. [2:10]

9 Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that spoil the vines. [2:15]

10 Until the day break, and the shadows flee away. [2:17]

11 A fountain of gardens, a well of living waters, and streams from Lebanon. [4:15]

12 I sleep, but my heart waketh. [5:2]

13 Fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners. [6:10]

14 Thy belly is like an heap of wheat set about with lilies.
Thy two breasts are like two young roes that are twins. [7:2]

15 Set me as a seal upon thine heart, as a seal upon thine arm; for love is strong as death; jealousy is cruel as the grave. [8:6]

16 Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it. [8:7]

17 We have a little sister, and she hath no breasts. [8:8]

18 The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib. [1:3]

19 Bring no more vain oblations; incense is an abomination unto me; the new moons and sabbaths, the calling of assemblies, I cannot away with. [1:13]

20 Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow. [1:18]

21 They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. [2:4; also Micah, 4:3 ('a sword' for 'sword')]

22 What mean ye that ye beat my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor? [3:15]

24 Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil. [5:20]

25 Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight! [5:21]

26 Above it stood the seraphims: each one had six wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly. [6:2]

27 Then said I, Lord, how long? [6:11]

28 Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel. [7:14]

29 For a stone of stumbling and for a rock of offence. [8:14]

30 Wizards that peep, and that mutter. [8:19]

31 The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined. [9:2]

32 For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. [9:6]

33 And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots. [11:1]

3 How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! [14:12]

4 Watchman, what of the night?
The watchman said, The morning cometh, and also the night. [21:11]

5 Tyre, the crowning city, whose merchants are princes. [23:8]

10 In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength. [30:15]

11 One thousand shall flee at the rebuke of one. [30:17]

12 Though the Lord give you the bread of adversity. [30:20]

13 This is the way, walk ye in it. [30:21]

14 An habitation of dragons, and a court for owls. [34:13]

15 The desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose. [35:1]

16 Sorrow and sighing shall flee away. [35:10]

17 Lo, thou trustest in the staff of this broken reed, on Egypt; whereon, if a man lean, it will go into his hand and pierce it. [36:6, cf. 2 Kings, 18:21]

18 Set thine house in order: for thou shalt die. [38:1]

19 I shall go softly all my years in the bitterness of my soul. [38:15]

20 Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God. [40:1]

21 The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord. [40:3]

22 Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain. [40:4]

23 All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field. [40:6, cf. 1 Peter, 1:24]

24 The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it: surely the people is grass. [40:7]

25 He shall feed his flock like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young. [40:11]

26 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance. [40:15]

27 Have ye not known? have ye not heard? hath it not been told you from the beginning? [40:21]

28 They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles. [40:31]

29 A bruised reed shall he not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench. [42:3]

30 Seeing many things, but thou observest not. [42:20]

31 He warmeth himself, and saith, Aha, I am warm, I have seen the fire. [44:16]

32 Shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? [45:9]

33 I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction. [48:10]

34 There is no peace, saith the Lord, unto the wicked. [48:22]

35 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace. [52:7]

36 They shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring again Zion. [52:8]

37 The Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem. [52:9]

38 He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief. [53:3]

39 All we like sheep have gone astray. [53:6]

40 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth. [53:7]

1 He was cut off out of the land of the living. [53:8]

2 He was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many. [53:12]

3 Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near. [55:6]

4 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. [55:8]

5 I will give them an everlasting name, that shall not be cut off. [56:5]

6 They are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark. [56:10]

7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood. [59:7]

8 Arise, shine, for thy light is come. [60:1]

9 He hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;
To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn. [61:1]

10 To give unto them beauty for ashes. [61:3]

11 I have trodden the winepress alone. [63:3]

12 All our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf. [64:6]

13 For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth. [65:17]

14 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you. [66:13]

Jeremiah

15 They were as fed horses in the morning: every one neighed after his neighbour's wife. [5:8]

16 Saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace. [6:14]

17 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved. [8:20]

18 Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there? [8:22]

19 I was like a lamb or an ox that is brought to the slaughter. [11:19]

20 Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? [13:23]

21 The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked. [17:9]

Lamentations

22 Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by? behold, and see if there be any sorrow like unto my sorrow. [1:12]

Ezekiel

23 They four had one likeness, as if a wheel had been in the midst of a wheel. [10:10]

24 The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge. [18:2]

25 The king of Babylon stood at the parting of the way [21:21]

26 She doted upon the Assyrians her neighbours, captains and rulers clothed most gorgeously, horsemen riding upon horses, all of them desirable young men. [23:12]

27 Set me down in the midst of the valley which was full of bones. [37:1]

28 And he said unto me, Son of man, can these bones live? [37:3]

29 Prophesy unto the wind. [37:9]

30 Son of man, set thy face against Gog, the land of Magog. [38:2]

Daniel

31 This image's head was of fine gold, his breast and his arms of silver, his belly and his thighs of brass,
His legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay. [2:32]

32 The sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer, and all kinds of music. [3:5]

33 Cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace. [3:11]

34 MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN. [5:25]

35 Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting. [5:27]

36 Thy kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians. [5:28]

37 The Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow. [7:9]

1 Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity. [10:13]

2 I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love. [11:4]

3 I have multiplied visions, and used similitudes. [12:10]

4 That which the palmerworm hath left hath the locust eaten. [1:4]

5 Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions. [2:28]

6 Multitudes in the valley of decision. [3:14]

Amos

7 Can two walk together, except they be agreed? [3:3]

8 As a firebrand plucked out of the burning. [4:11]

Jonah

9 So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah. [1:7]

10 And also much cattle. [4:11]

Micah

11 They shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree. [4:4]

12 What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? [6:8]

Habakkuk

13 Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it. [2:2]

Zechariah

14 For who hath despised the day of small things? [4:10]

15 Turn you to the stronghold, ye prisoners of hope. [9:12]

16 Woe to the idle shepherd that leaveth the flock! [11:17]

17 I was wounded in the house of my friends. [13:6]

Malachi

18 Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us? [2:10]

19 Those that oppress the hireling in his wages. [3:5]

20 Unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings. [4:2]

Apocrypha

I Esdras

21 Women are strongest: but above all things Truth beareth away the victory. [13:12]

22 Great is truth, and mighty above all things. [4:41]

23 Magna est veritas et praevalet. [Ib. Vulgate version]

2 Esdras

24 If he went not through the narrow, how could he come into the broad? [7:5]

25 I shall light a candle of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out. [14:25]

Tobit

26 So they went forth both, and the young man's dog with them. [5:16]

Wisdom of Solomon

27 Love righteousness, ye that be judges of the earth. [1:1]

28 The ear of jealousy heareth all things. [1:10]

29 Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds, before they be withered. [2:8]

30 Through envy of the devil came death into the world. [2:24]

31 The souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, and there shall no torment touch them. [3:1]

32 Having been a little chastised, they shall be greatly rewarded. [3:5]

Ecclesiasticus

33 My son, if thou come to serve the Lord, prepare thy soul for temptation. [2:1]

34 Be not curious in unnecessary matters: for more things are shewed unto thee than men understand. [3:23]

35 There is a shame that bringeth sin, and there is a shame which is glory and grace. [4:21]

1 A faithful friend is the medicine of life. [6:16]

2 Miss not the discourse of the elders. [8:9]

3 Open not thine heart to every man, lest he requite thee with a shrewd turn. [8:19]

4 Forsake not an old friend; for the new is not comparable to him; a new friend is as new wine; when it is old, thou shalt drink it with pleasure. [9:10]

5 Many kings have sat upon the ground; and one that was never thought of hath worn the crown. [11:5]

6 Judge none blessed before his death. [11:28]

7 He that toucheth pitch shall be defiled therewith. [13:1]

8 How agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken. [13:2]

9 Be not made a beggar by banqueting upon borrowing. [18:33]

10 He that contemneth small things shall fall by little and little. [19:1]

11 Make little weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the fool is worse than death. [22:11]

12 All wickedness is but little to the wickedness of a woman. [25:19]

13 The stroke of the whip maketh marks in the flesh; but the stroke of the tongue breaketh bones. [28:17]

14 Envy and wrath shorten the life. [30:24]

15 Leave off first for manners' sake. [31:17]

16 Let thy speech be short, comprehending much in few words. [32:8]

17 Leave not a stain in thine honour. [33:22]

18 There is a friend, which is only a friend in name. [37:1]

19 Honour a physician with the honour due unto him for the uses which you may have of him: for the Lord hath created him. [38:1]

20 Take no heaviness to heart: drive it away, and remember the last end. [38:20]

21 How can he get wisdom . . . whose talk is of bullocks? [38:25]

22 They will maintain the state of the world, and all their desire is in the work of their craft. [38:34]

23 Better it is to die than to beg. [40:28]

24 Let us now praise famous men, and our fathers that begat us. [44:1]

25 All these were honoured in their generations. [44:7]

26 There be of them that have left a name behind them. [44:8]

27 Their bodies are buried in peace; but their name liveth for evermore. [44:14]

2 Maccabees

28 It is a foolish thing to make a long prologue, and to be short in the story itself. [2:32]

29 When he was at the last gasp. [7:9]

30 Nicanor lay dead in his harness. [15:28]

New Testament

St Matthew

31 Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not. [2:18]

32 The voice of one crying in the wilderness. [3:3]

33 His meat was locusts and wild honey. [3:4]

34 O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come? [3:7]

35 And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees. [3:10]

36 Man shall not live by bread alone. [4:4]

37 I will make you fishers of men. [4:19]

38 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. [5:3]

39 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.
Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. [5:8]

40 Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt hath lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? [5:13]

1 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel. [5:15]

2 Whoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire. [5:22]

3 Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him. [5:25]

4 Till thou hast paid the uttermost farthing. [5:26]

5 Resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. [5:39]

6 Love your enemies. [5:44]

7 He maketh his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust. [5:45]

8 Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth. [6:3]

9 Give us this day our daily bread. [6:11]

10 Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. [6:12]

11 Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. [6:13]

12 Where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal. [6:19]

13 Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. [6:21]

14 No man can serve two masters. [6:24]

15 Ye cannot serve God and mammon. [Ib.]

16 Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature? [6:27]

17 Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: And yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. [6:28]

18 Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. [6:33]

19 Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. [6:34]

20 Judge not, that ye be not judged. [7:1]

21 Why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? [7:3]

22 Neither cast ye your pearls before swine. [7:6]

23 Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. [7:7]

24 What man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone? [7:9]

25 Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets. [7:12]

26 Wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction. [7:13]

27 Strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it. [7:14]

28 Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. [7:15]

29 By their fruits ye shall know them. [7:20]

30 I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel. [8:10]

31 But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. [8:12]

32 The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head. [8:20]

33 Let the dead bury their dead. [8:22]

34 They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. [9:12]

35 Neither do men put new wine into old bottles. [9:17]

36 The maid is not dead, but sleepeth. [9:24]

37 The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few. [9:37]

38 Freely ye have received, freely give. [10:8]

39 When ye depart out of that house or city, shake off the dust of your feet. [10:14]

40 Be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves. [10:16]

41 He that endureth to the end shall be saved. [10:22]

42 Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. [10:29]

1 The very hairs of your head are all numbered. [10:30]

2 I came not to send peace, but a sword. [10:34]

3 He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it. [10:39]

4 What went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken with the wind? [11:7]

5 The kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force. [11:12]

6 Wisdom is justified of her children. [11:19]

7 Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. [11:28]

8 He that is not with me is against me. [12:30]

9 The blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men. [12:31]

10 Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgement. [12:36]

11 An evil and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign. [12:39]

12 He findeth it empty, swept, and garnished. [12:44]

13 The last state of that man is worse than the first. [12:45]

14 Some seeds fell by the way side. [13:4]

15 An enemy hath done this. [13:28]

16 Found one pearl of great price. [13:46]

17 A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country. [13:57]

18 Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid. [14:27]

19 O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt? [14:31]

20 Besought him that they might only touch the hem of his garment. [14:36]

21 Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man. [15:11]

22 If the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch. [15:14]

23 It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs. [15:26]

24 The dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table. [15:27]

25 Can ye not discern the signs of the times? [16:3]

26 Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. [16:18]

27 Get thee behind me, Satan. [16:23]

28 Let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. [16:24]

29 What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? [16:26]

30 If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove. [17:20]

31 Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. [18:3]

32 Whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. [18:6]

33 It must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh! [18:7]

34 If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out. [18:9]

35 Until seventy times seven. [18:22]

36 For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh. [19:5]

37 What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. [19:6]

38 Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. [19:19]

39 Thou shalt have treasure in heaven. [19:21]

40 He went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions. [19:22]

41 It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God. [19:24]

7 The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner. [21:42]

8 A man which had not on a wedding garment. [22:11]

9 Cast him into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. [22:13]

10 Many are called, but few are chosen. [22:14]

11 Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. [22:21]

12 For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage. [22:30]

13 All their works they do for to be seen of men. [23:5]

14 Whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted. [23:12]

15 Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel. [23:24]

16 Ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness. [23:27]

17 Ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars. [24:6]

18 The end is not yet. [Ib.]

19 The abomination of desolation. [24:15]

20 Wheresoever the carcase is, there will the eagles be gathered together. [24:28]

21 Eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage. [24:38]

22 Well done, good and faithful servant. [25:23]

23 Unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath. [25:29]

24 He shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats. [25:32]

25 I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in. [25:35]

26 They covenanted with him for thirty pieces of silver. [26:15]

27 It had been good for that man if he had not been born. [26:24]

St Luke

8 My soul doth magnify the Lord,
And my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour. [1:46]

9 To give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace. [1:79]

10 Because there was no room for them in the inn. [2:7]

11 And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. [2:9]

12 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men. [2:14]

13 Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word. [2:29]

14 Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business? [2:49]

15 Shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time. [4:5]

16 Physician, heal thyself. [4:23]

17 Woe unto you, when all men shall speak well of you! [6:26]

31 The poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind. [14:21]

32 Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in. [14:23]

33 Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost. [15:6]

34 Joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance. [15:7]

35 Took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living. [15:13]

36 He would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat. [15:16]

37 Bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it. [15:23]

38 I cannot dig; to beg I am ashamed. [16:3]

1 We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do. [17:10]

2 The kingdom of God is within you. [17:21]

3 Remember Lot's wife. [17:32]

4 God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are. [18:11]

5 God, be merciful to me a sinner. [18:13]

6 Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee. [19:22]

7 If these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out. [19:40]

8 And when they heard it, they said, God forbid. [20:16]

9 In your patience possess ye your souls. [21:19]

10 Nevertheless, not my will, but thine, be done. [22:42]

11 If they do these things in a green tree, what shall be done in the dry? [23:31]

12 Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. [23:34]

13 Why seek ye the living among the dead? [24:5]

14 And their words seemed to them as idle tales. [24:11]

St John

15 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. [1:1]

16 The light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not. [1:5]

17 There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. [1:6]

18 He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light. [1:8]

19 He came unto his own, and his own received him not. [1:11]

20 And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us. [1:14]

21 Whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose. [1:27]

22 Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? [1:46]

23 Woman, what have I to do with thee? mine hour is not yet come. [2:4]

24 The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth. [3:8]

25 How can these things be? [3:9]

26 God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. [3:16]

27 Men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. [3:19]

28 God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth. [4:24]

29 They are white already to harvest. [4:35]

30 Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. [5:8]

31 He was a burning and a shining light. [5:35]

32 Search the scriptures. [5:39]

33 It is the spirit that quickeneth. [6:63]

34 Judge not according to the appearance. [7:24]

35 He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her. [8:7]

36 The truth shall make you free. [8:32]

37 He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. [8:44]

38 He is a liar, and the father of it. [Ib.]

39 The night cometh, when no man can work. [9:4]

40 The good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep. [10:11]

41 I am the resurrection, and the life. [11:25]

42 Jesus wept. [11:35]

43 For the poor always ye have with you. [12:8]

44 A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another. [13:34]

45 In my Father's house are many mansions. [14:2]

46 I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. [14:6]

47 Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. [15:13

1 All things work together for good to them that love God. [8:28]

2 If God be for us, who can be against us? [8:31]

3 Neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,
Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God. [8:38]

4 My kinsmen according to the flesh. [9:3]

5 Hath not the potter power over the clay, of the same lump to make one vessel unto honour, and another unto dishonour? [9:21]

6 A zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. [10:2]

7 Let love be without dissimulation. [12:9]

8 Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep. [12:15]

9 Be not wise in your own conceits. [12:16]

10 Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord. [12:19]

11 Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good. [12:21]

12 Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. [13:1]

13 The powers that be are ordained of God. [Ib.]

14 Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour. [13:7]

1 Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal. [13:1]

2 Charity suffereth long, and is kind. [13:4]

3 Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail. [13:8]

4 For we know in part, and we prophesy in part. [13:9]

5 When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.
For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face. [13:11]

6 And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity. [13:13]

5 Put your trust in God, my boys, and keep your powder dry. [Oliver Cromwell's Advice]

SIR WILLIAM BLACKSTONE 1723–1780

6 Man was formed for society. [Commentary on the Laws of England, Introduction]

7 The king never dies. [Ib. Bk I. 7]

8 Time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. [Ib. I. 18]

9 That the king can do no wrong is a necessary and fundamental principle of the English constitution. [Ib. III. 17]

10 It is better that ten guilty persons escape than one innocent suffer. [Ib. IV. 27]

HELEN BLACKWOOD, LADY DUFFERIN 1807–1867

11 I'm sitting on the stile, Mary, / Where we sat, side by side. [Lament of the Irish Emigrant]

12 And the red was on your lip, Mary, / The love-light in your eye. [Ib.]

13 They say there's bread and work for all, / And the sun shines always there: / But I'll not forget old Ireland, / Were it fifty times as fair. [Ib.]

ROBERT BLAIR 1699–1746

14 The schoolboy, with his satchel in his hand, / Whistling aloud to bear his courage up. [The Grave, 58]

15 Its visits, / Like those of angels, short, and far between. [The Grave, 588]

CHARLES DUPEE BLAKE 1846–1903

16 Rock-a-bye baby on the tree top, / When the wind blows the cradle will rock, / When the bough bends the cradle will fall, / Down comes the baby, cradle and all. [Attr.]

WILLIAM BLAKE 1757–1827

17 For everything that lives is holy, life delights in life. [America, 71]

18 To see a World in a grain of sand, / And a Heaven in a wild flower, / Hold Infinity in the palm of your hand, / And Eternity in an hour. [Auguries of Innocence]

19 A robin redbreast in a cage / Puts all Heaven in a rage. [Ib.]

20 A dog starved at his master's gate / Predicts the ruin of the State. [Ib.]

21 A skylark wounded in the wing, / A cherubim does cease to sing. [Ib.]

22 Every wolf's and lion's howl / Raises from Hell a human soul. [Ib.]

23 He who shall hurt the little wren / Shall never be beloved by men. [Ib.]

24 The caterpillar on the leaf / Repeats to thee thy mother's grief. [Ib.]

25 A truth that's told with bad intent / Beats all the lies you can invent. [Ib.]

26 Every tear from every eye / Becomes a babe in Eternity. [Ib.]

27 He who shall teach the child to doubt / The rotting grave shall ne'er get out. [Ib.]

28 The strongest poison ever known / Came from Caesar's laurel crown. [Ib.]

29 If the Sun and Moon should doubt, / They'd immediately go out. [Ib.]

30 The harlot's cry from street to street / Shall weave old England's winding-sheet. [Ib.]

31 Does the Eagle know what is in the pit / Or wilt thou go ask the Mole? / Can Wisdom be put in a silver rod, / Or Love in a golden bowl? [The Book of Thel, Thel's motto]

1 The Vision of Christ that thou dost see / Is my vision's greatest enemy. [The Everlasting Gospel, α]

2 Both read the Bible day and night, / But thou read'st black where I read white. [Ib.]

3 Humility is only doubt, / And does the sun and moon blot out. [Ib. γ]

4 This life's five windows of the soul / Distorts the Heavens from pole to pole,/ And leads you to believe a lie / When you see with, not thro', the eye. [Ib.]

5 I am sure this Jesus will not do, /Either for Englishman or Jew. [Ib. 'Epilogue']

6 Mutual Forgiveness of each vice, / Such are the Gates of Paradise. [The Gates of Paradise, Prologue]

7 Truly, my Satan, thou art but a dunce, / And dost not know the garment from the man; / Every harlot was a virgin once, / Nor canst thou ever change Kate into Nan.

Tho' thou art worshipped by the names divine / Of Jesus and Jehovah, thou art still / The Son of Morn in weary Night's decline, / The lost traveller's dream under the hill. [Ib. Epilogue]

8 Great things are done when men and mountains meet; / This is not done by jostling in the street. [Gnomic Verses]

9 The Angel that presided o'er my birth / Said 'Little creature, formed of joy and mirth, / Go, love without the help of anything on earth.' [Ib. 'Riches']

10 He who bends to himself a Joy / Doth the wingèd life destroy; / But he who kisses the Joy as it flies / Lives in Eternity's sunrise. [Ib. 'Several Questions Answered']

11 I must Create a System, or be enslaved by another Man's; / I will not Reason and Compare; my business is to Create. [Jerusalem, f. 10. 20]

12 I see the Fourfold Man; the Humanity in deadly sleep, / And its fallen Emanation, the Spectre and its cruel Shadow. / I see the Past, Present, and Future existing all at once / Before me. [Ib. f. 15. 6]

13 The fields from Islington to Marybone, / To Primrose Hill and Saint John's Wood, / Were builded over with pillars of gold; / And there Jerusalem's pillars stood. [Ib. f. 27]

14 For a tear is an intellectual thing; / And a sigh is the sword of an angel king; / And the bitter groan of a martyr's woe / Is an arrow from the Almighty's bow. [Jerusalem, f. 52]

15 I give you the end of a golden string; / Only wind it into a ball, / It will lead you in at Heaven's gate, / Built in Jerusalem's wall. [Ib. f. 77]

16 England! awake! awake! awake! / Jerusalem thy sister calls! / Why wilt thou sleep the sleep of death, / And close her from thy ancient walls? [Ib.]

17 And now the time returns again: / Our souls exult, and London's towers / Receive the Lamb of God to dwell / In England's green and pleasant bowers. [Ib.]

18 I care not whether a man is good or evil; all that I care / Is whether he is a wise man or a fool. Go! put off holiness, / And put on intellect. [Ib. f. 91 : 54]

19 'Father, O father! what do we here / In this land of unbelief and fear? / The Land of Dreams is better far, / Above the light of the morning star.' [The Land of Dreams]

20 And did those feet in ancient time / Walk upon England's mountains green? / And was the holy Lamb of God / On England's pleasant pastures seen?

And did the Countenance Divine / Shine forth upon our clouded hills? / And was Jerusalem builded here / Among these dark Satanic mills?

Bring me my bow of burning gold! / Bring me my arrows of desire! / Bring me my spear! O clouds, unfold! / Bring me my chariot of fire!

I will not cease from mental fight, / Nor shall my sword sleep in my hand, / Till we have built Jerusalem / In England's green and pleasant land. [Milton, Preface]

21 When a man has married a wife, he finds out whether / Her knees and elbows are only glued together. [Miscellaneous Epigrams]

22 Mock on, mock on, Voltaire, Rousseau; / Mock on, mock on; 'tis all in vain! / You throw the sand against the wind, / And the wind blows it back again. [Mock on, mock on, Voltaire, Rousseau]

2 Never seek to tell thy love, / Love that never told can be; / For the gentle wind does move / Silently, invisibly. [Never seek to tell thy Love]

3 Soon as she was gone from me, / A traveller came by, / Silently, invisibly: / He took her with a sigh. [Ib.]

4 When Sir Joshua Reynolds died / All Nature was degraded; / The King dropped a tear in the Queen's ear, / And all his pictures faded. [On Art and Artists]

5 A petty sneaking thief I knew – / O! Mr Cr—, how do you do? [On Cromek]

6 Hear the voice of the Bard! / Who present, past, and future sees; / Whose ears have heard / The Holy Word / That walked among the ancient trees. [Songs of Experience, Introduction]

7 Ah, Sun-flower! weary of time, / Who countest the steps of the sun; / Seeking after that sweet golden clime, / Where the traveller's journey is done;

Where the Youth pined away with desire, / And the pale Virgin shrouded in snow, / Arise from their graves, and aspire / Where my Sun-flower wishes to go. [Ib. 'Ah! Sun-Flower']

8 Love seeketh not itself to please, / Nor for itself hath any care, / But for another gives its ease, / And builds a Heaven in Hell's despair. [Ib. 'The Clod and the Pebble']

9 And the gates of this Chapel were shut, / And 'Thou shalt not' writ over the door. [Ib. 'The Garden of Love']

10 And priests in black gowns were walking their rounds, / And binding with briars my joys and desires. [Ib.]

11 Pity would be no more / If we did not make somebody poor; / And Mercy no more could be / If all were as happy as we. [Ib. 'The Human Abstract']

12 My mother groaned, my father wept, / Into the dangerous world I leapt; / Helpless, naked, piping loud, / Like a fiend hid in a cloud. [Ib. 'Infant Sorrow']

13 But if at the Church they would give us some ale, / And a pleasant fire our souls to regale, / We'd sing and we'd pray all the livelong day, / Nor ever once wish from the Church to stray. [Songs of Experience, 'The Little Vagabond']

14 I was angry with my friend: / I told my wrath, my wrath did end. / I was angry with my foe: / I told it not, my wrath did grow. [Ib. 'A Poison Tree']

15 O Rose, thou art sick! / The invisible worm, / That flies in the night, / In the howling storm,

Has found out thy bed / Of crimson joy; / And his dark secret love / Does thy life destroy. [Ib. 'The Sick Rose']

16 Tiger! Tiger! burning bright / In the forests of the night, / What immortal hand or eye / Could frame thy fearful symmetry? [Ib. 'The Tiger']

17 When the stars threw down their spears, / And watered heaven with their tears, / Did he smile his work to see? / Did he who made the Lamb make thee? [Ib.]

18 Piping down the valleys wild, / Piping songs of pleasant glee, / On a cloud I saw a child. [Songs of Innocence, Introduction]

19 'Pipe a song about a Lamb!' / So I piped with merry cheer. [Ib.]

20 And I made a rural pen, / And I stained the water clear, / And I wrote my happy songs / Every child may joy to hear. [Ib.]

21 When my mother died, I was very young, / And my father sold me while yet my tongue / Could scarcely cry "'weep! 'weep! 'weep! 'weep!' / So your chimneys I sweep, and in soot I sleep. [Ib. 'The Chimney Sweeper']

22 To Mercy, Pity, Peace, and Love / All pray in their distress. [Ib. 'The Divine Image']

23 For Mercy has a human heart, / Pity a human face, / And Love, the human form divine, / And Peace, the human dress. [Ib.]

24 'Twas on a Holy Thursday, their innocent faces clean, / The children walking two and two, in red and blue and green. [Ib. 'Holy Thursday']

25 Then cherish pity, lest you drive an angel from your door. [Ib.]

26 'I have no name: / I am but two days old.' / What shall I call thee? / 'I happy am, / Joy is my name.' / Sweet joy befall thee! [Ib. 'Infant Joy']

1 Little Lamb, who made thee? / Dost thou know who made thee? / Gave thee life, and bid thee feed, / By the stream and o'er the mead; / Gave thee clothing of delight, / Softest clothing, woolly, bright; / Gave thee such a tender voice, Making all the vales rejoice? [Songs of Innocence, 'The Lamb']

2 He is meek, and He is mild; / He became a little child. / I a child, and thou a lamb, / We are callèd by His name. / Little Lamb, God bless thee! [Ib.]

3 When the green woods laugh with the voice of joy. [Ib. 'Laughing Song']

4 My mother bore me in the southern wild, / And I am black, but O! my soul is white. [Ib. 'The Little Black Boy']

5 Father! father! where are you going? / O do not walk so fast. / Speak, father, speak to your little boy, / Or else I shall be lost. [Ib. 'The Little Boy Lost']

6 Farewell, green fields and happy groves, / Where flocks have took delight, / Where lambs have nibbled, silent moves / The feet of angels bright; / Unseen they pour blessing, / And joy without ceasing, / On each bud and blossom, / And each sleeping bosom. [Ib. 'Night']

7 When the voices of children are heard on the green, / And laughing is heard on the hill, / My heart is at rest within my breast, / And everything else is still. [Ib. 'Nurse's Song']

8 Can I see another's woe, / And not be in sorrow too? [Ib. 'On Another's Sorrow']

9 Cruelty has a human heart, / And Jealousy a human face; / Terror the human form divine, / And Secrecy the human dress. [Appendix to the Songs of Innocence and of Experience, 'A Divine Image']

10 I mock thee not, though I by thee am mockèd; / Thou call'st me madman, but I call thee blockhead. [To Flaxman]

11 Thy friendship oft has made my heart to ache: / Do be my enemy – for friendship's sake. [To Hayley]

12 Whether on Ida's shady brow, / Or in the chambers of the East, / The chambers of the sun, that now / From ancient melody have ceased;

13 For beauty being the best of all we know / Sums up the unsearchable and secret aims / Of nature. [The Growth of Love, 8]

14 Beauty sat with me all the summer day, / Awaiting the sure triumph of her eye; / Nor mark'd I till we parted, how, hard by, / Love in her train stood ready for his prey. [Ib. 56]

15 The hill pines were sighing, / O'ercast and chill was the day: / A mist in the valley lying / Blotted the pleasant May. [The Hill Pines were Sighing]

16 I heard a linnet courting / His lady in the spring. [I heard a linnet]

17 I will not let thee go. / Had not the great sun seen, I might; / Or were he reckoned slow / To bring the false to light, / Then might I let thee go. [I will not let thee go]

18 When men were all asleep the snow came flying, / In large white flakes falling on the city brown, / Stealthily and perpetually settling and loosely lying, / Hushing the latest traffic of the drowsy town. [London Snow]

1 I lingered round them, under that benign sky: watched the moths fluttering among the heath and harebells; listened to the soft wind breathing through the grass; and wondered how anyone could ever imagine unquiet slumbers for the sleepers in that quiet earth. [Wuthering Heights, conclusion]

RUPERT BROOKE 1887–1915

2 Blow out, you bugles, over the rich Dead! / There's none of these so lonely and poor of old, / But, dying, has made us rarer gifts than gold. / These laid the world away; poured out the red / Sweet wine of youth; gave up the years to be / Of work and joy, and that unhoped serene, / That men call age; and those who would have been, / Their sons, they gave, their immortality. [The Dead]

3 Honour has come back, as a king, to earth, / And paid his subjects with a royal wage; / And Nobleness walks in our ways again; / And we have come into our heritage. [Ib.]

4 Unfading moths, immortal flies, / And the worm that never dies. / And in that heaven of all their wish, / There shall be no more land, say fish. [Heaven]

5 Breathless, we flung us on the windy hill, / Laughed in the sun, and kissed the lovely grass. [The Hill]

7 Here tulips bloom as they are told; / Unkempt about those hedges blows / An unofficial English rose; / And there the unregulated sun / Slopes down to rest when day is done, / And wakes a vague unpunctual star, / A slippered Hesper. [The Old Vicarage, Grantchester]

8 And spectral dance, before the dawn, / A hundred Vicars down the lawn; / Curates, long dust, will come and go / On lissom, clerical, printless toe; / And oft between the boughs is seen / The sly shade of a Rural Dean. [Ib.]

9 For England's the one land, I know, / Where men with Splendid Hearts may go; / And Cambridgeshire, of all England, / The shire for Men who Understand. [Ib.]

10 For Cambridge people rarely smile, / Being urban, squat, and packed with guile. [The Old Vicarage, Grantchester]

11 They love the Good; they worship Truth;/ They laugh uproariously in youth; / (And when they get to feeling old, / They up and shoot themselves, I'm told). [Ib.]

15 War knows no power. Safe shall be my going, / Secretly armed against all death's endeavour; / Safe though all safety's lost; safe where men fall; / And if these poor limbs die, safest of all. [Safety]

16 If I should die, think only this of me: / That there's some corner of a foreign field / That is for ever England. There shall be / In that rich earth a richer dust concealed. [The Soldier]

SIR THOMAS BROWNE 1605–1682

11 They do most by Books, who could do much without them, and he that chiefly owes himself unto himself, is the substantial Man. [Christian Morals, II. 11]

12 Life is itself but the shadow of death, and souls departed but the shadows of the living. All things fall under this name. The sun itself is but the dark simulacrum, and light but the shadow of God. [Garden of Cyrus, Ch. 4]

13 But the quincunx of heaven runs low, and 'tis time to close the five ports of knowledge. [Ib. 5]

17 I dare, without usurpation, assume the honourable style of a Christian. [Religio Medici, Pt I. 1]

18 Yet at my devotion I love to use the civility of my knee, my hat, and hand. [Ib. I. 3]

19 As for those wingy mysteries in divinity, and airy subtleties in religion, which have unhinged the brains of better heads, they never stretched the pia mater of mine. [Ib. I. 9]

20 Methinks there be not impossibilities enough in religion for an active faith. [Ib.]

21 I love to lose myself in a mystery; to pursue my reason to an O altitudo! [Ib.]

22 We carry with us the wonders we seek without us: there is all Africa and her prodigies in us. [Ib. I. 15]

26 Thus we are men and we know not how:

there is something in us that can be without us, and will be after us. [Religio Medici, I. 35]

1 Certainly there is no happiness within this circle of flesh, nor is it in the optics of these eyes to behold felicity. The first day of our jubilee is death. [Ib. I. 43]

2 To believe only possibilities is not faith, but mere philosophy. [Ib. I. 47]

3 There is no road or ready way to virtue. [Ib. I. 54]

4 The multitude: that numerous piece of monstrosity, which, taken asunder, seem men, and the reasonable creatures of God; but, confused together, make but one great beast, and a monstrosity more hideous than Hydra. [Ib. II. 1]

5 It is the common wonder of all men, how among so many millions of faces, there should be none alike. [Ib. II. 2]

6 No man can justly censure or condemn another, because indeed no man truly knows another. [Ib. II. 4]

7 Charity begins at home, is the voice of the world. [Ib.]

8 The whole world was made for man; but the twelfth part of man for woman: man is the whole world, and the breath of God; woman the rib and crooked piece of man. I could be content that we might procreate like trees, without conjunction, or that there were any way to perpetuate the world without this trivial and vulgar way of union. [Ib. II. 9]

9 Sure there is music even in the beauty, and the silent note which Cupid strikes, far sweeter than the sound of an instrument. For there is music where ever there is a harmony, order, or proportion: and thus far we may maintain the music of the spheres. [Ib.]

10 We all labour against our own cure; for death is the cure of all diseases. [Ib.]

11 For the world, I count it not an inn, but an hospital; and a place not to live but to die in. [Ib. II. 11]

12 There is surely a piece of divinity in us, something that was before the elements, and owes no homage unto the sun. [Ib.]

13 Sleep is a death; O make me try, / By sleeping, what it is to die; / And as gently lay my head / On my grave, as now my bed. [Ib. II. 12]

14 Old mortality, the ruins of forgotten times. [Urn Burial, Preface]

15 What song the Syrens sang, or what name Achilles assumed when he hid himself among women, though puzzling questions, are not beyond all conjecture. [Ib. Ch. 5]

16 But the iniquity of oblivion blindly scattereth her poppy, and deals with the memory of men without distinction to merit of perpetuity. [Ib.]

17 The night of time far surpasseth the day, and who knows when was the equinox? [Ib.]

18 Man is a noble animal, splendid in ashes, and pompous in the grave. [Ib.]

WILLIAM BROWNE 1590?–1645?

19 Underneath this sable hearse / Lies the subject of all verse: / Sidney's sister, Pembroke's mother: / Death, ere thou hast slain another, / Fair, and learned, and good as she, / Time shall throw a dart at thee. [Epitaph on the Dowager Countess of Pembroke]

20 Steer hither, steer, your winged pines, / All beaten mariners, / Here lie love's undiscovered mines, / A prey to passengers. ['Song of the Sirens', from the Inner Temple Masque]

SIR WILLIAM BROWNE 1692–1774

6 God's gifts put man's best gifts to shame. [Ib. xxvi]

7 How do I love thee? Let me count the ways. / I love thee to the depth and breadth and height / My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight / For the ends of Being and ideal Grace. [Ib. xliii]

8 I love thee with a love I seemed to lose / With my lost saints – I love thee with the breath, / Smiles, tears, of all my life! – and, if God choose, / I shall but love thee better after death. [Ib.]

9 Thou large-brained woman and large-hearted man. [To George Sand, A Desire]

10 Life treads on life, and heart on heart: / We press too close in church and mart / To keep a dream or grave apart. [A Vision of Poets, conclusion]

11 Our Euripides, the human, / With his droppings of warm tears, / And his touches of things common / Till they rose to touch the spheres. [Wine of Cyprus, xii]

ROBERT BROWNING 1812–1889

12 The high that proved too high, the heroic for earth too hard, / The passion that left the ground to lose itself in the sky, / Are music sent up to God by the lover and the bard; / Enough that he heard it once; we shall hear it by-and-by. [Abt Vogler, x]

13 The rest may reason and welcome; 'tis we musicians know. [Ib. xi]

14 Well, it is earth with me; silence resumes her reign: / I will be patient and proud, and soberly acquiesce. [Ib. xii]

15 I have dared and done, for my resting-place is found, / The C major of this life: so. now I will try to sleep. [Ib.]

16 How he lies in his rights of a man! / Death has done all death can. [After]

17 Love, we are in God's hand. / How strange now looks the life he makes us lead. / So free we seem, so fettered fast we are! [Andrea del Sarto, 49]

18 Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp, / Or what's a heaven for? [Ib. 98]

19 Four great walls in the New Jerusalem, / Meted on each side by the angel's reed, / For Leonard, Rafael, Agnolo and me / To cover. [Ib. 263]

20 Again the Cousin's whistle! Go, my Love. [Ib. 269]

21 Why need the other women know so much? [Any Wife to any Husband]

22 It's wiser being good than bad; / It's safer being meek than fierce: / It's fitter being sane than mad. / My own hope is, a sun will pierce / The thickest cloud earth ever stretched; / That, after Last, returns the First, / Though a wide compass round be fetched; / That what began best can't end worst, / Nor what God blessed once, prove accurst. [Apparent Failure]

1 If you get simple beauty and nought else, / You get about the best thing God invents. [Fra Lippo Lippi, 217]

2 You should not take a fellow eight years old / And make him swear to never kiss the girls. [Ib. 224]

3 I always see the garden and God there / A-making man's wife. [Ib. 265]

4 This is our master, famous calm and dead, / Borne on our shoulders. [A Grammarian's Funeral, 27]

5 He said, 'What's time? Leave Now for dogs and apes! / Man has Forever.' [Ib. 83]

6 Calculus racked him: / Leaden before, his eyes grew dross of lead: / Tussis attacked him. [Ib. 86]

7 He settled Hoti's business – let it be! – / Properly based Oun – / Gave us the doctrine of the enclitic De, / Dead from the waist down. [Ib. 129]

8 Here – here's his place, where meteors shoot, clouds form, / Lightnings are loosened, / Stars come and go. [Ib. 141]

9 Give both the infinitudes their due – / Infinite mercy, but, I wis, / As infinite a justice too. [The Heretic's Tragedy]

10 I liken his Grace to an acorned hog. [Holy-Cross Day]

11 The Lord will have mercy on Jacob yet, / And again in his border see Israel set. [Ib.]

12 Oh, to be in England, / Now that April's there. [Home Thoughts from Abroad]

13 While the chaffinch sings on the orchard bough / In England – now! [Ib.]

14 And after April, when May follows, / And the whitethroat builds, and all the swallows! [Ib.]

15 That's the wise thrush; he sings each song twice over, / Lest you should think he never could recapture / The first fine careless rapture! [Ib.]

16 Nobly, nobly Cape Saint Vincent to the North-west died away; / Sunset ran, one glorious blood-red, reeking into Cadiz bay. [Home Thoughts from the Sea]

17 'Here and here did England help me: how can I help England?' – say, / Whoso turns as I, this evening, turn to God to praise and pray, / While Jove's planet rises yonder, silent over Africa. [Ib.]

5 Round the cape of a sudden came the sea, / And the sun looked over the mountain's rim: / And straight was a path of gold for him, / And the need of a world of men for me. [Parting at Morning]

6 It was roses, roses, all the way, / With myrtle mixed in my path like mad. [The Patriot]

7 Alack, it was I who leaped at the sun / To give it my loving friends to keep! / Nought man could do, have I left undone: / And you see my harvest, what I reap / This very day, now a year is run. [Ib.]

8 Sun-treader, I believe in God and truth / And love. [(Shelley) Pauline]

9 Hamelin Town's in Brunswick, / By famous Hanover city; / The river Weser, deep and wide, / Washes its wall on the southern side; / A pleasanter spot you never spied. [The Pied Piper of Hamelin, i]

10 Rats! / They fought the dogs and killed the cats, / And bit the babies in the cradles, / And ate the cheeses out of the vats. [Ib. ii]

11 With shrieking and squeaking / In fifty different sharps and flats. [Ib.]

12 Save when at noon his paunch grew mutinous / For a plate of turtle green and glutinous. [Ib. iv]

13 And the muttering grew to a grumbling; / And the grumbling grew to a mighty rumbling; / And out of the houses the rats came tumbling. [Ib. vii]

14 I heard a sound as of scraping tripe, / And putting apples wondrous ripe, / Into a cider-press's gripe. [Ib.]

15 So munch on, crunch on, take your nuncheon, / Breakfast, supper, dinner, luncheon! [The Pied Piper of Hamelin, vii]

16 The year's at the spring / And day's at the morn; / Morning's at seven; / The hillside's dew-pearled; / The lark's on the wing; / The snail's on the thorn: / God's in his heaven – / All's right with the world! [Pippa Passes, Pt I]

17 God must be glad one loves His world so much. [Ib. III]

18 A king lived long ago, / In the morning of the world, / When earth was nigher heaven than now. [Ib.]

19 Such grace had kings when the world begun! [Ib.]

20 All service ranks the same with God – / With God, whose puppets, best and worst, / Are we: there is no last or first. [Ib.]

21 Stand still, true poet that you are! / I know you; let me try and draw you. / Some night you'll fail us: when afar / You rise, remember one man saw you, / Knew you and named a star! [Popularity]

22 Who fished the murex up? / What porridge had John Keats? [Ib.]

23 The rain set early in to-night, / The sullen wind was soon awake. / It tore the elm-tops down for spite, / And did its worst to vex the lake. [Porphyria's Lover]

24 No pain felt she; / I am quite sure she felt no pain. [Ib.]

25 And thus we sit together now, / And all night long we have not stirred, / And yet God has not said a word! [Ib.]

26 Fear death? – to feel the fog in my throat, / The mist in my face. [Prospice]

27 Where he stands, the Arch Fear in a visible form, / Yet the strong man must go. [Ib.]

28 I was ever a fighter, so – one fight more, / The best and the last! [Ib.]

29 No! let me taste the whole of it, fare like my peers / The heroes of old, / Bear the brunt, in a minute pay glad life's arrears / Of pain, darkness and cold. [Ib.]

30 O thou soul of my soul! I shall clasp thee again, / And with God be the rest! [Ib.]

1 Irks care the crop-full bird? Frets doubt the maw-crammed beast? [Ib. iv]

2 Then, welcome each rebuff / That turns earth's smoothness rough, / Each sting that bids nor sit nor stand but go! [Ib. vi]

3 For thence – a paradox / Which comforts while it mocks, – / Shall life succeed in that it seems to fail: / What I aspired to be, / And was not, comforts me: / A brute I might have been, but would not sink i' the scale. [Ib. vii]

4 I see the whole design, / I, who saw power, see now love perfect too. [Ib. x]

5 Let us not always say / 'Spite of this flesh today / I strove, made head, gained ground upon the whole!' / As the bird wings and sings, / Let us cry 'All good things / Are ours, nor soul helps flesh more, now, than flesh helps soul.' [Ib. xii]

6 Therefore I summon age / To grant youth's heritage. [Ib. xiii]

7 Leave the fire ashes, what survives is gold. [Ib. xv]

8 For note, when evening shuts, / A certain moment cuts / The deed off, calls the glory from the grey. [Ib. xvi]

9 Now, who shall arbitrate? / Ten men love what I hate, / Shun what I follow, slight what I receive; / Ten who in ears and eyes / Match me: we all surmise, / They this thing, and I that: whom shall my soul believe? [Ib. xxii]

10 But all, the world's coarse thumb / And finger failed to plumb, / So passed in making up the main account. [Ib. xxiv]

11 Thoughts hardly to be packed / Into a narrow act, / Fancies that broke through language and escaped. [Ib. xxv]

12 Let age approve of youth, and death complete the same. [Ib. xxxii]

13 Do you see this square old yellow Book, I toss / I' the air, and catch again. [Ring and the Book, I. 33]

14 The Life, Death, Miracles of Saint Somebody, / Saint Somebody Else, his Miracles, Death and Life, – / With this, one glance at the lettered back of which, / And 'Stall!' cried I: a lira made it mine. [Ib. I. 80]

15 Well, British Public, ye who like me not, / (God love you!) and will have your proper laugh / At the dark question, laugh it! I laugh first. [Ring and the Book, I. 410]

16 Whom but a dusk misfeatured messenger, / No other than the angel of this life, / Whose care is lest men see too much at once. [Ib. I. 593]

17 Our murder has been done three days ago, / The frost is over and done, the south wind laughs, / And, to the very tiles of each red roof / A-smoke i' the sunshine, Rome lies gold and glad. [Ib. I. 904]

18 Vows can't change nature, priests are only men, / And love likes stratagem and subterfuge. [Ib. I. 1057]

19 O lyric Love, half angel and half bird / And all a wonder and a wild desire. [Ib. I. 1391]

20 Never may I commence my song, my due / To God who best taught song by gift of thee, / Except with bent head and beseeching hand – / That still, despite the distance and the dark, / What was, again may be. [Ib. I. 1403]

21 A personage came by the private door / At noon to have his look: I name no names. [Ib. II. 152]

22 Everyone soon or late comes round by Rome. [Ib. V. 296]

23 Creation purged o' the miscreate, man redeemed, / A spittle wiped off from the face of God! [Ib. VI. 1478]

24 But I, not privileged to see a saint / Of old when such walked earth with crown and palm, / If I call 'saint' what saints call something else – / The saints must bear with me. [Ib. VII. 1512]

25 O lover of my life, O soldier-saint. [Ib. VII. 1786]

26 Through such souls alone / God stooping shows sufficient of His light / For us i' the dark to rise by. And I rise. [Ib. VII. 1843]

2 White shall not neutralize the black, nor good / Compensate bad in man, absolve him so: / Life's business being just the terrible choice. [Ib. X. 1236]

3 There's a new tribunal now, / Higher than God's – the educated man's! [Ib. X. 1976]

4 Abate, – Cardinal, – Christ, – Maria, – God, . . . / Pompilia, will you let them murder me? [Ib. XI. 2424]

5 It is the glory and the good of Art, / That Art remains the one way possible / Of speaking truth, to minds like mine at least. [Ib. XII. 842]

6 Oh, the wild joys of living! the leaping from rock up to rock, / The strong rending of boughs from the fir-tree, the cool silver shock / Of the plunge in a pool's living water. [Saul, ix]

7 How good is man's life, the mere living! how fit to employ / All the heart and the soul and the senses for ever in joy! [Ib.]

8 Leave the flesh to the fate it was fit for! the spirit be thine! [Ib. xiii]

9 I have gone the whole round of creation: I saw and I spoke: / I, a work of God's hand for that purpose, received in my brain / And pronounced on the rest of his handwork – returned him again / His creation's approval or censure: I spoke as I saw: / I report, as a man may of God's work – all's love, yet all's law. [Ib. xvii]

10 In the first is the last, in thy will is my power to believe. [Ib. xviii]

5 The castle crag of Drachenfels / Frowns o'er the wide and winding Rhine. [Ib. III. lv]

6 To fly from, need not be to hate, mankind: / All are not fit with them to stir and toil, / Nor is it discontent to keep the mind / Deep in its fountain. [Ib. III. lxix]

7 I live not in myself, but I become / Portion of that around me; and to me / High mountains are a feeling, but the hum / Of human cities torture. [Ib. III. lxxii]

8 Ye stars! which are the poetry of heaven! [Ib. III. lxxxviii]

9 Then stirs the feeling infinite, so felt / In solitude, where we are least alone. [Ib. III. xc]

10 I have not loved the world, nor the world me; / I have not flattered its rank breath, nor bowed / To its idolatries a patient knee, / Nor coined my cheek to smiles, nor cried aloud / In worship of an echo. [Ib. III. cxiii]

11 I stood / Among them, but not of them; in a shroud / Of thoughts which were not their thoughts. [Ib.]

12 I stood in Venice, on the Bridge of Sighs; / A palace and a prison on each hand. [Ib. IV. i]

13 Where Venice sat in state, throned on her hundred isles! [Ib.]

14 The Ariosto of the North. [(Walter Scott) Ib. IV. xl]

15 Let these describe the indescribable. [Ib. IV. liii]

16 Then farewell, Horace; whom I hated so, / Not for thy thoughts, but mine. [Ib. IV. lxxvii]

17 Yet, Freedom! yet thy banner, torn, but flying, / Streams like the thunder-storm against the wind. [Childe Harold's Pilgrimage, IV. xcviii]

18 Alas! our young affections run to waste, / Or water but the desert. [Ib. IV. cxx]

19 Of its own beauty is the mind diseased, / And fevers into false creation. [Ib. IV. cxxii]

20 Time, the avenger! unto thee I lift / My hands, and eyes, and heart, and crave of thee a gift. [Ib. IV. cxxx]

21 I see before me the Gladiator lie: / He leans upon his hand – his manly brow / Consents to death, but conquers agony. [Ib. IV. cxl]

22 The arena swims around him – he is gone, / Ere ceased the inhuman shout which hailed the wretch who won. [Ib.]

23 He heard it, but he heeded not – his eyes / Were with his heart, and that was far away; / He recked not of the life he lost nor prize, / But where his rude hut by the Danube lay, / There were his young barbarians all at play, / There was their Dacian mother – he, their sire, / Butchered to make a Roman holiday. [Ib. IV. cxli]

24 While stands the Coliseum, Rome shall stand; / When falls the Coliseum, Rome shall fall; / And when Rome falls – the World. [Ib. IV. cxlv]

25 Oh! that the Desert were my dwelling place, / With one fair Spirit for my minister, / That I might all forget the human race, / And, hating no one, love but only her! [Ib. IV. clxxvii]

26 There is a pleasure in the pathless woods, / There is a rapture on the lonely shore, / There is society, where none intrudes, / By the deep sea, and music in its roar: / I love not man the less, but Nature more. [Ib. IV. clxxviii]

27 Roll on, thou deep and dark blue Ocean – roll! / Ten thousand fleets sweep over thee in vain; / Man marks the earth with ruin – his control / Stops with the shore. [Ib. IV. clxxix]

28 He sinks into thy depths with bubbling groan, / Without a grave, unknelled, uncoffined, and unknown. [Ib.]

29 Time writes no wrinkle on thine azure brow: / Such as creation's dawn beheld, thou rollest now. [Ib. IV. clxxxii]

1 Thou glorious mirror, where the Almighty's form / Glasses itself in tempests. [Childe Harold's Pilgrimage, IV. clxxxiii]

2 Dark-heaving – boundless, endless, and sublime, / The image of eternity, the throne / Of the Invisible. [Ib.]

3 And I have loved thee, Ocean! and my joy / Of youthful sports was on thy breast to be / Borne, like thy bubbles, onward: from a boy / I wantoned with thy breakers. [Ib. IV. clxxxiv]

4 The fatal facility of the octosyllabic verse. [The Corsair, Introduction]

5 Such hath it been – shall be – beneath the sun / The many still must labour for the one! [Ib. I. viii]

6 The spirit burning but unbent, / May writhe, rebel – the weak alone repent! [Ib. II. x]

7 She for him had given / Her all on earth, and more than all in heaven! [Ib. III. xvii]

8 He left a Corsair's name to other times, / Linked with one virtue, and a thousand crimes. [Ib. III. xxiv]

9 I tell thee, be not rash; a golden bridge / Is for a flying enemy. [The Deformed Transformed, II. ii]

10 Explaining metaphysics to the nation – / I wish he would explain his explanation. [(Of Coleridge) Don Juan, Dedication, ii]

11 In virtues nothing earthly could surpass her, / Save thine 'incomparable oil', Macassar! [Ib. I. xvii]

12 But – Oh! ye lords of ladies intellectual, / Inform us truly, have they not henpecked you all? [Ib. I. xxii]

13 She / Was married, charming, chaste, and twenty-three. [Ib. I. lix]

14 Her stature tall – I hate a dumpy woman. [Ib. I. lxi]

15 What men call gallantry, and gods adultery, / Is much more common where the climate's sultry. [Ib. I. lxiii]

16 Christians have burnt each other, quite persuaded / That all the Apostles would have done as they did. [Ib. I. lxxxiii]

17 A little still she strove, and much repented, / And whispering 'I will ne'er consent' – consented. [Ib. I. cxvii]

18 'Tis sweet to hear the watch-dog's honest bark / Bay deep-mouthed welcome as we draw near home; / 'Tis sweet to know there is an eye will mark / Our coming, and look brighter when we come. [Don Juan, I. cxxiii]

19 Sweet is revenge – especially to women. [Ib. I. cxxiv]

20 Pleasure's a sin, and sometimes sin's a pleasure. [Ib. I. cxxxiii]

21 Man's love is of man's life a thing apart, / 'Tis woman's whole existence. [Ib. I. cxciv]

22 So for a good old-gentlemanly vice, / I think I must take up with avarice. [Ib. I. ccxvi]

23 There's nought, no doubt, so much the spirit calms / As rum and true religion. [Ib. II. xxxiv]

24 But he, poor fellow, had a wife and children, / Two things for dying people quite bewildering. [Ib. II. xliii]

25 If this be true, indeed, / Some Christians have a comfortable creed. [Ib. II. lxxxvi]

26 He could, perhaps, have passed the Hellespont, / As once (a feat on which ourselves we prided) / Leander, Mr Ekenhead, and I did. [Ib. II. cv]

27 Let us have wine and women, mirth and laughter, / Sermons and soda-water the day after. [Ib. II. clxxviii]

28 Man, being reasonable, must get drunk; / The best of life is but intoxication. [Ib. II. clxxix]

29 Alas! the love of women! it is known / To be a lovely and a fearful thing. [Ib. II. cxcix]

30 In her first passion woman loves her lover, / In all the others all she loves is love. [Ib. III. iii]

31 For no one cares for matrimonial cooings, / There's nothing wrong in a connubial kiss: / Think you, if Laura had been Petrarch's wife, / He would have written sonnets all his life? [Ib. III. viii]

32 All tragedies are finished by a death, / All comedies are ended by a marriage. [Ib. III. ix]

33 Dreading that climax of all human ills, / The inflammation of his weekly bills. [Ib. III. xxxv]

8 Who killed John Keats? / 'I', says the Quarterly, / So savage and Tartarly; / "Twas one of my feats.' [John Keats]

9 Maid of Athens, ere we part, / Give, oh give me back my heart! [Maid of Athens]

10 When the moon is on the wave, / And the glow-worm in the grass, / And the meteor on the grave, / And the wisp on the morass; / When the falling stars are shooting, / And the answered owls are hooting, / And the silent leaves are still / In the shadow of the hill. [Manfred, I. i]

11 In truth, he was a noble steed. [Mazeppa, ix]

12 The Cincinattus of the West, / Whom envy dared not hate, / Bequeathed the name of Washington, / To make man blush there was but one! [Ode to Napoleon Buonaparte, xix]

13 My hair is grey, but not with years, / Nor grew it white / In a single night, / As men's have grown from sudden fears. [The Prisoner of Chillon, i]

14 A light broke in upon my brain, – / It was the carol of a bird; / It ceased, and then it came again, / The sweetest song ear ever heard. [Ib. x]

15 Even I / Regained my freedom with a sigh. [Ib. xiv]

16 I am the very slave of circumstance / And impulse – borne away with every breath! [Sardanapalus, IV. i]

17 So, we'll go no more a roving / So late into the night, / Though the heart be still as loving, / And the moon be still as bright.

For the sword outwears its sheath, / And the soul wears out the breast, / And the heart must pause to breathe, / And love itself have rest.

Though the night was made for loving, / And the day returns too soon, / Yet we'll go no more a roving / By the light of the moon. [So, we'll go no more a roving]

18 Eternal Spirit of the chainless Mind! / Brightest in dungeons, Liberty! thou art. [Sonnet on Chillon]

19 Chillon! thy prison is a holy place, / And thy sad floor an altar. [Ib.]

20 May none these marks efface! / For they appeal from tyranny to God. [Ib.]

21 There be none of Beauty's daughters / With a magic like thee. [Stanzas for Music, 'There be none of Beauty's daughters']

22 There's not a joy the world can give like that it takes away. [Ib. 'There's not a joy']

23 Nor be, what man should ever be, / The friend of Beauty in distress? [To Florence]

24 Saint Peter sat by the celestial gate: / His keys were rusty, and the lock was dull. [The Vision of Judgment, i]

25 The angels all were singing out of tune, / And hoarse with having little else to do, / Excepting to wind up the sun and moon, / Or curb a runaway young star or two. [Ib. ii]

26 A better farmer ne'er brushed dew from lawn, / A worse king never left a realm undone! [(George III) Ib. viii]

27 That household virtue, most uncommon, / Of constancy to a bad, ugly woman. [Ib. xii]

28 But he, with first a start and then a wink, / Said, 'There's another star gone out, I think!' [Ib. xvi]

29 An old man / With an old soul, and both extremely blind. [Ib. xxiii]

30 He pattered with his keys at a great rate, / And sweated through his apostolic skin: /

Of course his perspiration was but ichor, / Or some such other spiritual liquor. [The Vision of Judgment, xxv]

1 By many stories, / And true, we learn the angels are all Tories. [Ib. xxvi]

2 Though they did not kiss, / Yet still between his Darkness and his Brightness / There passed a mutual glance of great politeness. [Ib. xxxv]

3 Satan met his ancient friend / With more hauteur, as might an old Castilian / Poor noble meet a mushroom rich civilian. [Ib. xxxvi]

4 He had written much blank verse, and blanker prose. [(Southey) Ib. xcviii]

5 All I saw farther, in the last confusion, / Was, that King George slipped into heaven for one; / And when the tumult dwindled to a calm, / I left him practising the hundredth psalm. [Ib. cvi]

6 When we two parted / In silence and tears, / Half broken-hearted / To sever for years, / Pale grew thy cheek and cold, / Colder thy kiss; / Truly that hour foretold / Sorrow to this. [When we Two Parted]

7 The dew of the morning / Sunk chill on my brow – / It felt like a warning / Of what I feel now. [Ib.]

8 If I should meet thee / After long years, / How should I greet thee? / With silence and tears. [Ib.]

12 Why, you don't think I can listen all day to such stuff? / Be off, or I'll kick you downstairs! [Alice in Wonderland, 5]

13 'If everybody minded their own business,' the Duchess said in a hoarse growl, 'the world would go round a deal faster than it does.' [Ib. 6]

14 Speak roughly to your little boy, / And beat him when he sneezes: / He only does it to annoy, / Because he knows it teases. [Ib.]

15 It [the Cheshire Cat] vanished quite slowly, beginning with the end of the tail, and ending with the grin, which remained some time after the rest of it had gone. [Ib.]

16 'Then you should say what you mean,' the March Hare went on.

'I do,' Alice hastily replied; 'at least – at least I mean what I say – that's the same thing, you know.' [Ib. 7]

17 It was the best butter. [Ib.]

18 Twinkle, twinkle, little bat! / How I wonder what you're at! / Up above the world you fly, / Like a tea-tray in the sky. [Ib.]

19 They lived at the bottom of a well – . . . They lived on treacle. [Ib.]

20 Off with her head! [Ib. 8]

21 Everything's got a moral, if only you can find it. [Ib. 9]

22 Take care of the sense, and the sounds will take care of themselves. [Ib.]

23 That's nothing to what I could say if I chose. [Ib.]

24 We called him Tortoise because he taught us. [Ib.]

25 'Reeling and Writhing, of course, to begin with,' the Mock Turtle replied; 'and then the different branches of Arithmetic – Ambition, Distraction, Uglification, and Derision.' [Ib.]

26 He taught us Drawling, Stretching and Fainting in Coils. [Ib.]

27 'That's the reason they're called lessons,' the Gryphon remarked: 'because they lessen from day to day.' [Ib.]

28 'Will you walk a little faster?' said a whiting to a snail, / 'There's a porpoise close behind us, and he's treading on my tail.' [Ib. 10]

1 Will you, won't you, will you, won't you, will you join the dance? [Alice in Wonderland, 10]

2 The further off from England, the nearer is to France – / Then turn not pale, beloved snail, but come and join the dance. [Ib.]

3 Soup of the evening, beautiful Soup! [Ib.]

4 'Begin at the beginning,' the King said, gravely, 'and go on till you come to the end; then stop.' [Ib. 12]

5 They told me you had been to her, / And mentioned me to him: / She gave me a good character, / But said I could not swim. [Ib.]

6 Sentence first – verdict afterwards. [Ib.]

7 'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves / Did gyre and gimble in the wabe; / All mimsy were the borogoves, / And the mome raths outgrabe. [Through the Looking Glass, Ch. 1]

8 Beware the Jabberwock, my son! / The jaws that bite, the claws that catch! / Beware the Jubjub bird, and shun / The frumious Bandersnatch! [Ib.]

9 One, two! One, two! and through and through / The vorpal blade went snicker-snack! / He left it dead, and with its head / He went galumphing back. [Ib.]

10 'And hast thou slain the Jabberwock? / Come to my arms, my beamish boy! / O frabjous day! Callooh! Callay!' / He chortled in his joy. [Ib.]

11 Curtsey while you're thinking what to say. It saves time. [Ib. 2]

12 Now, here, you see, it takes all the running you can do, to stay in the same place. If you want to get somewhere else, you must run at least twice as fast as that! [Ib.]

13 'If you think we're wax-works,' he said, 'you ought to pay, you know. Wax-works weren't made to be looked at for nothing. Nohow!' [Ib. 4]

14 Tweedledum and Tweedledee / Agreed to have a battle; / For Tweedledum said Tweedledee / Had spoiled his nice new rattle. [Ib.]

15 'Contrariwise,' continued Tweedledee, 'if it was so, it might be; and if it were so, it would be: but as it isn't, it ain't. That's logic.' [Ib.]

16 The sun was shining on the sea, / Shining with all his might: / He did his very best to make / The billows smooth and bright – / And this was odd because it was / The middle of the night. [Through the Looking Glass, 4]

17 'It's very rude of him,' she said, / 'To come and spoil the fun!' [Ib.]

18 You could not see a cloud, because / No cloud was in the sky: / No birds were flying overhead – / There were no birds to fly. [Ib.]

19 The Walrus and the Carpenter / Were walking close at hand; / They wept like anything to see / Such quantities of sand: / 'If this were only cleared away,' / They said, 'it would be grand!'

'If seven maids with seven mops / Swept it for half a year, / Do you suppose,' the Walrus said, / 'That they could get it clear?' / 'I doubt it,' said the Carpenter, / And shed a bitter tear. [Ib.]

20 And thick and fast they came at last, / And more, and more, and more. [Ib.]

21 'The time has come,' the Walrus said, / 'To talk of many things: / Of shoes – and ships – and sealing-wax – / Of cabbages – and kings – / Of why the sea is boiling hot – / And whether pigs have wings.' [Ib.]

22 'The night is fine,' the Walrus said. / 'Do you admire the view?' [Ib.]

23 The Carpenter said nothing but, / 'The butter's spread too thick!' [Ib.]

24 'I weep for you,' the Walrus said: / 'I deeply sympathize.' / With sobs and tears he sorted out / Those of the largest size, / Holding his pocket-handkerchief / Before his streaming eyes. [Ib.]

25 But answer came there none – / And this was scarcely odd because / They'd eaten every one. [Ib.]

26 The rule is, jam to-morrow and jam yesterday – but never jam to-day. [Ib. 5]

27 They gave it me . . . for an un-birthday present. [Ib. 6]

28 The little fishes of the sea, / They sent an answer back to me. / The little fishes' answer was / 'We cannot do it, Sir, because –' [Ib.]

29 I said it very loud and clear; / I went and shouted in his ear. [Ib.]

30 He's an Anglo-Saxon Messenger – and those are Anglo-Saxon attitudes. [Ib. 7]

1 Sacrifice to the Graces. [Letter to his son 9 Mar. 1748]

2 In my mind, there is nothing so illiberal and so ill-bred, as audible laughter. [Ib.]

3 I am sure that since I have had the full use of my reason, nobody has ever heard me laugh. [Ib.]

4 A man of sense only trifles with them [women], plays with them, humours and flatters them, as he does with a sprightly and forward child; but he neither consults them about, nor trusts them with, serious matters. [Ib. 5 Sept. 1748]

5 Due attention to the inside of books, and due contempt for the outside, is the proper relation between a man of sense and his books. [Ib. 10 Jan. 1749]

6 Idleness is only the refuge of weak minds. [Ib. 20 July 1749]

7 Women are much more like each other than men: they have, in truth, but two passions, vanity and love; these are their universal characteristics. [Ib. 19 Dec. 1749]

8 Is it possible to love such a man? No. The utmost I can do for him is to consider him as a respectable Hottentot. [(Dr Johnson, or Lord Lyttelton) Ib. 28 Feb. 1751]

13 It is an ancient mariner, / And he stoppeth one of three. [Ancient Mariner, Pt i]

14 The guests are met, the feast is set. / May'st hear the merry din. [Ib.]

15 He holds him with his glittering eye. [Ib.]

16 The ship was cheered, the harbour cleared, / Merrily did we drop. [Ib.]

17 The sun came up upon the left, / Out of the sea came he! / And he shone bright, and on the right / Went down into the sea. [Ib.]

18 The bride hath paced into the hall, / Red as a rose is she. [Ib.]

19 And ice, mast-high, came floating by, / As green as emerald. [Ib.]

20 The ice was here, the ice was there, / The ice was all around; / It cracked and growled, and roared and howled, / Like noises in a swound! [Ib.]

21 The fair breeze blew, the white foam flew, / The furrow followed free; / We were the first that ever burst / Into that silent sea. [Ib. ii.]

22 As idle as a painted ship / Upon a painted ocean. [Ib.]

23 Water, water, everywhere, / Nor any drop to drink. [Ib.]

24 Yea, slimy things did crawl with legs / Upon the slimy sea. [Ib.]

25 The Nightmare Life-in-Death was she, / Who thicks man's blood with cold. [Ib. iii]

26 'The game is done! I've won, I've won!' / Quoth she, and whistles thrice. [Ib.]

27 The sun's rim dips; the stars rush out: / At one stride comes the dark. [Ib.]

28 Till clomb above the eastern bar / The hornèd moon, with one bright star / Within the nether tip. [Ib.]

29 I fear thee, ancient Mariner! / I fear thy skinny hand! [Ib. iv]

1 The moving moon went up the sky, / And nowhere did abide: / Softly she was going up, / And a star or two beside. [Ancient Mariner, iv]

2 A spring of love gushed from my heart, / And I blessed them unaware. [Ib.]

3 Oh sleep! it is a gentie thing, / Beloved from pole to pole! [Ib. v]

4 We were a ghastly crew. [Ib.]

5 A noise like of a hidden brook. / In the leafy month of June, / That to the sleeping woods all night / Singeth a quiet tune. [Ib.]

6 Like one that on a lonesome road / Doth walk in fear and dread. / And having once turned round walks on, / And turns no more his head; / Because he knows, a frightful fiend / Doth close behind him tread. [Ib. vi]

7 No voice; but oh! the silence sank / Like music on my heart. [Ib.]

8 When the ivy-tod is heavy with snow, / And the owlet whoops to the wolf below. [Ib. vii]

9 'Ha! ha!' quoth he, 'full plain I see, / The Devil knows how to row.' [Ib.]

10 I pass, like night, from land to land; / I have strange power of speech. [Ib.]

11 O Wedding-Guest! this soul hath been / Alone on a wide wide sea; / So lonely 'twas that God himself / Scarce seemèd there to be. [Ib.]

12 He prayeth well, who loveth well / Both man and bird and beast. [Ib.]

13 He prayeth best, who loveth best / All things both great and small; / For the dear God who loveth us, / He made and loveth all. [Ib.]

14 A sadder and a wiser man, / He rose the morrow morn. [Ib.]

15 And the spring comes slowly up this way. [Christabel, Pt i. 22]

16 The one red leaf, the last of its clan, / That dances as often as dance it can, / Hanging so light, and hanging so high, / On the topmost twig that looks up at the sky. [Ib. i. 49]

17 And what can ail the mastiff bitch? [Ib. i. 149]

18 A sight to dream of, not to tell! [Ib. i. 253]

19 Saints will aid if men will call: / For the blue sky bends over all! [Ib. i. 330]

20 Life is thorny; and youth is vain; / And to be wroth with one we love / Doth work like madness in the brain. [Christabel, ii. 413]

21 I counted two and seventy stenches, / All well defined, and several stinks! [Cologne]

22 Well! If the Bard was weather-wise, who made / The grand old ballad of Sir Patrick Spence. [Dejection: an Ode, 1]

23 I see them all so excellently fair, / I see, not feel, how beautiful they are! [Ib. 37]

24 I may not hope from outward forms to win / The passion and the life, whose fountains are within. [Ib. 45]

25 O Lady! we receive but what we give, / And in our life alone does Nature live. [Ib. 47]

26 Swans sing before they die – 'twere no bad thing / Did certain persons die before they sing. [Epigram on a Volunteer Singer]

27 The Frost performs its secret ministry, / Unhelped by any wind. [Frost at Midnight, 1]

28 Therefore all seasons shall be sweet to thee, / Whether the summer clothe the general earth / With greenness, or the redbreast sit and sing / Betwixt the tufts of snow on the bare branch / Of mossy apple tree. [Ib. 65]

29 Whether the eave-drops fall / Heard only in the trances of the blast, / Or if the secret ministry of frost / Shall hang them up in silent icicles, / Quietly shining to the quiet moon. [Ib. 70]

30 The Knight's bones are dust, / And his good sword rust; – / His soul is with the saints, I trust. [The Knight's Tomb]

31 In Xanadu did Kubla Khan / A stately pleasure-dome decree; / Where Alph, the sacred river, ran / Through caverns measureless to man / Down to a sunless sea.

So twice five miles of fertile ground / With walls and towers was girdled round: / And there were gardens bright with sinuous rills, / Where blossomed many an incense-bearing tree; / And here were forests ancient as the hills, / Enfolding sunny spots of greenery. [Kubla Khan]

1 Obscurest night involved the sky, / Th' Atlantic billows roared, / When such a destined wretch as I, / Washed headlong from on board, / Of friends, of hope, of all bereft, / His floating home for ever left. [The Castaway]

2 But misery still delights to trace / Its semblance in another's case. [Ib.]

3 We perished, each alone: / But I beneath a rougher sea, / And whelmed in deeper gulfs than he. [Ib.]

4 Grief is itself a med'cine. [Charity, 159]

13 A fool with judges, amongst fools a judge: / He says but little, and that little said / Owes all its weight, like loaded dice, to lead. / His wit invites you by his looks to come, / But when you knock, it never is at home. [Ib. 300]

14 Some farrier should prescribe his proper course, / Whose only fit companion is his horse. [Ib. 411]

15 An honest man, close-buttoned to the chin, / Broadcloth without, and a warm heart within. [Epistle to Joseph Hill]

16 The busy trifler dreams himself alone, / Frames many a purpose, and God works his own. [Expostulation, 322]

17 Thousands, careless of the damning sin, / Kiss the book's outside who ne'er look within. [Ib. 388]

18 'Twas April, as the bumpkins say, / The legislature called it May. [A Fable]

19 The man that hails you Tom or Jack, / And proves by thumps upon your back / How he esteems your merit, / Is such a friend, that one had need / Be very much his friend indeed / To pardon or to bear it. [Friendship, 163]

20 And diff'ring judgements serve but to declare, / That truth lies somewhere, if we knew but where. [Hope, 423]

21 Absence from whom we love is worse than death. ['Hope, like the Short-lived Ray']

22 John Gilpin was a citizen / Of credit and renown, / A train-band captain eke was he / Of famous London town. [John Gilpin, i]

23 To-morrow is our wedding-day, / And we will then repair / Unto the Bell at Edmonton, / All in a chaise and pair. [Ib. iii]

24 So you must ride / On horseback after we. [Ib. iv]

25 O'erjoyed was he to find / That, though on pleasure she was bent, / She had a frugal mind. [Ib. viii]

26 Smack went the whip, round went the wheels, / Were never folk so glad; / The stones did rattle underneath, / As if Cheapside were mad. [Ib. xi]

27 And up he got, in haste to ride, / But soon came down again. [Ib. xii]

28 For loss of time, / Although it grieved him sore, / Yet loss of pence, full well he knew, / Would trouble him much more. [Ib. xiv]

29 So, Fair and softly, John he cried, / But John he cried in vain. [Ib. xxii]

30 Away went Gilpin, neck or naught, / Away went hat and wig! [Ib. xxv]

31 The dogs did bark, the children screamed, / Up flew the windows all; / And every soul bawled out, Well done! / As loud as he could bawl. [Ib. xxviii]

32 Away went Gilpin – who but he? / His fame soon spread around – He carries weight! he rides a race! / 'Tis for a thousand pound! [Ib. xxix]

33 The dinner waits, and we are tired: / Said Gilpin – So am I! [Ib. xxxvii]

34 Which brings me to / The middle of my song. [Ib. xxxix]

12 Blut und Boden. – Blood and soil. [Law for the Establishment of Hereditary Farms, 29 Sept. 1933]

CHARLES DARWIN 1809–1882

13 The highest possible stage in moral culture is when we recognize that we ought to control our thoughts. [The Descent of Man, Ch. 4]

14 Man with all his noble qualities, with sympathy that feels for the most debased, with benevolence which extends not only to other men but to the humblest living creature, with his god-like intellect which has penetrated into the movements and constitution of the solar system – with all these exalted powers – still bears in his bodily frame the indelible stamp of his lowly origin. [Ib. conclusion]

15 I have called this principle, by which each slight variation, if useful, is preserved, by the term of Natural Selection. [The Origin of Species, Ch. 3]

16 We will now discuss in a little more detail the struggle for existence. [Ib.]

17 The expression often used by Mr Herbert Spencer of the Survival of the Fittest is more accurate, and is sometimes equally convenient. [Ib.]

ERASMUS DARWIN 1731–1802

18 Soon shall thy arm, unconquered steam! afar / Drag the slow barge, or drive the rapid car; / Or on wide-waving wings expanded bear / The flying chariot through the field of air. [The Botanic Garden, I. i. 289]

CHARLES DAVENANT 1656–1714

19 Custom, that unwritten law, / By which the people keep even kings in awe. [Circe, II. iii]

SIR WILLIAM DAVENANT 1606–1668

20 The lark now leaves his watery nest / And climbing, shakes his dewy wings; / He takes this window for the east; / And to implore your light, he sings, / Awake, awake, the morn will never rise, / Till she can dress her beauty at your eyes. [Song] heard the South sing o'er the land. [In Romney Marsh]

1 I step into my heart and there I meet / A god-almighty devil singing small, / Who would like to shout and whistle in the street, / And squelch the passers flat against the wall. [Thirty Bob a Week, 43]

2 With thirty bob a week to keep a bride / He fell in love and married in his teens: / At thirty bob he stuck; but he knows it isn't luck: / He knows the seas are deeper than tureens. [Ib. 50]

SIR JOHN DAVIES 1569–1626

3 Wedlock, indeed, hath oft comparèd been / To public feasts, where meet a public rout; / Where they that are without would fain go in. / And they that are within would fain go out. [Contention betwixt a Wife, A Widow and a Maid, 196]

4 Judge not the play before the play be done. [Respice Finem]

W. H. DAVIES 1870–1940

5 A rainbow and a cuckoo's song / May never come together again; / May never come / This side the tomb. [A Great Time]

6 What is this life if, full of care, / We have no time to stand and stare? [Leisure]

7 Sweet Stay-at-Home, sweet Well-content. [Sweet Stay-at-Home]

8 All we ask is to be let alone. [Inaugural Address as President of the Confederate States of America, 1861. Attr.]

T. O. DAVIS 1814–1845

9 Come in the evening, or come in the morning, / Come when you're looked for, or come without warning. [The Welcome]

C. DAY LEWIS 1904–

10 I sang as one / Who on a tilting deck sings / To keep men's courage up, though the wave hangs / That shall cut off their sun. [The Conflict]

11 Now the peak of summer's past, the sky is overcast / And the love we swore would last for an age seems deceit. [Hornpipe]

12 Suppose that we, to-morrow or the next day, / Came to an end – in storm the shafting broken, / Or a mistaken signal, the flange lifting – / Would that be premature, a text for sorrow? [Suppose that we]

DANIEL DEFOE 1661?–1731

15 He bade me observe it, and I should always find, that the calamities of life were shared among the upper and lower part of mankind; but that the middle station had the fewest disasters. [Robinson Crusoe, Pt 1]

16 One day, about noon, going towards my boat, I was exceedingly surprised with the print of a man's naked foot on the shore, which was very plain to be seen in the sand. [Ib.]

17 I takes my man Friday with me. [Ib.]

18 The best of men cannot suspend their fate: / The good die early, and the bad die late. [Character of the late Dr S. Annesley]

19 All men would be tyrants if they could. [The Kentish Petition, addenda, 11]

20 Wherever God erects a house of prayer, / The Devil always builds a chapel there; / And 'twill be found, upon examination, / The latter has the largest congregation. [The True-Born Englishman, Pt i. 1]

THOMAS DEKKER 1572?–1632

21 The best of men / That e'er wore earth about him, was a sufferer, / A soft, meek,

9 Murder Considered as One of the Fine Arts. [Title of essay]

EDWARD, EARL OF DERBY 1799–1869

11 A great Whig authority used always to say that the duty of an Opposition was very simple – it was, to oppose everything, and propose nothing. [Speech in House of Commons, 4 June 1841]

12 Don't you see that we have dished the Whigs? [In reference to the Reform Bill of 1867]

LORD DESART 1845–1898

13 Mother Hubbard, you see, was old: there being no mention of others, we may presume she was alone; a widow – a friendless, old, solitary widow. Yet did she despair? Did she sit down and weep, or read a novel, or wring her hands? No! She went to the cupboard. [Mock Sermon: Old Mother Hubbard]

RENÉ DESCARTES 1596–1650

14 Le bon sens est la chose du monde la mieux partagée: car chacun pense en être si bien pourvu, que ceux même qui sont les plus difficiles à contenter en toute autre chose n'ont point coutume d'en désirer plus qu'ils en ont. – Common sense is the most widely distributed commodity in the world, for everyone thinks himself so well endowed with it that those who are hardest to please in any other respect generally have no desire to possess more of it than they have. [Le Discours de la méthode, I]

15 La lecture de tous les bons livres est comme une conversation avec les plus honnêtes gens des siècles passés. – The reading of all good books is like a conversation with the finest men of past centuries. [Ib.]

2 Twice or thrice had I loved thee / Before I knew thy face or name, / So in a voice, so in a shapeless flame, / Angels affect us oft, and worshipped be. [Air and Angels]

3 Only our love hath no decay; / This, no tomorrow hath, nor yesterday, / Running it never runs from us away, / But truly keeps his first, last, everlasting day. [The Anniversary]

4 Come live with me, and be my love, / And we will some new pleasures prove / Of golden sands and crystal brooks / With silken lines, and silver hooks. [The Bait]

5 The day breaks not, it is my heart. [Break of Day. Also attributed to John Dowland]

6 For God's sake hold your tongue, and let me love. [The Canonization]

7 Dear love, for nothing less than thee / Would I have broke this happy dream, / It was a theme / For reason, much too strong for fantasy, / Therefore tnou waked'st me wisely; yet / My dream thou brok'st not, but continued'st it. [The Dream]

1 At the round earth's imagined corners, blow / Your trumpets, Angels, and arise, arise / From death, you numberless infinities / Of souls. [Holy Sonnets, VII]

2 All whom the flood did, and fire shall o'erthrow, / All whom war, dearth, age, agues, tyrannies, / Despair, law, chance, hath slain. [Ib.]

3 But let them sleep, Lord, and me mourn a space. [Ib.]

4 Death be not proud, though some have called thee / Mighty and dreadful, for, thou art not so, / For, those whom thou think'st, thou dost overthrow / Die not, poor death. [Ib. X]

5 One short sleep past, we wake eternally, / And death shall be no more; death, thou shalt die. [Ib.]

6 Spit in my face you Jews, and pierce my side. [Ib. XI]

7 What if this present were the world's last night? [Ib. XIII]

8 Batter my heart, three personed God; for you / As yet but knock, breathe, shine and seek to mend. [Ib. XIV]

9 I, like an usurpt town, to another due, / Labour to admit you, but Oh, to no end. [Ib.]

10 For I / Except you enthrall me, never shall be free, / Nor ever chaste, except you ravish me. [Ib.]

11 Show me, dear Christ, thy spouse, so bright and clear. [Ib. XVIII]

12 Wilt thou forgive that sin, where I begun, / Which is my sin, though it were done before? / Wilt thou forgive those sins through which I run / And do them still, though still I do deplore? / When thou hast done, thou hast not done, / For I have more. [Hymn to God the Father]

13 Since I am coming to that holy room, / Where, with thy quire of Saints for evermore, / I shall be made thy Music; As I come / I tune the instrument here at the door, / And what I must do then, think here before. [Hymn to God in My Sickness]

14 When I died last, and, Dear, I die / As often as from thee I go, / Though it be but an hour ago, / And lovers' hours be full eternity. [The Legacy]

15 If yet I have not all thy love, / Dear, I shall never have it all. [Lovers' Infiniteness]

16 I long to talk with some old lover's ghost, / Who died before the god of love was born. [Love's Deity]

17 Rebel and Atheist too, why murmur I, / As though I felt the worst that love could do? [Ib.]

18 Send home my long strayed eyes to me, / Which, Oh, too long have dwelt on thee. [The Message]

13 Of this fair volume which we world do name / If we the sheets and leaves could turn with care. [The World]

JOHN DRYDEN 1631–1700

14 In pious times, ere priestcraft did begin, / Before polygamy was made a sin. [Absalom and Achitophel, Pt I. 1]

15 And, wide as his command, / Scattered his Maker's image through the land. [Ib. I. 9]

16 Whate'er he did was done with so much ease, / In him alone 'twas natural to please. [Ib. I. 27]

17 God's pampered people whom, debauched with ease, / No king could govern, nor no God could please. [Ib. I. 47]

18 Plots, true or false, are necessary things, / To raise up commonwealths, and ruin kings. [Ib. I. 83]

19 Of these the false Achitophel was first: / A name to all succeeding ages curst. [Ib. I. 150]

20 A fiery soul, which working out its way, / Fretted the pigmy-body to decay: / And o'er-informed the tenement of clay. / A daring pilot in extremity; / Pleased with the danger, when the waves went high, / He sought the storms; but for a calm unfit, / Would steer too nigh the sands to boast his wit. / Great wits are sure to madness near allied, / And thin partitions do their bounds divide. [Ib. I. 156]

21 Bankrupt of life, yet prodigal of ease. [Ib. I. 168]

22 And all to leave, what with his toil he won, / To that unfeathered, two-legged thing, a son. [Ib. I. 169]

1 A man so various that he seemed to be / Not one, but all mankind's epitome. / Stiff in opinions, always in the wrong; / Was everything by starts and nothing long: / But, in the course of one revolving moon, / Was chemist, fiddler, statesman, and buffoon. [Absalom and Achitophel, I. 545]

2 So over-violent, or over-civil, / That every man, with him, was God or Devil. [Ib. I. 557]

3 In squandering wealth was his peculiar art: / Nothing went unrewarded but desert. / Beggared by fools, whom still he found too late: / He had his jest, and they had his estate. [Ib. I. 559]

4 Did wisely from expensive sins refrain, / And never broke the Sabbath, but for gain. [Ib. I. 587]

5 During his office, treason was no crime. / The sons of Belial had a glorious time. [Ib. I. 597]

6 His tribe were God Almighty's gentlemen. [Ib. I. 645]

7 Youth, beauty, graceful action, seldom fail: / But common interest always will prevail. [Ib. I. 723]

8 Nor is the people's judgement always true; / The most may err as grossly as the few. [Ib. I. 781]

9 Beware the fury of a patient man [Ib. I. 1005]

10 Doeg, though without knowing how or why, / Made still a blundering kind of melody; / Spurred boldly on, and dashed through thick and thin, / Through sense and nonsense, never out nor in; / Free from all meaning, whether good or bad, / And in one word, heroically mad. [Ib. II. 412]

11 For every inch that is not fool is rogue. [Ib. II. 463]

12 To die for faction is a common evil, / But to be hanged for nonsense is the Devil. [Ib. II. 498]

13 The lovely Thais by his side, / Sat like a blooming Eastern bride. [Alexander's Feast, 9]

14 None but the brave deserves the fair. [Ib. 15]

15 With ravished ears / The monarch hears, / Assumes the god, / Affects to nod, / And seems to shake the spheres. [Ib. 37]

16 Bacchus ever fair, and ever young. [Alexander's Feast, 44]

17 Drinking is the soldier's pleasure. [Ib. 57]

18 Rich the treasure, / Sweet the pleasure; / Sweet is pleasure after pain. [Ib. 58]

19 Fought all his battles o'er again; / And thrice he routed all his foes; and thrice he slew the slain. [Ib. 67]

20 Fallen from his high estate / And welt'ring in his blood. [Ib. 78]

21 War, he sung, is toil and trouble; / Honour but an empty bubble; / Never ending, still beginning, / Fighting still, and still destroying. / If all the world be worth thy winning, / Think, oh think, it worth enjoying. [Ib. 99]

22 Sighed and looked, and sighed again. [Ib. 120]

23 Revenge, revenge, Timotheus cries, / See the Furies arise! [Ib. 131]

24 And, like another Helen, fired another Troy. [Ib. 154]

25 Could swell the soul to rage, or kindle soft desire. [Ib. 160]

26 He raised a mortal to the skies; / She drew an angel down. [Ib. 179]

27 So sicken waning moons too near the sun, / And blunt their crescents on the edge of day. [Annus Mirabilis, 125]

28 By viewing Nature, Nature's handmaid, art, / Makes mighty things from small beginnings grow. [Ib. 155]

29 An horrid stillness first invades the ear, / And in that stillness we the tempest fear. [Astraea Redux, 7]

30 Of seeming arms to make a short essay, / Then hasten to be drunk, the business of the day. [Cymon and Iphigenia, 407]

31 Better to hunt in fields, for health unbought, / Than fee the doctor for a nauseous draught. / The wise, for cure, on exercise depend; / God never made his work for man to mend. [Epistle to John Driden of Chesterton, 92]

32 Theirs was the giant race, before the flood. [Epistle to Mr Congreve, 5]

1 For truth has such a face and such a mien / As to be loved needs only to be seen. [The Hind and the Panther, I. 33]

2 My thoughtless youth was winged with vain desires, / My manhood, long misled by wandering fires, / Followed false lights; and when their glimpse was gone, / My pride struck out new sparkles of her own. / Such was I, such by nature still I am. / Be thine the glory, and be mine the shame. [Ib. I. 72]

3 Reason to rule but mercy to forgive: / The first is law, the last prerogative. [Ib. I. 261]

4 Too black for heav'n, and yet too white for hell. [Ib. I. 343]

5 Much malice mingled with a little wit. [Ib. III. 1]

6 They found the new Messiah by the star. [Ib. III. 176]

7 By education most have been misled; / So they believe, because they so were bred. / The priest continues what the nurse began, / And thus the child imposes on the man. [Ib. III. 389]

8 T' abhor the makers, and their laws approve, / Is to hate traitors, and the treason love. [Ib. III. 706]

9 Three poets, in three distant ages born, / Greece, Italy, and England, did adorn. / The first in loftiness of thought surpassed; / The next in majesty, in both the last. / The force of nature could no further go; / To make a third she joined the former two. [Lines under Portrait of Milton]

10 All human things are subject to decay, / And when fate summons, monarchs must obey. [Mac Flecknoe, 1]

11 The rest to some faint meaning make pretence, / But Shadwell never deviates into sense. / Some beams of wit on other souls may fall, / Strike through and make a lucid interval. / But Shadwell's genuine night admits no ray, / His rising fogs prevail upon the day. [Ib. 19]

12 And torture one poor word ten thousand ways. [Ib. 208]

13 To live at ease, and not be bound to think. [The Medal, 236]

14 So poetry, which is in Oxford made / An art, in London only is a trade. [Prologue to the University of Oxford]

15 And this unpolished rugged verse I chose / As fittest for discourse and nearest prose. [Religio Laici, 453]

16 From harmony, from heavenly harmony / This universal frame began: / From harmony to harmony / Through all the compass of the notes it ran, / The diapason closing full in Man. [Song for St Cecilia's Day, i]

12 Sack the lot! [Letter to The Times, 2 Sept. 1919]

EDWARD FITZGERALD 1809–1883

13 Awake! for Morning in the Bowl of Night / Has flung the Stone that puts the Stars to Flight: / And Lo! the Hunter of the East has caught / The Sultan's Turret in a Noose of Light. [The Rubá'iyát of Omar Khayyám, Ed. 1. i]

14 Dreaming when Dawn's Left Hand was in the sky / I heard a Voice within the Tavern cry: / 'Awake, my Little ones, and fill the Cup / Before Life's Liquor in its Cup be dry.' [Ib. Ed. 1. ii]

15 Now the New Year reviving old Desires, / The thoughtful Soul to Solitude retires, / Where the White Hand of Moses on the Bough / Puts out, and Jesus from the Ground suspires. [The Rubá'iyát of Omar Khayyám, Ed. 1. iv]

16 But still the Vine her ancient Ruby yields, / And still a Garden by the Water blows. [Ib. Ed. 1. v]

17 Come, fill the Cup, and in the Fire of Spring / The Winter Garment of Repentance fling: / The Bird of Time has but a little way / To fly – and Lo! the Bird is on the Wing. [Ib. Ed. 1. vii]

18 The Wine of Life keeps oozing drop by drop, / The Leaves of Life keep falling one by one. [Ib. Ed. 4. viii]

19 Each Morn a thousand Roses brings, you say: / Yes, but where leaves the Rose of Yesterday? [Ib. Ed. 4. ix]

20 Here with a Loaf of Bread beneath the Bough, / A Flask of Wine, a Book of Verse – and Thou / Beside me singing in the Wilderness – / And Wilderness is Paradise enow. [Ib. Ed. 1. xi]

21 A Book of Verses underneath the Bough / A Jug of Wine, a Loaf of Bread – and Thou. [Ib. Ed. 4. xii]

22 Ah, take the Cash, and let the Credit go, / Nor heed the rumble of a distant Drum! [Ib. Ed. 4. xiii]

23 The Worldly Hope men set their Hearts upon / Turns Ashes – or it prospers; and anon, / Like Snow upon the Desert's dusty face, / Lighting a little Hour or two – is gone. [Ib. Ed. 1. xiv]

24 This battered Caravanserai / Whose Portals are alternate Night and Day. [Ib. Ed. 4. xvii]

25 They say the Lion and the Lizard keep / The Courts where Jamshýd gloried and drank deep: / And Bahrám, that great Hunter – the Wild Ass / Stamps o'er his Head, and he lies fast asleep. [Ib. Ed. 1. xvii]

26 I sometimes think that never blows so red / The Rose as where some buried Caesar bled; / That every Hyacinth the Garden wears / Dropt in her Lap from some once lovely Head. [Ib. Ed. 1. xviii]

27 To-morrow? – Why, To-morrow I may be / Myself with Yesterday's Sev'n Thousand Years. [Ib. Ed. 1. xx]

13 Oui, l'œuvre sort plus belle / D'une forme au travail / Rebelle, / Vers, marbre, onyx, émail. – Yes, the work comes out more beautiful from a material that resists the process, verse, marble, onyx, or enamel. [L'Art]

14 Je suis un homme pour qui le monde extérieur existe. – I am a man for whom the outside world exists. [Quoted in Journal des Goncourt, 1 May 1857]

GAVARNI [S. G. CHEVALIER] 1804–1866

15 Les enfants terribles. – The embarrassing young. [Title of a series of prints]

JOHN GAY 1685–1732

16 I rage, I melt, I burn, / The feeble God has stabbed me to the heart. [Acis and Galatea, II]

17 Bring me a hundred reeds of decent growth, / To make a pipe for my capacious mouth. [Ib.]

18 O ruddier than the cherry, / O sweeter than the berry, / O nymph more bright / Than moonshine night, / Like kidlings blithe and merry. [Ib.]

19 'Tis woman that seduces all mankind, / By her we first were taught the wheedling arts. [The Beggar's Opera, I. ii]

20 How, like a moth, the simple maid / Still plays about the flame! [Ib. I. iv]

21 Our Polly is a sad slut! nor heeds what we have taught her. / I wonder any man alive will ever rear a daughter! [Ib. I. viii]

22 O Polly, you might have toyed and kissed. / By keeping men off, you keep them on. [Ib. I. ix]

23 A fox may steal your hens, sir, / . . . If lawyer's hand is fee'd, sir / He steals your whole estate. [Ib. I. x]

24 For on the rope that hangs my dear / Depends poor Polly's life. [Ib. I. xii]

25 I sipped each flower, / I changed ev'ry hour, / But here ev'ry flower is united. [Ib. I. xiii]

1 If with me you'll fondly stray, / Over the hills and far away. [The Beggar's Opera, I. xiii]

2 Fill ev'ry glass, for wine inspires us, / And fires us / With courage, love and joy. / Women and wine should life employ. / Is there aught else on earth desirous? [Ib. II. i]

3 If the heart of a man is depressed with cares, / The mist is dispelled when a woman appears. [Ib. II. iii]

4 Youth's the season made for joys, / Love is then our duty. [Ib. II. iv]

5 Man may escape from rope and gun; / Nay, some have out-lived the doctor's pill; / Who takes a woman must be undone, / That basilisk is sure to kill. [Ib. II. viii]

6 The fly that sips treacle is lost in the sweets. [Ib.]

7 Do like other widows – buy yourself weeds, and be cheerful. [Ib. II. xi]

8 How happy could I be with either, / Were t'other dear charmer away! / But while ye thus tease me together, / To neither a word will I say. [Ib. II. xiii]

9 One wife is too much for most husbands to hear, / But two at a time there's no mortal can bear. [Ib. III. xi]

10 The charge is prepared; the lawyers are met, / The judges all ranged (a terrible show!). [Ib.]

11 She who has never loved has never lived. [Captives, II. i]

12 Where yet was ever found a mother, / Who'd give her booby for another? [Fables, Pt I. iii. 33]

13 In every age and clime we see, / Two of a trade can ne'er agree. [Ib. I. xxi. 43]

14 'While there is life, there's hope,' he cried; / 'Then why such haste?' so groaned and died. [Ib. I. xxvii. 49]

15 Those who in quarrels interpose, / Must often wipe a bloody nose. [Ib. I. xxxiv. 1]

16 And when a lady's in the case, / You know, all other things give place. [Ib. I. l. 41]

17 'Tis a gross error, held in schools, / That Fortune always favours fools. [Ib. II. xii. 119]

18 Life is a jest; and all things show it. / I thought so once; but now I know it. [My own Epitaph]

19 All in the Downs the fleet was moored, / The streamers waving in the wind, / When black-eyed Susan came aboard. [Sweet William's Farewell]

20 We only part to meet again. / Change, as ye list, ye winds; my heart shall be / The faithful compass that still points to thee. [Ib.]

21 Adieu! she cries; and waved her lily hand. [Ib.]

22 'Twas when the seas were roaring / With hollow blasts of wind; / A damsel lay deploring, / All on a rock reclined. [The What D'Ye Call It, II. viii]

SIR ERIC GEDDES 1875–1937

23 We will get everything out of her [Germany] that you can squeeze out of a lemon, and a bit more. . . . I will squeeze her until you can hear the pips squeak. [Speech at Cambridge, 9 Dec. 1918]

GEORGE I 1660–1727

24 I hate all Boets and Bainters. [Quotation in Campbell, Lives of the Chief Justices, Ch. 30]

GEORGE II 1683–1760

25 KING (replying to Queen Caroline's death-bed injunctions to marry again): Non, j'aurai des maîtresses. – No, I will take mistresses.
QUEEN CHARLOTTE: Ah! mon Dieu! Cela n'empêche pas. – But, Goodness me, that won't prevent you! [Hervey, Memoirs of George II]

26 Oh! he [General Wolfe] is mad, is he? Then I wish he would bite some other of my generals. [F. Thackeray, History of William Pitt]

GEORGE III 1738–1820

27 Born and educated in this country, I glory in the name of Briton. [First speech in Parliament, 1760]

28 'Was there ever', cried he, 'such stuff as great part of Shakespeare? Only one mustn't say so!' [Fanny Burney's Diary, 19 Dec. 1785]

2 How is the Empire? [Last words]

EDWARD GIBBON 1737–1794

3 The romance of Tom Jones, that exquisite picture of human manners, will outlive the palace of the Escurial and the imperial eagle of the house of Austria. [Autobiography]

4 To the University of Oxford I acknowledge no obligation; and she will as willingly renounce me for a son, as I am willing to disclaim her for a mother. I spent fourteen months at Magdalen College; they proved the fourteen months the most idle and unprofitable of my whole life. [Ib.]

5 Decent easy men, who supinely enjoyed the gifts of the founder. [Ib.]

6 I sighed as a lover, I obeyed as a son. [Ib.]

7 Crowds without company, and dissipation without pleasure [(Of London) Ib.]

8 My English text is chaste, and all licentious passages are left in the decent obscurity of a learned language. [Ib.]

9 The various modes of worship, which prevailed in the Roman world, were all considered by the people as equally true; by the philosopher, as equally false; and by the magistrate, as equally useful. [Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Ch. 2]

10 The principles of a free constitution are irrevocably lost when the legislative power is nominated by the executive. [Ib. 3]

11 His reign is marked by the rare advantage of furnishing very few materials for history; which is, indeed, little more than the register of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind. [Ib.]

12 It has been calculated by the ablest politicians that no State, without becoming soon exhausted, can maintain above the hundredth part of its members in arms and idleness. [Ib. 5]

13 Twenty-two acknowledged concubines, and a library of sixty-two thousand volumes, attested the variety of his inclinations; and from the productions which he left behind him, it appears that the former as well as the latter were designed for use rather than ostentation. [Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, 7]

14 All taxes must, at last, fall upon agriculture. [Ib. 8]

15 Corruption, the most infallible symptom of constitutional liberty. [Ib. 21]

16 The ecclesiastical writers, who, in the heat of religious faction, are apt to despise the profane virtues of sincerity and moderation. [Ib. 26]

17 In every deed of mischief he [Comenus] had a heart to resolve, a head to contrive, and a hand to execute. [Ib. 48]

18 Our sympathy is cold to the relation of distant misery. [Ib. 49]

19 All that is human must be retrograde if it does not advance. [Ib. 71]

STELLA GIBBONS 1902–

20 Something nasty in the woodshed. [Cold Comfort Farm, passim]

21 Graceless, Pointless, Feckless and Aimless waited their turn to be milked. [Ib. Ch. 3]

the girls declare, / 'He must be a millionaire'; / You can hear them sigh and wish to die, / You can see them wink the other eye / At the man who broke the Bank at Monte Carlo. [The Man who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo]

SIR HUMPHREY GILBERT
1539?–1583

1 We are as near to heaven by sea as by land. [Hakluyt's Voyages]

SIR W. S. GILBERT 1836–1911

2 Among them was a Bishop, who / Had lately been appointed to / The balmy isle of Rum-ti-Foo, / And Peter was his name. [Bab Ballads, 'Bishop of Rum-ti-Foo']

3 But they couldn't chat together – they had not been introduced. [Ib. 'Etiquette']

4 There were captains by the hundred, there were baronets by dozens. [Ib. 'Ferdinando and Elvira']

5 The padre said, 'Whatever have you been and gone and done?' [Ib. 'Gentle Alice Brown']

6 The mildest curate going. [Ib. 'The Rival Curates']

7 Then they began to sing / That extremely lovely thing, / 'Scherzando! ma non troppo, ppp.' [Ib. 'The Story of Prince Agib']

8 Oh, I am a cook and a captain bold, / And the mate of the Nancy brig, / And a bo'sun tight, and a midshipmite, / And the crew of the captain's gig. [Ib. 'The Yarn of the Nancy Bell']

9 He led his regiment from behind – / He found it less exciting. [The Gondoliers, I]

10 That celebrated, / Cultivated, / Underrated / Nobleman, / The Duke of Plaza-Toro! [Ib.]

11 Of that there is no manner of doubt – / No probable, possible shadow of doubt – / No possible doubt whatever. [Ib.]

12 A taste for drink, combined with gout, / Had doubled him up for ever. [Ib.]

13 Try we life-long, we can never / Straighten out life's tangled skein. [Ib.]

14 Life's a pudding full of plums. [Ib.]

15 Oh, 'tis a glorious thing, I ween, / To be a regular Royal Queen! / No half-and-half-affair, I mean, / But a right-down regular Royal Queen! [The Gondoliers, I]

16 Take a pair of sparkling eyes. [Ib. II]

17 Take my counsel, happy man; / Act upon it, if you can! [Ib.]

18 Dukes were three a penny. [Ib.]

19 When everyone is somebodee, / Then no one's anybody. [Ib.]

20 I am a courtier grave and serious / Who is about to kiss your hand: / Try to combine a pose imperious / With a demeanour nobly bland. [Ib.]

21 I'm called Little Buttercup – dear Little Buttercup, / Though I could never tell why. [H.M.S. Pinafore, I]

22 Though 'Bother it' I may / Occasionally say, / I never use a big, big D. –
ALL: What never?
CAPT: No, never!
ALL: What, never?
CAPT: Hardly ever! [Ib.]

23 And so do his sisters, and his cousins, and his aunts! [Ib.]

24 When I was a lad I served a term / As office-boy to an Attorney's firm; / I cleaned the windows and I swept the floor, / And I polished up the handle of the big front door. / I polished up that handle so successfullee, / That now I am the Ruler of the Queen's Navee! [Ib.]

25 And I copied all the letters in a big round hand. [Ib.]

26 And I always voted at my party's call, / And I never thought of thinking for myself at all. [Ib.]

27 Things are seldom what they seem, / Skim milk masquerades as cream. [Ib. II]

28 Never mind the why and wherefore. [Ib.]

29 He is an Englishman! / For he himself has said it, / And it's greatly to his credit, / That he is an Englishman! [Ib.]

30 For he might have been a Roosian, / A French, or Turk, or Proosian, / Or perhaps Ital-ian! / But in spite of all temptations / To belong to other nations, / He remains an Englishman! [Ib.]

31 Bow, bow, ye lower middle classes! / Bow, bow, ye tradesmen, bow, ye masses. [Iolanthe, I]

32 The Law is the true embodiment / Of everything that's excellent. / It has no kind of fault or flaw, / And I, my lords, embody the Law. [Ib.]

1 The constitutional guardian I, / Of pretty young Wards in Chancery. [Iolanthe, I]

2 A pleasant occupation for / A rather susceptible Chancellor! [Ib.]

3 Hearts just as pure and fair / May beat in Belgrave Square / As in the lowly air / Of Seven Dials. [Ib.]

4 When I went to the Bar as a very young man, / (Said I to myself, said I). [Ib.]

5 I often think it's comical / How Nature always does contrive / That every boy and ever gal, / That's born into the world alive, / Is either a little Liberal, / Or else a little Conservative! [Ib. II]

6 The House of Peers, throughout the war, / Did nothing in particular, / And did it very well. [Ib.]

7 When you're lying awake with a dismal headache, and repose is tabooed by anxiety, / I conceive you may use any language you choose to indulge in without impropriety. [Ib.]

8 For you dream you are crossing the Channel, and tossing about in a steamer from Harwich, / Which is something between a large bathing-machine and a very small second-class carriage. [Ib.]

9 Pooh-Bah (Lord High Everything Else). [Mikado, Dramatis Personae]

10 A wandering minstrel I – / A thing of shreds and patches. [Ib. I]

11 And I am right, / And you are right, / And all is right as right can be! [Ib.]

12 I can trace my ancestry back to a protoplasmal primordial atomic globule. Consequently, my family pride is something inconceivable. I can't help it. I was born sneering. [Ib.]

13 It revolts me, but I do it! [Ib.]

14 As some day it may happen that a victim must be found, / I've got a little list – I've got a little list / Of society offenders who might well be underground, / And who never would be missed – who never would be missed! [Ib.]

15 Three little maids from school are we, / Pert as a schoolgirl well can be / Filled to the brim with girlish glee! [Ib.]

16 Life is a joke that's just begun. [Ib.]

17 Three little maids who, all unwary, / Come from a ladies' seminary. [Ib.]

18 Modified rapture! [Ib.]

19 We are not shy; / We're very wide awake, / The moon and I! [Mikado, I]

20 My object all sublime / I shall achieve in time – / To let the punishment fit the crime. [Ib. II]

21 A source of innocent merriment. [Ib.]

22 On a cloth untrue / With a twisted cue, / And elliptical billiard balls. [Ib.]

23 I drew my snickersnee! [Ib.]

24 Something lingering with boiling oil in it, I fancy. [Ib.]

25 Merely corroborative detail, intended to give artistic verisimilitude to an otherwise bald and unconvincing narrative. [Ib.]

26 The flowers that bloom in the spring, / Tra la, / Have nothing to do with the case. [Ib.]

27 I've got to take under my wing, / Tra la, / A most unattractive old thing, / Tra la, / With a caricature of a face. [Ib.]

28 On a tree by a river a little tomtit / Sang 'Willow, titwillow, titwillow.' [Ib.]

29 Twenty love-sick maidens we, / Love-sick all against our will. [Patience, I]

30 When I first put this uniform on. [Ib.]

31 If you're anxious for to shine in the high aesthetic line, as a man of culture rare. [Ib.]

32 The meaning doesn't matter if it's only idle chatter of a transcendental kind. [Ib.]

33 Why, what a very singularly deep young man, this deep young man must be! [Ib.]

34 An attachment à la Plato for a bashful young potato, or a not-too-French French bean. [Ib.]

35 By no endeavour, / Can magnet ever / Attract a silver churn! [Ib. II]

36 Sing 'Hey to you – good day to you' – / Sing 'Bah to you – ha! ha! to you.' [Ib.]

37 Francesca di Rimini, miminy, piminy, / 'Je-ne-sais-quoi' young man! [Ib.]

38 A very delectable, highly respectable, / Threepenny-bus young man. [Ib.]

39 I'm a greenery-yallery, Grosvenor Gallery, / Foot-in-the-grave young man! [Ib.]

40 I am the very model of a modern Major-General. [Pirates of Penzance, I]

1 When the foeman bares his steel, / Tarantara, tarantara! / We uncomfortable feel. [Pirates of Penzance, II]

2 When constabulary duty's to be done, / The policeman's lot is not a happy one. [Ib.]

3 When the enterprising burglar's not a-burgling. [Ib.]

4 Politics we bar, / They are not our bent: / On the whole we are / Not intelligent. [Princess Ida, I]

5 We will hang you, never fear, / Most politely, most politely! [Ib.]

6 Man's a ribald – Man's a rake, / Man is Nature's sole mistake. [Ib. II]

7 All baronets are bad. [Ruddigore, I]

8 He uses language that would make your hair curl. [Ib.]

9 Such a bright little, tight little, / Slight little, light little, / Trim little, prim little craft! [Ib. II]

10 Some word that teems with hidden meaning – like 'Basingstoke'. [Ib.]

11 Time was when Love and I were well acquainted. [The Sorcerer, I]

12 I was a pale young curate then. [Ib.]

13 So I fell in love with a rich attorney's / Elderly ugly daughter. [Trial by Jury]

14 She may very well pass for forty-three / In the dusk with a light behind her! [Ib.]

15 And many a burglar I've restored / To his friends and his relations. [Ib.]

16 For now I am a Judge, / And a good Judge too. [Ib.]

17 Is life a boon? / If so, it must befall / That death, whene'er he call, / Must call too soon. [The Yeomen of the Guard, I]

18 HE: I have a song to sing O!
SHE: Sing me your song O! [Ib.]

19 It's the song of a merryman, moping mum, / Whose soul was sad, and whose glance was glum, / Who supped no sup, and who craved no crumb, / As he sighed for the love of a ladye. [Ib.]

3 Es irrt der Mensch, so lang er strebt. – Man errs so long as he strives. [Faust, I, Prolog im Himmel]

4 Da steh' ich nun, ich armer Tor! / Und bin so klug als wie zuvor. – There I am, a poor fool, and am no wiser than I was before. [Ib. I. Nacht]

5 Der Geist, der stets verneint! – The spirit that always denies. [Ib. I. Studierzimmer]

6 Entbehren sollst du, sollst entbehren! / Das ist der ewige Gesang. – You shall abstain, shall abstain. That is the eternal song. [Ib.]

7 Werd ich zum Augenblicke sagen: / Verweile doch! Du bist so schön! – If I say to the moment: 'Stay now! You are so beautiful!' [Ib.]

8 Denn eben, wo Begriffe fehlen, / Da stellt ein Wort zur rechten Zeit sich ein. – For just when ideas fail, a word comes in to save the situation. [Ib.]

9 Meine Ruh' ist hin, / Mein Herz ist schwer. – My peace is gone, my heart is heavy. [Ib. I. Gretchens Stube]

10 Wer immer strebend sich bemüht, / Den können wir erlösen. – If a man makes continuous efforts, we can save him. [Ib. II, Bergschluchten, Wald, Fels und Einöde]

11 Alles Vergängliche / Ist nur ein Gleichnis. – All that is transitory is only an image. [Ib.]

12 Das Ewig-Weibliche, / Zieht uns hinan. – The eternal in woman draws us on. [Ib.]

13 Du musst herrschen und gewinnen, / Oder dienen und verlieren, / Leiden oder triumphieren, / Amboss oder Hammer sein. – You must either conquer and rule or serve and lose, suffer or triumph, be the anvil or the hammer. [Der Gross-Cophta, II]

14 Ein unnütz Leben ist ein früher Tod. – A useless life is an early death. [Iphigenie, I. ii]

15 Es bildet ein Talent sich in der Stille, / Sich ein Charakter in dem Strom der Welt. – Genius is formed in quiet, character in the stream of human life. [Tasso, I. ii]

16 Und so lang du das nicht hast, / Dieses: Stirb und werde! / Bist du nur ein trüber Gast / Auf der dunklen Erde. – And until you have grasped this: 'Die and be transformed!' you will be nothing but a sombre guest on the sorry earth. [Selige Sehnsucht]

17 In der Beschränkung zeigt sich erst der Meister. – It is in self-limitation that a master first shows himself. [Sonett: Natur und Kunst]

18 Über allen Gipfeln / Ist Ruh'. – On all the peaks lies peace. [Wanderers Nachtlied]

19 In der Kunst ist das Beste gut genug. – In art the best is good enough. [Italienische Reise]

20 Wer nie sein Brot mit Tränen ass, / Wer nie die kummervollen Nächte / Auf seinem Bette weinend sass, / Der kennt euch nicht, ihr himmlischen Mächte. – Who never ate his bread with tears, who never sat through the sorrowful night, weeping upon his bed, does not know you, O heavenly powers. OLIVER GOLDSMITH 1728–1774

2 Sweet Auburn! loveliest village of the plain. [The Deserted Village, 1]

3 The bashful virgin's side-long looks of love, / The matron's glance that would those looks reprove. [Ib. 29]

4 Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey, / Where wealth accumulates, and men decay; / Princes and lords may flourish, or may fade; / A breath can make them, as a breath has made; / But a bold peasantry, their country's pride, / When once destroyed, can never be supplied. [Ib. 51]

5 For him light labour spread her wholesome store, / Just gave what life required, but gave no more: / His best companions, innocence and health; / And his best riches, ignorance of wealth. [Ib. 59]

6 How happy he who crowns in shades like these, / A youth of labour with an age of ease. [Ib. 99]

7 And, all his prospects brightening to the last, / His heaven commences ere the world be past! [Ib. 111]

8 The watch-dog's voice that bayed the whispering wind, / And the loud laugh that spoke the vacant mind. [Ib. 121]

9 A man he was, to all the country dear, / And passing rich with forty pounds a year; / Remote from towns he ran his godly race, / Nor e'er had changed, nor wished to change his place. [Ib. 141]

10 Far other aims his heart had learned to prize, / More skilled to raise the wretched than to rise. / His house was known to all the vagrant train, / He chid their wanderings, but relieved their pain. [Ib. 147]

11 Shouldered his crutch, and shewed how fields were won. [Ib. 158]

15 Even children followed with endearing wile, / And plucked his gown, to share the good man's smile. [The Deserted Village, 183]

16 Beside yon straggling fence that skirts the way, / With blossomed furze unprofitably gay. [Ib. 193]

17 A man severe he was, and stern to view, / I knew him well, and every truant knew; / Well had the boding tremblers learned to trace / The day's disasters in his morning face; / Full well they laughed with counterfeited glee, / At all his jokes, for many a joke had he; / Full well the busy whisper, circling round, / Conveyed the dismal tidings when he frowned; / Yet he was kind, or if severe in aught, / The love he bore to learning was in fault. [Ib. 197]

18 In arguing too, the parson owned his skill, / For e'en though vanquished, he could argue still; / While words of learned length, and thundering sound, / Amazed the gazing rustics ranged around; / And still they gazed, and still the wonder grew, / That one small head could carry all he knew. [Ib. 211]

19 Where village statesmen talked with looks profound, / And news much older than their ale went round. [Ib. 223]

20 The white-washed wall, the nicely sanded floor, / The varnished clock that clicked behind the door; / The chest contrived a double debt to pay, / A bed by night, a chest of drawers by day. [Ib. 227]

21 The twelve good rules, the royal game of goose. [Ib. 232]

22 And, e'en while fashion's brightest arts decoy, / The heart distrusting asks, if this be joy. [Ib. 263]

23 How wide the limits stand / Between a splendid and an happy land. [Ib. 267]

24 Sweet as the primrose peeps beneath the thorn. [Ib. 330]

25 In all the silent manliness of grief. [Ib. 384]

26 Thou source of all my bliss, and all my woe, / That foundst me poor at first, and keepst me so. [Ib. 413]

27 The king himself has followed her, – / When she has walked before. [Elegy on Mrs Mary Blaize]

12 Th' applause of listening senates to command, / The threats of pain and ruin to despise, / To scatter plenty o'er a smiling land, / And read their history in a nation's eyes. [Ib. xvi]

13 Forbade to wade through slaughter to a throne, / And shut the gates of mercy on mankind. [Ib. xvii]

14 Far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife, / Their sober wishes never learned to stray; / Along the cool sequestered vale of life / They kept the noiseless tenor of their way. [Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard, xix]

15 Implores the passing tribute of a sigh. [Ib. xx]

16 For who to dumb Forgetfulness a prey, / This pleasing anxious being e'er resigned, / Left the warm precincts of the cheerful day / Nor cast one longing ling'ring look behind? [Ib. xxii]

17 On some fond breast the parting soul relies, / Some pious drops the closing eye requires; / E'en from the tomb the voice of Nature cries, / E'en in our ashes live their wonted fires. [Ib. xxiii]

18 Brushing with hasty steps the dews away / To meet the sun upon the upland lawn. [Ib. xxv]

19 Here rests the head upon the lap of Earth / A youth to fortune and to fame unknown. / Fair Science frowned not on his humble birth, / And Melancholy marked him for her own.

Large was his bounty, and his soul sincere, / Heav'n did a recompense as largely send: / He gave to Mis'ry all he had, a tear, / He gained from Heav'n ('twas all he wished) a friend.

No farther seek his merits to disclose, / Or draw his frailties from their dread abode, / (There they alike in trembling hope repose), / The bosom of his Father and his God. [Ib. xxx]

22 Do all things like a man, not sneakingly: / Think the king sees thee still; for his King does. [Ib. xxi]

23 I struck the board, and cried, 'No more: / I will abroad.' / What, shall I ever sigh and pine? / My lines and life are free; free as the road, / Loose as the wind, as large as store. [Ib. 'The Collar']

24 But as I raved and grew more fierce and wild / At every word, / Methought I heard one calling, 'Child'; / And I replied, 'My Lord'. [Ib.]

25 Throw away thy rod, / Throw away thy wrath: / O my God, / Take the gentle path. [Ib. 'Discipline']

26 Love is swift of foot; / Love's a man of war, / And can shoot, / And can hit from far. [Ib.]

27 I got Thee flowers to strew Thy way, / I got me boughs off many a tree; / But Thou wast up by break of day, / And brought'st Thy sweets along with Thee. [Ib. 'Easter']

28 Teach me, my God and King, / In all things Thee to see, / And what I do in anything / To do it as for Thee. [Ib. 'The Elixir']

1 O the mind, mind has mountains; cliffs of fall / Frightful, sheer, no-man-fathomed. Hold them cheap / May who ne'er hung there. [Ib.]

2 All / Life death does end and each day dies with sleep. [Ib.]

3 Glory be to God for dappled things – / For skies of couple-colour as a brinded cow; / For rose-moles all in stipple upon trout that swim. [Pied Beauty]

4 Áll trádes, their gear and tackle and trim. [Ib.]

5 All things counter, original, spare, strange; / Whatever is fickle, freckled (who knows how?) / With swift, slow; sweet, sour; adazzle, dim; / He fathers-forth whose beauty is past change. / Praise him. [Ib.]

6 Honour is flashed off exploit, so we say. [St Alphonsus Rodriguez]

7 Look at the stars! look, look up at the skies! / O look at all the fire-folk sitting in the air! / The bright boroughs, the circle-citadels there! [The Starlight Night]

8 This piece-bright paling shuts the spouse / Christ home, Christ and his mother and all his hallows. [Ib.]

9 Thou art indeed just, Lord, if I contend / With thee; but, sir, so what I plead is just. / Why do sinners' ways prosper? and why must / Disappointment all I endeavour end? [Thou art indeed just, Lord]

10 Birds build – but not I build; no, but strain, / Time's eunuch, and not breed one work that wakes. / Mine, O thou lord of life, send my roots rain. [Ib.]

11 The fine delight that fathers thought; the strong / Spur, live and lancing like the blowpipe flame, / Breathes once and, quenchèd faster than it came, / Leaves yet the mind a mother of immortal song. [To R.B.]

12 O then if in my lagging lines you miss / The roll, the rise, the carol, the creation. [Ib.]

13 I caught this morning morning's minion, kingdom of daylight's dauphin, dapple-dawn-drawn Falcon. [The Windhover]

14 The achieve of, the mastery of the thing! [Ib.]

15 A few other little things; some in sprung rhythm, with various other experiments. [Letter to R. W. Dixon, 5 Oct. 1878]

16 Now it is the virtue of design, pattern, or inscape to be distinctive and it is the vice of distinctiveness to become queer. [Letter to Robert Bridges, 15 Feb. 1879]

17 The poetical language of an age should be the current language heightened. [Ib. 14 Aug. 1879]

HORACE 65–8 B.C.

18 'Pictoribus atque poetis / Quidlibet audendi semper fuit aequa potestas.' / Scimus, et hanc veniam petimusque damusque vicissim. – 'Painters and poets', you say, 'have always had an equal licence for bold invention.' We know this; we claim the liberty for ourselves and we give it to others. [Ars Poetica, 9]

19 Inceptis gravibus plerumque et magna professis / Purpureus, late qui splendeat, unus et alter / Adsuitur pannus. – Often a purple patch or two is tacked on to a serious work of high promise, to give an effect of colour. [Ib. 14]

20 Brevis esse laboro, / Obscurus fio. – It is when I struggle to be brief that I become obscure. [Ib. 25]

21 Grammatici certant et adhuc sub iudice lis est. – Grammarians dispute, and the case is still before the courts. [Ib. 78]

22 Proicit ampullas et sesquipedalia verba.– He tosses aside his paint-pots and his words a foot and a half long. [Ib. 97]

23 Parturient montes, nascetur ridiculus mus. – Mountains will be in labour, and the birth will be an absurd little mouse. [Ib. 139]

24 Semper ad eventum festinat et in medias res / Non secus ac notas auditorem rapit. / He always hurries to the issue, rushing his readers into the middle of the story as if they knew it already. [Ib. 148]

25 Difficilis, querulus, laudator temporis acti / Se puero. – Testy, querulous and given to praising the way things were when he was a boy. [Ib. 173]

26 Vos exemplaria Graeca / Nocturna versate manu, versate diurna. – As for you, turn over the pages of the Greeks by night and by day. [Ib. 268]

1 Grais ingenium, Grais dedit ore rotundo / Musa loqui. – The Muse gave the Greeks genius and the art of the well-turned phrase. [Ars Poetica, 323]

2 Omne tulit punctum qui miscuit utile dulci, / Lectorem delectando pariterque monendo. – He has won every vote who mingles profit with pleasure, by delighting and instructing the reader at the same time. [Ib. 343]

3 Indignor quandoque bonus dormitat Homerus. – But if Homer, who is good, nods for a moment, I think it a shame. [Ib. 359]

4 Ut pictura poesis. – As in painting, so in poetry. [Ib. 361]

5 Mediocribus esse poetis / Non homines, non di, non concessere columnae. – Neither men nor gods nor bookstalls have ever allowed poets to be mediocre. [Ib. 372]

6 Nonumque prematur in annum. – Let it not be published until the ninth year. [Ib. 388]

7 Virtus est vitium fugere, et sapientia prima / Stultitia caruisse. – To flee vice is a virtue, and the beginning of wisdom is to be done with folly. [Epistles, I. i. 41]

8 Si possis recte, si non, quocumque modo rem. – By right means, if you can, but by any means make money. [Ib. I. i. 66]

9 Olim quod vulpes aegroto cauta leoni / Respondit referam: 'quia me vestigia terrent, / Omnia te adversum spectantia, nulla retrorsum.' – The wary fox in the fable answered the sick lion: 'Because I am frightened by the footprints. I see them all pointing towards your den. None of them point away.' [Ib. I. i. 73]

10 Quidquid delirant reges, plectuntur Achivi. – For every folly of their princes, the Greeks feel the lash. [Ib. I. ii. 14]

11 Dimidium facti qui coepit habet: sapere aude. – He who has begun has half done. Have the courage to be wise. [Ib. I. ii. 40]

12 Ira furor brevis est. – Anger is a brief madness. [Ib. I. ii. 62]

13 Omnem crede diem tibi diluxisse supremum. / Grata superveniet quae non sperabitur hora. / Me pinguem et nitidum bene curata cute vises / Cum ridere voles Epicuri de grege porcum. – Think to yourself that every day is your last; the hour to which you do not look forward will come as a welcome surprise. As for me, when you want a good laugh, you will find me, in a fine state, fat and sleek, a true hog of Epicurus' sty. [Epistles, I. iv. 13]

14 Naturam expellas furca, tamen usque recurret. – Though you drive Nature out with a pitchfork, she will still find her way back. [Ib. I. x. 24]

15 Caelum non animum mutant qui trans mare currunt. – They change their skies but not their souls who run across the sea. [Ib. I. xi. 27]

16 Quod petis hic est, / Est Ulubris, animus si te non deficit aequus. – What you seek is here, at Ulubrae, if you have but equanimity. [Ib. I. xi. 29]

17 Concordia discors. – Harmony in discord. [Ib. I. xii. 19]

18 Principibus placuisse viris non ultima laus est. / Non cuivis homini contingit adire Corinthum. – It is no mean glory to have found favour with the leaders of men. It is not everyone that can get to Corinth. [Ib. I. xvii. 35]

19 Et semel emissum volat irrevocabile verbum. – Once a word has been allowed to escape, it cannot be recalled. [Ib. I. xviii. 71]

20 Nam tua res agitur, paries cum proximus ardet. – When your neighbour's wall is on fire, it becomes your business. [Ib. I. xviii. 84]

21 Nulla placere diu nec vivere carmina possunt / Quae scribuntur aquae potoribus. – No poems can please for long or live that are written by water-drinkers. [Ib. I. xix. 2]

22 Atque inter silvas Academi quaerere verum. – And seek the truth in the groves of Academus. [Ib. II. ii. 45]

23 Singula de nobis anni praedantur euntes. – The years as they pass plunder one thing after another. [Ib. II. ii. 55]

24 Multa fero, ut placem genus irritabile vatum. – I put up with a great deal to pacify the touchy tribe of poets. [Ib. II. ii. 102]

25 Lusisti satis, edisti satis atque bibisti: / Tempus abire tibi est. – You have played enough; you have eaten and drunk enough. Now it is time for you to depart. [Ib. II. ii. 214]

1 Beatus ille, qui procul negotiis, / Ut prisca gens mortalium, / Paterna rura bubus exercet suis, / Solutus omni faenore. – Happy the man who, far from business schemes, like the early race of mortals, ploughs and reploughs his ancestral land, with oxen of his own breeding, and no slavish yoke round his neck. [Epodes, II. 1]

2 Quodsi me lyricis vatibus inseres, / Sublimi feriam sidera vertice. – But if you place me among the lyric bards, I shall touch the stars with my exalted head. [Odes, I. i. 35]

3 Illi robur et aes triplex / Circa pectus erat, qui fragilem truci / Commisit pelago ratem / Primus. – His heart was mailed with oak and triple brass who first committed a frail ship to the wild seas. [Ib. I. iii. 9]

4 Pallida Mors aequo pulsat pede pauperum tabernas / Regumque turris. – Pale Death knocks with impartial foot at poor men's hovels and kings' palaces. [Ib. I. iv. 13]

5 Vitae summa brevis spem nos vetat incohare longam. – Life's short span forbids our embarking on far-reaching hopes. [Ib. I. iv. 15]

6 Nil desperandum Teucro duce et auspice Teucro. – With Teucer as leader and under Teucer's star, never despair. [Ib. I. vii. 27]

7 Cras ingens iterabimus aequor. – Tomorrow we take our course once more over the mighty seas. [Ib. I. vii. 32]

8 Permitte divis cetera. – Leave the rest to the gods. [Ib. I. ix. 9]

9 Tu ne quaesieris, scire nefas. – Do not ask. Such knowledge is not for us. [Ib. I. xi. 1]

10 Carpe diem, quam minimum credula postero. – Seize today, and put as little trust as you can in the morrow. [Ib. I. xi. 8]

11 O matre pulchra filia pulchrior. – O fairer daughter of a fair mother. [Ib. I. xvi. 1]

12 Integer vitae scelerisque purus. – The man of upright life, unstained by guilt. [Ib. I. xxii. 1]

13 Dulce ridentem Lalagen amabo, / Dulce loquentem. – I will love the sweetly laughing, sweetly chattering Lalage. [Ib. I. xxii. 23]

14 Nunc est bibendum, nunc pede libero / Pulsanda tellus. – Now is the time for drinking, now the time to beat the earth with unfettered foot. [Odes, I. xxxvii. 1]

15 Persicos odi, puer, apparatus. – Boy, I loathe Persian luxury. [Ib. I. xxxviii. 1]

16 Aequam memento rebus in arduis / Servare mentem. – Remember, when life's path is steep, to keep an even mind. [Ib. II. iii. 1]

17 Omnes eodem cogimur. – We are all driven into the same fold. [Ib. II. iii. 25]

18 Auream quisquis mediocritatem / Diligit. – Whoever prizes the golden mean. [Ib. II. x. 5]

19 Neque semper arcum / Tendit Apollo. – Apollo does not always keep his bow strung. [Ib. II. x. 19]

20 Eheu fugaces, Postume, Postume, / Labuntur anni. – Alas, Postumus, Postumus, the fleeting years are slipping by. [Ib. II. xiv. 1]

21 Nihil est ab omni / Parte beatum. – No lot is in all respects happy. [Ib. II. xvi. 27]

22 Odi profanum vulgus et arceo; / Favete linguis; carmina non prius / Audita Musarum sacerdos / Virginibus puerisque canto. – I hate the uninitiated crowd and keep them away. Observe silence! I, the Muses' priest sing for girls and boys songs never heard before. [Ib. III. i. 1]

23 Post equitem sedet atra Cura. – Black Care takes her seat behind the horseman. [Ib. III. i. 40]

24 Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori. – It is a sweet and seemly thing to die for one's country. [Ib. III. ii. 13]

25 Iustum et tenacem propositi virum / Non civium ardor prava iubentium, / Non vultus instantis tyranni / Mente quatit solida. – The man who is tenacious of purpose in a rightful cause is not shaken from his firm resolve by the frenzy of his fellow citizens clamouring for what is wrong, or by the tyrant's threatening face. [Ib. III. iii. 1]

26 Si fractus illabitur orbis / Impavidum ferient ruinae. – If the vault of heaven crack, the ruins will strike him fearless still. [Ib. III. iii. 7]

27 Auditis an me ludit amabilis / Insania? – Do you hear, or does some fond illusion mock me? [Ib. III. iv. 5]

1 The troubles of our proud and angry dust / Are from eternity, and shall not fail. / Bear them we can, and if we can we must. / Shoulder the sky, my lad, and drink your ale. [Last Poems, ix]

2 But men at whiles are sober / And think by fits and starts, / And if they think, they fasten / Their hands upon their hearts. [Ib. x]

3 I, a stranger and afraid / In a world I never made. [Ib. xii]

4 And then the clock collected in the tower / Its strength and struck. [Ib. xv, 'Eight O'Clock']

5 Made of earth and sea / His overcoat for ever, / And wears the turning globe. [Ib. xx]

6 The fairies break their dances / And leave the printed lawn. [Ib. xxi]

7 The young man feels his pockets / And wonders what's to pay. [Ib.]

8 These, in the day when heaven was falling, / The hour when earth's foundations fled, / Followed their mercenary calling / And took their wages and are dead.

Their shoulders held the skies suspended; / They stood, and earth's foundations stay; / What God abandoned, these defended, / And saved the sum of things for pay. [Ib. xxxvii, 'Epitaph on an Army of Mercenaries']

9 To air the ditty / And to earth I. [Ib. xli, 'Fancy's Knell']

10 The rainy Pleiads wester, / Orion plunges prone, / The stroke of midnight ceases, / And I lie down alone. [More Poems, xi]

11 Loveliest of trees, the cherry now / Is hung with bloom along the bough. [A Shropshire Lad, ii]

12 Now, of my threescore years and ten, / Twenty will not come again. [Ib.]

13 Clay lies still, but blood's a rover; / Breath's a ware that will not keep. / Up, lad; when the journey's over / There'll be time enough for sleep. [Ib. iv, 'Reveille']

14 A neck God made for other use / Than strangling in a string. [Ib. ix]

15 Lovers lying two by two / Ask not whom they sleep beside, / And the bridegroom all night through / Never turns him to the bride. [Ib. xii]

16 When I was one-and-twenty / I heard a wise man say, / 'Give crowns and pounds and guineas / But not your heart away.' [A Shropshire Lad, xiii]

17 Oh, when I was in love with you, / Then I was clean and brave. [Ib. xviii]

18 And silence sounds no worse than cheers / After death has stopped the ears. [Ib. xix, 'To an Athlete Dying Young']

19 In summertime on Bredon / The bells they sound so clear; / Round both the shires they ring them / In steeples far and near, / A happy noise to hear.

Here of a Sunday morning / My love and I would lie, / And see the coloured counties, / And hear the larks so high / About us in the sky. [Ib. xxi]

20 'Come all to church, good people,' – / Oh, noisy bells, be dumb; / I hear you, I will come. [Ib.]

21 They carry back bright to the coiner the mintage of man, / The lads that will die in their glory and never be old. [Ib. xxiii]

22 Is my team ploughing, / That I was used to drive? [Ib. xxvii]

23 No change, though you lie under / The land you used to plough. [Ib.]

24 The goal stands up, the keeper / Stands up to keep the goal. [Ib.]

25 The flag of morn in conqueror's state / Enters at the English gate: / The vanquished eve, as night prevails, / Bleeds upon the road to Wales. [Ib. xxviii, 'The Welsh Marches']

26 Today the Roman and his trouble / Are ashes under Uricon. [Ib. xxxi]

27 From far, from eve and morning / And yon twelve-winded sky, / The stuff of life to knit me / Blew hither: here am I. [Ib. xxxii]

28 That is the land of lost content, / I see it shining plain, / The happy highways where I went / And cannot come again. [Ib. xl]

29 And the feather pate of folly / Bears the falling of the sky. [Ib. xlix]

30 Think no more; 'tis only thinking / Lays lads underground. [Ib.]

31 With rue my heart is laden / For golden friends I had, / For many a rose-lipt maiden / And many a lightfoot lad. [Ib. liv]

1 If he does really think there is no distinction between virtue and vice, why, Sir, when he leaves our houses let us count our spoons. [Boswell's Life of Johnson, 9 July 1763]

2 Subordination tends greatly to human happiness. Were we all upon an equality, we should have no other enjoyment than mere animal pleasure. [Ib. 20 July 1763]

3 Truth, Sir, is a cow, which will yield such people [sceptics] no more milk, and so they are gone to milk the bull. [Ib. 21 July 1763]

4 Your levellers wish to level down as far as themselves; but they cannot bear levelling up to themselves. [Ib.]

5 Why, Sir, Sherry [Thomas Sheridan] is dull, naturally dull; but it must have taken a great deal of pains to become what we now see him. Such an excess of stupidity, Sir, is not in Nature. [Ib. 28 July 1763]

6 Sir, it is burning a farthing candle at Dover, to shew a light at Calais. [(On Sheridan's influence upon the English language) Ib.]

7 Sir, a woman's preaching is like a dog's walking on his hind legs. It is not done well; but you are surprised to find it done at all. [Ib. 31 July 1763]

8 I look upon it, that he who does not mind his belly, will hardly mind anything else. [Ib. 5 Aug. 1763]

9 This was a good dinner enough, to be sure; but it was not a dinner to ask a man to. [Ib.]

10 BOSWELL: It is impossible to refute it. . . . Johnson, striking his foot with mighty force against a large stone, till he rebounded from it, answered, 'I refute it thus.' [(On Bishop Berkeley's proof of the non-existence of matter) Ib. 6 Aug. 1763]

18 Most schemes of political improvement are very laughable things. [Ib. 26 Oct. 1769]

19 It matters not how a man dies, but how he lives. The act of dying is not of importance, it lasts so short a time. [Ib.]

20 His [a player's] conversation usually threatened and announced more than it performed; that he fed you with a continual renovation of hope, to end in a constant succession of disappointment. [Ib. 1770]

21 That man [Lord Lyttelton] sat down to write a book, to tell the world what the world had all his life been telling him. [Ib.]

22 That fellow seems to me to possess but one idea, and that is a wrong one. [(Of a dull fellow) Ib.]

23 A gentleman who had been very unhappy in marriage, married immediately after his wife died: Johnson said, it was the triumph of hope over experience. [Ib.]

24 He said that few people had intellectual resources sufficient to forgo the pleasures of wine. They could not otherwise contrive how to fill the interval between dinner and supper. [Ib. 1772]

5 Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel. [Ib. 7 Apr. 1775]

6 Knowledge is of two kinds. We know a subject ourselves, or we know where we can find information upon it. [Ib. 18 Apr. 1775]

7 In lapidary inscriptions a man is not upon oath. [Ib. 1775]

8 Nothing odd will do long. Tristram Shandy did not last. [Ib. 20 Mar. 1776]

9 There is nothing which has yet been contrived by man, by which so much happiness is produced as by a good tavern or inn. [Ib. 21 Mar. 1776]

10 BOSWELL: Sir, you observed one day ... that a man is never happy for the present, but when he is drunk. Will you not add,– or when driving rapidly in a post-chaise? JOHNSON: No, Sir, you are driving rapidly from something, or to something. [Ib. 29 Mar. 1776]

11 If a madman were to come into this room with a stick in his hand, no doubt we should pity the state of his mind; but our primary consideration would be to take care of ourselves. We should knock him down first, and pity him afterwards. [Ib. 3 Apr. 1776]

12 No man but a blockhead ever wrote, except for money. [Ib. 5 Apr. 1776]

13 A man who has not been in Italy, is always conscious of an inferiority. [Ib. 11 Apr. 1776]

14 BOSWELL: Then, Sir, what is poetry? JOHNSON: Why, Sir, it is much easier to say what it is not. We all know what light is; but it is not easy to tell what it is. [Ib.]

15 Olivarii Goldsmith, Poetae, Physici, Historici, qui nullum fere scribendi genus non tetigit, nullum quod tetigit non ornavit. – To Oliver Goldsmith, poet, naturalist, and historian, who left hardly any style of writing untouched, and touched nothing that he did not adorn. [Boswell's Life of Johnson, Goldsmith's epitaph, May 1776]

16 If ... I had no duties, and no reference to futurity, I would spend my life in driving briskly in a post-chaise with a pretty woman. [Ib. 19 Sept. 1777]

17 Depend upon it, Sir, when a man knows he is to be hanged in a fortnight, it concentrates his mind wonderfully. [Ib.]

18 When a man is tired of London he is tired of life; for there is in London all that life can afford. [Ib. 20 Sept. 1777]

19 It is wonderful that five thousand years have now elapsed since the creation of the world, and still it is undecided whether or not there has ever been an instance of the spirit of any person appearing after death. All argument is against it; but all belief is for it. [Ib. 31 Mar. 1778]

20 Every man thinks meanly of himself for not having been a soldier, or not having been at sea. [Ib. 10 Apr. 1778]

21 I am willing to love all mankind, except an American. [Ib. 15 Apr. 1778]

22 All censure of a man's self is oblique praise. It is in order to show how much he can spare. [Ib. 25 Apr. 1778]

23 I have always said, the first Whig was the Devil. [Ib. 28 Apr. 1778]

24 If it rained knowledge, I'd hold out my hand; but I would not give myself the trouble to go in quest of it. [Ib. 12 May 1778]

25 Claret is the liquor for boys; port for men; but he who aspires to be a hero ... must drink brandy. [Ib. 7 Apr. 1779]

26 BOSWELL: Is not the Giant's Causeway worth seeing?
JOHNSON: Worth seeing? yes; but not worth going to see. [Ib. 12 Oct. 1779]

27 If you are idle, be not solitary; if you are solitary, be not idle. [Ib. Letter to Boswell, 27 Oct. 1779]

28 Greek, Sir, ... is like lace; every man gets as much of it as he can. [Ib. 1780]

1 Sir, your wife, under pretence of keeping a bawdy-house, is a receiver of stolen goods. [Boswell's Life of Johnson, 1780]

2 There are people whom one should like very well to drop, but would not wish to be dropped by. [Ib. Mar. 1781]

3 He fills a chair. [(Lord North) Ib. 1 Apr. 1781]

4 Sir, I have two cogent reasons for not printing any list of subscribers; – one, that I have lost all the names, – the other, that I have spent all the money. [Ib. May 1781]

5 My dear friend, clear your mind of cant. [Ib. 15 May 1783]

6 As I know more of mankind I expect less of them, and am ready now to call a man a good man, upon easier terms than I was formerly. [Ib. Sept. 1783]

7 I should as soon think of contradicting a bishop. [(Of George Psalmanazar) Ib. 15 May 1784]

8 Milton . . . was a genius that could cut a Colossus from a rock, but could not carve heads upon cherry-stones. [Ib. 13 June 1784]

9 Who drives fat oxen should himself be fat. [(Line composed in parody of a line in a tragedy) Ib. June 1784]

10 Sir, I have found you an argument; but I am not obliged to find you an understanding. [Ib.]

11 Sir, . . . there is not a sapling upon Parnassus more severely blown about by every wind of criticism. [(Of a vain author) Ib.]

12 A lawyer has no business with the justice or injustice of the cause which he undertakes, unless his client asks his opinion, and then he is bound to give it honestly. The justice or injustice of the cause is to be decided by the judge. [Boswell, Tour of the Hebrides, 15 Aug. 1773]

13 True, Sir; but sensation is sensation. [(On the 'kindness' of a tedious visit) Ib. 23 Aug.]

14 I have, all my life long, been lying till noon; yet I tell all young men, and tell them with great sincerity, that nobody who does not rise early will ever do any good. [Ib. 14 Sept.]

15 I inherited a vile melancholy from my father, which has made me mad all my life, at least not sober. [Ib. 16 Sept.]

16 Wickedness is always easier than virtue; for it takes the short cut to everything. [Boswell, Tour of the Hebrides, 17 Sept.]

17 I am always sorry when any language is lost, because languages are the pedigree of nations. [Ib. 18 Sept.]

18 I do not like much to see a Whig in any dress; but I hate to see a Whig in a parson's gown. [Ib. 24 Sept.]

19 A fellow who makes no figure in company, and has a mind as narrow as the neck of a vinegar cruet. [Ib. 30 Sept.]

20 A cucumber should be well sliced, and dressed with pepper and vinegar, and then thrown out, as good for nothing. [Ib. 5 Oct.]

21 By seeing London, I have seen as much of life as the world can show. [Ib. 11 Oct.]

22 It is ridiculous for a Whig to pretend to be honest. He cannot hold it out. [Ib. 21 Oct.]

23 A man may be very sincere in good principles, without having good practice. [Ib. 25 Oct.]

24 Sir, the noblest prospect that a Scotchman ever sees, is the high road that leads him to London. [Ib. 10 Nov.]

25 I am sorry I have not learnt to play at cards. It is very useful in life: it generates kindness, and consolidates society. [Ib. 11 Nov.]

26 Wheresoe'er I turn my view, / All is strange, yet nothing new; / Endless labour all along, / Endless labour to be wrong. [Anecdotes of Johnson, by Mrs Piozzi]

27 Hermit hoar, in solemn cell, / Wearing out life's evening gray; / Strike thy bosom, sage! and tell / What is bliss, and which the way? / Thus I spoke, and speaking sighed, / Scarce repressed the starting tear, / When the hoary sage replied, / 'Come, my lad, and drink some beer.' [Ib.]

28 If a man who turnips cries, / Cry not when his father dies, / 'Tis a proof that he had rather / Have a turnip than a father. [Ib. 'Burlesque of lines by Lope de Vega']

29 Dear Bathurst . . . was a man to my very heart's content: he hated a fool, and he hated a rogue, and he hated a Whig; he was a very good hater. [Ib.]

2 I see a lilly on thy brow, / With anguish moist and fever dew; / And on thy cheek a fading rose / Fast withereth too.

I met a lady in the meads / Full beautiful, a faery's child; / Her hair was long, her foot was light, / And her eyes were wild. [Ib. iii]

3 She looked at me as she did love, / And made sweet moan. [Ib. vi]

4 And sure in language strange she said, / I love thee true. [Ib. vii]

5 And there I shut her wild, wild eyes / With kisses four. [Ib. viii (Lord Houghton's version)]

6 The latest dream I ever dreamed / On the cold hill side. [Ib. ix]

7 I saw pale kings and princes too, / Pale warriors, death-pale were they all; / Who cry'd – 'La belle Dame sans merci / Hath thee in thrall!'

I saw their starved lips in the gloam / With horrid warning gapèd wide, / And I awoke, and found me here / On the cold hill side. [Ib. x]

8 Real are the dreams of Gods, and smoothly pass / Their pleasures in a long immortal dream. [Lamia, I. 127]

9 Love in a hut, with water and a crust, / Is – Love forgive us! – cinders, ashes, dust. [Ib. II. 1]

10 Philosophy will clip an angel's wings. [Ib. II. 234]

11 Souls of poets dead and gone, / What Elysium have ye known, / Happy field or mossy cavern, / Choicer than the Mermaid Tavern? / Have ye tippled drink more fine / Than mine host's Canary wine? [Lines on the Mermaid Tavern]

12 Thou still unravished bride of quietness, / Thou foster-child of silence and slow time. [Ode on a Grecian Urn, i]

13 Heard melodies are sweet, but those unheard / Are sweeter; therefore, ye soft pipes, play on; / Not to the sensual ear, but, more endeared, / Pipe to the spirit ditties of no tone. [Ib. ii]

14 She cannot fade, though thou hast not thy bliss, / For ever wilt thou love and she be fair. [Ib.]

15 For ever piping songs for ever new. [Ode on a Grecian Urn, iii]

16 All breathing human passion far above, / That leaves a heart high-sorrowful and cloyed, / A burning forehead and a parching tongue. [Ib.]

17 To what green altar, O mysterious priest, / Lead'st thou that heifer lowing at the skies, / And all her silken flanks with garlands drest? / What little town by river or sea shore, / Or mountain-built with peaceful citadel, / Is emptied of this folk, this pious morn? [Ib. iv]

18 Thou, silent form, dost tease us out of thought / As doth eternity: Cold Pastoral! [Ib. v]

19 'Beauty is truth, truth beauty,' – that is all / Ye know on earth, and all ye need to know. [Ib.]

20 Leaving great verse unto a little clan. [Ode to Maia]

21 No, no, go not to Lethe, neither twist / Wolf's-bane, tight-rooted, for its poisonous wine. [Ode on Melancholy, i]

22 But when the melancholy fit shall fall / Sudden from heaven like a weeping cloud, / That fosters the droop-headed flowers all, / And hides the green hill in an April shroud; / Then glut thy sorrow on a morning rose. [Ib. ii]

23 She dwells with Beauty – Beauty that must die; / And Joy, whose hand is ever at his lips / Bidding adieu; and aching pleasure nigh, / Turning to Poison while the bee-mouth sips: / Ay, in the very temple of delight / Veiled Melancholy has her sovran shrine, / Though seen of none save him whose strenuous tongue / Can burst Joy's grape against his palate fine; His soul shall taste the sadness of her might, / And be among her cloudy trophies hung. [Ib. iii]

24 My heart aches, and a drowsy numbness pains / My sense, as though of hemlock I had drunk. [Ode to a Nightingale, i]

25 Thou, light-winged Dryad of the trees, / In some melodious plot / Of beechen green, and shadows numberless, / Singest of summer in full-throated ease. [Ib.]

26 O for a draught of vintage! that hath been / Cooled a long age in the deep delvèd earth, / Tasting of Flora and the country green, / Dance, and Provençal song, and sunburnt mirth! / O for a beaker full of the warm South, / Full of the true, the blushful Hippocrene, / With beaded bubbles winking at the brim, / And purple-stained mouth; / That I might drink, and leave the world unseen, / And with thee fade away into the forest dim.

Fade far away, dissolve, and quite forget / What thou among the leaves hast never known, / The weariness, the fever, and the fret / Here, where men sit and hear each other groan. [Ode to a Nightingale, ii

1 Where youth grows pale and spectre-thin, and dies; / Where but to think is to be full of sorrow / And leaden-eyed despairs. [Ib. iii]

2 Away! away! for I will fly to thee, / Not charioted by Bacchus and his pards, / But on the viewless wings of Poesy. [Ib. iv]

3 I cannot see what flowers are at my feet, / Nor what soft incense hangs upon the boughs. [Ib. v]

4 Mid-May's eldest child, / The coming musk-rose, full of dewy wine, / The murmurous haunt of flies on summer eves. [Ib.]

5 Darkling I listen; and, for many a time / I have been half in love with easeful death, / Called him soft names in many a musèd rhyme, / To take into the air my quiet breath; / Now more than ever it seems rich to die, / To cease upon the midnight with no pain, / While thou art pouring forth thy soul abroad / In such an ecstasy! / Still wouldst thou sing, and I have ears in vain – / To thy high requiem become a sod.

Thou wast not born for death, immortal Bird! / No hungry generations tread thee down; / The voice I hear this passing night was heard / In ancient days by emperor and clown: / Perhaps the self-same song that found a path / Through the sad heart of Ruth, when, sick for home, / She stood in tears amid the alien corn; / The same that oft-times hath / Charmed magic casements, opening on the foam / Of perilous seas, in faery lands forlorn.

Forlorn! the very word is like a bell / To toll me back from thee to my sole self! [Ib. vi]

6 Thy plaintive anthem fades / Past the near meadows, over the still stream, / Up the hill-side; and now 'tis buried deep / In the next valley-glades: / Was it a vision or a waking dream? / Fled is that music: – Do I wake or sleep? [Ode to a Nightingale, viii]

7 O latest born and loveliest vision far / Of all Olympus' faded hierarchy. [Ode to Psyche, 24]

8 Virgin-choir to make delicious moan / Upon the midnight hours. [Ib. 30]

9 All the gardener Fancy e'er could feign, / Who breeding flowers, will never breed the same. [Ib. 62]

10 A bright torch, and a casement ope at night, / To let the warm Love in. [Ib. 66]

11 Stop and consider! life is but a day; / A fragile dew-drop on its perilous way / From a tree's summit; a poor Indian's sleep / While his boat hastens to the monstrous steep / Of Montmorenci. [Sleep and Poetry, 85]

12 O for ten years, that I may overwhelm / Myself in poesy; so I may do the deed / That my own soul has to itself decreed. [Ib. 96]

13 A drainless shower / Of light is poesy; 'tis the supreme power; / 'Tis might half slumbering on his own right arm. [Ib. 235]

14 They shall be accounted poet kings / Who simply tell the most heart-easing things. [Ib. 267]

15 There was a naughty Boy, / And a naughty boy was he, / He ran away to Scotland / The people for to see – / Then he found / That the ground / Was as hard, / That a yard / Was as long, / That a song / Was as merry, / That a cherry / Was as red – / That lead / Was as weighty, / That fourscore / Was as eighty, / That a door / Was as wooden / As in England – / So he stood in his shoes / And he wondered. [A Song about myself]

16 Bright star, would I were steadfast as thou art – / Not in lone splendour hung aloft the night / And watching, with eternal lids apart, / Like Nature's patient, sleepless Eremite, / The moving waters at their priestlike task / Of pure ablution round earth's human shores. [Sonnet: Bright Star]

16 I have two luxuries to brood over in my walks, your loveliness and the hour of my death. O that I could have possession of them both in the same minute. [Letter to Fanny Brawne, 25 July 1819]

17 The only means of strengthening one's intellect is to make up one's mind about nothing – to let the mind be a thoroughfare for all thoughts. [Letter to G. and G. Keats, 17–27 Sept. 1819]

18 'If I should die', said I to myself, 'I have left no immortal work behind me – nothing to make my friends proud of my memory – but I have loved the principle of beauty in all things, and if I had had time I would have made myself remembered.' [Letter to Fanny Brawne, Feb. 1820(?)]

19 You might curb your magnanimity, and be more of an artist, and load every rift of your subject with ore. [Letter to P. B. Shelley, Aug. 1820]

10 Beauty is Nature's coin, must not be hoarded, / But must be current. [Ib. 739]

11 Beauty is Nature's brag, and must be shown / In courts, at feasts, and high solemnities. [Ib. 745]

12 It is for homely features to keep home, / They had their name thence; coarse complexions / And cheeks of sorry grain will serve to ply / The sampler, and to tease the housewife's wool. / What need a vermeil-tinctured lip for that, / Love-darting eyes, or tresses like the morn? [Ib. 748]

13 Sabrina fair, / Listen where thou art sitting / Under the glassy, cool, translucent wave, / In twisted braids of lilies knitting / The loose train of thy amber-dropping hair. [Ib. 859]

14 Mortals, that would follow me, / Love virtue, she alone is free, / She can teach ye how to climb / Higher than the sphery chime; / Or if virtue feeble were, / Heav'n itself would stoop to her. [Ib. 1018]

15 Hence, vain deluding joys, / The brood of Folly without father bred. [Il Penseroso, 1]

16 The gay motes that people the sunbeams. [Il Penseroso, 8]

17 Hail divinest melancholy. [Ib. 12]

18 Sober, steadfast, and demure. [Ib. 32]

19 And looks commercing with the skies, / Thy rapt soul sitting in thine eyes. [Ib. 39]

20 Him that yon soars on golden wing, / Guiding the fiery-wheelèd throne, / The Cherub Contemplation. [Ib. 52]

21 Sweet bird, that shunn'st the noise of folly, / Most musical, most melancholy! [Ib. 61]

22 To behold the wandering moon, / Riding near her highest noon, / Like one that had been led astray / Through the heav'n's wide pathless way; / And oft, as if her head she bowed, / Stooping through a fleecy cloud. [Ib. 67]

23 I hear the far-off curfew sound, / Over some wide-watered shore, / Swinging slow with sullen roar. [Ib. 74]

24 Far from all resort of mirth, / Save the cricket on the hearth! [Ib. 81]

25 Sometime let gorgeous Tragedy / In sceptred pall come sweeping by, / Presenting Thebes, or Pelops' line, / Or the tale of Troy divine. [Ib. 97]

26 Or bid the soul of Orpheus sing / Such notes as, warbled to the string, / Drew iron tears down Pluto's cheek. [Ib. 105]

27 Or call up him that left half told / The story of Cambuscan bold. [Ib. 109]

28 Where more is meant than meets the ear. [Ib. 120]

29 Hide me from day's garish eye / While the bee with honied thigh / That at her flowery work doth sing. [Ib. 141]

30 With antique pillars massy proof, / And storied windows richly dight, / Casting a dim religious light. / There let the pealing organ blow, / To the full-voiced quire below. [Ib. 158]

1 Execute their aery purposes. [Paradise Lost, I. 430]

2 When night / Darkens the streets, then wander forth the sons / Of Belial, flown with insolence and wine. [Ib. I. 500]

3 The imperial ensign, which, full high advanced, / Shone like a meteor, streaming to the wind. [Ib. I. 536]

4 A shout that tore hell's concave, and beyond / Frightened the reign of Chaos and old Night. [Ib. I. 542]

5 In perfect phalanx to the Dorian mood / Of flutes and soft recorders. [Ib. I. 550]

6 His form had yet not lost / All her original brightness, nor appeared / Less than archangel ruined, and th' excess / Of glory obscured. [Ib. I. 591]

7 In dim eclipse disastrous twilight sheds / On half the nations, and with fear of change / Perplexes monarchs. [Ib. I. 597]

8 Care / Sat on his faded cheek. [Ib. I. 601]

9 Tears such as angels weep, burst forth. [Ib. I. 620]

10 Who overcomes / By force, hath overcome but half his foe. [Ib. I. 648]

11 Let none admire / That riches grow in hell; that soil may best / Deserve the precious bane. [Ib. I. 690]

12 Anon out of the earth a fabric huge / Rose like an exhalation. [Ib. I. 710]

13 From morn / To noon he fell, from noon to dewy eve, / A summer's day; and with the setting sun / Dropt from the zenith like a falling star. [Ib. I. 742]

14 Pandemonium, the high capital / Of Satan and his peers. [Ib. I. 756]

15 Fairy elves, / Whose midnight revels, by a forest side / Or fountain, some belated peasant sees, / Or dreams he sees, while overhead the moon / Sits arbitress. [Ib. I. 781]

16 Satan exalted sat, by merit raised / To that bad eminence. [Ib. II. 5]

17 Rather than be less / Cared not to be at all. [Ib. II. 47]

19 Though his tongue / Dropt manna, and could make the worse appear / The better reason. [Ib. II. 112]

20 For who would lose, / Though full of pain, this intellectual being, / Those thoughts that wander through eternity, / To perish rather, swallowed up and lost / In the wide womb of uncreated night, / Devoid of sense and motion? [Paradise Lost, II. 146]

21 His red right hand. [Ib. II. 174]

22 Unrespited, unpitied, unreprieved, / Ages of hopeless end. [Ib. II. 185]

23 Thus Belial, with words clothed in reason's garb, / Counselled ignoble ease, and peaceful sloth, / Not peace. [Ib. II. 226]

24 With grave / Aspect he rose, and in his rising seemed / A pillar of state; deep on his front engraven / Deliberation sat and public care; / And princely counsel in his face yet shone, / Majestic though in ruin. [Ib. II. 300]

25 Through the palpable obscure find out / His uncouth way. [Ib. II. 406]

26 Long is the way / And hard, that out of hell leads up to light. [Ib. II. 432]

27 Vain wisdom all, and false philosophy. [Ib. II. 565]

2 Cock a doodle doo! / My dame has lost her shoe, / My master's lost his fiddling stick, / And knows not what to do.

3 Come, let's to bed, / Says Sleepy-head; / Tarry a while, says Slow; / Put on the pot, says Greedy-gut, / We'll sup before we go.

4 Cross-patch, / Draw the latch, / Sit by the fire and spin.

5 Curly locks Curly locks, / Wilt thou be mine? / Thou shalt not wash dishes / Nor yet feed the swine; / But sit on a cushion / And sew a fine seam, / And feed upon strawberries, / Sugar and cream.

6 Daffy-down-dilly is new come to town, / With a yellow petticoat, and a green gown.

7 Ding, dong, bell, / Pussy's in the well. / Who put her in? / Little Johnny Green.

8 Fee, fi, fo, fum, / I smell the blood of an Englishman; / Be he alive or be he dead, / I'll grind his bones to make my bread.

9 A frog he would a wooing go. / 'Heigh ho!' says Rowley.

10 Georgie Porgie, pudding and pie, / Kissed the girls and made them cry; / When the boys came out to play, / Georgie Porgie ran away.

11 Goosey goosey gander, / Whither shall I wander? / Upstairs and downstairs, / And in my lady's chamber. / There I met an old man / Who would not say his prayers; / I took him by the left leg, / And threw him down the stairs.

12 Here is the church, and here is the steeple; / Open the door and here are the people.

13 Hey diddle, diddle, / The cat and the fiddle, / The cow jumped over the moon; / The little dog laughed / To see such sport, / And the dish ran away with the spoon.

14 Hickory, dickory, dock, / The mouse ran up the clock. / The clock struck one, / The mouse ran down, / Hickory, dickory, dock.

15 Hot cross buns! Hot cross buns! / One a penny, two a penny, / Hot cross buns!

16 How many miles to Babylon? / Threescore and ten. / Can I get there by candle-light? / Yes, and back again.

17 Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall, / Humpty Dumpty had a great fall; / All the King's horses, and all the King's men, / Couldn't put Humpty together again.

18 Hush-a-bye, baby, on the tree top, / When the wind blows the cradle will rock; /When the bough breaks the cradle will fall, / Down will come baby, cradle, and all.

19 I had a little nut tree, / Nothing would it bear / But a silver nutmeg / And a golden pear; / The King of Spain's daughter / Came to visit me, / And all for the sake / Of my little nut tree.

20 I love little pussy, / Her coat is so warm, / And if I don't hurt her, / She'll do me no harm.

21 I love sixpence, jolly little sixpence, / I love sixpence better than my life.

22 I'm the king of the castle, / Get down you dirty rascal.

23 Jack and Jill / Went up the hill, / To fetch a pail of water; / Jack fell down, / And broke his crown, / And Jill came tumbling after.

24 Jack Sprat could eat no fat, / His wife could eat no lean; / And so between them both, you see, / They licked the platter clean.

25 Ladybird, ladybird, / Fly away home, / Your house is on fire, / And your children all gone.

26 The lion and the unicorn / Were fighting for the crown; / The lion beat the unicorn / All around the town.

Some gave them white bread, / And some gave them brown; / Some gave them plum cake / And drummed them out of town.

27 Little Bo-Peep has lost her sheep, / And doesn't know where to find them; / Leave them alone, and they'll come home, / Bringing their tails behind them.

28 Little boy blue, / Come blow up your horn, / The sheep's in the meadow, / The cow's in the corn. / Where is the boy / Who looks after the sheep? / He's under a haycock / Fast asleep.

29 Little Jack Horner / Sat in the corner, / Eating a Christmas pie; / He put in his thumb, and pulled out a plum, / And said, 'What a good boy am I!'

30 Little Miss Muffet / Sat on a tuffet, / Eating her curds and whey; / There came a big spider, / Who sat down beside her / And frightened Miss Muffet away.

1 Little Polly Flinders / Sat among the cinders.

2 Little Tommy Tucker, / Sings for his supper. / What shall we give him? / White bread and butter.

3 London bridge is broken down, / My fair lady.

4 Mary had a little lamb, / His fleece was white as snow; / And everywhere that Mary went / The lamb was sure to go.

5 Mary, Mary, quite contrary, / How does your garden grow? / With silver bells, and cockle shells, / And pretty maids all in a row.

6 Monday's child is fair of face, / Tuesday's child is full of grace.

7 The north wind doth blow, / And we shall have snow, / And what will poor Robin do then? / Poor thing.

He'll sit in a barn, / And keep himself warm, / And hide his head under his wing, / Poor thing.

8 O dear, what can the matter be? / Johnny's so long at the fair.

9 He promised he'd bring me a bunch of blue ribbons / To tie up my bonny brown hair [Ib.]

10 Old King Cole / Was a merry old soul, / And a merry old soul was he; / He called for his pipe, / And he called for his bowl, / And he called for his fiddlers three.

11 Old Mother Hubbard / Went to the cupboard, / To get her poor dog a bone; / But when she got there, / The cupboard was bare, / And so the poor dog had none.

12 One, two, / Buckle my shoe; / Three, four, / Knock at the door.

13 Oranges and lemons, / Say the bells of St Clement's.

14 You owe me five farthings, / Say the bells of St Martin's. / When will you pay me? / Say the bells at Old Bailey. / When I grow rich, / Say the bells at Shoreditch. [Ib.]

15 Here comes a candle to light you to bed, / Here comes a chopper to chop off your head. [Ib.]

16 Pat-a-cake, pat-a-cake, baker's man, / Bake me a cake as fast as you can.

17 Pease porridge hot / Pease porridge cold, / Pease porridge in the pot / Nine days old.

18 Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled pepper.

19 Pussy cat, pussy cat, / Where have you been? / I've been up to London / To look at the Queen. / Pussy cat, pussy cat, / What did you there? / I frightened a little mouse / Under her chair.

20 The Queen of Hearts / She made some tarts, / All on a summer's day; / The Knave of Hearts / He stole the tarts, / And took them clean away.

21 Rain, rain, go away, / Come again another day.

22 Ride a cock-horse to Banbury Cross, / To see a fine lady upon a white horse; / Rings on her fingers and bells on her toes, / And she shall have music wherever she goes.

23 Ring-a-ring o' roses, / A pocket full of posies, / A-tishoo! A-tishoo! / We all fall down.

24 Round and round the rugged rock / The ragged rascal ran.

25 See-saw, Margery Daw, / Jacky shall have a new master; / Jacky shall have but a penny a day, / Because he can't work any faster.

26 Simple Simon met a pieman / Going to the fair.

27 Sing a song of sixpence, / A pocket full of rye; / Four and twenty blackbirds, / Baked in a pie.

When the pie was opened, / The birds began to sing; / Was not that a dainty dish, / To set before the king?

The king was in his counting-house, / Counting out his money; / The queen was in the parlour, / Eating bread and honey.

The maid was in the garden, / Hanging out the clothes, / When down came a blackbird / And pecked off her nose.

28 Solomon Grundy, / Born on a Monday.

29 Taffy was a Welshman, / Taffy was a thief; / Taffy came to my house / And stole a piece of beef.

30 Tell tale, tit! / Your tongue shall be split, / And all the dogs in the town / Shall have a little bit.

1 There was a crooked man, / And he walked a crooked mile, / He found a crooked sixpence / Against a crooked stile.

2 There was an old woman who lived in a shoe, / She had so many children she didn't know what to do.

3 This is the farmer sowing his corn, / That kept the cock that crowed in the morn, / That waked the priest all shaven and shorn, / That married the man all tattered and torn, / That kissed the maiden all forlorn, / That milked the cow with the crumpled horn, / That tossed the dog, / That worried the cat, / That killed the rat, / That ate the malt, / That lay in the house that Jack built. [The House that Jack Built]

4 This little pig went to market; / This little pig stayed at home.

5 Three blind mice, see how they run! / They all ran after the farmer's wife, / Who cut off their tails with a carving knife, / Did ever you see such a thing in your life, / As three blind mice?

6 Three wise men of Gotham / Went to sea in a bowl; / And if the bowl had been stronger, / My song would have been longer.

7 Tom, he was a piper's son, / He learned to play when he was young, / But all the tune that he could play / Was, 'Over the hills and far away.'

8 Tom, Tom, the piper's son, / Stole a pig and away he run; / The pig was eat, and Tom was beat, / And Tom went howling down the street. [Ib.]

9 We are all in the dumps, / For diamonds are trumps; / The kittens are gone to St Paul's. / The babies are bit, / The Moon's in a fit, / And the houses are built without walls.

10 Wee Willie Winkie runs through the town, / Upstairs and downstairs in his night-gown.

11 What are little boys made of? / What are little boys made of? / Frogs and snails / And puppy-dogs' tails, / That's what little boys are made of.

What are little girls made of? / What are little girls made of? / Sugar and spice / And all things nice, / That's what little girls are made of.

12 Where are you going to, my pretty maid? / I'm going a-milking, sir, she said.

13 My face is my fortune, sir, she said. [Where are you going to . . . ?]

14 Then I can't marry you, my pretty maid. / Nobody asked you, sir, she said. [Ib.]

15 Who killed Cock Robin? / I, said the Sparrow, / With my bow and arrow, / I killed Cock Robin.

16 Who saw him die? / I, said the Fly, / With my little eye, / I saw him die. [Ib.]

PATRICK O'KEEFE 1872–1934

20 Say it with flowers. [Slogan for Society of American Florists]

JOHN O'KEEFFE 1747–1833

21 Amo, amas, I love a lass, / As a cedar tall and slender; / Sweet cowslip's grace / Is her nominative case, / And she's of the feminine gender. [The Agreeable Surprise, II. ii]

22 Fat, fair and forty. [Irish Minnie, ii]

23 You shall always except the present company. [The London Hermit, I. ii]

DENNIS O'KELLY 1720?–1787

24 It will be Eclipse first, the rest nowhere. [At Epsom, 3 May 1769]

JOHN OLDHAM 1653–1683

25 Racks, gibbets, halters, were their arguments. [Satires upon the Jesuits, 'Garnet's Ghost', 176]

WILLIAM OLDYS 1696–1761

1 Busy, curious, thirsty fly / Drink with me, and drink as I. [Busy, Curious, Thirsty Fly]

JOHN OPIE 1761–1806

2 I mix them with brains, sir. [(When asked how he mixed his colours) Quoted in Samuel Smiles, Self-Help, Ch. 4]

BARONESS ORCZY 1865–1947

3 We seek him here, we seek him there, / Those Frenchies seek him everywhere. / Is he in heaven? – Is he in hell? / That demmed, elusive Pimpernel? [The Scarlet Pimpernel, Ch. 12]

J. B. O'REILLY 1844–1890

4 The organized charity, scrimped and iced, / In the name of a cautious, statistical Christ. [In Bohemia]

META ORRED 19 Cent.

5 In the gloaming, O, my darling! / When the lights are dim and low, / And the quiet shadows falling / Softly come and softly go. [In the Gloaming]

GEORGE ORWELL 1903–1950

6 Man is the only creature that consumes without producing. [Animal Farm, Ch. 1]

7 Four legs good, two legs bad. [Ib. 3]

8 All animals are equal, but some animals are more equal than others. [Ib. 10]

9 The creatures outside looked from pig to man, and from man to pig, and from pig to man again; but already it was impossible to say which was which. [Ib.]

10 Big Brother is watching you. [1984, Pt I. Ch. 1]

11 Only the Thought Police mattered. [Ib.]

12 War is Peace / Freedom is Slavery / Ignorance is Strength. [Ib.]

13 Newspeak was the official language of Oceania. [Ib. (footnote)]

14 His mind ... fetched up with a bump against the Newspeak word doublethink. [Ib.]

15 The Two Minutes Hate. [1984, I. 1]

16 The proles are not human beings. [Ib. I. 5]

17 Hate Week. [Ib.]

JOHN OSBORNE 1929–

18 But I have a go, lady, don't I? / I 'ave a go. I do. [The Entertainer, vii]

19 Don't clap too hard – it's a very old building. [Ib.]

20 Thank God we're normal, normal, normal, / Thank God we're normal, / Yes, this is our finest shower! [Ib.]

21 Well, there are only two posh papers on a Sunday – the one you're reading and this one. [Look Back in Anger, I]

22 He really deserves some sort of decoration ... a medal inscribed 'For Vaguery in the Field'. [Ib.]

23 I'm not mentioned at all because my name is a dirty word. [Ib.]

24 I don't think one 'comes down' from Jimmy's university. According to him, it's not even red brick, but white tile. [Ib. II. i]

25 They spend their time mostly looking forward to the past. [Ib.]

26 Poor old Daddy – just one of those sturdy old plants left over from the Edwardian Wilderness, that can't understand why the sun isn't shining any more. [Ib. II. ii]

27 There aren't any good brave causes left. If the big bang does come, and we all get killed off, it won't be in aid of the old-fashioned, grand design. It'll just be the Brave New-nothing-very-much-thank-you. [Ib. III. i]

ARTHUR O'SHAUGHNESSY 1844–1881

28 We are the music-makers / And we are the dreamers of dreams, / Wandering by lone sea-breakers, / And sitting by desolate streams; / World-losers and world-forsakers, / On whom the pale moon gleams: / Yet we are the movers and shakers / Of the world forever, it seems. [Ode]

THOMAS OTWAY 1652–1685

3 Destructive, damnable, deceitful woman! [The Orphan, III. i]

4 O woman! lovely woman! Nature made thee / To temper man: we had been brutes without you; / Angels are painted fair, to look like you. [Venice Preserved, I, i]

SIR THOMAS OVERBURY 1581–1613

5 In part to blame is she, / Which hath without consent been only tried: / He comes too near that comes to be denied. [A Wife, 26]

OVID 43 B.C.–A.D. 17

6 Procul hinc, procul este, severae! – Stay far hence, far hence, forbidding ones! [Amores, II, i, 3]

7 Forsitan et nostrum nomen miscebitur istis. – Perhaps too our name will be joined with these. [Ars Amatoria, iii. 339]

8 Gutta cavat lapidem, consumitur anulus usu. – The dropping of rain hollows out a stone, a ring is worn by use. [Epistulae Ex Ponto, IV. x. 5]

10 Medio tutissimus ibis. – You will go most safely in the middle. [Metamorphoses, II. 137]

11 Inopem me copia fecit. – Plenty makes me poor. [Ib. III. 466]

12 Video meliora, proboque; / Deteriora sequor. – I see better things and approve; I follow the worse. [Ib. VII. 20]

13 Tempus edax rerum. – Time the devourer of things. [Metamorphoses, XXV. 234]

14 Tu quoque. – Thou also. [Tristia, ii. 39]

ROBERT OWEN 1771–1858

15 All the world is queer save thee and me, and even thou art a little queer. [When ending his partnership with William Allen]

WILFRED OWEN 1893–1918

16 What passing-bells for these who die as cattle? / Only the monstrous anger of the guns. / Only the stuttering rifles' rapid rattle / Can patter out their hasty orisons. [Anthem for doomed Youth]

17 And bugles calling for them from sad shires. [Ib.]

18 And each slow dusk a drawing-down of blinds. [Ib.]

19 Move him into the sun – / Gently its touch awoke him once / At home. [Futility]

20 Red lips are not so red / As the stained stones kissed by the English dead. / Kindness of wooed and wooer / Seems shame to their love pure. [Greater Love]

21 One sprang up, and stared / With piteous recognition in fixed eyes, / Lifting distressful hands, as if to bless. [Strange Meeting]

22 'Strange friend,' I said, 'here is no cause to mourn.' / 'None,' said the other, 'save the undone years, / The hopelessness. Whatever hope is yours / Was my life also; I went hunting wild / After the wildest beauty in the world.' [Ib.]

23 Courage was mine, and I had mystery, / Wisdom was mine, and I had mastery; / To miss the march of the retreating world / Into vain citadels that are not walled. [Ib.]

24 My subject is War, and the pity of War. The Poetry is in the pity. [Preface to Poems]

EDWARD DE VERE, EARL OF OXFORD 1550–1604

2 If women could be fair and yet not fond. [Women's Changeableness]

THOMAS PAINE 1737–1809

3 The sublime and the ridiculous are often so nearly related that it is difficult to class them separately. One step above the sublime makes the ridiculous; and one step above the ridiculous makes the sublime again. [The Age of Reason, ii, note]

4 These are the times that try men's souls. ['The American Crisis', in the Pennsylvania Journal, 1776]

5 The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country. [Ib. 1785]

6 Government even in its best state, is but a necessary evil; in its worst state, an intolerable one. [Common Sense, Ch. 1]

7 The final event to himself [Mr Burke] has been, that as he rose like a rocket, he fell like the stick. [Letter to the Addressers on the late Proclamation]

8 My country is the world, and my religion is to do good. [The Rights of Man, Pt ii, Ch. 5]

9 The religion of humanity. [Attr.]

11 Who can refute a sneer? [Moral Philosophy, V. Ch. 9]

SAMUEL PALMER 1805–1881

12 A picture has been said to be something between a thing and a thought. [Quoted in Arthur Symons' Life of Blake]

VISCOUNT PALMERSTON 1784–1865

13 Accidental and fortuitous concurrence of atoms. [Speech in House of Commons, 1857]

14 Die, my dear Doctor, that's the last thing I shall do! [Attr. last words]

EDWARD PARAMORE 1895–

15 Hard-boiled as a picnic egg. [The Ballad of Yukon Jake]

DOROTHY PARKER 1893–

16 Men seldom make passes / At girls who wear glasses [News Item]

17 Guns aren't lawful; / Nooses give; / Gas smells awful; / You might as well live. [Résumé]

18 Where's the man could ease a heart, / Like a satin gown? [The Satin Dress]

19 Excuse my dust. [Her own Epitaph]

20 She ran the whole gamut of her emotions from A to B. [Quoted in Treasury of Humorous Quotations]

MARTIN PARKER ?–1656

21 You gentlemen of England / Who live at home at ease, / How little do you think / On the dangers of the seas. [The Valiant Sailors]

22 The Man in the Moon may wear out his shoon, / By running after Charles-his-Wain, / But all's to no end; for the times will not mend / Till the King enjoys his own again. [When the King enjoys his Own again]

ROSS PARKER and HUGHIE CHARLES 1914– 1907–

CHARLES STEWART PARNELL 1846–1891

1 No man has a right to fix the boundary of the march of a nation; no man has a right to say to his country – thus far shalt thou go and no further. [Speech, 1885]

THOMAS PARNELL 1679–1717

2 We call it only pretty Fanny's way. [An Elegy to an old Beauty]

3 Remote from man, with God he passed the days, / Prayer all his business, all his pleasure praise. [The Hermit, 5]

4 Still an angel appear to each lover beside, / But still be a woman to you. [Song: When thy Beauty Appears]

SAMUEL PARR 1747–1825

5 Now that the old lion is dead, every ass thinks he may kick at him. [(Dr Johnson) Quoted in Boswell's Life of Johnson, 1784]

BLAISE PASCAL 1623–1662

6 Not to care for philosophy is to be a true philosopher [Pensées, I. 4]

7 The more intelligence one has the more people one finds original. Commonplace people see no difference between men. [Ib. I. 7]

8 The last thing one discovers in writing a book is what to put first. [Ib. I. 19]

9 When one finds a natural style, one is amazed and delighted, for where one expected to see an author, one discovers a man. [Ib. I. 29]

10 If you want people to think well of you, do not speak well of yourself. [Ib. I. 44]

11 Man of wit, bad character. [Ib. I. 46]

12 I cannot forgive Descartes; in all his philosophy he did his best to dispense with God. But he could not avoid making Him set the world in motion with a flip of His thumb; after that he had no more use for God. [Ib. II. 77]

13 If Cleopatra's nose had been shorter, the whole face of the earth would have changed. [Ib. II. 162]

14 The heart has its reasons, which are quite unknown to the head. [Pensées, IV. 277]

15 Man is no more than a reed, the weakest in nature. But he is a thinking reed. [Ib. VI. 347]

16 The I is hateful. [Ib. VII. 434]

17 Be comforted. You would not be seeking Me if you had not found Me. [Ib. VII. 552]

WALTER PATER 1839–1894

18 All art constantly aspires towards the condition of music. [The Renaissance, 'Giorgione']

19 She is older than the rocks among which she sits; like the vampire, she has been dead many times, and learned the secrets of the grave; and has been a diver in deep seas, and keeps their fallen day about her; and trafficked for strange webs with Eastern merchants: and, as Leda, was the mother of Helen of Troy, and, as Saint Anne, the mother of Mary; and all this has been to her but as the sound of lyres and flutes, and lives only in the delicacy with which it has moulded the changing lineaments, and tinged the eyelids and the hands. [(Mona Lisa) Ib. 'Leonardo da Vinci']

20 Art comes to you proposing frankly to give nothing but the highest quality to your moments as they pass, and simply for those moments' sake. [Ib. Conclusion]

21 To burn always with this hard, gem-like flame, to maintain this ecstasy, is success in life. [Ib.]

ANDREW PATERSON 1864–1941

22 Once a jolly swagman camped by a billy-bong, / Under the shade of a kulibar tree, / And he sang as he sat and waited for his billy-boil, / 'You'll come a-waltzing, Matilda, with me.' [Waltzing Matilda]

COVENTRY PATMORE 1823–1896

23 Ah, wasteful woman, she who may / On her sweet self set her own price, / Knowing man cannot choose but pay, / How has she cheapened paradise; / How given for nought her priceless gift, / How spoiled the bread and spilled the wine, /

Which, spent with due respective thrift, / Had made brutes men and men divine. [The Angel in the House, Bk I. iii, Prelude 3]

1 Love's perfect blossom only blows / Where noble manners veil defect. / Angels may be familiar; those / Who err each other must respect. [Ib. I. xi, Prelude 2]

2 'I saw you take his kiss!' "Tis true.' / 'Oh, modesty!' "Twas strictly kept: / He thought me asleep; at least, I knew / He thought I thought he thought I slept.' [Ib. II. viii, Prelude 3]

3 A woman is a foreign land, / Of which, though there he settle young, / A man will ne'er quite understand / The customs, politics, and tongue. [Ib. II. ix, Prelude 2]

4 Why, having won her, do I woo? / Because her spirit's vestal grace / Provokes me always to pursue, / But, spirit-like, eludes embrace. [Ib. II. xii, Prelude 1]

5 Because, in short, / She's not and never can be mine. [Ib.]

6 I, singularly moved / To love the lovely that are not beloved, / Of all the seasons, most / Love winter. [The Unknown Eros, Bk I. iii, 'Winter']

7 It was not like your great and gracious ways! / Do you, that have nought other to lament, / Never, my Love, repent / Of how, that July afternoon, / You went, / With sudden, unintelligible phrase, – And frightened eye, / Upon your journey of so many days, / Without a single kiss or a good-bye? [Ib. I. viii, 'Departure']

8 And the only loveless look the look with which you passed. [Ib.]

9 My little son, who looked from thoughtful eyes / And moved and spoke in quiet grown-up wise, / Having my law the seventh time disobeyed, / I struck him, and dismissed / With hard words and unkissed, / His mother, who was patient, being dead. [Ib. I. x, 'The Toys']

10 Here, in this little bay, / Full of tumultuous life and great repose, / Where, twice a day, / The purposeless, glad ocean comes and goes. [Ib. I. xii, 'Magna est Veritas']

11 For want of me the world's course will not fail: / When all its work is done, the lie shall rot; / The truth is great, and shall prevail, / When none cares whether it prevail or not. [The Unknown Eros, I. xii, 'Magna est Veritas']

12 If I were dead, you'd sometimes say, Poor Child! [Ib. I. xiv, 'If I were Dead']

13 With all my will, but much against my heart, / We two now part, / My Very Dear, / Our solace is, the sad road lies so clear. [Ib. I. xvi, 'A Farewell']

14 Shall I, the gnat that dances in thy ray, / Dare to be reverent? [Ib. II. xiv, 'Psyche's Discontent']

15 This is to say, my dear Augusta, / We've had another awful buster: / Ten thousand Frenchmen sent below! / Thank God from whom all blessings flow. [Epigram on King William's dispatch to Queen Augusta, Aug. 1870. From B. Champneys, Coventry Patmore]

JEAN PAUL [J. P. RICHTER] 1763–1825

16 Diesen Weltschmerz kann er, so zu sagen, nur aushalten durch den Anblick der Seligkeit. – He can, so to speak, only bear the sorrow of this world by gazing on blessedness. [Selina]

1 A book that furnishes no quotations is, me judice, no book – it is a plaything. [Crotchet Castle, Ch. 9]

2 My house has been broken open on the most scientific principles. [Ib. 17]

3 Not drunk is he who from the floor / Can rise alone and still drink more; / But drunk is he, who prostrate lies, / Without the power to drink or rise. [The Misfortunes of Elphin, Ch. 3, heading]

4 The mountain sheep are sweeter, / But the valley sheep are fatter; / We therefore deemed it meeter / To carry off the latter. [Ib. 11]

5 He was sent, as usual, to a public school, where a little learning was painfully beaten into him, and from thence to the university, where it was carefully taken out of him. [Nightmare Abbey, Ch. 1]

6 Laughter is pleasant, but the exertion is too much for me. [(Hon. Mr Listless) Ib. 5]

7 Seamen three! what men be ye? / Gotham's three Wise Men we be. / Whither in your bowl so free? / To rake the moon from out the sea. / The bowl goes trim. The moon doth shine, / And our ballast is old wine. [Ib. 11, 'Three Men of Gotham']

10 We have a Calvinistic creed, a Popish liturgy, and an Arminian clergy. [Speech in House of Lords, 19 May 1772]

11 If I were an American, as I am an Englishman, while a foreign troop was landed in my country, I never would lay down my arms – never – never – never! [Ib. 18 Nov. 1777]

12 It was a saying of Lord Chatham, that the parks were the lungs of London. [W. Windham in speech in House of Commons, 30 June 1808]

WILLIAM PITT 1759–1806

13 Necessity is the plea for every infringement of human freedom. It is the argument of tyrants; it is the creed of slaves. [Speech, 18 Nov. 1783]

14 England has saved herself by her exertions; and will, as I trust, save Europe by her example. [Ib. 9 Nov. 1805]

15 Roll up that map [of Europe]; it will not be wanted these ten years. [Said in Jan. 1806, after Napoleon's victory at Austerlitz]

16 O my country! how I leave my country. [(Or 'love' for 'leave') Attr. last words]

17 I think I could eat one of Bellamy's veal pies. [Attr. last words]

J. R. PLANCHÉ 1796–1880

18 It would have made a cat laugh. [The Queen of the Frogs, I. iv]

PLATO c. 428–347 B.C.

19 Socrates is guilty of corrupting the minds of the young, and of believing in deities of his own invention instead of the gods recognized by the State. [Apology, 24B]

20 I wonder if we could contrive . . . some magnificent myth* that would in itself carry conviction to our whole community. [(*Also translated as 'the noble lie') Republic, Bk 3. 414]

21 There will be no end to the troubles of states, or indeed, my dear Glaucon, of humanity itself, till philosophers become kings in this world, or till those we now call kings and rulers really and truly become philosophers. [Ib. 5. 473]

22 Democracy passes into despotism. [Ib. 8. 562]

PLAUTUS 254–184 B.C.

23 Quem di diligunt / Adulescens moritur. – He whom the gods favour dies young. [Bacchides IV. 816]

24 Miles Gloriosus. – Vainglorious Soldier. [Title of play]

7 I see His blood upon the rose / And in the stars the glory of His eyes. [I see His Blood]

EDGAR ALLAN POE 1809–1849

8 I was a child and she was a child, / In this kingdom by the sea; / But we loved with a love that was more than love – / I and my Annabel Lee. [Annabel Lee]

9 Keeping time, time, time, / In a sort of Runic rhyme, / To the tintinabulation that so musically wells / From the bells, bells, bells, bells. [The Bells, 9]

10 The viol, the violet, and the vine. [The City in the Sea]

11 That the play is the tragedy 'Man', / And its hero the Conqueror Worm. [The Conqueror Worm, 39]

12 All that we see or seem / Is but a dream within a dream. [A Dream within a Dream]

13 The fever called 'Living' / Is conquered at last. [For Annie]

14 This – all this – was in the olden Time long ago. [The Haunted Palace]

15 A dirge for her, the doubly dead, / In that she died so young. [Lenore]

16 Once upon a midnight dreary, while I pondered, weak and weary, / Over many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore, / While I nodded nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping, / As of someone gently rapping. [The Raven, i]

17 Deep into the darkness peering, long I stood there, wondering, fearing, / Doubting, dreaming dreams no mortal ever dared to dream before. [Ib. v]

18 'Prophet!' said I, 'thing of evil – prophet still, if bird or devil! / By that heaven that bends above us – by that God we both adore.' [Ib. xvi]

19 Take thy beak from out my heart and take thy form from off my door! / Quoth the Raven, 'Nevermore'. [Ib. xvii]

20 Helen, thy beauty is to me / Like those Nicean barks of yore. [To Helen]

21 Thy Naiad airs have brought me home / To the glory that was Greece, / And the grandeur that was Rome. [Ib.]

22 The skies they were ashen and sober; / The leaves they were crispèd and sere – / The leaves they were withering and sere; / It was night in the lonesome October / Of my most immemorial year. [Ulalume]

1 One thought of thee puts all the pomp to flight, / Priests, tapers, temples, swim before my sight. [Eloisa to Abelard, 273]

2 See my lips tremble, and my eye-balls roll, / Suck my last breath, and catch my flying soul! [Ib. 323]

3 You beat your pate, and fancy wit will come: / Knock as you please, there's nobody at home. [Epigram: An Empty House]

4 Shut, shut the door, good John! fatigued I said, / Tie up the knocker, say I'm sick, I'm dead. / The dog-star rages! [Epistle to Dr Arbuthnot, 1]

5 Is there a parson, much bemused in beer, / A maudlin poetess, a rhyming peer, / A clerk foredoomed his father's soul to cross / Who pens a stanza, when he should engross? [Ib. 15]

6 Fired that the house reject him, "'Sdeath I'll print it, / And shame the fools.' [Ib. 61]

7 No creature smarts so little as a fool. [Ib. 84]

8 Destroy his fib or sophistry, in vain, / The creature's at his dirty work again. [Ib. 91]

9 As yet a child, nor yet a fool to fame, I lisped in numbers, for the numbers came. [Ib. 127]

10 This long disease, my life. [Ib. 132]

11 And he whose fustian's so sublimely bad / It is not poetry, but prose run mad. [Ib. 187]

12 Were there one whose fires / True genius kindles, and fair fame inspires; / Blest with each talent and each art to please, / And born to write, converse, and live with ease; / Should such a man, too fond to rule alone, / Bear, like the Turk, no brother near the throne, / View him with scornful, yet with jealous eyes, / And hate for arts that caused himself to rise; / Damn with faint praise, assent with civil leer, / And, without sneering, teach the rest to sneer; / Willing to wound, and yet afraid to strike, / Just hint a fault, and hesitate dislike; / Alike reserved to blame, or to commend, / A tim'rous foe, and a suspicious friend; / Dreading e'en fools, by flatterers besieged, / And so obliging that he ne'er obliged; / Like Cato, give his little senate laws, / And sit attentive to his own applause; / . . . Who but must laugh, if such a man there be? / Who would not weep, if Atticus were he? [Epistle to Dr Arbuthnot, 193]

13 Curst be the verse, how well soe'er it flow, / That tends to make one worthy man my foe. [Ib. 283]

14 Let Sporus tremble. – A. What? that thing of silk, / Sporus, that mere white curd of ass's milk? / Satire or sense, alas! can Sporus feel? / Who breaks a butterfly upon a wheel?

P. Yet let me flap this bug with gilded wings – / This painted child of dirt, that stinks and stings. [Ib. 305]

15 Eternal smiles his emptiness betray, / As shallow streams run dimpling all the way. [Ib. 315]

16 He himself one vile antithesis. [Ib. 325]

17 Wit that can creep, and pride that licks the dust. [Ib. 333]

18 Unlearn'd, he knew no schoolman's subtle art, / No language, but the language of the heart. [Ib. 398]

19 Nature and Nature's laws lay hid in night: / God said 'Let Newton be!' and all was light. [Epitaph intended for Sir Isaac Newton]

20 In wit a man; simplicity a child. [Epitaph on Gay]

21 Heav'n, as its purest gold, by tortures tried; / The saint sustained it, but the woman died. [Epitaph on Mrs Corbet]

22 'Tis with our judgements as our watches, none / Go just alike, yet each believes his own. [An Essay on Criticism, 9]

23 Pride, the never failing vice of fools. [Ib. 204]

24 A little learning is a dang'rous thing; / Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring: / There shallow draughts intoxicate the brain, / And drinking largely sobers us again. [Ib. 215]

1 Words are like leaves; and where they most abound, / Much fruit of sense beneath is rarely found. [An Essay on Criticism, 309]

2 Such laboured nothings, in so strange a style, / Amaze th' unlearn'd, and make the learned smile. [Ib. 326]

3 Be not the first by whom the new are tried, / Nor yet the last to lay the old aside. [Ib. 335]

4 As some to church repair, / Not for the doctrine, but the music there. [Ib. 342]

5 While expletives their feeble aid do join, / And ten low words oft creep in one dull line. [Ib. 346]

6 Where'er you find 'the cooling western breeze', / In the next line, it 'whispers through the trees': / If crystal streams 'with pleasing murmurs creep', / The reader's threatened, not in vain, with 'sleep'. / Then, at the last and only couplet fraught / With some unmeaning thing they call a thought, / A needless Alexandrine ends the song, / That, like a wounded snake, drags its slow length along. [Ib. 350]

7 True ease in writing comes from art, not chance, / As those move easiest who have learned to dance. / 'Tis not enough no harshness gives offence, / The sound must seem an echo to the sense. [Ib. 362]

8 For fools admire, but men of sense approve. [Ib. 391]

9 But let a lord once own the happy lines, / How the wit brightens! how the style refines! [Ib. 420]

10 Some praise at morning what they blame at night; / But always think the last opinion right. [Ib. 430]

11 Nor in the critic let the man be lost. [Ib. 523]

12 To err is human, to forgive, divine. [Ib. 525]

13 Then unbelieving priests reformed the nation, / And taught more pleasant methods of salvation. [Ib. 546]

14 All seems infected that th' infected spy, / As all looks yellow to the jaundiced eye. [Ib. 558]

15 Men must be taught as if you taught them not / And things unknown proposed as things forgot. [Ib. 574]

16 The bookful blockhead, ignorantly read, / With loads of learned lumber in his head. [An Essay on Criticism, 612]

17 For fools rush in where angels fear to tread. [Ib. 625]

18 Awake my St John! Leave all meaner things / To low ambition, and the pride of kings. / Let us, since life can little more supply / Than just to look about us and to die, / Expatiate free o'er all this scene of man; / A mighty maze! but not without a plan. [An Essay on Man, I. 1]

19 Eye Nature's walks, shoot folly as it flies, / And catch the manners living as they rise; / Laugh where we must, be candid where we can; / But vindicate the ways of God to man. [Ib. I. 13]

20 Who sees with equal eye, as God of all, / A hero perish, or a sparrow fall, / Atoms or systems into ruin hurled, / And now a bubble burst and now a world. [Ib. I. 87]

21 Hope springs eternal in the human breast; / Man never is, but always to be blessed. [Ib. I. 95]

22 Lo, the poor Indian! whose untutored mind / Sees God in clouds, or hears him in the wind; / His soul proud science never taught to stray / Far as the solar walk or milky way. [Ib. I. 99]

23 Why has not man a microscopic eye? / For this plain reason, man is not a fly. [Ib. I. 193]

24 Die of a rose in aromatic pain? [Ib. I. 200]

25 The spider's touch, how exquisitely fine! / Feels at each thread, and lives along the line. [Ib. I. 217]

26 All are but parts of one stupendous whole, / Whose body nature is, and God the soul. [Ib. I. 267]

27 All nature is but art, unknown to thee; / All chance, direction which thou canst not see; / All discord, harmony not understood; / All partial evil, universal good; / And, spite of pride, in erring reason's spite, / One truth is clear, Whatever is, is right. [Ib. I. 289]

28 Know then thyself, presume not God to scan; / The proper study of mankind is man. [Ib. II. 1]

29 Chaos of thought and passion, all confused; / Still by himself abused, or disabused; / Created half to rise, and half

1 And hence one master-passion in the breast, / Like Aaron's serpent, swallows up the rest. [Ib. II. 131]

2 Vice is a monster of so frightful mien, / As to be hated needs but to be seen; / Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face, / We first endure, then pity, then embrace. [Ib. II. 217]

3 Behold the child, by nature's kindly law / Pleased with a rattle, tickled with a straw: / Some livelier plaything gives his youth delight, / A little louder, but as empty quite: / Scarfs, garters, gold, amuse his riper stage, / And beads and prayer-books are the toys of age: / Pleased with this bauble still, as that before; / Till tired he sleeps, and life's poor play is o'er. [Ib. II. 275]

4 For forms of government let fools contest, / Whate'er is best administered is best: / For modes of faith let graceless zealots fight; / His can't be wrong whose life is in the right. / In faith and hope the world will disagree, / But all mankind's concern is charity. [Ib. III. 303]

5 O happiness! our being's end and aim! / Good, pleasure, ease, content! whate'er thy name: / That something still which prompts th' eternal sigh, / For which we bear to live, or dare to die. [Ib. IV. 1]

7 An honest man's the noblest work of God. [Ib. IV. 248]

8 If parts allure thee, think how Bacon shined, / The wisest, brightest, meanest of mankind: / Or, ravished with the whistling of a name, / See Cromwell, damned to everlasting fame! [Ib. IV. 281]

9 Slave to no sect, who takes no private road, / But looks through nature up to nature's God. [Ib. IV. 331]

10 Formed by thy converse happily to steer / From grave to gay, from lively to severe. [Ib. IV. 379]

11 Thou wert my guide, philosopher, and friend. [Ib. IV. 390]

12 That true self-love and social are the same. [Ib. IV. 396]

13 To observations which ourselves we make, / We grow more partial for th' observer's sake. [Moral Essays, Epistle I. 11]

14 Grant but as many sorts of mind as moss. [Ib. I. 18]

15 Like following life through creatures you dissect, / You lose it in the moment you detect. [Ib. I. 29]

16 'Tis education forms the common mind, / Just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined. [Ib. I. 149]

17 'Odious! in woollen! 'twould a saint provoke' / (Were the last words that poor Narcissa spoke). [Ib. I. 246]

18 One would not, sure, be frightful when one's dead – / And, Betty, give this cheek a little red. [Ib. I. 250]

19 And you, brave Cobham! to the latest breath / Shall feel your ruling passion strong in death. [Ib. I. 262]

20 Most women have no characters at all. [Ib. II. 2]

21 Fine by defect and delicately weak. [Ib. II. 43]

22 With too much quickness ever to be taught; / With too much thinking to have common thought. [Ib. II. 97]

23 'With every pleasing, every prudent part, / Say, what can Chloe want?' – She wants a heart. [Ib. II. 159]

24 Men, some to business, some to pleas[illegible] take; / But every woman is at heart rake. [Ib. II. 215]

25 See how the world its veterans rewards! A youth of frolics, an old age of cards. [Ib. II. 243]

26 She who ne'er answers till a husband cools, / Or if she rules him, never shows she rules; / Charms by accepting, by submitting sways, / Yet has her humour most when she obeys. [Ib. II. 261]

3 In the worst inn's worst room, with mat half-hung, / The floors of plaster and the walls of dung, / On once a flock-bed, but repaired with straw, / With tape-tied curtains, never meant to draw, / The George and Garter dangling from that bed / Where tawdry yellow strove with dirty red, / Great Villiers lies. [Ib. III. 299]

4 To rest, the cushion and soft dean invite / Who never mentions hell to ears polite. [Ib. IV. 149]

5 Statesman, yet friend to truth! of soul sincere / In action faithful, and in honour clear, / Who broke no promise, served no private end, / Who gained no title, and who lost no friend. [Ib. V. 67]

6 Happy the man whose wish and care / A few paternal acres bound, / Content to breathe his native air, / In his own ground. [Ode on Solitude]

7 Has she no faults then (Envy says), Sir? / Yes she has one, I must aver; / When all the world conspires to praise her, / The woman's deaf and does not hear. [On a Certain Lady at Court]

8 I am his Highness' dog at Kew; / Pray tell me, sir, whose dog are you? [On the Collar of a Dog which I gave to his Royal Highness]

16 Here files of pins extend their shining rows, / Puffs, powders, patches, bibles, billet-doux. [Ib. I. 137]

17 On her white breast a sparkling cross she wore, / Which Jews might kiss, and infidels adore. [Ib. II. 7]

18 If to her share some female errors fall, / Look on her face, and you'll forget 'em all. [Ib. II. 17]

19 Fair tresses man's imperial race ensnare, / And beauty draws us with a single hair. [Ib. II. 27]

20 To love an altar built, / Of twelve vast French romances, neatly gilt. [Ib. II. 37]

21 Whether the nymph shall break Diana's law, / Or some frail china jar receive a flaw; / Or stain her honour, or her new brocade; / Forget her prayers, or miss a masquerade; / Or lose her heart, or necklace, at a ball. [Ib. II. 105]

22 Here thou, great Anna! whom three realms obey, / Dost sometimes counsel take – and sometimes tea. [Ib. III. 7]

23 At ev'ry word a reputation dies. [Ib. III. 16]

24 The hungry judges soon the sentence sign, / And wretches hang that jurymen may dine. [Ib. III. 21]

STEPHEN POTTER 1900–

1 Gamesmanship or, The Art of Winning Games without actually Cheating. [Title of book]

2 Could not this simple gambit of Joad's be extended to include other aspects of the game – to include all games? For me it was the birth of gamesmanship. [Gamesmanship, I, Introductory]

3 How to be one up – how to make the other man feel that something has gone wrong, however slightly. [Lifemanship]

4 There was one ploy of Gattling's which I found particularly effective, and I believe it must have been about this time that I first murmured to myself the word 'Lifemanship'. [Ib.]

5 Just as there are O.K.-words in conversationship so there are O.K.-people to mention in Newstatesmanship. [Ib.]

6 This gambit is called 'Rilking'. [Ib.]

8 We have all enough strength to bear other people's troubles. [Les Maximes, 19]

9 We need greater virtues to bear good fortune than bad. [Ib. 25]

10 If we had no faults we should not take so much pleasure in noticing them in others. [Ib. 31]

11 One is never as fortunate or as unfortunate as one imagines. [Ib. 49]

12 To establish oneself in the world one has to do all one can to appear established. [Ib. 56]

13 If one judges love by the majority of its effects, it is more like hatred than like friendship. [Les Maximes, 72]

14 Love of justice in most men is no more than the fear of suffering injustice. [Ib. 78]

15 It is more shameful to distrust one's friends than to be deceived by them. [Ib. 84]

16 Everyone complains of his memory, but no one complains of his judgement. [Ib. 89]

17 The intellect is always fooled by the heart. [Ib. 102]

18 One gives nothing so freely as advice. [Ib. 110]

19 One had rather malign oneself than not speak of oneself at all. [Ib. 138]

20 To refuse praise reveals a desire to be praised twice over. [Ib. 149]

23 O, how full of briers is this working-day world! [I. iii. (12)]

24 Beauty provoketh fools sooner than gold. [I. iii. (113)]

25 We'll have a swashing and a martial outside, / As many other mannish cowards have / That do outface it with their semblances. [I. iii. (123)]

26 Sweet are the uses of adversity, / Which, like the toad, ugly and venomous, / Wears yet a precious jewel in his head; / And this our life, exempt from public haunt, / Finds tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, / Sermons in stones, and good in everything. [II. i. 12]

27 The big round tears / Coursed one another down his innocent nose, / In piteous chase. [II. i. 38]

28 'Poor deer,' quoth he, 'thou makest a testament / As worldlings do, giving thy sum of more. / To that which had too much.' [II. i. 47]

29 Sweep on, you fat and greasy citizens! [II. i. 55]

30 For in my youth I never did apply / Hot and rebellious liquors to the blood. [II. iii. 48]

31 Therefore my age is as the lusty winter, / Frosty, but kindly. [II. iii. 52]

32 O good old man! how well in thee appears / The constant service of the antique world, / When service sweat for duty, not for meed! / Thou art not for the fashion of these times, / Where none will sweat but for promotion. [II. iii. 56]

33 Ay, now am I in Arden; the more fool I: when I was at home, I was in a better place: but travellers must be content. [II. iv. (16)]

34 If thou remember'st not the slightest folly / That ever love did make thee run into, / Thou hast not loved. [II. iv. (34)]

35 We that are true lovers run into strange capers. [II. iv. (53)]

36 Thou speakest wiser than thou art ware of. [II. iv. (57)]

37 I shall ne'er be ware of mine own wit till I break my shins against it. [II. iv. (59)]

3 I'll rail against all the first-born of Egypt. [II. v. (60)]

4 A fool, a fool! I met a fool i' the forest, / A motley fool. [II. vii. 12]

5 And railed on Lady Fortune in good terms, / In good set terms. [II. vii. 16]

6 And then he drew a dial from his poke, / And looking on it with lack-lustre eye, / Says, very wisely, 'It is ten o'clock; / Thus may we see,' quoth he, 'how the world wags.' [II. vii. 20]

7 And so, from hour to hour we ripe and ripe, / And then from hour to hour we rot and rot, / And thereby hangs a tale. [II. vii. 26]

8 My lungs began to crow like chanticleer, / That fools should be so deep-contemplative, / And I did laugh sans intermission / An hour by his dial. [II. vii. 30]

9 Motley's the only wear. [II. vii. 34]

10 And says, if ladies be but young and fair, / They have the gift to know it; and in his brain, – / Which is as dry as the remainder biscuit / After a voyage, – he hath strange places crammed / With observation, the which he vents / In mangled forms. [II. vii. 37]

11 I must have liberty / Withal, as large a charter as the wind, / To blow on whom I please. [II. vii. 47]

12 The 'why' is plain as way to parish church. [II. vii. 52]

13 Whate'er you are / That in this desert inaccessible, / Under the shade of melancholy boughs, / Lose and neglect the creeping hours of time; / If ever you have looked on better days. [II. vii. 109]

14 All the world's a stage, / And all the men and women merely players: / They have their exits and their entrances; / And one man in his time plays many parts, / His acts being seven ages. At first the infant, / Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms. / And then the whining school-boy, with his satchel / And shining morning face, creeping like snail / Unwillingly to school. And then the lover / Sighing like furnace, with a woeful ballad / Made to his mistress' eyebrow. Then a soldier, / Full of strange oaths, and bearded like the pard, / Jealous in honour, sudden and quick in quarrel, / Seeking the bubble reputation / Even in the cannon's mouth. And then the justice, / In fair round belly with good capon lined, / With eyes severe, and beard of formal cut, / Full of wise saws and moral instances, / And so he plays his part. The sixth age shifts / Into the lean and slippered pantaloon. / With spectacles on nose and pouch on side, / His youthful hose well saved a world too wide / For his shrunk shank; and his big manly voice, / Turning again toward childish treble, pipes / And whistles in his sound. Last scene of all, / That ends this strange eventful history, / Is second childishness and mere oblivion, / Sans teeth, sans eyes, sans taste, sans everything. [II. vii. 139]

15 Blow, blow, thou winter wind, / Thou art not so unkind / As man's ingratitude: / Thy tooth is not so keen, / Because thou art not seen, / Although thy breath be rude. [II. vii. 174]

16 Most friendship is feigning, most loving mere folly. / Then heigh-ho! the holly! / This life is most jolly. [II. vii. 181]

17 The fair, the chaste and unexpressive she. [III. ii. 10]

18 Hast any philosophy in thee, shepherd? [III. ii. (22)]

19 He that wants money, means, and content is without three good things. [III. ii. (25)]

20 Truly, thou art damned like an ill-roasted egg, all on one side. [III. ii. (39)]

21 Thou art in a parlous state. [III. ii. (46)]

22 This is the very false gallop of verses. [III. ii. (120)]

23 Let us make honourable retreat; though not with bag and baggage, yet with scrip and scrippage. [III. ii. (170)]

24 O wonderful, wonderful, and most wonderful! and yet again wonderful, and after that, out of all whooping! [III. ii. (202)]

1 Do you not know I am a woman? When I think, I must speak. [III. ii. (265)]

2 I do desire we may be better strangers. [III. ii. (276)]

3 Time travels in divers paces with divers persons. I'll tell you who Time ambles withal, who Time trots withal, who Time gallops withal, and who he stands still withal. [III. ii. (328)]

4 Every one fault seeming monstrous till his fellow-fault came to match it. [III. ii. (377)]

5 Truly, I would the gods had made thee poetical. [III. iii. (16)]

6 I am not a slut, though I thank the gods I am foul. [III. iii. (40)]

7 Down on your knees, / And thank heaven, fasting, for a good man's love. [III. v. 57]

8 It is a melancholy of mine own, compounded of many simples, extracted from many objects, and indeed the sundry contemplation of my travels, which, by often rumination, wraps me in a most humorous sadness. [IV. i. (16)]

9 I had rather have a fool to make me merry than experience to make me sad. [IV. i. (28)]

10 Men have died from time to time, and worms have eaten them, but not for love. [IV. i. (110)]

11 Men are April when they woo, December when they wed: maids are May when they are maids, but the sky changes when they are wives. [IV. i. (153)]

12 The horn, the horn, the lusty horn / Is not a thing to laugh to scorn. [IV. ii. (17)]

13 Chewing the food of sweet and bitter fancy. [IV. iii. (103)]

14 It is meat and drink to me to see a clown. [V. i. (11)]

15 No sooner met but they looked; no sooner looked but they loved; no sooner loved but they sighed; no sooner sighed but they asked one another the reason; no sooner knew the reason but they sought the remedy. [V. ii. (37)]

16 Oh! how bitter a thing it is to look into happiness through another man's eyes. [V. ii. (48)]

17 It is to be all made of sighs and tears: / And so am I for Phebe. [V. ii. (91)]

18 It is to be all made of faith and service / ... It is to be all made of fantasy, / All made of passion and all made of wishes, / All adoration, duty, and observance, / All humbleness, all patience and impatience, / All purity, all trial, all obeisance. [V. ii. (96)]

19 It was a lover and his lass, / With a hey, and a ho, and a hey nonino, / That o'er the green corn-field did pass, / In the spring time, the only pretty ring time, / When birds do sing, hey ding a ding, ding; / Sweet lovers love the spring. [V. iii. (18)]

20 An ill-favoured thing, sir, but mine own. [V. iv. (60)]

21 The first, 'the retort courteous'; the second, 'the quip modest'; the third, 'the reply churlish'; the fourth, 'the reproof valiant'; the fifth, 'the countercheck quarrelsome'; the sixth, 'the lie with circumstance'; the seventh, 'the lie direct'. [V. iv. (96)]

22 Your 'if' is the only peace-maker; much virtue in 'if'. [V. iv. (108)]

23 He uses his folly like a stalking-horse, and under the presentation of that he shoots his wit. [V. iv. (112)]

24 If it be true that 'good wine needs no bush', 'tis true that a good play needs no epilogue. [Epilogue, (3)]

The Comedy of Errors

25 The pleasing punishment that women bear. [I. i. 46]

26 They brought one Pinch, a hungry lean-faced villain, / A mere anatomy, a mountebank, / A threadbare juggler, and a fortune-teller, / A needy, hollow-eyed, sharp-looking wretch, / A living-dead man. [V. i. 238]

Coriolanus

27 Rubbing the poor itch of your opinion, / Make yourself scabs. [I. i. (171)]

28 They threw their caps / As they would hang them on the horns o' the moon, / Shouting their emulation. [I. i. (218)]

2 The mutable, rank-scented many. [III. i. 65]

3 Hear you this Triton of the minnows? mark you / His absolute 'shall'? [III. i. 88]

4 His nature is too noble for the world: / He would not flatter Neptune for his trident, / Or Jove for's power to thunder. [III. i. 254]

5 You common cry of curs! whose breath I hate / As reek o' the rotten fens, whose loves I prize / As the dead carcasses of unburied men / That do corrupt my air, I banish you. [III. iii. 118]

6 The beast / With many heads butts me away. [IV. i. 1]

7 THIRD SERV.: Where dwell'st thou?
CORIOL.: Under the canopy. [IV. v. (40)]

8 O, a kiss / Long as my exile, sweet as my revenge! [V. iii. 44]

9 Chaste as the icicle / That's curdied by the frost from purest snow, / And hangs on Dian's temple. [V. iii. 65]

10 He wants nothing of a god but eternity and a heaven to throne in. [V. iv. (25)]

11 If you have writ your annals true, 'tis there, / That, like an eagle in a dove-cote, I / Fluttered your Volscians in Corioli: / Alone I did it. [V. v. 114]

12 Thou hast done a deed whereat valour will weep. [V. v. 134]

Cymbeline

13 She is alone the Arabian bird. [I. vi. 17]

14 Boldness be my friend! [I. vi. 18]

15 On her left breast / A mole cinque-spotted, like the crimson drops / I' the bottom of a cowslip. [II. ii. 37]

16 Hark! hark! the lark at heaven's gate sings, / And Phoebus 'gins arise, / His steeds to water at those springs / On chaliced flowers that lies; / And winking Mary-buds begin / To ope their golden eyes: / With everything that pretty is, / My lady sweet, arise. [II. iii. (22)]

17 Is there no way for men to be, but women / Must be half-workers? [II. v. 1]

18 There be many Caesars / Ere such another Julius. Britain is / A world by itself, and we will nothing pay / For wearing our own noses. [III. i. 11]

19 O! for a horse with wings! [III. ii. (49)]

20 Some jay of Italy. [III. iv. (51)]

21 I have not slept one wink. [III. iv. (103)]

22 Weariness / Can snore upon the flint, when resty sloth / Finds the down pillow hard. [III. vi. 33]

23 Thou shalt not lack / The flower that's like thy face, pale primrose, nor / The azured harebell, like thy veins. [IV. ii. 220]

24 Thersites' body is as good as Ajax' / When neither are alive. [IV. ii. 252]

25 Fear no more the heat o' the sun, / Nor the furious winter's rages; / Thou thy worldly task hast done, / Home art gone and ta'en thy wages: / Golden lads and girls all must, / As chimney-sweepers, come to dust.

Fear no more the frown o' the great, / Thou art past the tyrant's stroke. / Care no more to clothe and eat; / To thee the reed is as the oak: / The sceptre, learning, physic must. / All follow this, and come to dust. [IV. ii. 258]

26 O! the charity of a penny cord. [V. iv. (169)]

27 He that sleeps feels not the toothache. [V. iv. (176)]

28 Hang there like fruit, my soul, / Till the tree die! [V. v. 264]

Hamlet

29 For this relief much thanks, 'tis bitter cold, / And I am sick at heart. [I. i. 8]

30 Not a mouse stirring. [I. i. 10]

31 But in the gross and scope of my opinion, / This bodes some strange eruption to our state. [I. i. 68]

32 Whose sore task / Does not divide the Sunday from the week. [I. i. 75]

33 This sweaty haste / Doth make the night joint-labourer with the day. [I. i. 77]

34 In the most high and palmy state of Rome / A little ere the mightiest Julius fell, / The graves stood tenantless and the sheeted dead / Did squeak and gibber in the Roman streets. [I. i. 113]

35 The moist star / Upon whose influence Neptune's empire stands / Was sick almost to doomsday with eclipse. [I. i. 118]

1 Then it started like a guilty thing / Upon a fearful summons. [I. i. 148]

2 But look, the morn, in russet mantle clad, / Walks o'er the dew of yon high eastern hill. [I. i. 166]

3 The memory be green. [I. ii. 2]

4 With one auspicious and one dropping eye, / With mirth in funeral and with dirge in marriage, / In equal scale weighing delight and dole. [I. ii. 11]

5 The head is not more native to the heart. [I. ii. 47]

6 A little more than kin, and less than kind. [I. ii. 65]

7 Not so, my lord; I am too much i' the sun. [I. ii. 67]

8 All that live must die, / Passing through nature to eternity. [I. ii. 72]

9 Seems, madam! Nay, it is; I know not 'seems'. / 'Tis not alone my inky cloak, good mother, / Nor customary suits of solemn black. [I. ii. 76]

10 But I have that within which passeth show; / These but the trappings and the suits of woe. [I. ii. 85]

11 O! that this too too solid flesh would melt, / Thaw, and resolve itself into a dew; / Or that the Everlasting had not fixed / His canon 'gainst self-slaughter! O God! O God! / How weary, stale, flat, and unprofitable / Seem to me all the uses of this world. / Fie on't! O fie! 'tis an unweeded garden, / That grows to seed; things rank and gross in nature / Possess it merely. [I. ii. 129]

12 So excellent a king; that was, to this, / Hyperion to a satyr: so loving to my mother, / That he might not beteem the winds of heaven / Visit her face too roughly. [I. ii. 139]

13 Why, she would hang on him, / As if increase of appetite had grown / By what it fed on. [I. ii. 143]

14 Frailty, thy name is woman! [I. ii. 146]

15 Like Niobe, all tears. [I. ii. 149]

16 A beast that wants discourse of reason. [I. ii. 150]

17 It is not nor it cannot come to good. [I. ii. 158]

18 A truant disposition, good my lord. [I. ii. 169]

19 Thrift, thrift, Horatio! the funeral baked meats / Did coldly furnish forth the marriage tables. [I. ii. 180]

20 In my mind's eye, Horatio. [I. ii. 185]

21 He was a man, take him for all in all, / I shall not look upon his like again. [I. ii. 187]

22 Season your admiration for a while. [I. ii. 192]

23 In the dead vast and middle of the night. [I. ii. 198]

24 Armed at points exactly, cap-a-pe. [I. ii. 200]

25 A countenance more in sorrow than in anger. [I. ii. 231]

26 HAMLET: His beard was grizzled, no? HORATIO: It was, as I have seen it in his life, / A sable silvered. [I. ii. 239]

27 Give it an understanding but no tongue. [I. ii. 249]

28 All is not well; / I doubt some foul play. [I. ii. 254]

29 But you must fear, / His greatness weighed, his will is not his own, / For he himself is subject to his birth. [I. iii. 16]

30 The chariest maid is prodigal enough / If she unmask her beauty to the moon. [I. iii. 36]

31 Do not, as some ungracious pastors do, / Show me the steep and thorny way to heaven, / Whiles, like a puffed and reckless libertine, / Himself the primrose path of dalliance treads, / And recks not his own rede. [I. iii. 47]

32 Give thy thoughts no tongue, / Nor any unproportioned thought his act. / Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar. / Those friends thou hast, and their adoption tried, / Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel. [I. iii. 59]

33 Beware / Of entrance to a quarrel, but, being in, / Bear 't that the opposed may beware of thee, / Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice; / Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgement. / Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy, / But not expressed in fancy; rich, not gaudy; / For the apparel oft proclaims the man. [I. iii. 65]

bandry. / This above all: to thine own self be true, / And it must follow, as the night the day, / Thou canst not then be false to any man. [I. iii. 75]

1 You speak like a green girl, / Unsifted in such perilous circumstance. [I. iii. 101]

2 Ay springes to catch woodcocks. [I. iii. 115]

3 Be somewhat scanter of your maiden presence. [I. iii. 121]

4 HAMLET: The air bites shrewdly; it is very cold.
HORATIO: It is a nipping and an eager air. [I. iv. 1]

5 But to my mind, – though I am native here, / And to the manner born, – it is a custom / More honoured in the breach than the observance. [I. iv. 14]

6 Angels and ministers of grace defend us! / Be thou a spirit of health or goblin damned, / Bring with thee airs from heaven or blasts from hell, / Be thy intents wicked or charitable, / Thou com'st in such a questionable shape / That I will speak to thee. [I. iv. 39]

7 Hath oped his ponderous and marble jaws. [I. iv. 50]

8 What may this mean, / That thou, dead corse, again in complete steel, / Revisit'st thus the glimpses of the moon, / Making night hideous? [I. iv. 51]

9 I do not set my life at a pin's fee; / And for my soul, what can it do to that, / Being a thing immortal as itself? [I. iv. 65]

10 Unhand me, gentlemen, / By heaven! I'll make a ghost of him that lets me. [I. iv. 84]

11 Something is rotten in the state of Denmark. [I. iv. 90]

12 But that I am forbid / To tell the secrets of my prison-house, / I could a tale unfold whose lightest word / Would harrow up thy soul, freeze thy young blood, / Make thy two eyes, like stars, start from their spheres, / Thy knotted and combinèd locks to part, / And each particular hair to stand on end, / Like quills upon the fretful porpentine: / But this eternal blazon must not be / To ears of flesh and blood. [I. v. 13]

13 Murder most foul, as in the best it is; / But this most foul, strange, and unnatural. [I. v. 27]

14 With wings as swift / As meditation or the thoughts of love. [I. v. 29]

15 And duller shouldst thou be than the fat weed / That rots itself in ease on Lethe wharf. [I. v. 32]

16 O my prophetic soul! / My uncle! [I. v. 40]

17 What a falling-off was there. [I. v. 47]

18 But, soft! methinks I scent the morning air. [I. v. 58]

19 In the porches of mine ears. [I. v. 63]

20 Cut off even in the blossoms of my sin, / Unhouseled, disappointed, unaneled, / No reckoning made, but sent to my account / With all my imperfections on my head. [I. v. 76]

21 Leave her to heaven / And to those thorns that in her bosom lodge, / To prick and sting her. [I. v. 86]

22 The glow-worm shows the matin to be near, / And 'gins to pale his uneffectual fire. [I. v. 89]

23 While memory holds a seat / In this distracted globe. Remember thee! / Yea from the table of my memory / I'll wipe away all trivial fond records. [I. v. 96]

24 O villain, villain, smiling, damnèd villain! / My tables, – meet it is I set it down, / That one may smile, and smile, and be a villain, / At least I'm sure it may be so in Denmark. [I. v. 106]

25 There's ne'er a villain dwelling in all Denmark, / But he's an arrant knave. [I. v. 123]

26 These are but wild and whirling words. [I. v. 133]

27 There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, / Than are dreamt of in your philosophy. [I. v. 166]

28 To put an antic disposition on. [I. v. 172]

29 Rest, rest, perturbèd spirit! [I. v. 182]

30 The time is out of joint; O cursèd spite, / That ever I was born to set it right! [I. v. 188]

31 By indirections find directions out. [II. i. 66]

32 Brevity is the soul of wit. [II. ii. 90]

33 For, to define true madness, / What is't but to be nothing else but mad. [II. ii. 93]

10 There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so. [II. ii. (259)]

11 I could be bounded in a nutshell, and count myself a king of infinite space, were it not that I have bad dreams. [II. ii. (264)]

12 Beggar that I am, I am even poor in thanks. [II. ii. (286)]

13 It goes so heavily with my disposition that this goodly frame, the earth, seems to me a sterile promontory; this most excellent canopy, the air, look you, this brave o'erhanging firmament, this majestic roof fretted with golden fire, why, it appears no other thing to me but a foul and pestilent congregation of vapours! What a piece of work is a man! How noble in reason! how infinite in faculty! in form, in moving, how express and admirable! in action how like an angel! in apprehension how like a god! the beauty of the world! the paragon of animals! And yet, to me, what is this quintessence of dust? man delights not me; no, nor woman neither. [II. ii. (316)]

23 O! what a rogue and peasant slave am I: Is it not monstrous that this player here, / But in a fiction, in a dream of passion, / Could force his soul so to his own conceit. [II. ii. (584)]

24 What's Hecuba to him or he to Hecuba / That he should weep for her? [II. ii. (593)]

25 A dull and muddy-metalled rascal. [II. ii. (602)]

26 I should have fatted all the region kites / With this slave's offal. Bloody, bawdy villain! / Remorseless, treacherous lecherous, kindless villain! [II. ii. (615)]

27 The play's the thing / Wherein I'll catch the conscience of the king. [II. ii. (641)]

28 With devotion's visage / And pious action we do sugar o'er / The devil himself. [III. i. 47]

29 To be or not to be: that is the question: / Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer / The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune, / Or to take arms against a sea of troubles, / And by opposing end them? To die: to sleep; / No more; and by a sleep to say we end / The heart-ache and the thousand natural shocks / That flesh is heir to, 'tis a consummation / Devoutly to be wished. To die, to sleep; / To sleep: perchance to dream: ay there's the rub. / For in that sleep of death what dreams may come / When we have shuffled off this mortal coil, / Must give us pause. There's the respect / That makes calamity of so long life; / For who would bear the whips and scorns of time, / The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely, / The pangs of disprized love, the law's delay, / The insolence of office, and the spurns / That patient merit of the unworthy takes, / When he himself might his quietus make / With a bare bodkin? who would fardels bear, / To grunt and sweat under a weary life, / But that the dread of something after death, / The undiscovered country from whose bourn / No traveller returns, puzzles the will, / And makes us rather bear those ills we have / Than fly to others that we know not of? / Thus conscience does make cowards of us all; / And thus the native hue of resolution / Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought, / And enterprises of great pith and moment / With this regard their currents turn awry, / And lose the name of action. [III. i. 56]

1 Nymph, in thy orisons / Be all my sins remembered. [III. i. 89]

5 I have heard of your paintings too, well enough. God hath given you one face, and you make yourselves another. [III. i. (150)]

6 I say, we will have no more marriages. [III. i. (156)]

7 O, what a noble mind is here o'erthrown: / The courtier's, soldier's, scholar's eye, tongue, sword; / The expectancy and rose of the fair state, / The glass of fashion, and the mould of form, / The observed of all observers quite, quite down! [III. i. (159)]

8 That noble and most sovereign reason, / Like sweet bells jangled, out of tune and harsh; / That unmatched form and figure of blown youth / Blasted with ecstasy. [III. i. (166)]

9 Speak the speech, I pray you, as I pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue; but if you mouth it as many of your players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines. Nor do not saw the air too much with your hand, thus; but use all gently. [III. ii. 1]

12 Suit the action to the word, the word to the action; with this special observance, that you o'erstep not the modesty of nature. [III. ii. (20)]

13 The purpose of playing, whose end, both at the first and now, was and is, to hold, as 'twere, the mirror up to nature. [III. ii. (24)]

14 I have thought some of nature's journeymen had made men, and not made them well, they imitated humanity so abominably. [III. ii. (38)]

15 A man that fortune's buffets and rewards / Hast ta'en with equal thanks; and blessed are those / Whose blood and judgement are so well co-mingled / That they are not a pipe for fortune's finger / To sound what stop she please. [III. ii. (72)]

16 Give me that man / That is not passion's slave, and I will wear him / In my heart's core, ay, in my heart of heart, / As I do thee. [III. ii. (76)]

17 My imaginations are as foul / As Vulcan's stithy. [III. ii. (88)]

11 As false as dicers' oaths. [III. iv. 45]

12 Look here upon this picture, and on this; / The counterfeit presentment of two brothers. / See what a grace was seated on this brow; / Hyperion's curls; the front of Jove himself, / An eye like Mars, to threaten and command, / A station like the herald Mercury / New-lighted on a heaven-kissing hill, / A combination and a form indeed, / Where every god did seem to set his seal, To give the world assurance of a man. [III. iv. 53]

13 Could you on this fair mountain leave to feed, / And batten on this moor? [III. iv. 66]

14 You cannot call it love; for at your age / The hey-day in the blood is tame, it's humble, / And waits upon the judgement. [III. iv. 68]

15 A cut-purse of the empire and the rule, / That from a shelf the precious diadem stole, / And put it in his pocket! [III. iv. 99]

7 In those holy fields / Over whose acres walked those blessed feet / Which fourteen hundred years ago were nailed / For our advantage on the bitter cross. [I. i. 24]

8 Let us be Diana's foresters, gentlemen of the shade, minions of the moon. [I. ii. (28)]

9 FALSTAFF: And is not my hostess of the tavern a most sweet wench?
PRINCE: As the honey of Hybla, my old lad of the castle. [I. ii. (44)]

10 What, in thy quips and thy quiddities? [I. ii. (50)]

11 Old father antick the law. [I. ii. (69)]

12 O! thou hast damnable iteration, and art indeed able to corrupt a saint. [I. ii. (101)]

13 Now am I, if a man should speak truly, little better than one of the wicked. [I. ii. (105)]

14 'Tis my vocation, Hal; 'tis no sin for a man to labour in his vocation. [I. ii. (116)]

15 There's neither honesty, manhood, nor good fellowship in thee. [I. ii. (154)]

16 Farewell, thou latter spring! Farewell, All-hallown summer! [I. ii. (176)]

17 I know you all, and will awhile uphold / The unyoked humour of your idleness. [I. ii. (217)]

18 If all the year were playing holidays, / To sport would be as tedious as to work. [I. ii. (226)]

19 A certain lord, neat, and trimly dressed, / Fresh as a bridegroom; and his chin new-reaped, / Showed like a stubble-land at harvest-home. / He was perfumèd like a milliner, / And 'twixt his finger and his thumb he held / A pouncet-box, which ever and anon / He gave his nose and took't away again. [I. iii. 33]

20 And as the soldiers bore dead bodies by, / He called them untaught knaves, unmannerly, / To bring a slovenly unhandsome corpse / Betwixt the wind and his nobility. [I. iii. 42]

21 He made me mad / To see him shine so brisk and smell so sweet / And talk so like a waiting-gentlewoman / Of guns, and drums, and wounds, – God save the mark! – / And telling me the sovereign'st thing on earth / Was parmaceti for an inward bruise; / And that it was great pity, so it was, / This villainous salt-petre should be digged / Out of the bowels of the harmless earth, / Which many a good tall fellow had destroyed / So cowardly; and but for these vile guns, / He would himself have beèn a soldier. [I. iii. 53]

22 O! the blood more stirs / To rouse a lion than to start a hare. [I. iii. 197]

23 By heaven methinks it were an easy leap / To pluck bright honour from the pale-faced moon, / Or dive into the bottom of the deep, / Where fathom-line could never touch the ground, / And pluck up drownèd honour by the locks. [I. iii. 201]

24 Why what a candy deal of courtesy / This fawning greyhound then did proffer me! [I. iii. 251]

25 I know a trick worth two of that. [II. i. (40)]

1 Honour pricks me on. Yea, but how if honour prick me off when I come on? – how then? Can honour set-to a leg? No. Or an arm? No. Or take away the grief of a wound? No. Honour hath no skill in surgery, then? No. What is honour? A word. What is that word, honour? Air. A trim reckoning! Who hath it? He that died o' Wednesday. Doth he feel it? No. Doth he hear it? No. It is insensible then? Yea, to the dead. But will it not live with the living? No. Why? Detraction will not suffer it. Therefore I'll none of it: honour is a mere scutcheon: and so ends my catechism. [V. i. (131)]

24 When he speaks, / The air, a chartered libertine, is still. [I. i. 47]

25 And make your chronicle as rich with praise / As is the ooze and bottom of the sea / With sunken wreck and sumless treasuries. [I. ii. 163]

26 For so work the honey-bees, / Creatures that by a rule in nature teach / The act of order to a peopled kingdom. / They have a king and officers of sorts; / Where some, like magistrates, correct at home, / Others, like merchants, venture trade abroad, / Others, like soldiers, armèd in their stings, / Make boot upon the summer's velvet buds; / Which pillage they with merry march bring home / To the tent-royal of their emperor: / Who, busied in his majesty, surveys / The singing masons building roofs of gold, / The civil citizens kneading up the honey, / The poor mechanic porters crowding in / Their heavy burdens at his narrow gate, / The sad-eyed justice, with his surly hum, / Delivering o'er to executors pale / The lazy yawning drone. [I. ii. 187]

27 HENRY: What treasure, uncle?
EXETER: Tennis-balls, my liege. [I. ii. 258]

28 Now all the youth of England are on fire, / And silken dalliance in the wardrobe lies; / Now thrive the armourers, and honour's thought / Reigns solely in the breast of every man: / They sell the pasture now to buy the horse, / Following the mirror of all Christian kings, /

With wingèd heels, as English Mercuries. / For now sits Expectation in the air. [II, Chorus, 1]

1 I dare not fight; but I will wink and hold out mine iron. [II. i. (7)]

2 Though patience be a tired mare, yet she will plod. [II. i. (25)]

3 Base is the slave that pays. [II. i. (100)]

4 He's in Arthur's bosom, if ever man went to Arthur's bosom. [II. iii. (9)]

5 Even at the turning o' the tide. [II. iii. (13)]

6 His nose was as sharp as a pen, and a' babbled of green fields. [II. iii. (17)]

7 Now I, to comfort him, bid him a' should not think of God, I hoped there was no need to trouble himself with any such thoughts yet. [II. iii. (20)]

8 As cold as any stone. [II. iii. (25)]

9 Trust none; / For oaths are straws, men's faiths are wafer-cakes, / And hold-fast is the only dog, my duck. [II. iii. (53)]

10 Once more unto the breach, dear friends, once more; / Or close the wall up with our English dead. / In peace there's nothing so becomes a man / As modest stillness and humility: / But when the blast of war blows in our ears, / Then imitate the action of the tiger; / Stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood, / Disguise fair nature with hard-favoured rage. [III. i. 1]

11 On, on, you noblest English, / Whose blood is fet from fathers of war-proof! / Fathers that, like so many Alexanders, / Have in these parts from morn till even fought, / And sheathed their swords for lack of argument. [III. i. 17]

12 And you, good yeomen, / Whose limbs were made in England, show us here / The mettle of your pasture. [III. i. 25]

13 I see you stand like greyhounds in the slips, / Straining upon the start. The game's afoot: / Follow your spirit; and, upon this charge / Cry 'God for Harry! England and Saint George!' [III. i. 31]

14 Men of few words are the best men. [III. ii. (40)]

15 I know the disciplines of wars. [III. ii. (156)]

16 Now entertain conjecture of a time / When creeping murmur and the poring dark / Fills the wide vessel of the universe. / From camp to camp, through the foul womb of night, / The hum of either army stilly sounds. [IV, Chorus, 1]

17 How can they charitably dispose of anything when blood is their argument? [IV. i. (150)]

18 Every subject's duty is the king's; but every subject's soul is his own. [IV. i. (189)]

19 And what have kings that privates have not too, / Save ceremony, save general ceremony? [IV. i. (258)]

20 Sleep so soundly as the wretched slave / Who with a body filled and vacant mind / Gets him to rest, crammed with distressful bread. [IV. i. (288)]

21 O! that we now had here / But one ten thousand of those men in England / That do no work today. [IV. iii. 16]

22 If we are marked to die, we are enow / To do our country loss; and if to live, / The fewer men, the greater share of honour. [IV. iii. 20]

23 But if it be a sin to covet honour, / I am the most offending soul alive. [IV. iii. 28]

24 This day is called the feast of Crispian. / He that outlives this day, and comes safe home, / Will stand a tip-toe when this day is named, / And rouse him at the name of Crispian. [IV. iii. 40]

25 Old men forget: yet all shall be forgot, / But he'll remember with advantages / What feats he did that day. Then shall our names, / Familiar in his mouth as household words / Harry the King, Bedford and Exeter, / Warwick and Talbot, Salisbury and Gloucester, / Be in their flowing cups freshly remembered. [IV. iii. 49]

26 We few, we happy few, we band of brothers; / For he today that sheds his blood with me / Shall be my brother; be he ne'er so vile / This day shall gentle his condition: / And gentlemen in England now a-bed / Shall think themselves accursed they were not here, / And hold their manhoods cheap whiles any speaks / That fought with us upon Saint Crispin's day. [IV. iii. 60]

27 Kill the poys and the luggage! [IV. vii. 1]

28 But now behold, / In the quick forge and working-house of thought. [V, Chorus, 22]

1 There is occasions and causes why and wherefore in all things. [V. i. (3)]

2 By this leek, I will most horribly revenge. I eat and eat, I swear. [V. i. (49)]

3 For these fellows of infinite tongue, that can rhyme themselves into ladies' favours, they do always reason themselves out again. [V. ii. (162)]

4 Nice customs curtsey to great kings. [V. ii. (291)]

Henry VI, Pt 1

5 Hung be the heavens with black, yield day to night! [I. i. 1]

6 Unbidden guests / Are often welcomest when they are gone. [II. ii. 55]

7 Delays have dangerous ends. [III. ii. 33]

8 I owe him little duty and less love. [IV. iv. 34]

9 She's beautiful and therefore to be wooed; / She is a woman, therefore to be won. [V. iii. 78]

Henry VI, Pt 2

10 Could I come near your beauty with my nails / I'd set my ten commandments in your face. [I. iii. (144)]

11 Smooth runs the water where the brook is deep. [III. i. 53]

12 What stronger breastplate than a heart untainted! / Thrice is he armed that hath his quarrel just, / And he but naked, though locked up in steel, / Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted. [III. ii. 232]

13 I will make it felony to drink small beer. [IV. ii. (76)]

14 The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers. [IV. ii. (86)]

15 Away with him! away with him! he speaks Latin. [IV. vii. (62)]

Henry VI, Pt 3

16 O tiger's heart wrapped in a woman's hide! [I. iv. 137]

17 O God! methinks it were a happy life, / To be no better than a homely swain; / To sit upon a hill, as I do now, / To carve out dials, quaintly, point by point, / Thereby to see the minutes how they run, / How many make the hour full complete; / How many hours bring about the day; / How many days will finish up the year; / How many years a mortal man may live. [II. v. 21]

18 Gives not the hawthorn bush a sweeter shade / To shepherds, looking on their silly sheep, / Than doth a rich embroidered canopy / To kings that fear their subjects' treachery? [II. v. 42]

19 Warwick, peace; / Proud setter up and puller down of kings. [III. iii. 156]

20 A little fire is quickly trodden out, / Which being suffered, rivers cannot quench. [IV. viii. 7]

21 Down, down to hell; and say I sent thee thither. [V. vi. 67]

Henry VIII

22 Heat not a furnace for your foe so hot / That it do singe yourself. [I. i. 140]

23 If I chance to talk a little wild, forgive me; / I had it from my father. [I. iv. 26]

24 The mirror of all courtesy. [II. i. 53]

25 This bold bad man. [II. ii. (44)]

26 I swear 'tis better to be lowly born, / And range with humble livers in content, / Than to be perked up in a glistering grief, / And wear a golden sorrow. [II. iii. 19]

27 I would not be a queen / For all the world. [II. iii. 45]

28 Orpheus with his lute made trees, / And the mountain tops that freeze, / Bow themselves when he did sing. [III. i. 3]

29 In all you writ to Rome, or else / To foreign princes, 'Ego et Rex meus' / Was still inscribed. [III. i. 314]

30 I have touched the highest point of all my greatness; / And from that full meridian of my glory, / I haste now to my setting: I shall fall / Like a bright exhalation in the evening, / And no man see me more. [III. ii. 224]

31 Farewell! a long farewell, to all my greatness! / This is the state of man: today he puts forth / The tender leaves of hope; tomorrow blossoms, / And bears his blushing honours thick upon him; / The third day comes a frost, a killing frost. / And when he thinks, good easy man, full surely / His greatness is a-ripening, nips his root, / And then he falls, as I do. I have ventured, / Like little wanton boys that swim on bladders, / This many summers in a sea of glory, / But far beyond my depth. [III. ii. 351]

1 Vain pomp and glory of this world, I hate ye: / I feel my heart new opened. O! how wretched / Is that poor man that hangs on princes' favours! / There is, betwixt that smile we would aspire to, / That sweet aspect of princes, and their ruin, / More pangs and fears than wars or women have; / And when he falls, he falls like Lucifer, / Never to hope again. [III. ii. 365]

2 A peace above all earthly dignities, / A still and quiet conscience. [III. ii. 380]

3 Cromwell, I charge thee, fling away ambition: / By that sin fell the angels. [III. ii. 441]

4 Love thyself last: cherish those hearts that hate thee; / Corruption wins not more than honesty. / Still in thy right hand carry gentle peace, / To silence envious tongues: be just, and fear not. / Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's, / Thy God's and truth's. [III. ii. 444]

5 Had I but served my God with half the zeal / I served my king, he would not in mine age / Have left me naked to mine enemies. [III. ii. 456]

6 An old man, broken with the storms of state, / Is come to lay his weary bones among ye; / Give him a little earth for charity. [IV. ii. 21]

7 He gave his honours to the world again, / His blessed part to heaven, and slept in peace. [IV. ii. 29]

8 So may he rest; his faults lie gently on him! [IV. ii. 31]

9 He was a man / Of an unbounded stomach. [IV. ii. 33]

10 Men's evil manners live in brass; their virtues / We write in water. [IV. ii. 45]

11 He was a scholar, and a ripe and good one; / Exceeding wise, fair-spoken and persuading: / Lofty and sour to them that loved him not; / But to those men that sought him sweet as summer. [IV. ii. 51]

12 Those twins of learning that he raised in you, / Ipswich, and Oxford! [IV. ii. 58]

13 To dance attendance on their lordships' pleasures. [V. ii. 30]

14 Nor shall this peace sleep with her; but as when / The bird of wonder dies, the maiden phoenix, / Her ashes new-create another heir / As great in admiration as herself. [V. v. 40]

15 Some come to take their ease / And sleep an act or two. [Epilogue]

Julius Caesar

16 All that I live by is with the awl . . . I am, indeed, sir, a surgeon to old shoes. [I. i. (23)]

17 As proper men as ever trod upon neat's-leather. [I. i. (27)]

18 You blocks, you stones, you worse than senseless things! [I. i. (39)]

19 Beware the ides of March. [I. ii. 18]

20 Well, honour is the subject of my story. / I cannot tell what you and other men / Think of this life: but, for my single self, / I had as lief not be as live to be / In awe of such a thing as I myself. [I. ii. 92]

21 And this man / Is now become a god. [I. ii. 115]

22 Ye gods, it doth amaze me, / A man of such a feeble temper should / So get the start of the majestic world, / And bear the palm alone. [I. ii. 128]

23 Why, man, he doth bestride the narrow world / Like a Colossus; and we petty men / Walk under his huge legs, and peep about / To find ourselves dishonourable graves. / Men at some time are masters of their fates; / The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, / But in ourselves, that we are underlings. [I. ii. 134]

24 Upon what meat doth this our Caesar feed, / That he is grown so great? [I. ii. 148]

25 Let me have men about me that are fat; / Sleek-headed men and such as sleep o' nights; / Yond Cassius has a lean and hungry look; / He thinks too much: such men are dangerous. [I. ii. 191]

26 He reads much; / He is a great observer, and he looks / Quite through the deeds of men. [I. ii. 200]

27 Seldom he smiles, and smiles in such a sort / As if he mocked himself, and scorned his spirit, / That could be moved to smile at anything. [I. ii. 204]

28 'Tis very like: he hath the falling sickness. [I. ii. (255)]

1 For my own part, it was Greek to me. [I. ii. (288)]

2 Yesterday the bird of night did sit. / Even at noon-day, upon the market-place, / Hooting and shrieking. [I. iii. 26]

3 So every bondman in his own hand bears / The power to cancel his captivity. [I. iii. 101]

4 It is the bright day that brings forth the adder; / And that craves wary walking. [II. i. 14]

5 That lowliness is young ambition's ladder, / Whereto the climber-upward turns his face; / But when he once attains the upmost round, / He then unto the ladder turns his back, / Looks in the clouds, scorning the base degrees / By which he did ascend. [II. i. 22]

6 Between the acting of a dreadful thing / And the first motion, all the interim is / Like a phantasma or a hideous dream: / The genius and the mortal instruments / Are then in council; and the state of man, / Like to a little kingdom, suffers then / The nature of an insurrection. [II. i. 63]

7 For he will never follow anything / That other men begin. [II. i. 151]

8 Let us be sacrificers, but not butchers. [II. i. 166]

9 Let's carve him as a dish fit for the gods. [II. i. 173]

10 But when I tell him he hates flatterers, / He says he does, being then most flattered. [II. i. 207]

11 Dwell I but in the suburbs / Of your good pleasure? If it be no more, / Portia is Brutus' harlot, not his wife. [II. i. 285]

12 A lioness hath whelped in the streets; / And graves have yawned and yielded up their dead. [II. ii. 17]

13 When beggars die, there are no comets seen; / The heavens themselves blaze forth the death of princes. [II. ii. 30]

14 Cowards die many times before their deaths; / The valiant never taste of death but once. [II. ii. 32]

15 How hard it is for women to keep counsel! [II. iv. 9]

16 But I am constant as the northern star, / Of whose true fixed and resting quality / There is no fellow in the firmament. [III. i. 60]

17 Et tu, Brute! [III. i. 77]

18 Why he that cuts off twenty years of life / Cuts off so many years of fearing death. [III. i. 101]

19 How many ages hence / Shall this our lofty scene be acted o'er / In states unborn and accents yet unknown! [III. i. 111]

20 O mighty Caesar! dost thou lie so low? / Are all thy conquests, glories, triumphs, spoils, / Shrunk to this little measure? [III. i. 148]

21 The choice and master spirits of this age. [III. i. 163]

22 Though last, not least in love. [III. i. 189]

23 O! pardon me, thou bleeding piece of earth, / That I am meek and gentle with these butchers; / Thou art the ruins of the noblest man / That ever lived in the tide of times. [III. i. 254]

24 Cry 'Havoc!' and let slip the dogs of war. [III. i. 273]

25 As Caesar loved me, I weep for him; as he was fortunate, I rejoice at it; as he was valiant, I honour him; but as he was ambitious, I slew him. . . . Who is there so base that would be a bondman? If any, speak; for him have I offended. [III. ii. (26)]

26 Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears; / I come to bury Caesar, not to praise him. / The evil that men do lives after them, / The good is oft interred with their bones. [III. ii. (79)]

27 For Brutus is an honourable man; / So are they all, all honourable men. [III. ii. (88)]

28 Ambition should be made of sterner stuff. [III. ii. (98)]

29 O judgment! thou art fled to brutish beasts, / And men have lost their reason. [III. ii. (110)]

30 But yesterday the word of Caesar might / Have stood against the world; now lies he there, / And none so poor to do him reverence. [III. ii. (124)]

31 If you have tears, prepare to shed them now. [III. ii. (174)]

32 See what a rent the envious Casca made. [III. ii. (180)]

33 This was the most unkindest cut of all. [III. ii. (188)]

1 O! what a fall was there, my countrymen; / Then I, and you, and all of us fell down, / Whilst bloody treason flourished over us. [III. ii. (195)]

2 I come not, friends, to steal away your hearts. / I am no orator, as Brutus is; / But, as you know me all, a plain, blunt man, / That love my friend. [III. ii. (220)]

3 Put a tongue / In every wound of Caesar, that should move / The stones of Rome to rise and mutiny. [III. ii. (232)]

4 He shall not live; look, with a spot I damn him. [IV. i. 6]

5 When love begins to sicken and decay, / It useth an enforcèd ceremony! / There are no tricks in plain and simple faith. [IV. ii. 20]

6 You yourself / Are much condemned to have an itching palm. [IV. iii. 9]

7 I had rather be a dog and bay the moon, / Than such a Roman. [IV. iii. 27]

8 Away, slight man! [IV. iii. 37]

9 There is no terror, Cassius, in your threats; / For I am armed so strong in honesty / That they pass by me as the idle wind, / Which I respect not. [IV. iii. 66]

10 A friend should bear his friend's infirmities, / But Brutus makes mine greater than they are. [IV. iii. 85]

11 All his faults observed, / Set in a note-book, learned, and conned by rote, / To cast into my teeth. [IV. iii. 96]

12 There is a tide in the affairs of men, / Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; / Omitted, all the voyage of their life / Is bound in shallows and in miseries. [IV. iii. 217]

13 Never come such division 'tween our souls! [IV. iii. 234]

14 For ever, and for ever, farewell, Cassius! / If we do meet again, why we shall smile! / If not, why then, this parting was well made. [V. i. 117]

15 O! that a man might know / The end of this day's business ere it come. [V. i. 123]

16 O! Julius Caesar! thou art mighty yet! / Thy spirit walks abroad and turns our swords / In our own proper entrails. [V. iii. 94]

17 The last of all the Romans, fare thee well! [V. iii. 99]

18 Caesar, now be still; / I killed not thee with half so good a will. [V. v. 50]

19 This was the noblest Roman of them all. / All the conspirators save only he / Did that they did in envy of great Caesar. [V. v. 68]

20 His life was gentle, and the elements / So mixed in him that Nature might stand up, / And say to all the world, 'This was a man!' [V. v. 73]

24 Saint George, that swinged the dragon, and e'er since / Sits on his horse back at mine hostess' door. [II. i. 288]

25 Zounds! I was never so bethumped with words / Since I first called my brother's father dad. [II. i. 466]

26 Mad world! mad kings! mad composition! [II. i. 561]

27 That smooth-faced gentleman, tickling Commodity, / Commodity, the bias of the world. [II. i. 573]

28 Well, whiles I am a beggar, I will rail, / And say there is no sin but to be rich; / And, being rich, my virtue then shall be / To say there is no vice but beggary. [II. i. 593]

29 Here I and sorrows sit; / Here is my throne, bid kings come bow to it. [III. i. 73]

30 Thou wear a lion's hide! doff it for shame, / And hang a calf's-skin on those recreant limbs! [III. i. 128]

31 Bell, book and candle shall not drive me back / When gold and silver becks me to come on. [III. iii. 12]

32 Grief fills the room up of my absent child, / Lies in his bed, walks up and down with me, / Puts on his pretty looks, repeats his words, / Remembers me of all his gracious parts, / Stuffs out his vacant garments with his form. [III. iv. 93]

1 Life is as tedious as a twice-told tale, / Vexing the dull ear of a drowsy man. [III. iv. 108]

2 When Fortune means to men most good, / She looks upon them with a threatening eye. [III. iv. 119]

3 Heat me these irons hot. [IV. i. 1]

4 To gild refinèd gold, to paint the lily, / To throw a perfume on the violet, / To smooth the ice, or add another hue / Unto the rainbow, or with taper-light / To seek the beauteous eye of heaven to garnish, / Is wasteful and ridiculous excess. [IV. ii. 11]

12 Nothing will come of nothing: speak again. [I. i. (92)]

13 LEAR: So young and so untender?
CORDELIA: So young, my lord, and true. [I. i. (108)]

14 A still-soliciting eye. [I. i. (234)]

15 Why brand they us / With base? with baseness? bastardy? base, base? / . . . Edmund the base / Shall top the legitimate: – I grow, I prosper; / Now, gods stand up for bastards! [I. ii. 9 and 20]

16 These late eclipses in the sun and moon portend no good to us. [I. ii. (115)]

17 This is the excellent foppery of the world . . . we make guilty of our disasters the sun, the moon and the stars, as if we were villains by necessity, fools by heavenly compulsion, knaves, thieves and treachers by spherical predominance, drunkards, liars and adulterers by an enforced obedience of planetary influence. 20 How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is / To have a thankless child! [I. iv. (312)]

21 Striving to better, oft we mar what's well. [I. iv. (370)]

22 O! Let me not be mad, not mad, sweet heaven; / Keep me in temper; I would not be mad. [I. v. (51)]

10 The prince of darkness is a gentleman. [III. iv. (148)]

11 Poor Tom's a-cold. [III. iv. (151)]

12 Child Rowland to the dark tower came, / His word was still, Fie, foh, and fum, / I smell the blood of a British man. [III. iv. (185)]

13 I am tied to the stake, and I must stand the course. [III. vii. (54)]

14 Out, vile jelly! / Where is thy lustre now? [III. vii. (83)]

15 The lowest and most dejected thing of fortune. [IV. i. 3]

16 The worst is not; / So long as we can say, 'This is the worst.' [IV. i. 27]

17 As flies to wanton boys, are we to the gods; / They kill us for their sport. [IV. i. 36]

18 Wisdom and goodness to the vile seem vile; / Filths savour but themselves. [IV. ii. 38]

19 It is the stars, / The stars above us, govern our conditions. [IV. iii. 34]

20 How fearful / And dizzy 'tis to cast one's eyes so low! / The crows and choughs that wing the midway air / Show scarce so gross as beetles; half-way down / Hangs one that gathers samphire, dreadful trade! / Methinks he seems no bigger than his head. / The fishermen that walk upon the beach / Appear like mice, and yon tall anchoring bark / Diminished to her cock, her cock a buoy / Almost too small for sight. The murmuring surge / That on the unnumbered idle pebbles chafes, / Cannot be heard so high. [IV. vi. 12]

21 Nature's above art in that respect. [IV. vi. (87)]

22 Ay, every inch a king. [IV. vi. (110)]

23 The wren goes to 't, and the small gilded fly / Does lecher in my sight. / Let copulation thrive. [IV. vi. (115)]

24 Give me an ounce of civet, good apothecary, to sweeten my imagination. [IV. vi. (133)]

25 GLOUC.: O! Let me kiss that hand!
LEAR: Let me wipe it first, it smells of mortality. [IV. vi. (136)]

26 See how yond justice rails upon yond simple thief. Hark in thine ear: change places; and handy-dandy, which is the justice, which is the thief? [IV. vi. (156)]

27 Through tattered clothes small vices do appear; / Robes and furred gowns hide all. [IV. vi. (169)]

28 Get thee glass eyes; / And, like a scurvy politician, seem / To see the things thou dost not. [IV. vi. (175)]

29 When we are born, we cry that we are come / To this great stage of fools. [IV. vi. (187)]

30 Mine enemy's dog, / Though he had bit me, should have stood that night / Against my fire. [IV. vii. 36]

31 Thou art a soul in bliss; but I am bound / Upon a wheel of fire. [IV. vii. 46]

32 I am a very foolish, fond old man, / Fourscore and upward, not an hour more or less; / And, to deal plainly, / I fear I am not in my perfect mind. [IV. vii. 60]

33 Pray you now, forget and forgive. [IV. vii. (85)]

34 Men must endure / Their going hence, even as their coming hither: / Ripeness is all. [V. ii. 9]

35 Come, let's away to prison; / We two alone will sing like birds i' the cage: / When thou dost ask me blessing, I'll kneel down, / And ask of thee forgiveness: so we'll live, / And pray, and sing, and tell old tales, and laugh / At gilded butterflies, and hear poor rogues / Talk of court news; and we'll talk with them too, / Who loses and who wins; who's in, who's out; / And take upon 's the mystery of things, / As if we were God's spies; and we'll wear out, / In a walled prison, packs and sets of great ones / That ebb and flow by the moon. [V. iii. 8]

1 Upon such sacrifices, my Cordelia, / The gods themselves throw incense! [V. iii. 20]

2 The gods are just, and of our pleasant vices / Make instruments to plague us. [V. iii. (172)]

3 The wheel is come full circle. [V. iii. (176)]

4 Her voice was ever soft, / Gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman. [V. iii. (274)]

5 Never, never, never, never, never! / Pray you, undo this button. [V. iii. (310)]

6 Vex not his ghost: O! let him pass; he hates him / That would upon the rack of this tough world / Stretch him out longer. [V. iii. (314)]

7 The oldest hath borne most: we that are young / Shall never see so much, nor live so long. [V. iii. (327)]

Love's Labour's Lost

8 Spite of cormorant devouring Time. [I. i. 4]

9 Why, all delights are vain; but that most vain / Which, with pain purchased, doth inherit pain. [I. i. 72]

10 Study is like the heaven's glorious sun, / That will not be deep-searched with saucy looks; / Small have continuous plodders ever won, / Save base authority from others' books. [I. i. 84]

11 At Christmas I no more desire a rose / Than wish a snow in May's new-fangled mirth. [I. i. 105]

12 A child of our grandmother Eve, a female; or, for thy more sweet understanding, a woman. [I. i. (263)]

13 Affliction may one day smile again; and till then, sit thee down, sorrow! [I. i. (312)]

14 Devise, wit; write, pen; for I am for whole volumes in folio. [I. ii. (194)]

15 Warble, child; make passionate my sense of hearing. [III. i. 1]

16 Remuneration! O! that's the Latin word for three farthings. [III. i. (143)]

17 A very beadle to a humorous sigh. [III. i. (185)]

18 This wimpled, whining, purblind, wayward boy, / This senior-junior, giant-dwarf, Dan Cupid; / Regent of love rhymes, lord of folded arms, / The anointed sovereign of sighs and groans, / Liege of all loiterers and malcontents. [III. i. (189)]

19 He hath not fed of the dainties that are bred in a book; he hath not eat paper, as it were; he hath not drunk ink. [IV. ii. (25)]

20 For where is any author in the world / Teaches such beauty as a woman's eye? / Learning is but an adjunct to ourself. [IV. iii. (312)]

21 It adds a precious seeing to the eye; / A lover's eyes will gaze an eagle blind; / A lover's ear will hear the lowest sound. [IV. iii. (333)]

22 When Love speaks, the voice of all the gods / Makes heaven drowsy with the harmony. [IV. iii. (344)]

23 From women's eyes this doctrine I derive: / They sparkle still the right Promethean fire; / They are the books, the arts, the academes, / That show, contain, and nourish all the world. [IV. iii. (350)]

24 Priscian a little scratched; 'twill serve. [V. i. (31)]

25 They have been at a great feast of languages, and stolen the scraps. [V. i. (39)]

26 In the posteriors of this day; which the rude multitude call the afternoon. [V. i. (96)]

27 Taffeta phrases, silken terms precise, / Three-piled hyperboles, spruce affectation, / Figures pedantical. [V. ii. 407]

28 In russet yeas and honest kersey noes. [V. ii. 414]

29 A jest's prosperity lies in the ear / Of him that hears it, never in the tongue / Of him that makes it. [V. ii. (869)]

30 When daisies pied and violets blue / And lady-smocks all silver-white / And cuckoo-buds of yellow hue / Do paint the meadows with delight, / The cuckoo then, on every tree, / Mocks married men; for thus sings he, / Cuckoo, / Cuckoo, cuckoo: O word of fear, / Unpleasing to a married ear. [V. ii. (902)]

1 When icicles hang by the wall / And Dick the shepherd blows his nail, / And Tom bears logs into the hall / And milk comes frozen home in pail, / When blood is nipped, and ways be foul, / Then nightly sings the staring owl / Tu-who; / Tu-whit, tu-who – a merry note, / While greasy Joan doth keel the pot. [V. ii. (920)]

2 When all aloud the wind doth blow, / And coughing drowns the parson's saw, / And birds sit brooding in the snow, / And Marian's nose looks red and raw, / When roasted crabs hiss in the bowl. [V. ii. (929)]

3 The words of Mercury are harsh after the songs of Apollo. [V. ii. (938)]

Macbeth

4 1ST WITCH: When shall we three meet again / In thunder, lightning, or in rain? 2ND WITCH: When the hurly-burly's done, / When the battle's lost and won. [I. i. 1]

5 Fair is foul, and foul is fair. [I. i. 11]

6 What bloody man is that ? [I. ii. 1]

7 He unseamed him from the nave to the chaps. [I. ii. 22]

8 Sleep shall neither night nor day / Hang upon his pent-house lid; / He shall live a man forbid: / Weary se'nnights nine times nine / Shall he dwindle, peak and pine. [I. iii. 19]

9 So foul and fair a day I have not seen. [I. iii. 38]

10 If you can look into the seeds of time, / And say which grain will grow and which will not. [I. iii. 58]

11 And to be king / Stands not within the prospect of belief. [I. iii. 73]

12 The earth hath bubbles, as the water has, / And these are of them. [I. iii. 79]

13 Or have we eaten of the insane root / That takes the reason prisoner? [I. iii. 84]

14 And oftentimes, to win us to our harm, / The instruments of darkness tell us truths, / Win us with honest trifles, to betray's / In deepest consequence. [I. iii. 123]

15 Two truths are told, / As happy prologues to the swelling act / Of the imperial theme. [I. iii. 127]

16 This supernatural soliciting / Cannot be ill, cannot be good. [I. iii. 130]

17 Why do I yield to that suggestion / Whose horrid image doth unfix my hair / And make my seated heart knock at my ribs, / Against the use of nature? Present fears / Are less than horrible imaginings. [I. iii. 134]

18 Come what come may, / Time and the hour runs through the roughest day. [I. iii. 146]

19 Nothing in his life / Became him like the leaving it; he died / As one that had been studied in his death / To throw away the dearest thing he owed, / As 'twere a careless trifle. [I. iv. 7]

20 There's no art / To find the mind's construction in the face; / He was a gentleman on whom I built / An absolute trust. [I. iv. 11]

21 Yet do I fear thy nature; / It is too full o' the milk of human kindness / To catch the nearest way. [I. v. (17)]

22 What thou wouldst highly, / That wouldst thou holily; wouldst not play false, / And yet wouldst wrongly win. [I. v. (21)]

23 The golden round, / Which fate and metaphysical aid doth seem / To have thee crowned withal. [I. v. (29)]

24 The raven himself is hoarse / That croaks the fatal entrance of Duncan / Under my battlements. [I. v. (39)]

25 Unsex me here, / And fill me from the crown to the toe top full / Of direst cruelty! [I. v. (42)]

26 That no compunctious visitings of nature / Shake my fell purpose. [I. v. (46)]

27 Come to my woman's breasts / And take my milk for gall, you murdering ministers, / Wherever in your sightless substances, / You wait on nature's mischief. [I. v. (48)]

28 Your face, my thane, is as a book where men / May read strange matters. [I. v. (63)]

29 Look like the innocent flower, / But be the serpent under 't. [I. v. (66)]

30 This castle hath a pleasant seat; the air / Nimbly and sweetly recommends itself / Unto our gentle senses. [I. vi. 1]

1 This guest of summer, / The temple-haunting martlet, does approve / By his loved mansionry that the heaven's breath / Smells wooingly here: no jutty, frieze, / Buttress nor coign of vantage, but this bird / Hath made his pendent bed and procreant cradle: / Where they most breed and haunt, I have observed, / The air is delicate. [I. vi. 3]

2 If it were done when 'tis done, then 'twere well / It were done quickly: if the assassination / Could trammel up the consequence, and catch / With his surcease success; that but this blow / Might be the be-all and the end-all here, / But here, upon this bank and shoal of time, / We'd jump the life to come. [I. vii. 1]

3 This even-handed justice. [I. vii. 10]

4 Besides, this Duncan / Hath borne his faculties so meek, hath been / So clear in his great office, that his virtues / Will plead like angels trumpet-tongued against / The deep damnation of his taking-off; / And pity, like a naked new-born babe, / Striding the blast, or heaven's cherubim, horsed / Upon the sightless couriers of the air, / Shall blow the horrid deed in every eye. [I. vii. 16]

5 I have no spur / To prick the sides of my intent, but only / Vaulting ambition, which o'er-leaps itself / And falls on the other. [I. vii. 25]

6 I have bought / Golden opinions of all sorts of people. [I. vii. 32]

7 Letting 'I dare not' wait upon 'I would', / Like the poor cat i' the adage. [I. vii. 44]

8 I dare do all that may become a man; / Who dares do more is none. [I. vii. 46]

9 I have given suck and know / How tender 'tis to love the babe that milks me: / I would, while it was smiling in my face, / Have plucked my nipple from his boneless gums, / And dashed the brains out, had I so sworn as you / Have done to this. [I. vii. 54]

10 MACBETH: If we should fail –
LADY MACBETH: We fail! / But screw your courage to the sticking place, / And we'll not fail. [I. vii. 59]

11 That memory, the warder of the brain, / Shall be a fume. [I. vii. 65]

12 Bring forth men children only. [I. vii. 72]

13 There's husbandry in heaven; / Their candles are all out. [II. i. 4]

14 Merciful powers! / Restrain in me the cursed thoughts that nature / Gives way to in repose. [II. i. 7]

15 Shut up / In measureless content. [II. i. 16]

16 Is this a dagger which I see before me, / The handle toward my hand? Come, let me clutch thee: / I have thee not, and yet I see thee still, / Art thou not, fatal vision, sensible / To feeling as to sight? or art thou but / A dagger of the mind, a false creation, / Proceeding from the heat-oppressèd brain? [II. i. 33]

17 The bell invites me. / Hear it not, Duncan; for it is a knell / That summons thee to heaven or to hell. [II. i. 62]

18 It was the owl that shrieked, the fatal bellman, / Which gives the stern'st good-night. [II. ii. 4]

19 The attempt and not the deed / Confounds us. [II. ii. 12]

20 As they had seen me with these hangman's hands. [II. ii. 29]

21 I had most need of blessing, and 'Amen' / Stuck in my throat. [II. ii. 33]

22 These deeds must not be thought / After these ways; so, it will make us mad. [II. ii. 34]

23 Methought I heard a voice cry, 'Sleep no more! / Macbeth does murder sleep', the innocent sleep, / Sleep that knits up the ravelled sleave of care, / The death of each day's life, sore labour's bath, / Balm of hurt minds, great nature's second course, / Chief nourisher in life's feast. [II. ii. 36]

24 Infirm of purpose! / Give me the daggers. The sleeping and the dead / Are but as pictures; 'tis the eye of childhood / That fears a painted devil. [II. ii. 53]

25 Will all great Neptune's ocean wash this blood / Clean from my hand? No, this my hand will rather / The multitudinous seas incarnadine, / Making the green one red. [II. ii. 61]

26 A little water clears us of this deed. [II. ii. 68]

27 The primrose way to the everlasting bonfire. [II. iii. (22)]

28 The labour we delight in physics pain. [II. iii. (56)]

1 Shake off this downy sleep, death's counterfeit, / And look on death itself! [II. iii. (83)]

2 There's nothing serious in mortality. / All is but toys; renown and grace is dead, / The wine of life is drawn, and the mere lees / Is left this vault to brag of. [II. iii. (100)]

3 Who can be wise, amazed, temperate and furious, / Loyal and neutral, in a moment? No man. [II. iii. (115)]

4 Look to the lady. [II. iii. (126)]

5 A falcon, towering in her pride of place, / Was by a mousing owl hawked at and killed. [II. iv. 12]

6 I must become a borrower of the night / For a dark hour or twain. [III. i. 27]

7 To be thus is nothing; / But to be safely thus. [III. i. 48]

8 1ST MURDERER: We are men, my liege.
MACBETH: Ay, in the catalogue ye go for men. [III. i. 91]

9 I am one, my liege, / Whom the vile blows and buffets of the world / Have so incensed that I am reckless what / I do to spite the world. [III. i. 108]

10 Things without all remedy / Should be without regard: what's done is done. [III. ii. 11]

11 We have scotched the snake, not killed it. [III. ii. 13]

12 Duncan is in his grave; / After life's fitful fever he sleeps well; / Treason has done his worst: not steel, nor poison, / Malice domestic, foreign levy, nothing / Can touch him further. [III. ii. 22]

13 But in them nature's copy's not eterne. [III. ii. 38]

14 The shard-borne beetle with his drowsy hums / Hath rung night's yawning peal. [III. ii. 42]

15 A deed of dreadful note. [III. ii. 44]

16 Come, seeling night, / Scarf up the tender eye of pitiful day. [III. ii. 46]

17 Light thickens; and the crow / Makes wing to the rooky wood: / Good things of day begin to droop and drowse, / Whiles night's black agents to their preys do rouse. [III. ii. 50]

18 Now spurs the lated traveller apace / To gain the timely inn. [III. iii. 6]

19 BANQUO: It will be rain tonight.
1ST MURDERER: Let it come down. [III. iii. 16]

20 But now I am cabined, cribbed, confined, bound in / To saucy doubts and fears. [III. iv. 24]

21 Now, good digestion wait on appetite, / And health on both! [III. iv. 38]

22 Thou canst not say I did it: never shake / Thy gory locks at me. [III. iv. 50]

23 The air-drawn dagger. [III. iv. 62]

24 The times have been, / That when the brains were out, the man would die, / And there an end; but now they rise again, / With twenty mortal murders on their crowns, / And push us from our stools. [III. iv. 78]

25 Thou hast no speculation in those eyes / Which thou dost glare with. [III. iv. 95]

26 What man dare, I dare. [III. iv. 99]

27 Hence, horrible shadow! / Unreal mockery, hence! [III. iv. 106]

28 Can such things be / And overcome us like a summer's cloud, / Without our special wonder? [III. iv. 110]

29 Stand not upon the order of your going, / But go at once. [III. iv. 119]

30 MACBETH: What is the night?
LADY MACBETH: Almost at odds with morning, which is which. [III. iv. 126]

31 I am in blood / Stepped in so far that, should I wade no more, / Returning were as tedious as go o'er. [III. iv. 136]

32 Double, double, toil and trouble; / Fire burn and cauldron bubble. [IV. i. 10]

33 Eye of newt and toe of frog, / Wool of bat and tongue of dog. [IV. i. 14]

34 By the pricking of my thumbs, / Something wicked this way comes. / Open locks, / Whoever knocks. [IV. i. 44]

35 How now, you secret, black, and midnight hags! [IV. i. 48]

36 A deed without a name. [IV. i. 49]

37 Be bloody, bold, and resolute. [IV. i. 79]

38 But yet I'll make assurance double sure, / And take a bond of fate. [IV. i. 83]

39 Macbeth shall never vanquished be until / Great Birnam wood to high Dunsinane hill / Shall come against him. [IV. i. 92]

8 What! all my pretty chickens and their dam, / At one fell swoop? [IV. iii. 218]

9 MALCOLM: Dispute it like a man.
MACDUFF: I shall do so; / But I must also feel it like a man; / I cannot but remember such things were, / That were most precious to me. [IV. iii. 219]

10 Out, damned spot! out, I say! One; two: why then, 'tis time to do 't. Hell is murky! Fie, my lord, fie! a soldier, and afeard? [V. i. (38)]

11 Yet who would have thought the old man to have had so much blood in him? [V. i. (42)]

12 The Thane of Fife had a wife: where is she now? What! will these hands ne'er be clean? [V. i. (46)]

13 Here's the smell of the blood still: all the perfumes of Arabia will not sweeten this little hand. [V. i. (55)]

14 Now does he feel his title / Hang loose about him like a giant's robe / Upon a dwarfish thief. [V. ii. 20]

15 The devil damn thee black, thou cream-faced loon! / Where gott'st thou that goose look? [V. iii. 11]

16 Thou lily-livered boy. [V. iii. 15]

17 I have lived long enough: my way of life / Is fall'n into the sear, the yellow leaf; / And that which should accompany old age, / As honour, love, obedience, troops of friends, / I must not look to have; but, in their stead, / Curses, not loud but deep, mouth-honour, breath, / Which the poor heart would fain deny and dare not. [V. iii. 22]

18 Canst thou not minister to a mind diseased, / Pluck from the memory a rooted sorrow, / Raze out the written troubles of the brain, / And with some sweet oblivious antidote / Cleanse the stuffed bosom of that perilous stuff / Which weighs upon the heart? [V. iii. 40]

19 Throw physic to the dogs; I'll none of it. [V. iii. 47]

20 If thou couldst, doctor, cast / The water of my land, find her disease, / And purge it to a sound and pristine health, / I would applaud thee to the very echo, / That should applaud again. [V. iii. 50]

21 Hang out the banners on the outward walls: / The cry is still 'They come'; our castle's strength / Will laugh a siege to scorn. [V. v. 1]

22 The time has been my senses would have cooled / To hear a night-shriek, and my fell of hair / Would at a dismal treatise rouse and stir / As life were in't. I have supped full with horrors; / Direness, familiar to my slaughterous thoughts, / Cannot once start me. [V. v. 10]

23 She should have died hereafter; / There would have been a time for such a word. / To-morrow, and to-morrow, and to-morrow, / Creeps in this petty pace from day to day, / To the last syllable of recorded time; / And all our yesterdays have lighted fools / The way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle! / Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player / That struts and frets his hour upon the stage, / And then is heard no more: it is a tale / Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, / Signifying nothing. [V. v. 17]

24 I 'gin to grow aweary of the sun, / And wish the estate o' the world were now undone. [V. v. 49]

25 Blow, wind! Come, wrack! / At least we'll die with harness on our back. [V. v. 51]

26 They have tied me to a stake; I cannot fly, / But bear-like I must fight the course. [V. vii. 1]

27 Why should I play the Roman fool, and die / On mine own sword? [V. vii. 30]

28 I bear a charmèd life. [V. vii. 41]

29 Despair thy charm; / And let the angel whom thou still hast served / Tell thee, Macduff was from his mother's womb / Untimely ripped. [V. vii. 42]

6 A man whose blood / Is very snow-broth; one who never feels / The wanton stings and motions of the sense. [I. iv. 57]

7 Our doubts are traitors, / And make us lose the good we oft might win, / By fearing to attempt. [I. iv. 77]

8 'Tis one thing to be tempted, Escalus, / Another thing to fall. I do not deny, / The jury, passing on the prisoner's life, / May in the sworn twelve have a thief or two / Guiltier than him they try. [II. i. 17]

9 Some rise by sin, and some by virtue fall. [II. i. 38]

10 This will last out a night in Russia, / When nights are longest there. [II. i. 144]

11 Condemn the fault and not the actor of it? [II. ii. 37]

12 No ceremony that to great ones 'longs, / Not the king's crown, nor the deputed sword, / The marshal's truncheon nor the judge's robe, / Become them with one half so good a grace / As mercy does. [II. ii. 59]

13 How would you be, / If He, which is the top of judgement, should / But judge you as you are? [II. ii. 75]

15 O! it is excellent / To have a giant's strength, but it is tyrannous / To use it like a giant. [II. ii. 107]

16 But man, proud man, / Drest in a little brief authority, / Most ignorant of what he's most assured, / His glassy essence, like an angry ape, / Plays such fantastic tricks before high heaven / As make the angels weep. [II. ii. 117]

17 That in the captain's but a choleric word, / Which in the soldier is flat blasphemy. [II. ii. 130]

18 The miserable hath no other medicine / But only hope. [III. i. 2]

19 Be absolute for death; either death or life / Shall thereby be the sweeter. Reason thus with life: / If I do lose thee, I do lose a thing / That none but fools would keep: a breath thou art, / Servile to all the skyey influences. [III. i. 5]

20 Palsied eld. [III. i. 36]

21 The sense of death is most in apprehension, / And the poor beetle, that we tread upon, / In corporal sufferance finds a pang as great / As when a giant dies. [III. i. 75]

22 If I must die, / I will encounter darkness as a bride, / And hug it in my arms. [III. i. 81]

23 Ay, but to die, and go we know not where; / To lie in cold obstruction and to rot; / This sensible warm motion to become / A kneaded clod; and the delighted spirit / To bathe in fiery floods, or to reside. / In thrilling region of thick-ribbèd ice; / To be imprisoned in the viewless winds, / And blown with restless violence round about / The pendant world! [III. i. 116]

24 The weariest and most loathèd worldly life / That age, ache, penury and imprisonment / Can lay on nature is a paradise / To what we fear of death. [III. i. 127]

25 Virtue is bold, and goodness never fearful. [III. i. (214)]

26 There, at the moated grange, resides this dejected Mariana. [III. i. (279)]

27 Take, O take those lips away, / That so sweetly were forsworn / And those eyes, the break of day, / Lights that do mislead the morn: / But my kisses bring again, bring again; / Seals of love, but sealed in vain, sealed in vain. [IV. i. 1]

The Merchant of Venice

3 Nature hath framed strange fellows in her time: / Some that will evermore peep through their eyes / And laugh like parrots at a bag-piper: / And other of such vinegar aspect / That they'll not show their teeth in way of smile, / Though Nestor swear the jest be laughable. [I. i. 51]

4 I hold the world but as the world, Gratiano; / A stage where every man must play a part, / And mine a sad one. [I. i. 77]

5 Why should a man whose blood is warm within, / Sit like his grandsire cut in alabaster? [I. i. 83]

6 There are a sort of men whose visages / Do cream and mantle like a standing pond. [I. i. 88]

7 As who would say, 'I am Sir Oracle, / And when I ope my lips, let no dog bark!' [I. i. 93]

8 Gratiano speaks an infinite deal of nothing, more than any man in Venice. His reasons are as two gains of wheat, hid in two bushels of chaff: you shall seek all the day ere you find them; and, when you have them, they are not worth the search. [I. i. 114]

9 They are as sick that surfeit with too much, as they that starve with nothing. [I. ii. (5)]

10 Superfluity comes sooner by white hairs, but competency lives longer. [I. ii. (9)]

11 If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches, and poor men's cottages princes' palaces. [I. ii. (13)]

15 Ships are but boards, sailors but men; there be land-rats and water-rats, land-thieves and water-thieves. [I. iii. (22)]

16 How like a fawning publican he looks! / I hate him for he is a Christian. / But more for that in low simplicity / He lends out money gratis, and brings down / The rate of usance here with us in Venice. / If I can catch him once upon the hip, / I will feed fat the ancient grudge I bear him. / He hates our sacred nation, and he rails, / Even there where merchants most do congregate. [I. iii. (42)]

9 Tell me where is fancy bred, / Or in the heart or in the head? / How begot, how nourishèd? [III. ii. 63]

10 The world is still deceived with ornament. / In law, what plea so tainted and corrupt / But, being seasoned with a gracious voice, / Obscures the show of evil? [III. ii. 74]

11 Thus ornament is but the guilèd shore / To a most dangerous sea; the beauteous scarf / Veiling an Indian beauty; in a word, / The seeming truth which cunning times put on / To entrap the wisest. [III. ii. 97]

12 An unlessoned girl, unschooled, unpractised; / Happy in this, she is not yet so old / But she may learn. [III. ii. 160]

13 Here are a few of the unpleasant'st words / That ever blotted paper! [III. ii. 252]

14 I'll not answer that: / But say it is my humour. [IV. i. 42]

15 A harmless necessary cat. [IV. i. 55]

16 I am a tainted wether of the flock, / Meetest for death: the weakest kind of fruit / Drops earliest to the ground. [IV. i. 114]

17 The quality of mercy is not strained, / It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven / Upon the place beneath: it is twice blessed; / It blesseth him that gives and him that takes: / 'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes / The thronèd monarch better than his crown; / His sceptre shows the force of temporal power, / The attribute to awe and majesty, / Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings; / But mercy is above the sceptred sway, / It is enthronèd in the hearts of kings, / It is an attribute of God himself, / And earthly power doth then show likest God's / When mercy seasons justice. Therefore, Jew, / Though justice be thy plea, consider this, / That in the course of justice none of us / Should see salvation: we do pray for mercy, / And that same prayer doth teach us all to render / The deeds of mercy. [IV. i. (184)]

18 Wrest once the law to your authority: / To do a great right, do a little wrong. [IV. i. (215)]

sounds of music / Creep in our ears: soft stillness and the night / Become the touches of sweet harmony. [V. i. 54]

1 Look how the floor of heaven / Is thick inlaid with patines of bright gold: / There's not the smallest orb which thou behold'st / But in his motion like an angel sings. / Still quiring to the young-eyed cherubins; / Such harmony is in immortal souls; / But, whilst this muddy vesture of decay / Doth grossly close it in, we cannot hear it. [V. i. 58]

2 I am never merry when I hear sweet music. [V. i. 69]

3 The man that hath not music in himself, / Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, / Is fit for treasons, stratagems, and spoils; / The motions of his spirit are dull as night, / And his affections dark as Erebus: / Let no such man be trusted. [V. i. 83]

7 Since once I sat upon a promontory, / And heard a mermaid on a dolphin's back, / Uttering such dulcet and harmonious breath, / That the rude sea grew civil at her song, / And certain stars shot madly from their spheres, / To hear the sea-maid's music. [II. i. 149]

8 And the imperial votaress passed on, / In maiden meditation, fancy-free. / Yet marked I where the bolt of Cupid fell; / It fell upon a little western flower, / Before milk-white, now purple with love's wound, / And maidens call it Love-in-idleness. [II. i. 163]

25 The lunatic, the lover, and the poet, / Are of imagination all compact. [V. i. 7]

26 The lover, all as frantic, / Sees Helen's beauty in a brow of Egypt: / The poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling, / Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven; / And, as imagination bodies forth / The forms of things unknown, the poet's pen / Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing / A local habitation and a name. [V. i. 10]

27 Or in the night, imagining some fear, / How easy is a bush supposed a bear! [V. i. 21]

9 Egregiously an ass. [II. i. (321)]

10 I have very poor and unhappy brains for drinking. [II. iii. (34)]

11 Potations pottle-deep. [II. iii. (57)]

12 And let me the canakin clink: / A soldier's a man; / A life's but a span; / Why then let a soldier drink. [II. iii. (73)]

13 Silence the dreadful bell! it frights the isle / From her propriety. [II. iii. (177)]

14 But men are men; the best sometimes forget. [II. iii. (243)]

15 Thy honesty and love doth mince this matter. [II. iii. (249)]

16 Cassio, I love thee; / But never more be officer of mine. [II. iii. (250)]

17 Reputation, reputation, reputation! O! I have lost my reputation, I have lost the immortal part of myself, and what remains is bestial. [II. iii. (264)]

18 O God! that men should put an enemy in their mouths to steal away their brains. [II. iii. (293)]

19 Good wine is a good familiar creature if it be well used. [II. iii. (315)]

20 How poor are they that have not patience! / What wound did ever heal but by degrees? [III. ii. (379)]

21 Excellent wretch! Perdition catch my soul / But I do love thee! and when I love thee not, / Chaos is come again. [III. iii. 90]

22 Men should be what they seem. [III. iii. 126]

23 Good name in man and woman, dear my lord, / Is the immediate jewel of their souls; / Who steals my purse, steals trash; 'tis something, nothing; / 'Twas mine, 'tis his and has been slave to thousands; / But he that filches from me my good name / Robs me of that which not enriches him, / And makes me poor indeed. [III. iii. 153]

24 O! beware, my lord, of jealousy; / It is the green-eyed monster which doth mock / The meat it feeds on. [III. iii. 165]

25 If I do prove her haggard, / Though that her jesses were my dear heart-strings, / I'd whistle her off and let her down the wind, / To prey at fortune. [III. iii. 260]

26 For I am declined / Into the vale of years. [III. iii. 265]

27 O curse of marriage! / That we can call these delicate creatures ours, / And not their appetities. I had rather be a toad, / And live upon the vapour of a dungeon, / Than keep a corner in the thing I love / For others' uses. [III. iii. 268]

28 Trifles light as air / Are to the jealous confirmations strong / As proofs of holy writ. [III. iii. 323]

29 Not poppy, nor mandragora, / Nor all the drowsy syrups of the world, / Shall ever medicine thee to that sweet sleep / Which thou owedst yesterday. [III. iii. 331]

30 He that is robbed, not wanting what is stolen, / Let him not know't and he's not robbed at all. [III. iii. 343]

31 O! now for ever / Farewell the tranquil mind; farewell content! / Farewell the plumèd troop and the big wars / That make ambition virtue! O farewell! / Farewell the neighing steed and the shrill trump, / The spirit-stirring drum, the ear-piercing fife, / The royal banner, and all quality, / Pride, pomp, and circumstance of glorious war! [III. iii. 348]

32 Be sure of it; give me the ocular proof. [III. iii. 361]

33 On horror's head horrors accumulate. [III. iii. 371]

34 Take note, take note, O world! / To be direct and honest is not safe. [III. iii. 378]

35 But this denoted a foregone conclusion. [III. iii. 429] retiring ebb, but keeps due on / To the Propontic and the Hellespont, / Even so my bloody thoughts, with violent pace, / Shall ne'er look back, ne'er ebb to humble love, / Till that a capable and wide revenge / Swallow them up. [III. iii. 454]

1 They are not ever jealous for the cause, / But jealous for they are jealous. [III. iv. (159)]

2 I would have him nine years a-killing. (IV. i. (186)]

3 But yet the pity of it, Iago! [IV. i. (205)]

4 Alas! to make me / The fixèd figure for the time of scorn / To point his slow and moving finger at. [IV. ii. 52]

5 O thou weed! / Who art so lovely fair and smell'st so sweet / That the sense aches at thee, would thou hadst ne'er been born. [IV. ii. 66]

6 O heaven! that such companions thou'dst unfold, / And put in every honest hand a whip / To lash the rascals naked through the world! [IV. ii. 141]

7 The poor soul sat sighing by a sycamore tree, / Sing all a green willow: / Her hand on her bosom, her head on her knee, / Sing willow, willow, willow. [IV. iii. (41)]

8 'Tis neither here nor there. [IV. iii. (59)]

9 He hath a daily beauty in his life / That makes me ugly. [V. i. 19]

10 This is the night / That either makes me or fordoes me quite. [V. i. 128]

11 It is the cause, it is the cause, my soul; / Let me not name it to you, you chaste stars! / It is the cause. Yet I'll not shed her blood, / Nor scar that whiter skin of hers than snow, / And smooth as monumental alabaster. [V. ii. 1]

12 Put out the light and then put out the light. / If I quench thee, thou flaming minister, / I can again thy former light restore, / Should I repent me; but once put out thy light, / Thou cunning'st pattern of excelling nature, / I know not where is that Promethean heat / That can thy light relume. [V. ii. 7]

13 Curse his better angel from his side, / And fall to reprobation. [V. ii. 206]

14 Here is my journey's end, here is my butt, / And very sea-mark of my utmost sail. [V. ii. 266]

15 O ill-starred wench! / Pale as thy smock! when we shall meet at compt, / This look of thine will hurl my soul from heaven, / And fiends will snatch at it. [V. ii. 271]

16 Soft you; a word or two before you go. / I have done the state some service and they know't; / No more of that: I pray you, in your letters, / When you shall these unlucky deeds relate, / Speak of me as I am; nothing extenuate, / Nor set down aught in malice: then must you speak / Of one that loved not wisely but too well; Of one not easily jealous, but, being wrought, / Perplexed in the extreme; of one whose hand, / Like the base Indian, threw a pearl away / Richer than all his tribe; of one whose subdued eyes / Albeit unusèd to the melting mood, / Drop tears as fast as the Arabian trees / Their med'cinable gum. Set you down this; / And say besides, that in Aleppo once, / Where a malignant and a turbaned Turk / Beat a Venetian and traduced the stage, / I took by the throat the circumcisèd dog, / And smote him thus. [V. ii. 337]

17 I kissed thee ere I killed thee. [V. ii. 357]

4 Things sweet to taste prove in digestion sour. [I. iii. 236]

5 All places that the eye of heaven visits / Are to a wise man ports and happy havens. / Teach thy necessity to reason thus; / There is no virtue like necessity. [I. iii. 275]

6 O! who can hold a fire in his hand / By thinking on the frosty Caucasus? / Or cloy the hungry edge of appetite / By bare imagination of a feast? / Or wallow naked in December snow / By thinking on fantastic summer's heat? / O, no! the apprehension of the good / Gives but the greater feeling to the worse. [I. iii. 294]

7 Methinks I am a prophet new inspired, / And thus expiring to foretell of him: / His rash fierce blaze of riot cannot last, / For violent fires soon burn out themselves; / Small showers last long, but sudden storms are short; / He tires betimes that spurs too fast betimes. [II. i. 31]

8 This royal throne of kings, this sceptered isle, / This earth of majesty, this seat of Mars, / This other Eden, demi-paradise, / This fortress built by Nature for herself / Against infection and the hand of war, / This happy breed of men, this little world, / This precious stone set in the silver sea, / Which serves it in the office of a wall, / Or as a moat defensive to a house, / Against the envy of less happier lands. / This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England, / This nurse, this teeming womb of royal kings, / Feared by their breed and famous by their birth, / Renownèd for their deeds as far from home, – / For Christian service and true chivalry, – / As is the sepulchre in stubborn Jewry / Of the world's ransom, blessed Mary's Son: / This land of such dear souls, this dear, dear land. [II. i. 40]

9 England, bound in with the triumphant sea, / Whose rocky shore beats back the envious siege / Of watery Neptune, is now bound in with shame, / With inky blots, and rotten parchment bonds: / That England, that was wont to conquer others, / Hath made a shameful conquest of itself. [II. i. 61]

21 Let's talk of graves, of worms and epitaphs; / Make dust our paper, and with rainy eyes / Write sorrow on the bosom of the earth; / Let's choose executors and talk of wills. [III. ii. 145]

22 For God's sake let us sit upon the ground / And tell sad stories of the death of kings: / How some have been deposed, some slain in war, / Some haunted by the ghosts they have deposed; / Some poisoned by their wives, some sleeping killed; / All murdered: for within the hollow crown / That rounds the mortal temples of a king / Keeps Death his court, and there the antick sits, / Scoffing his state and grinning at his pomp; / Allowing him a breath, a little scene. / To monarchize, be feared, and killed with looks, / Infusing him with self and vain conceit / As if this flesh which walls about our life / Were brass impregnable; and humoured

1 The purple testament of bleeding war. [III. iii. 94]

2 What must the king do now? Must he submit? / The king shall do it: must he be deposed? / The king shall be contented: must he lose / The name of king? o' God's name, let it go: / I'll give my jewels for a set of beads, / My gorgeous palace for a hermitage, / My gay apparel for an almsman's gown, / My figured goblets for a dish of wood, / My sceptre for a palmer's walking staff, / My subjects for a pair of carvèd saints, / And my large kingdom for a little grave, / A little little grave, an obscure grave. I saw a thousand fearful wracks; / A thousand men that fishes gnawed upon; / Wedges of gold, great anchors, heaps of pearl, / Inestimable stones, unvalued jewels, / All scattered in the bottom of the sea. / Some lay in dead men's skulls, and in those holes / Where eyes did once inhabit, there were crept, / As 'twere in scorn of eyes, reflecting gems, / That wooed the slimy bottom of the deep, / And mocked the dead bones that lay scattered by. 26 Pretty fool, it stinted and said 'Ay'. [I. iii. 48]

27 Thou wilt fall backward when thou comest to age. [I. iii. 56]

28 I am proverbed with a grandsire phrase. [I. iv. 37]

29 O! then, I see, Queen Mab hath been with you. . . . / She is the fairies' midwife, and she comes / In shape no bigger than an agate-stone / On the fore-finger of an alderman, / Drawn with a team of little atomies / Athwart men's noses as they lie asleep: / Her waggon-spokes made of long spinners' legs; / The cover, of the wings of grasshoppers; / The traces, of the smallest spider's web; / The collars, of the moonshine's watery beams; / Her whip, of cricket's bone; the lash, of film; / Her waggoner, a small grey-coated gnat, / Not half so big as a round little worm / Pricked from the lazy finger of a maid; / Her chariot is an empty hazel-nut, / Made by the joiner squirrel or old grub, / Time out o' mind the fairies' coach-makers, / And in this state she gallops night by night / Through lovers' brains, and then they dream of love; / O'er courtiers' knees, that dream on curtsies straight; / O'er lawyers' fingers, who straight dream on fees; / O'er ladies lips, who straight on kisses dream. [I. iv. 53]

1 Sometimes she gallops o'er a courtier's nose, / And then dreams he of smelling out a suit; / And sometimes comes she with a tithe-pig's tail, / Tickling a parson's nose as a' lies asleep, / Then dreams he of another benefice; / Sometimes she driveth o'er a soldier's neck, / And then dreams he of cutting foreign throats. [I. iv. 78]

2 This is that very Mab / That plats the manes of horses in the night; / And bakes the elf-locks in foul sluttish hairs, / Which once untangled much misfortune bodes. [I. iv. 89]

3 For you and I are past our dancing days. [I. v. (35)]

4 O! she doth teach the torches to burn bright. / It seems she hangs upon the cheek of night / Like a rich jewel in an Ethiop's ear. [I. v. (48)]

7 Young Adam Cupid, he that shot so trim /When King Cophetua loved the beggar-maid. [II. i. 13]

8 He jests at scars, that never felt a wound. /But, soft! what light through yonder window breaks? / It is the east, and Juliet is the sun. [II. ii. 1]

9 See! how she leans her cheek upon her hand: / O! that I were a glove upon that hand, / That I might touch that cheek. [II. ii. 23]

10 O Romeo, Romeo! wherefore art thou Romeo? [II. ii. 33]

11 What's in a name? that which we call a rose / By any other name would smell as sweet. [II. ii. 43]

12 For stony limits cannot hold love out. [II. ii. 67]

13 At lovers' perjuries, / They say, Jove laughs. [II. ii. 92]

14 I'll prove more true / Than those that have more cunning to be strange. [II. ii. 100]

15 O! swear not by the moon, the inconstant moon, / That monthly changes in her circled orb, / Lest that thy love prove likewise variable. [II. ii. 109]

16 The God of my idolatry. [II. ii. 114]

17 It is too rash, too unadvised, too sudden; / Too like the lightning, which doth cease to be / Ere one can say it lightens. [II. ii. 118]

18 Love goes toward love, as schoolboys from their books; / But love from love, toward school with heavy looks. [II. ii. 156]

19 How silver-sweet sound lovers' tongues by night, / Like softest music to attending ears! [II. ii. 165]

20 I would have thee gone; / And yet no further than a wanton's bird, / Who lets it hop a little from her hand, / Like a poor prisoner in his twisted gyves, / And with a silk thread plucks it back again, / So loving-jealous of his liberty. [II. ii. 176]

21 Good-night, good-night! parting is such sweet sorrow / That I shall say good-night till it be morrow. [II. ii. 184]

22 Virtue itself turns vice, being misapplied; / And vice sometime's by action dignified. [II. iii. 21]

23 Wisely and slow; they stumble that run fast. [II. iii, 94]

24 O flesh, flesh, how art thou fishified! [II. iv. (41)]

4 Adversity's sweet milk, philosophy. [III. iii. 54]

5 It was the nightingale, and not the lark, / That pierced the fearful hollow of thine ear; / Nightly she sings on yon pomegranate tree. [III. v. 2]

6 Night's candles are burnt out, and jocund day / Stands tiptoe on the misty mountain tops. [III. v. 9]

7 Villain and he be many miles asunder. [III. v. 82]

8 'Tis an ill cook that cannot lick his own fingers. [IV. ii. (6)]

9 My poverty, but not my will, consents. [V. i. 75]

10 The time and my intents are savage-wild, / More fierce and more inexorable far / Than empty tigers or the roaring sea. [V. iii. 37]

11 Tempt not a desperate man. [V. iii. 59]

12 How oft when men are at the point of death / Have they been merry! [V. iii. 88]

13 Beauty's ensign yet / Is crimson in thy lips and in thy cheeks, / And death's pale flag is not advancèd there. [V. iii. 94]

14 O! here / Will I set up my everlasting rest, / And shake the yoke of inauspicious stars / From this world-wearied flesh. Eyes look your last! / Arms, take your last embrace! [V. iii. 109]

19 Love in idleness. [I. i. (155)]

20 Nothing comes amiss, so money comes withal. [I. ii. (82)]

21 I must dance bare-foot on her wedding day, / And, for your love to her, lead apes in hell. [II. i. 33]

22 Kiss me, Kate. [II. i. 318]

23 This is the way to kill a wife with kindness. [IV. i. (211)]

24 And as the sun breaks through the darkest clouds, / So honour peereth in the meanest habit. [IV. iii. (175)]

25 O vile, / Intolerable, not to be endured! [V. ii. 93]

26 A woman moved is like a fountain troubled, / Muddy, ill-seeming, thick, bereft of beauty. [V. ii. 143]

27 Such duty as the subject owes the prince, / Even such a woman oweth to her husband. [V. ii. 156]

The Tempest

28 He hath no drowning mark upon him; his complexion is perfect gallows. [I. i. (33)]

29 What seest thou else / In the dark backward and abysm of time? [I. ii. 49]

30 Your tale, sir, would cure deafness. [I. ii. 106]

31 My library / Was dukedom large enough. [I. ii. 109]

32 A rotten carcass of a boat, not rigged, / Nor tackle, sail, nor mast; the very rats / Instinctively have quit it. [I. ii. 146]

33 Knowing I loved my books, he furnished me, / From mine own library with volumes that / I prize above my dukedom. [I. ii. 166]

34 From the still-vexed Bermoothes. [I. ii. 229]

35 I will be correspondent to command, / And do my spiriting gently. [I. ii. 297]

36 You taught me language; and my profit on't / Is, I know how to curse; the red plague rid you, / For learning me your language! [I. ii. 363]

37 Come unto these yellow sands, / And then take hands; / Curtsied when you have, and kissed, – / The wild waves whist. [I. ii. 375]

1 Full fathom five thy father lies; / Of his bones are coral made: / Those are pearls that were his eyes: / Nothing of him that doth fade, / But doth suffer a sea-change / Into something rich and strange. [I. ii. 394]

2 The fringèd curtains of thine eye advance, / And say what thou seest yond. [I. ii. 405]

3 He receives comfort like cold porridge. [II. i. (10)]

4 They'll take suggestion as a cat laps milk. [II. i. (296)]

5 Open-eyed conspiracy / His time doth take. [II. i. (309)]

6 A very ancient and fish-like smell. [II. ii. (27)]

7 Misery acquaints a man with strange bedfellows. [II. ii. (42)]

8 Well, here's my comfort. (Drinks.) [II. ii. (48)]

9 The master, the swabber, the boatswain and I, / The gunner and his mate, / Loved Mall, Meg and Marian and Margery, / But none of us cared for Kate; / For she had a tongue with a tang, / Would cry to a sailor 'Go hang!' [II. ii. (49)]

10 'Ban, 'Ban, Ca-Caliban, / Has a new master – Get a new man. [II. ii. (197)]

11 For several virtues / Have I liked several women. [III. i. 42]

12 FERDINAND: Here's my hand.
MIRANDA: And mine with my heart in't. [III. i. 89]

13 Thou deboshed fish thou. [III. ii. (30)]

14 Flout 'em, and scout 'em; and scout 'em, and flout 'em; / Thought is free. [III. ii. (133)]

15 He that dies pays all debts. [III. ii. (143)]

16 Be not afeard: the isle is full of noises, / Sounds and sweet airs, that give delight and hurt not. [III. ii. (147)]

17 You sun-burned sicklemen, of August weary. [IV. i. 134]

18 Our revels now are ended. These our actors, / As I foretold you, were all spirits and / Are melted into air, into thin air: / And, like the baseless fabric of this vision, / The cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces, / The solemn temples, the great globe itself, / Yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve / And, like this insubstantial pageant faded, / Leave not a rack behind. We are such stuff / As dreams are made on, and our little life / Is rounded with a sleep. [IV. i. 148]

19 I do begin to have bloody thoughts. [IV. i. (221)]

20 With foreheads villanous low. [IV. i. (252)]

21 Now does my object gather to a head. [V. i. 1]

22 The rarer action is / In virtue than in vengeance. [V. i. 27]

23 Ye elves of hills, brooks, standing lakes and groves; / And ye, that on the sands with printless foot / Do chase the ebbing Neptune and do fly him / When he comes back. [V. i. 33]

24 I'll break my staff, / Bury it certain fathoms in the earth, / And, deeper than did ever plummet sound, / I'll drown my book. [V. i. 54]

25 Where the bee sucks, there suck I: / In a cowslip's bell I lie; / There I couch when owls do cry. / On the bat's back I do fly / After summer merrily: / Merrily, merrily shall I live now / Under the blossom that hangs on the bough. [V. i. 88]

26 How beauteous mankind is! O brave new world, / That has such people in't! [V. i. 183]

27 How camest thou in this pickle? [V. i. (281)]

28 Retire me to my Milan, where / Every third thought shall be my grave. [V. i. (310)]

Timon of Athens

29 Our poesy is as a gum, which oozes / From whence 'tis nourished. [I. i. 21]

30 'Tis not enough to help the feeble up, / But to support him after. [I. i. 108]

31 I wonder men dare trust themselves with men. [I. ii. (45)]

32 Men shut their doors against a setting sun. [I. ii. (152)]

33 We have seen better days. [IV. ii. 27]

34 Timon hath made his everlasting mansion / Upon the beachèd verge of the salt flood, / Who once a day with his embossèd froth / The turbulent surge shall cover. [V. i. (220)]

Titus Andronicus

1 He lives in fame that died in virtue's cause. [I. i. 390]

2 She is a woman, therefore may be wooed; / She is a woman, therefore may be won, / She is Lavinia, therefore must be loved. / What, man! more water glideth by the mill / Than wots the miller of; and easy it is / Of a cut loaf to steal a shive, we know. [II. i. 82]

3 Come, and take choice of all my library, / And so beguile thy sorrow. [IV. i. 34]

4 The eagle suffers little birds to sing, / And is not careful what they mean thereby. [IV. iv. (82)]

5 If one good deed in all my life I did, / I do repent it from my very soul. [V. iii. 189]

Troilus and Cressida

6 I have had my labour for my travail. [I. i. (73)]

7 She's a merry Greek indeed. [I. ii. (116)]

8 Women are angels, wooing: / Things won are done; joy's soul lies in the doing: / That she beloved knows nought that knows not this: / Men prize the thing ungained more than it is. [I. ii. (310)]

9 The heavens themselves, the planets, and this centre / Observe degree, priority, and place, / Insisture, course, proportion, season, form, / Office, and custom, in all line of order. [I. iii. 85]

10 Take but degree away, untune that string / And hark what discord follows; each, thing meets / In mere oppugnancy. [I. iii. 109]

11 An envious fever / Of pale and bloodless emulation. [I. iii. 133]

12 To hear the wooden dialogue. [I. iii. 155]

13 The baby figure of the giant mass / Of things to come at large. [I. iii. 345]

14 'Tis mad idolatry / To make the service greater than the god. [II. ii. 56]

15 Thus to persist / In doing wrong extenuates not wrong, / But makes it much more heavy. [II. ii. 186]

16 That little little less than little wit. [II. iii. (14)]

17 I am giddy, expectation whirls me round. / The imaginary relish is so sweet / That it enchants my sense. [III. ii. (17)]

18 This is the monstruosity in love, lady, that the will is infinite and the execution confined. [III. ii. (85)]

19 To be wise, and love, / Exceeds man's might. [III. ii. (163)]

20 Let all pitiful goers-between be called to the world's end after my name; call them all Pandars. [III. ii. (208)]

21 Time hath, my lord, a wallet at his back, / Wherein he puts alms for oblivion, / A great-sized monster of ingratitudes: / Those scraps are good deeds past: which are devoured / As fast as they are made, forgot as soon / As done. [III. iii. 145]

22 Perseverance, dear my lord, / Keeps honour bright: to have done, is to hang / Quite out of fashion, like a rusty mail / In monumental mockery. [III. iii. 150]

23 Time is like a fashionable host / That slightly shakes his parting guest by the hand, / And with his arms outstretched, as he would fly, / Grasps in the comer: welcome ever smiles, / And farewell goes out sighing. [III. iii. 165]

24 Envious and calumniating time. [III. iii. 174]

25 One touch of nature makes the whole world kin. [III. iii. 175]

26 And give to dust that is a little gilt / More laud than gilt o'er-dusted. [III. iii. 178]

27 My mind is troubled, like a fountain stirred; / And I myself see not the bottom of it. [III. iii. (314)]

28 There's language in her eye, her cheek, her lip, / Nay, her foot speaks, her wanton spirits look out / At every joint and motive of her body. [IV. v. 55]

29 The end crowns all, / And that old common arbitrator, Time, / Will one day end it. [IV. v. 223]

30 Lechery, lechery; still, wars and lechery; nothing else holds fashion. [V. ii. (192)]

31 Words, words, mere words, no matter from the heart. [V. iii. (109)]

Twelfth Night

32 If music be the food of love, play on; / Give me excess of it, that, surfeiting, / The appetite may sicken, and so die. / That strain again! it had a dying fall: / O! it came o'er my ear like the sweet sound / That breathes upon a bank of violets, / Stealing and giving odour! [I. i. 1]

1 O spirit of love! how quick and fresh art thou, / That notwithstanding thy capacity / Receiveth as the sea, nought enters there, / Of what validity and pitch soe'er, / But falls into abatement and low price, / Even in a minute: so full of shapes is fancy, / That it alone is high fantastical. [I. i. 9]

2 I am sure care's an enemy to life. [I. iii. (2)]

3 Speaks three or four languages word for word without book. [I. iii. (28)]

4 Methinks sometimes I have no more wit than a Christian or an ordinary man has; but I am a great eater of beef, and I believe that does harm to my wit. [I. iii. (90)]

5 Wherefore are these things hid? [I. iii. (135)]

6 Is it a world to hide virtues in? [I. iii. (142)]

7 Many a good hanging prevents a bad marriage. [I. v. (20)]

8 Good my mouse of virtue, answer me. [I. v. (68)]

9 A plague o' these pickle herring! [I. v. (127)]

10 One would think his mother's milk were scarce out of him. [I. v. (171)]

11 Lady, you are the cruell'st she alive. [I. v. (260)]

12 Item, Two lips, indifferent red; Item, Two grey eyes with lids to them; Item, One neck, one chin, and so forth. [I. v. (268)]

13 Make me a willow cabin at your gate, / And call upon my soul within the house; / Write loyal cantons of contemnèd love, / And sing them loud even in the dead of night; / Holla your name to the reverberate hills, / And make the babbling gossip of the air / Cry out, 'Olivia'. [I. v. (289)]

14 Farewell, fair cruelty. [I. v. (309)]

15 Not to be a-bed after midnight is to be up betimes. [II. iii. 1]

16 O mistress mine! where are you roaming? / O! stay and hear; your true love's coming, / That can sing both high and low. / Trip no further, pretty sweeting; / Journeys end in lovers meeting, / Every wise man's son doth know. [II. iii. (42)]

17 In delay there lies no plenty; / Then come kiss me, sweet and twenty, / Youth's a stuff will not endure. [II. iii. (53)]

18 He does it with a better grace, but I do it more natural. [II. iii. (91)]

19 Is there no respect of place persons, nor time in you? [II. iii. (100)]

20 SIR TOBY: Dost thou think, because thou art virtuous, there shall be no more cakes and ale?
CLOWN: Yes by Saint Anne; and ginger shall be hot i' the mouth too. [II. iii. (124)]

21 My purpose is, indeed, a horse of that colour. [II. iii. (184)]

22 I was adored once too. [II. iii. (200)]

23 It gives a very echo to the seat / Where Love is throned. [II. iv. 21]

24 Let still the woman take / An elder than herself, so wears she to him, / So sways she level in her husband's heart: / For, boy, however we do praise ourselves, / Our fancies are more giddy and unfirm, / More longing, wavering, sooner lost and worn, / Than women's are. [II. iv. 29]

25 Then let thy love be younger than thyself, / Or thy affection cannot hold the bent. [II. iv. 36]

26 The spinsters and the knitters in the sun, / And the free maids that weave their thread with bones, / Do use to chant it: it is silly sooth, / And dallies with the innocence of love, / Like the old age. [II. iv. 44]

27 Come away, come away, death, / And in sad cypress let me be laid; / Fly away, fly away, breath: / I am slain by a fair cruel maid. / My shroud of white, stuck all with yew, / O! prepare it: / My part of death, no one so true / Did share it. [II. iv. 51]

28 DUKE: And what's her history?
VIOLA: A blank, my lord. She never told her love, / But let concealment like a worm i' the bud, / Feed on her damask cheek: she pined in thought, / And with a green and yellow melancholy, / She sat like Patience on a monument, / Smiling at grief. [II. iv. (111)]

29 I am all the daughters of my father's house, / And all the brothers too. [II. iv. (122)]

1 Be not afraid of greatness: some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them. [II. v. (158)]

2 Remember who commended thy yellow stockings, and wished to see thee ever cross-gartered. [II. v. (168)]

3 O world! how apt the poor are to be proud. [III. i. (141)]

4 O! what a deal of scorn looks beautiful / In the contempt and anger of his lip. [III. i. (159)]

5 Love sought is good, but giv'n unsought is better. [III. i. (170)]

6 You will hang like an icicle on a Dutchman's beard. [III. ii. (30)]

7 Let there be gall enough in thy ink, though thou write with a goose-pen, no matter. [III. ii. (54)]

8 I think we do know the sweet Roman hand. [III. iv. (31)]

9 Why this is very midsummer madness. [III. iv. (62)]

10 If this were played upon a stage now, / I could condemn it as an improbable fiction. [III. iv. (142)]

11 More matter for a May morning. [III. iv. (158)]

12 Still you keep o' the windy side of the law. [III. iv. (183)]

13 Out of my lean and low ability I'll lend you something. [III. iv. (380)]

14 I hate ingratitude more in a man / Than lying, vainness, babbling drunkenness, / Or any taint of vice whose strong corruption / Inhabits our frail blood. [III. iv. (390)]

15 CLOWN: What is the opinion of Pythagoras concerning wild fowl?
MALVOLIO: That the soul of our grandam might haply inhabit a bird. [IV. ii. (55)]

16 Leave thy vain bibble-babble. [IV. ii. (106)]

17 And thus the whirligig of time brings in his revenges. [V. i. (388)]

18 When that I was and a little tiny boy, / With hey, ho, the wind and the rain; / A foolish thing was but a toy, / For the rain it raineth every day. [V. i. (401)]

19 A great while ago the world begun, / With hey, ho, the wind and the rain; / But that's all one, our play is done, / And we'll strive to please you every day. [V. i. (417)]

The Two Gentlemen of Verona

20 Home-keeping youth have ever homely wits. [I. i. 2]

21 I have no other but a woman's reason: / I think him so, because I think him so. [I. ii. 23]

22 How wayward is this foolish love / That, like a testy babe, will scratch the nurse / And presently all humbled kiss the rod! [I. ii. 55]

23 O! how this spring of love resembleth / The uncertain glory of an April day. [I. iii. 84]

24 He makes sweet music with th' enamelled stones / Giving a gentle kiss to every sedge / He overtaketh in his pilgrimage. [II. vii. 28]

25 Except I be by Silvia in the night, / There is no music in the nightingale; / Unless I look on Silvia in the day, / There is no day for me to look upon. [III. i. 178]

26 Much is the force of heaven-bred poesy. [III. ii. 72]

27 Who is Silvia? What is she, / That all our swains commend her? [IV. ii. (40)]

28 How use doth breed a habit in a man! [V. iv. 1]

29 O heaven! were man / But constant, he were perfect. [V. iv. 110]

The Winter's Tale

30 Two lads that thought there was no more behind / But such a day tomorrow as today, / And to be boy eternal. [I. ii. 63]

31 We were as twinned lambs that did frisk i' the sun, / And bleat the one at the other: what we changed / Was innocence for innocence: we knew not / The doctrine of ill-doing, no, nor dreamed / That any did. [I. ii. 67]

32 Paddling palms and pinching fingers. [I. ii. 116]

33 A sad tale's best for winter. / I have one of sprites and goblins. [II. i. 24]

34 The silence often of pure innocence / Persuades when speaking fails. [II. ii. 41]

35 I am a feather for each wind that blows. [II. iii. 153]

1 What's gone and what's past help / Should be past grief. [III. ii. (223)]

2 Exit, pursued by a bear. [III. iii. 57, stage direction]

3 I would there were no age between sixteen and three-and-twenty, or that youth would sleep out the rest; for there is nothing in the between but getting wenches with child, wronging the ancientry, stealing, fighting. [III. iii. 58]

4 This is fairy gold. [III. iii. (127)]

5 When daffodils begin to peer, / With heigh! the doxy, over the dale, / Why, then comes in the sweet o' the year; / For the red blood reigns in the winter's pale. [IV. ii. 1]

6 Set my pugging tooth on edge; / For a quart of ale is a dish for a king. [IV. ii. 7]

7 Summer songs for me and my aunts, / While we lie tumbling in the hay. [IV. ii. 11]

8 A snapper-up of unconsidered trifles. [IV. ii. (26)]

9 For the life to come, I sleep out the thought of it. [IV. ii. (30)]

10 Jog on, jog on, the foot-path way, / And merrily hent the stile-a: / A merry heart goes all the day, / Your sad tires in a mile-a. [IV. ii. (133)]

11 For you there's rosemary and rue, these keep / Seeming and savour all the winter long. [IV. iii. 74]

12 Here's flowers for you; / Hot lavender, mints, savory, marjoram; / The marigold, that goes to bed wi' the sun, / And with him rises weeping. [IV. iii. 103]

13 O Proserpina! / For the flowers now that frighted thou let'st fall / From Dis's waggon! daffodils, / That come before the swallow dares, and take / The winds of March with beauty; violets dim, / But sweeter than the lids of Juno's eyes / Or Cytherea's breath; pale primroses, / That die unmarried ere they can behold / Bright Phoebus in his strength – a malady / Most incident to maids; bold oxlips and / The crown imperial; lilies of all kinds, / The flower-de-luce being one. [IV. iii. 116]

14 What you do / Still betters what is done. When you speak sweet, / I'd have you do it ever: when you sing, / I'd have you buy and sell so; so give alms; / Pray so; and, for the ordering your affairs, / To sing them too: when you do dance I wish you / A wave o' the sea; that you might ever do / Nothing but that; move still, still so, / And own no other function. [IV. iii. 136]

15 Good sooth, she is / The queen of curds and cream. [IV. iii. 160]

16 Lawn as white as driven snow. [IV. iii. (220)]

17 The self-same sun that shines upon his court / Hides not his visage from our cottage, but / Looks on alike. [IV. iii. (457)]

18 I'll queen it no inch further, / But milk my ewes and weep. [IV. iii. (462)]

19 Though I am not naturally honest, / I am so sometimes by chance. [IV. iii. (734)]

20 Let me have no lying: it becomes none but tradesmen. [IV. iii. (747)]

Poems

21 Crabbed age and youth cannot live together: / Youth is full of pleasance, age is full of care. [The Passionate Pilgrim, xii]

22 Age, I do abhor thee, youth, I do adore thee. [Ib.]

23 Beauty itself doth of itself persuade / The eyes of men without an orator. [The Rape of Lucrece, 29]

24 For greatest scandal waits on greatest state. [Ib. 1006]

25 Cloud-kissing Ilion. [Ib. 1370]

26 And now this pale swan in her watery nest / Begins the sad dirge of her certain ending. [Ib. 1611]

27 To the only begetter of these insuing sonnets. [Sonnets, Dedication]

28 From fairest creatures we desire increase, / That thereby beauty's rose might never die. [Ib. 1]

29 When forty winters shall besiege thy brow, / And dig deep trenches in thy beauty's field. [Ib. 2]

30 Thou art thy mother's glass, and she in thee / Calls back the lovely April of her prime. [Ib. 3]

31 When I do count the clock that tells the time, / I see the brave day sunk in hideous night; / When I behold the violet past prime, / And sable curls all silvered o'er with white; / When lofty trees I see barren of leaves, / Which erst from heat did canopy the herd, / And summer's green all girded up in sheaves, / Borne on the bier with white and bristly beard. [Sonnets, 12]

1 If I could write the beauty of your eyes / And in fresh numbers number all your graces. [Ib. 17]

2 And stretchèd metre of an antique song. [Ib.]

3 Shall I compare thee to a summer's day? / Thou art more lovely and more temperate: / Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May, / And summer's lease hath all too short a date. / Sometimes too hot the eye of heaven shines, / And often is his gold complexion dimmed; / And every fair from fair sometimes declines. [Ib. 18]

4 But thy eternal summer shall not fade. [Ib.]

5 O let my books be then the eloquence / And dumb presagers of my speaking breast. [Ib. 23]

6 The painful warrior famousèd for fight, / After a thousand victories once foiled, / Is from the book of honour razèd quite, / And all the rest forgot for which he toiled. [Ib. 25]

7 Weary with toil I haste me to my bed. [Ib. 27]

8 When in disgrace with fortune and men's eyes / I all alone beweep my outcast state. [Ib. 29]

9 Haply I think on thee – and then my state, / Like to the lark at break of day arising / From sullen earth, sings hymns at heaven's gate; / For the sweet love remembered such wealth brings / That then I scorn to change my state with kings. [Ib.]

10 When to the sessions of sweet silent thought / I summon up remembrance of things past, / I sigh the lack of many a thing I sought, / And with old woes new wail my dear times' waste: / Then can I drown an eye, unused to flow, / For precious friends hid in death's dateless night, / And weep afresh love's long since cancelled woe, / And moan the expense of many a vanished sight. [Ib. 30]

11 But if the while I think on thee, dear friend, / All losses are restored and sorrows end. [Sonnets, 30]

12 But since he died, and poets better prove, / Theirs for their style I'll read, his for his love. [Ib. 32]

13 Full many a glorious morning have I seen / Flatter the mountain tops with sovereign eye, / Kissing with golden face the meadows green, / Gilding pale streams with heavenly alchemy. [Ib. 33]

14 Ah! but those tears are pearl which thy love sheds, / And they are rich and ransom all ill deeds. [Ib. 34]

15 Roses have thorns, and silver fountains mud; / Clouds and eclipses stain both moon and sun. [Ib. 35]

16 Not marble, nor the gilded monuments / Of princes, shall outlive this powerful rhyme. [Ib. 55]

17 Being your slave, what should I do but tend / Upon the hours and times of your desire? [Ib. 57]

18 So true a fool is love that in your will / Though you do anything, he thinks no ill. [Ib.]

19 Like as the waves make towards the pebbled shore, / So do our minutes hasten to their end. [Ib. 60]

20 Time doth transfix the flourish set on youth / And delves the parallels in beauty's brow. [Ib.]

21 When I have seen by Time's fell hand defaced / The rich-proud cost of outworn buried age. [Ib. 64]

22 When I have seen the hungry ocean gain / Advantage on the kingdom of the shore. [Ib.]

23 Since brass, nor stone, nor earth, nor boundless sea, / But sad mortality o'ersways their power, / How with this rage shall beauty hold a plea, / Whose action is no stronger than a flower? [Ib. 65]

24 Tired with all these, for restful death I cry. [Ib. 66]

25 And art made tongue-tied by authority. [Ib.]

26 And simple truth miscalled simplicity, / And captive good attending captain ill. [Ib.]

27 No longer mourn for me when I am dead / Than you shall hear the surly sullen bell

/ Give warning to the world that I am fled / From this vile world, with vilest worms to dwell. [Sonnets, 71]

1 O! if, – I say, you look upon this verse, / When I perhaps compounded am with clay, / Do not so much as my poor name rehearse, / But let your love even with my life decay. [Ib.]

2 That time of year thou mayst in me behold / When yellow leaves, or none, or few, do hang / Upon those boughs which shake against the cold, / Bare ruined choirs, where late the sweet birds sang. [Ib. 73]

3 Your monument shall be my gentle verse, / Which eyes not yet created shall o'er-read; / And tongues to be, your being shall rehearse, / When all the breathers of this world are dead. [Ib. 81]

4 Was it the proud full sail of this great verse, / Bound for the prize of all too precious you? [Ib. 86]

5 That affable familiar ghost / Which nightly gulls him with intelligence. [Ib.]

6 Farewell! thou art too dear for my possessing, / And like enough thou know'st thy estimate. [Ib. 87]

7 Thus have I had thee, as a dream doth flatter, / In sleep a king, but, waking, no such matter. [Ib.]

8 Ah! do not, when my heart hath 'scaped this sorrow, / Come in the rearward of a conquered woe; / Give not a windy night a rainy morrow, / To linger out a purposed overthrow. [Ib. 90]

9 They that have power to hurt and will do none, / That do not do the thing they most do show, / Who, moving others, are themselves as stone, / Unmovèd, cold, and to temptation slow. [Ib. 94]

10 The summer's flower is to the summer sweet, / Though to itself it only live and die. [Ib.]

11 For sweetest things turn sourest by their deeds; / Lilies that fester smell far worse than weeds. [Ib.]

12 From you have I been absent in the spring, / When proud-pied April, dressed in all his trim, / Hath put a spirit of youth in every thing. [Ib. 98]

13 To me, fair friend, you never can be old, / For as you were when first your eye I eyed, / Such seems your beauty still. [Ib. 104]

14 Ah! yet doth beauty, like a dial-hand, / Steal from his figure and no pace perceived. [Sonnets, 104]

15 Hear this thou age unbred: / Ere you were born was beauty's summer dead. [Ib.]

16 When in the chronicle of wasted time / I see descriptions of the fairest wights, / And beauty making beautiful old rhyme, / In praise of ladies dead and lovely knights. [Ib. 106]

17 For we, which now behold these present days, / Have eyes to wonder, but lack tongues to praise. [Ib.]

18 Not mine own fears, nor the prophetic soul / Of the wide world dreaming on things to come. [Ib. 107]

19 And peace proclaims olives of endless age. [Ib.]

20 And thou in this shalt find thy monument, / When tyrants' crests and tombs of brass are spent. [Ib.]

21 O! never say that I was false of heart, / Though absence seemed my flame to qualify. [Ib. 109]

22 Alas! 'tis true I have gone here and there, / And made myself a motley to the view. [Ib. 110]

23 My nature is subdued / To what it works in, like the dyer's hand. [Ib. 111]

24 Let me not to the marriage of true minds / Admit impediments. Love is not love / Which alters when it alteration finds, / Or tends with the remover to remove: / O, no! it is an ever-fixèd mark. [Ib. 116]

25 Love's not Time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks / Within his bending sickle's compass come. [Ib.]

26 If this be error, and upon me proved, / I never writ, nor no man ever loved. [Ib.]

27 'Tis better to be vile than vile esteemed, / When not to be receives reproach of being. [Ib. 121]

28 The expense of spirit in a waste of shame / Is lust in action; and till action, lust / Is perjured, murderous, bloody, full of blame, / Savage, extreme, rude, cruel, not to trust. [Ib. 129]

29 Mad in pursuit and in possession so; / Had, having, and in quest to have, extreme; / A bliss in proof, – and proved, a very woe; / Before, a joy proposed;

behind, a dream. / All this the world well knows; yet none knows well / To shun the heaven that leads men to this hell. [Sonnets, 129]

1 My mistress' eyes are nothing like the sun. [Ib. 130]

2 Two loves I have of comfort and despair, / Which like two spirits do suggest me still: / The better angel is a man right fair, / The worser spirit a woman coloured ill. [Ib. 144]

3 Poor soul, the centre of my sinful earth, / Fooled by these rebel powers that thee array, / Why dost thou pine within and suffer dearth, / Painting thy outward walls so costly gay? [Ib. 146]

4 So shalt thou feed on Death, that feeds on men, / And Death once dead, there's no more dying then. [Ib.]

5 Hunting he loved, but love he laughed to scorn. [Venus and Adonis, 4]

6 Bid me discourse, I will enchant thine ear, /Or like a fairy, trip upon the green, / Or like a nymph, with long dishevelled hair, / Dance on the sands, and yet no footing seen: / Love is a spirit all compact of fire, / Not gross to sink, but light, and will aspire. [Ib. 145]

7 Good friend, for Jesu's sake forbear / To dig the dust enclosèd here. / Blest be the man that spares these stones, / And curst be he that moves my bones. [His epitaph]

traveller from the cradle to the grave / Through the dim light of this immortal day. [Prometheus Unbound, IV. 549]

1 To suffer woes which hope thinks infinite; / To forgive wrongs darker than death or night; / To defy power, which seems omnipotent; / To love, and bear; to hope till hope creates / From its own wreck the thing it contemplates; / Neither to change, nor falter, nor repent; / This, like thy glory, Titan, is to be / Good, great and joyous, beautiful and free; / This is alone life, joy, empire, and victory. [Ib. IV. 570]

2 I dreamed that, as I wandered by the way,/ Bare winter suddenly was changed to spring. [The Question]

3 There grew pied wind-flowers and violets, / Daisies, those pearled Arcturi of the earth, / The constellated flower that never sets; / Faint oxslips; tender bluebells, at whose birth / The sod scarce heaved. [Ib.]

4 I hastened to the spot whence I had come, / That I might there present it! – Oh! to whom? [Ib.]

5 With hue like that when some great painter dips / His pencil in the gloom of earthquake and eclipse. [The Revolt of Islam, V. 1925]

6 A sensitive plant in a garden grew, / And the young winds fed it with silver dew. [The Sensitive Plant, I. 1]

7 It is a modest creed, and yet / Pleasant if one considers it, / To own that death itself must be, / Like all the rest, a mockery. [Ib. III. 126]

8 Rarely, rarely, comest thou, / Spirit of Delight! [Song: Rarely, Rarely, Comest Thou]

9 Let me set my mournful ditty / To a merry measure; / Thou wilt never come for pity, / Thou wilt come for pleasure. [Ib.]

10 Men of England, wherefore plough / For the lords who lay ye low? [Song to the Men of England]

11 The seed ye sow, another reaps; / The wealth ye find, another keeps. [Ib.]

12 An old, mad, blind, despised, and dying king. [Sonnet: England in 1819]

13 Lift not the painted veil which those who live / Call life. [Ib. Lift not the Painted Veil]

14 Through the unheeding many he did move, / A splendour among shadows, a bright blot / Upon this gloomy scene, a spirit that strove / For truth, and like the preacher found it not. [Sonnet: Lift not the Painted Veil]

15 Away! the moor is dark beneath the moon, / Rapid clouds have drunk the last pale beam of even: / Away! the gathering winds will call the darkness soon, / And profoundest midnight shroud the serene lights of heaven. [Stanzas – April 1814]

16 Duty and dereliction guide thee back to solitude. [Ib.]

17 That content surpassing wealth / The sage in meditation found, / And walked with inward glory crowned. [Stanzas written in Dejection]

18 Yet now despair itself is mild, / Even as the winds and waters are; / I could lie down like a tired child, / And weep away the life of care / Which I have borne and yet must bear. [Ib.]

19 I fear thy kisses, gentle maiden, / Thou needest not fear mine. [To —, I fear thy Kisses]

20 Music, when soft voices die, / Vibrates in the memory – / Odours, when sweet violets sicken, / Live within the sense they quicken.

Rose-leaves, when the rose is dead, / Are heaped for the belovèd's bed; / And so thy thoughts, when thou art gone, / Love itself shall slumber on. [To —, Music, When Soft Voices Die]

21 One word is too often profaned / For me to profane it, / One feeling too falsely disdained / For thee to disdain it. [To —, One Word is Too Often Profaned]

22 The worship the heart lifts above / And the Heavens reject not, – / The desire of the moth for the star, / Of the night for the morrow, / The devotion to something afar / From the sphere of our sorrow. [Ib.]

23 Best and brightest, come away! [To Jane: The Invitation]

24 I am gone into the fields / To take what this sweet hour yields; – / Reflection, you may come to-morrow, / Sit by the fireside with Sorrow. [Ib.]

25 Art thou pale for weariness / Of climbing heaven and gazing on the earth, / Wandering companionless / Among the stars that have a different birth, – / And ever changing, like a joyless eye / That finds no object worth its constancy? [To the Moon]

1 Swiftly walk o'er the western wave, / Spirit of Night! / Out of the misty eastern cave, / Where, all the long and lone daylight, / Thou wovest dreams of joy and fear. [To Night]

2 Kiss her until she be wearied out, / Then wander o'er city, and sea, and land, / Touching all with thine opiate wand – / Come, long-sought! [Ib.]

3 When I arose and saw the dawn, / I sighed for thee. [Ib.]

4 Thy brother Death came, and cried, / Wouldst thou me? / Thy sweet child Sleep, the filmy-eyed, / Murmured like a noontide bee, / Shall I nestle near thy side? [Ib.]

5 I ask of thee, belovèd Night – / Swift be thine approaching flight, / Come soon, soon! [Ib.]

6 Hail to thee, blithe spirit! / Bird thou never wert, / That from heaven, or near it, / Pourest thy full heart / In profuse strains of unpremeditated art. [To a Skylark, 1]

7 And singing still dost soar, and soaring ever singest. [Ib. 10]

8 Like a star of Heaven, / In the broad daylight / Thou art unseen, but yet I hear thy shrill delight. [Ib. 18]

9 Like a poet hidden / In the light of thought, / Singing hymns unbidden, / Till the world is wrought / To sympathy with hopes and fears it heeded not. [Ib. 36]

10 We look before and after, / And pine for what is not: / Our sincerest laughter / With some pain is fraught; / Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest thought. [Ib. 86]

11 Such harmonious madness / From my lips would flow / The world should listen then – as I am listening now. [Ib. 103]

12 Then, what is life? I cried. [The Triumph of Life, 544]

13 And like a dying lady, lean and pale, / Who totters forth, wrapped in a gauzy veil, / Out of her chamber, led by the insane / And feeble wanderings of her fading brain, / The moon arose up in the murky east, / A white and shapeless mass – [The Waning Moon]

14 For she was beautiful – her beauty made / The bright world dim, and everything beside / Seemed like the fleeting image of a shade. [The Witch of Atlas, 137]

15 The rapid, blind / And fleeting generations of mankind. [Ib. 615]

16 Ariel to Miranda: – Take / This slave of music, for the sake / Of him who is the slave of thee. [With a Guitar, to Jane]

17 The rich have become richer, and the poor have become poorer. [A Defence of Poetry]

GENERAL SHERMAN 1820–1891

31 I am tired and sick of war. Its glory is all moonshine. . . . War is hell. [Attr. words in Address at Michigan Military Academy, 19 June 1879]

JAMES SHIRLEY 1596–1666

32 The glories of our blood and state / Are shadows, not substantial things; / There is no armour against fate; / Death lays his icy hand on kings, / Sceptre and crown / Must tumble down, / And in the dust be equal made / With the poor crooked scythe and spade. [The Contention of Ajax and Ulysses, iii]

33 The garlands wither on your brow, / Then boast no more your mighty deeds, / Upon death's purple altar now, / See where the victor-victim bleeds, / Your heads must come, / To the cold tomb; / Only the actions of the just / Smell sweet, and blossom in their dust. [Ib.]

SIR PHILIP SIDNEY 1554–1586

4 My true love hath my heart and I have his, / By just exchange one for another given. [Arcadia, Bk 3]

5 'Fool,' said my Muse to me, 'look in thy heart and write.' [Astrophel and Stella, Sonnet 1]

6 With how sad steps, O Moon, thou climb'st the skies! / How silently, and with how wan a face! / What! may it be that even in heavenly place / That busy archer his sharp arrows tries? [Ib. 31]

7 Do they above love to be loved, and yet / Those lovers scorn whom that love doth possess? / Do they call virtue there ungratefulness? [Ib.]

8 Come sleep! O sleep, the certain knot of peace, / The baiting place of wit, the balm of woe, / The poor man's wealth, the prisoner's release, / Th' indifferent judge between the high and low. [Ib. 39]

9 That sweet enemy, France. [Ib. 41]

10 Highway, since you my chief Parnassus be, / And that my Muse, to some ears not unsweet, / Tempers her words to trampling horses' feet / More oft than to a chamber-melody, / Now, blessed you, bear onward blessed me / To her, where I my heart safe left, shall meet. [Ib. 84]

11 Leave me, O Love, which reachest but to dust; / And thou, my mind, aspire to higher things; / Grow rich in that which never taketh rust; / Whatever fades, but fading pleasure brings. [Ib. 110]

12 'Who is it that this dark night / Underneath my window plaineth?' / It is one who from thy sight, / Being, ah! exiled, disdaineth / Every other vulgar light. [Astrophel and Stella, Song 11]

10 Tip me the black spot. [Ib. 3]

11 Pieces of eight! [Ib. 10]

12 Many's the long night I've dreamed of cheese – toasted, mostly. [Ib. 15]

13 In marriage, a man becomes slack and selfish, and undergoes a fatty degeneration of his moral being. [Virginibus Puerisque, I. 1]

14 Marriage is like life in this – that it is a field of battle, and not a bed of roses. [Ib.]

15 To marry is to domesticate the Recording Angel. Once you are married, there is nothing left for you, not even suicide, but to be good. [Ib. I. 2]

16 The cruellest lies are often told in silence. [Ib. I. 4, 'Truth of Intercourse']

17 Old and young, we are all on our last cruise. [Virginibus Puerisque, 'Crabbed Age and Youth']

18 Give me the young man who has brains enough to make a fool of himself! [Ib.]

19 Books are good enough in their own way, but they are a mighty bloodless substitute for life. [Ib. 'An Apology for Idlers']

20 Extreme busyness, whether at school or college, kirk or market, is a symptom of deficient vitality. [Ib.]

21 There is no duty we so much underrate as the duty of being happy. [Ib.]

22 To travel hopefully is a better thing than to arrive, and the true success is to labour. [Ib. 'El Dorado']

23 Though we are mighty fine fellows nowadays, we cannot write like Hazlitt. [Ib. 'Walking Tours']

24 It's deadly commonplace, but, after all, the commonplaces are the great poetic truths. [Weir of Hermiston, Ch. 6]

25 Nothing like a little judicious levity. [The Wrong Box, Ch. 7]

26 I believe in an ultimate decency of things. [Letter, 23 Aug. 1893]

27 In winter I get up at night / And dress by yellow candle-light. / In summer quite the other way, / I have to go to bed by day. [A Child's Garden of Verses, i, 'Bed in Summer']

2 Children, you are very little, / And your bones are very brittle. [Ib. xxvii, 'Good and Bad Children']

3 Must we to bed indeed? Well then, / Let us arise and go like men, / And face with an undaunted tread / The long black passage up to bed. [Ib. xli, 'North-West Passage, 1, Good-Night']

4 Give to me the life I love, / Let the lave go by me, / Give the jolly heaven above / And the byway nigh me. [Songs of Travel, i, 'The Vagabond']

5 Wealth I ask not, hope nor love, / Nor a friend to know me; / All I seek, the heaven above / And the road below me. [Ib.]

6 I will make you brooches and toys for your delight / Of bird-song at morning and star-shine at night. [Ib. xi]

7 In the highlands, in the country places, / Where the old plain men have rosy faces. [Ib. xvi]

8 Sing me a song of a lad that is gone, / Say, could that lad be I? / Merry of soul he sailed on a day / Over the sea to Skye. [Ib. xlii]

9 Blows the wind today, and the sun and the rain are flying, / Blows the wind on the moors today and now, / Where about the graves of the martyrs the whaups are crying, / My heart remembers how! [Ib. xlv, 'To S. R. Crockett']

10 Be it granted me to behold you again in dying, / Hills of home! [Ib.]

11 Go, little book, and wish to all / Flowers in the garden, meat in the hall, / A bin of wine, a spice of wit, / A house with lawns enclosing it, / A living river by the door, / A nightingale in the sycamore! [Underwoods, I. i, 'Envoy']

12 There's nothing under Heaven so blue / That's fairly worth the travelling to. [Ib. I. ii, 'A Song of the Road']

13 Under the wide and starry sky, / Dig the grave and let me lie. / Glad did I live and gladly die, / And I laid me down with a will. / This be the verse you grave for me: / 'Here he lies where he longed to be; / Home is the sailor, home from sea, / And the hunter home from the hill.' [Underwoods, I. xxi, 'Requiem']

14 I am a kind of farthing dip, / Unfriendly to the nose and eyes; / A blue-behinded ape, I skip / Upon the trees of Paradise. [Ib. I. xxx, 'A Portrait']

A. C. SWINBURNE 1837–1909

3 Maiden, and mistress of the months and stars / Now folded in the flowerless fields of heaven. [Atalanta in Calydon, opening]

4 When the hounds of spring are on winter's traces, / The mother of months in meadow or plain / Fills the shadows and windy places / With lisp of leaves and ripple of rain; / And the brown bright nightingale amorous / Is half assuaged for Itylus, / For the Thracian ships and the foreign faces, / The tongueless vigil and all the pain. [Ib. Chorus, 'When the Hounds of Spring', i]

5 Bind on thy sandals, O thou most fleet, / Over the splendour and speed of thy feet; / For the faint east quickens, the wan west shivers. / Round the feet of the day and the feet of the night. [Ib. ii]

6 For winter's rains and ruins are over, / And all the season of snows and sins; / The days dividing lover and lover, / The light that loses, the night that wins. [Ib. iv]

7 And in green underwood and cover / Blossom by blossom the spring begins. [Ib.]

8 Before the beginning of years / There came to the making of man / Time with a gift of tears, / Grief with a glass that ran. [Ib. Chorus, 'Before the Beginning of Years']

9 For a day and a night and a morrow, / That his strength might endure for a span / With travail and heavy sorrow, / The holy spirit of man. [Ib.]

10 And beauty and length of days, / And night, and sleep in the night. [Ib.]

11 He weaves, and is clothed with derision; / Sows, and he shall not reap; / His life is a watch or a vision / Between a sleep and a sleep. [Ib.]

23 Pale, beyond porch and portal, / Crowned with calm leaves, she stands, / Who gathers all things mortal / With cold immortal hands. [Ib. vii]

24 We are not sure of sorrow, / And joy was never sure. [Ib. x]

25 We thank with brief thanksgiving / Whatever gods may be / That no man lives forever, / That dead men rise up never; / That even the weariest river / Winds somewhere safe to sea. [Ib. xi]

26 I am that which began: / Out of me the years roll; / Out of me God and man; / I am equal and whole; / God changes, and man, and the form of them bodily; I am the soul. [Hertha, i]

27 A creed is a rod, / And a crown is of night: / But this thing is God: / To be man with thy might, / To grow straight in the strength of thy sprit, and live out thy life as the light. [Ib. xiv]

1 Where falls not hail, or rain, or any snow, / Nor ever wind blows loudly. [Idylls of the King, 'The Passing of Arthur', 428]

2 Shadows of three dead men and thou wast one of the three. [In the Garden at Swainston]

3 Believing where we cannot prove. [In Memoriam, Prologue]

4 Thou madest Death: and lo, thy foot / Is on the skull which thou hast made. [Ib.]

5 Thou madest man, he knows not why. [Ib.]

6 Our little systems have their day; / They have their day and cease to be: / They are but broken lights of thee, / And thou, O Lord, art more than they. [Ib.]

7 I held it truth with him who sings / To one clear harp in divers tones, / That men may rise on stepping stones / Of their dead selves to higher things. [Ib. i]

8 Dark house, by which once more I stand / Here in the long unlovely street. [Ib. vii]

9 On the bald street breaks the blank day. [Ib.]

10 Or where the kneeling hamlet drains / The chalice of the grapes of God. [Ib. x]

11 To-night the winds begin to rise / And roar from yonder dropping day: / The last red leaf is whirled away, / The rooks are blown about the skies. [Ib. xv]

12 I do but sing because I must, / And pipe but as the linnets sing. [Ib. xxi]

13 The linnet born within the cage, / That never knew the summer woods. [Ib. xxvii]

14 I hold it true, whate'er befall; / I feel it when I sorrow most; / 'Tis better to have loved and lost / Than never to have loved at all. [Ib.]

15 The time draws near the birth of Christ. [Ib. xxviii]

16 Behold a man raised up by Christ! [Ib. xxxi]

17 Her eyes are homes of silent prayer. [Ib. xxxii]

18 'Twere best at once to sink to peace, / Like birds the charming serpent draws, / To drop head-foremost in the jaws / Of vacant darkness and to cease. [Ib. xxxiv]

19 And so the Word had breath, and wrought / With human hands the creed of creeds / In loveliness of perfect deeds, / More strong than all poetic thought. [In Memoriam, xxxvi]

20 How fares it with the happy dead? [Ib. xliv]

21 Be near me when my light is low, / When the blood creeps, and the nerves prick / And tingle; and the heart is sick, / And all the wheels of Being slow. [Ib. l]

22 Time, a maniac scattering dust, / And Life, a Fury slinging flame. [Ib.]

23 Do we indeed desire the dead / Should still be near us at our side? / Is there no baseness we would hide? / No inner vileness that we dread? [Ib. li]

24 Hold thou the good: define it well: / For fear divine philosophy / Should push beyond her mark and be / Procuress to the Lords of Hell. [Ib. liii]

25 Oh yet we trust that somehow good / Will be the final goal of ill. [Ib. liv]

26 But what am I? / An infant crying in the night: / An infant crying for the light: / And with no language but a cry. [Ib.]

27 So careful of the type she seems, / So careless of the single life. [Ib. lv]

28 Nature, red in tooth and claw. [Ib. lvi]

29 What hope of answer or redress? / Behind the veil, behind the veil. [Ib.]

30 Peace; come away: we do him wrong / To sing so wildly: let us go. [Ib. lvii]

31 O Sorrow, wilt thou live with me / No casual mistress, but a wife. [Ib. lix]

32 Sleep, Death's twin-brother, knows not Death, / Nor can I dream of thee as dead. [Ib. lxviii]

33 I dreamed there would be Spring no more, / That Nature's ancient power was lost. [Ib. lxix]

34 So many worlds, so much to do, / So little done, such things to be. [Ib. lxxiii]

35 Round thee with the breeze of song / To stir a little praise of dust. [Ib. lxxv]

36 God's finger touched him, and he slept. [Ib. lxxxv]

37 Fresh from brawling courts / And dusty purlieus of the law. [Ib. lxxxix]

38 There lives more faith in honest doubt, / Believe me, than in half the creeds. [Ib. xcvi]

1 He seems so near and yet so far. [In Memoriam, xcvii]

2 Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky. [Ib. cvi]

3 Ring out the old, ring in the new, / Ring, happy bells, across the snow: / The year is going, let him go; / Ring out the false, ring in the true. [Ib.]

4 Ring out the feud of rich and poor, / Ring in redress to all mankind. [Ib.]

5 Ring out a slowly dying cause, / And ancient forms of party strife; / Ring in the nobler modes of life, / With sweeter manners, purer laws. [Ib.]

6 Ring out the want, the care, the sin, / The faithless coldness of the times. [Ib.]

7 Ring out false pride in blood and place, / The civic slander and the spite. [Ib.]

8 Ring out the thousand wars of old, / Ring in the thousand years of peace. [Ib.]

9 Not the schoolboy heat, / The blind hysterics of the Celt. [Ib. cix]

10 The grand old name of gentleman. [Ib. cxi]

11 'Tis held that sorrow makes us wise. [Ib. cxiii]

12 Now fades the long last streak of snow, / Now burgeons every maze of quick / About the flowering squares, and thick / By ashen roots the violets grow. [Ib. cxv]

13 The lark becomes a sightless song. [Ib.]

14 My regret / Becomes an April violet, / And buds and blossoms like the rest. [Ib.]

15 Trust that those we call the dead / Are breathers of an ampler day. [Ib. cxviii]

16 But I was born to other things. [Ib. cxx]

17 There rolls the deep where grew the tree. [Ib. cxxiii]

18 Even tho' thrice again / The red fool-fury of the Seine / Should pile her barricades with dead. [Ib. cxxvii]

19 Thy voice is on the rolling air; / I hear thee where the waters run; / Thou standest in the rising sun, / And in the setting thou art fair. [Ib. cxxx]

20 Wearing all that weight / Of learning lightly like a flower. [Ib. Conclusion]

21 That God, which ever lives and loves, / One God, one law, one element, / And one far-off divine event, / To which the whole creation moves. [Ib.]

22 All along the valley, stream that flashest white. [In the Valley of the Cauteretz]

23 The voice of the dead was a living voice to me. [Ib.]

24 Lady Clara Vere de Vere, / Of me you shall not win renown: / You thought to break a country heart / For pastime, ere you went to town. [Lady Clara Vere de Vere]

25 A simple maiden in her flower / Is worth a hundred coats-of-arms. [Ib.]

26 The lion on your old stone gates / Is not more cold to you than I. [Ib.]

27 The gardener Adam and his wife / Smile at the claims of long descent. [Ib.]

28 'Tis only noble to be good. / Kind hearts are more than coronets, / And simple faith than Norman blood. [Ib.]

29 On either side the river lie / Long fields of barley and of rye, / That clothe the wold and meet the sky; / And thro' the field the road runs by / To many-towered Camelot. [The Lady of Shalott, i]

30 Willows whiten, aspens quiver, / Little breezes dusk and shiver / Thro' the wave that runs for ever / By the island in the river. [Ib.]

31 Only reapers, reaping early / In among the bearded barley. [Ib.]

32 She has heard a whisper say, / A curse is on her if she stay / To look down to Camelot. [Ib. ii]

33 Or when the moon was overhead, / Came two young lovers lately wed; / 'I am half sick of shadows,' said / The Lady of Shalott. [Ib.]

34 A bow-shot from her bower-eaves, / He rode between the barley-sheaves, / The sun came dazzling thro' the leaves, / And flamed upon the brazen greaves / Of bold Sir Lancelot. [Ib. iii]

35 'Tirra lirra', by the river / Sang Sir Lancelot. [Ib.]

36 She left the web, she left the loom, / She made three paces thro' the room, / She saw the water-lily bloom, / She saw the helmet and the plume, / She looked down to Camelot. / Out flew the web and floated wide; / The mirror cracked from side to side; / 'The curse is come upon me,' cried / The Lady of Shalott. [Ib.]

1 He said, 'She has a lovely face; / God in his mercy lend her grace, / The Lady of Shalott.' [The Lady of Shalott, iv]

2 Ah God! the petty fools of rhyme / That shriek and sweat in pigmy wars. [Literary Squabbles]

3 The noblest answer unto such, / Is kindly silence when they brawl. [(Altered in later version to 'perfect silence') Ib.]

4 Nourishing a youth sublime / With the fairy tales of science, and the long result of Time. [Locksley Hall, 11]

5 In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. [Ib. 20]

6 As the husband is, the wife is: thou art mated with a clown. [Ib. 47]

7 He will hold thee, when his passion shall have spent its novel force, / Something better than his dog, a little dearer than his horse. [Ib. 49]

8 Cursed be the gold that gilds the straitened forehead of a fool! [Ib. 62]

9 As the many-wintered crow that leads the clanging rookery home. [Ib. 68]

10 Such a one do I remember, whom to look at was to love. [Ib. 72]

11 Like a dog, he hunts in dreams, and thou art staring at the wall, / Where the dying night-lamp flickers, and the shadows rise and fall. [Ib. 79]

12 Thou shalt hear the 'Never, never', whispered by the phantom years. [Ib. 83]

13 With a little hoard of maxims preaching down a daughter's heart. [Ib. 94]

14 But the jingling of the guinea helps the hurt that Honour feels. [Ib. 105]

15 Men, my brothers, men the workers, ever reaping something new: / That which they have done but earnest of the things that they shall do. [Ib. 117]

16 Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew / From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue. [Ib. 123]

17 Till the war-drum throbbed no longer, and the battle-flags were furled / In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the world. [Ib. 127]

18 The kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law. [Ib. 130]

19 So I triumphed ere my passion, sweeping thro' me, left me dry, / Left me with the palsied heart, and left me with the jaundiced eye. [Locksley Hall, 131]

20 Yet I doubt not thro' the ages one increasing purpose runs, / And the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns. [Ib. 137]

21 Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers. [Ib. 143]

22 I am shamed thro' all my nature to have loved so slight a thing. [Ib. 148]

23 I will take some savage woman, she shall rear my savage race. [Ib. 168]

24 Not with blinded eyesight poring over miserable books. [Ib. 172]

25 I the heir of all the ages, in the foremost files of time. [Ib. 178]

26 Let the great world spin for ever down the ringing grooves of change. [Ib. 182]

27 Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay. [Ib. 184]

28 He is but a landscape-painter, / And a village maiden she. [The Lord of Burleigh, 7]

29 'Courage!' he said, and pointed toward the land, / 'This mounting wave will roll us shorewards soon.' / In the afternoon they came unto a land / In which it seemèd always afternoon. [The Lotos-Eaters, 1]

30 A land of streams! some, like a downward smoke, / Slow-dropping veils of thinnest lawn, did go. [Ib. 10]

31 Our island home / Is far beyond the wave; we will no longer roam. [Ib. 44]

32 Music that gentlier on the spirit lies, / Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes. [Ib. 'Choric Song', i]

33 All things have rest: why should we toil alone, / We only toil, who are the first of things. [Ib. ii]

34 There is no joy but calm! [Ib.]

35 Ah, why / Should life all labour be? [Ib. iv]

36 Time driveth onward fast, / And in a little while our lips are dumb. / Let us alone. What is it that will last? / All things are taken from us, and become / Portions and parcels of the dreadful Past. [Ib.]

1 Is there any peace / In ever climbing up the climbing wave? [The Lotos-Eaters, 'Choric Song', iv]

2 Round and round the spicy downs the yellow Lotos-dust is blown. [Ib. viii]

3 Live and lie reclined / On the hills like Gods together, careless of mankind. [Ib.]

4 The clouds are lightly curled / Round their golden houses, girdled with the gleaming world. [Ib.]

5 Surely, surely, slumber is more sweet than toil, the shore / Than labour in the deep mid-ocean, wind and wave and oar; / Oh rest ye, brother mariners, we will not wander more. [Ib.]

6 The rise / And long roll of the Hexameter. [Lucretius, 10]

7 I saw the flying atom-streams / And torrents of her myriad universe, / Ruining along the illimitable inane. [Ib. 38]

8 Weeded and worn the ancient thatch / Upon the lonely moated grange. [Mariana]

9 She only said, 'My life is dreary, / He cometh not,' she said; / She said, 'I am aweary, aweary, / I would that I were dead.' [Ib.]

10 Her tears fell with the dews at even; / Her tears fell ere the dews were dried. [Ib.]

11 Upon the middle of the night, / Waking she heard the night-fowl crow. [Ib.]

12 The blue fly sung in the pane; the mouse / Behind the mouldering wainscot shrieked. [Ib.]

13 Faultily faultless, icily regular, splendidly null, / Dead perfection, no more. [Maud, Pt 1. II]

14 One still strong man in a blatant land, / Whatever they call him, what care I, / Aristocrat, democrat, autocrat – one / Who can rule and dare not lie. [Ib. 1. X. v]

15 But ah for a man to arise in me, / That the man I am may cease to be! [Ib. 1. X. vi]

16 Birds in the high Hall-garden / When twilight was falling, / Maud, Maud, Maud, Maud, / They were crying and calling. [Ib. 1. XII. i]

17 Gorgonised me from head to foot / With a stony British stare. [Ib. 1. XIII. ii]

18 Go not, happy day, / From the shining fields, / Go not, happy day, / Till the maiden yields. [Maud, 1, XVII]

19 Come into the garden, Maud, / For the black bat, night, has flown, / Come into the garden, Maud, / I am here at the gate alone; / And the woodbine spices are wafted abroad, / And the musk of the rose is blown.

For a breeze of morning moves, / And the planet of Love is on high, / Beginning to faint in the light that she loves / On a bed of daffodil sky. [Ib. 1. XXII. i]

20 All night have the roses heard / The flute, violin, bassoon; / All night has the casement jessamine stirred / To the dancers dancing in tune; / Till a silence fell with the waking bird, / And a hush with the setting moon. [Ib. 1. XXII. iii]

21 The rose was awake all night for your sake, / Knowing your promise to me; / The lilies and roses were all awake, / They sighed for the dawn and thee. [Ib. 1. XXII. viii]

22 Queen rose of the rosebud garden of girls. [Ib. 1. XXII. ix]

23 There has fallen a splendid tear / From the passion-flower at the gate. / She is coming, my dove, my dear; / She is coming, my life, my fate, / The red rose cries, 'She is near, she is near': / And the white rose weeps, 'She is late'. [Ib. 1. XXII. x]

24 O that 'twere possible / After long grief and pain / To find the arms of my true love / Round me once again! [Ib. 2. IV. i.]

25 I embrace the purpose of God and the doom assigned. [Ib. 3. VI. v]

26 You must wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear; / To-morrow 'ill be the happiest time of all the glad New-year; / Of all the glad New-year, mother, the maddest merriest day; / For I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May. [The May Queen]

27 After it, follow it, / Follow The Gleam. [Merlin and the Gleam]

28 After-dinner talk / Across the walnuts and the wine. [The Miller's Daughter, 31]

29 What, it's you, / The padded man – that wears the stays. [The New Timon and the Poets]

6 The last great Englishman is low. [Ib. iii]

7 O friends, our chief state-oracle is mute. [Ib. iv]

8 Great in council and great in war, / Foremost captain of his time. [Ib.]

9 O fall'n at length that tower of strength / Which stood four-square to all the winds that blew! [Ib.]

10 This is England's greatest son, / He that gained a hundred fights, / Nor ever lost an English gun. [Ib. vi]

11 In that world-earthquake, Waterloo! [Ib.]

12 Our loyal passion for our temperate kings. [Ib. vii]

13 Who never sold the truth to serve the hour, / Nor paltered with eternal God for power. [Ib.]

14 Truth-teller was our England's Alfred named. [Ib.]

15 Not once or twice in our rough island-story, / The path of duty was the way to glory. [Ib. viii]

16 The toppling crags of Duty scaled / Are close upon the shining table-lands / To which our God Himself is moon and sun. [Ib.]

17 There lies a vale in Ida, lovelier / Than all the valleys of Ionian hills. [Oenone, 1]

18 O mother Ida, many-fountained Ida, / Dear mother Ida, harken ere I die. [Ib. 22]

19 I built my soul a lordly pleasure-house, / Wherein at ease for aye to dwell. [The Palace of Art, i]

20 An English home – gray twilight poured / On dewy pastures, dewy trees, / Softer than sleep – all things in order stored, / A haunt of ancient Peace. [Ib. xxii]

21 Two godlike faces gazed below; / Plato the wise and large-browed Verulam, / The first of those who know. [The Palace of Art, xli]

22 'Make me a cottage in the vale,' she said, / 'Where I may mourn and pray.' [Ib. lxxiii]

23 Our Playwright may show / In some fifth Act what this wild drama means. [The Play]

24 Dowered with the hate of hate, the scorn of scorn, / The love of love. [The Poet]

25 Then the maiden Aunt / Took this fair day for text, and from it preached / An universal culture for the crowd. [The Princess, Prologue, 107]

26 I seemed to move among a world of ghosts, / And feel myself the shadow of a dream. [Ib. I. 17]

27 As thro' the land at eve we went, / And plucked the ripened ears, / We fell out, my wife and I, / O we fell out I know not why, / And kissed again with tears. [Ib. II, song]

28 O hard, when love and duty clash! [Ib. II. 273]

29 Jewels five-words long / That on the stretched forefinger of all Time / Sparkle for ever. [Ib. II. 355]

30 Sweet and low, sweet and low, / Wind of the western sea. [Ib. III, song]

31 Sleep, my little one, sleep, my pretty one, sleep. [Ib.]

32 The splendour falls on castle walls / And snowy summits old in story: / The long light shakes across the lakes, / And the wild cataract leaps in glory. / Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying, / Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying. [Ib. IV, song]

33 O sweet and far from cliff and scar / The horns of Elfland faintly blowing! [Ib.]

34 Our echoes roll from soul to soul, / And grow for ever and for ever. [Ib.]

35 Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean, / Tears from the depth of some divine despair. [Ib. IV, second song]

36 Looking on the happy Autumn-fields, / And thinking of the days that are no more. [Ib.]

37 Dear as remembered kisses after death. [Ib.]

1 O Swallow, Swallow, flying, flying South, / Fly to her, and fall upon her gilded eaves, / And tell her, tell her, what I tell to thee. [The Princess, IV, third song]

2 Bright and fierce and fickle is the South, / And dark and true and tender is the North. [Ib.]

3 O tell her, brief is life but love is long. [Ib.]

4 Thy voice is heard thro' rolling drums, / That beat to battle where he stands. [Ib. IV, fourth song]

5 Man is the hunter; woman is his game: / The sleek and shining creatures of the chase, / We hunt them for the beauty of their skins. [Ib. V. 147]

6 Man for the field and woman for the hearth: / Man for the sword and for the needle she: / Man with the head and woman with the heart: / Man to command and woman to obey; / All else confusion. [Ib. V. 427]

7 Home they brought her warrior dead: / She nor swooned, nor uttered cry: / All her maidens, watching, said, / 'She must weep or she will die.' [Ib. VI, song]

8 The woman is so hard / Upon the woman. [Ib. VI. 205]

9 Ask me no more: thy fate and mine are sealed: / I strove against the stream and all in vain: / Let the great river take me to the main: / No more, dear love, for at a touch I yield; / Ask me no more. [Ib. VII, song]

10 Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white; / Nor waves the cypress in the palace walk; / Nor winks the gold fin in the porphyry font: / The fire-fly wakens: waken thou with me. [Ib. VII, second song]

11 Now lies the Earth all Danaë to the stars. [Ib.]

12 Now slides the silent meteor on, and leaves / A shining furrow, as thy thoughts in me. [Ib.]

13 Come down, O maid, from yonder mountain height: / What pleasure lives in height (the shepherd sang)? [Ib. VII, third song]

14 Love is of the valley, come thou down / And find him. [Ib.]

15 The moan of doves in immemorial elms, / And murmuring of innumerable bees. [The Princess, VII. 206]

16 The woman's cause is man's: they rise or sink / Together. [Ib. VII. 243]

17 Happy he / With such a mother! faith in womankind / Beats with his blood. [Ib. VII. 308]

18 Revolts, republics, revolutions, most / No graver than a schoolboys' barring out. [Ib. Conclusion, 65]

19 No little lily-handed Baronet he, / A great broad-shouldered genial Englishman, / A lord of fat prize-oxen and of sheep, / A raiser of huge melons and of pine, / A patron of some thirty charities. [Ib. 84]

20 For it was in the golden prime / Of good Haroun Alraschid. [Recollections of the Arabian Nights, 11]

21 At Flores in the Azores Sir Richard Grenville lay. [The Revenge, i]

22 I should count myself the coward if I left them, my Lord Howard, / To these Inquisition dogs and the devildoms of Spain. [Ib. ii]

23 And they blest him in their pain, that they were not left to Spain, / To the thumbscrew and the stake, for the glory of the Lord. [Ib. iii]

24 Shall we fight or shall we fly? / Good Sir Richard, tell us now, / For to fight is but to die! / There'll be little of us left by the time this sun is set. [Ib. iv]

25 We be all good Englishmen. / Let us bang these dogs of Seville, the children of the devil, / For I never turned my back upon Don or devil yet. [Ib.]

26 And a dozen times we shook 'em off as a dog that shakes his ears / When he leaps from the water to the land. [Ib. viii]

27 And the sun went down, and the stars came out far over the summer sea, / But never a moment ceased the fight of the one and the fifty-three. [Ib. ix]

28 God of battles, was ever a battle like this in the world before? [Ib.]

29 A day less or more / At sea or ashore, / We die – does it matter when? [Ib. xi]

30 Sink me the ship, Master Gunner – sink her, split her in twain! / Fall into the hands of God, not into the hands of Spain! [Ib.]

4 Poets that lasting marble seek / Must carve in Latin or in Greek. [Of English Verse]

5 The seas are quiet, when the winds give o'er; / So calm are we, when passions are no more. [Of the Last Verses in the Book]

6 The soul's dark cottage, battered and decayed, / Lets in new light thro' chinks that time has made. / Stronger by weakness, wiser men become / As they draw near to their eternal home: / Leaving the old, both worlds at once they view, / That stand upon the threshold of the new. [Ib.]

7 That which her slender waist confined / Shall now my joyful temples bind; / No monarch but would give his crown / His arms might do what this has done. [On a Girdle]

8 A narrow compass, and yet there / Dwells all that's good, and all that's fair: / Give me but what this ribbon tied, / Take all the sun goes round beside. [Ib.]

9 Go, lovely rose, / Tell her that wastes her time and me, / That now she knows, / When I resemble her to thee, / How sweet and fair she seems to be. [Song]

10 How small a part of time they share, / That are so wondrous sweet and fair. [Song, contd.]

11 Why came I so untimely forth / Into a world which, wanting thee, / Could entertain us with no worth / Or shadow of felicity? [To a very young Lady]

8 When I survey the wondrous Cross, / On which the Prince of Glory died, / My richest gain I count but loss / And pour contempt on all my pride. [Hymn]

9 Were the whole realm of nature mine, / That were a present far too small; / Love so amazing, so divine / Demands my soul, my life, my all. [Ib.]

10 'Tis the voice of the sluggard: I heard him complain, / 'You have waked me too soon, I must slumber again.' [Moral Songs, i, 'The Sluggard']

11 Our God, our help in ages past, / Our hope for years to come, / Our shelter from the stormy blast, / And our eternal home.

Beneath the shadow of Thy Throne / Thy saints have dwelt secure; / Sufficient is Thine Arm alone, / And our defence is sure.

Before the hills in order stood, / Or earth received her frame, / From everlasting Thou art God, / To endless years the same.

A thousand ages in Thy sight / Are like an evening gone; / Short as the watch that ends the night / Before the rising sun.

Time like an ever-rolling stream / Bears all its sons away; / They fly forgotten as a dream / Dies at the opening day. [Psalms, xc. First line altered by John Wesley to 'O God . . .']

2 'I only know of two painters in the world,' said a newly introduced feminine enthusiast to Whistler, 'yourself and Velazquez.' 'Why,' answered Whistler in dulcet tones, 'why drag in Velazquez?' [D. C. Seitz, Whistler Stories]

3 Yes, madam, Nature is creeping up. [(Answer to a lady who said that a certain landscape reminded her of his pictures) Ib.]

4 No, I ask it for the knowledge of a lifetime. [(Answer to counsel in his case against Ruskin, who had asked, 'For two days' labour you ask two hundred guineas?') Ib.]

5 I'm lonesome. They are all dying. I have hardly a warm personal enemy left. [Ib.]

6 OSCAR WILDE: I wish I had said that.
WHISTLER: You will, Oscar, you will. [L. C. Ingleby, Oscar Wilde]

8 Much in sorrow, oft in woe, / Onward, Christians, onward go. [Hymn. Altered by Dr W. B. Collyer to 'Oft in danger, oft in woe']

JOSEPH BLANCO WHITE
1775–1841

9 Mysterious Night! when our first parent knew / Thee from report divine, and heard thy name, / Did he not tremble for this lovely frame, / This glorious canopy of light and blue? [To Night]

T. H. WHITE
1906–1964

10 Seventeen years ago, come Michaelmas, and been after the Questing Beast ever since. Boring, very. [The Sword in the Stone, Ch. 2]

11 Train all the Pellinores with that ideah in mind. Limited eddication, rather. Fewmets, and all that. [Ib.]

12 But I unfortunately was born at the wrong end of time, and I have to live backwards from in front. [Ib. 3]

A. N. WHITEHEAD
1861–1947

16 The deliberate aim at Peace very easily passes into its bastard substitute, Anaesthesia. [Adventures of Ideas, Ch. 20]

17 An instant of time, without duration, is an imaginative logical construction. Also each duration of time mirrors in itself all temporal durations. [Science and the Modern World, Ch. iv]

WILLIAM WHITEHEAD
1715–1785

18 Yes, I'm in love, I feel it now, / And Caelia has undone me; / And yet I'll swear I can't tell how / The pleasing plague stole on me. [The Je ne sçay quoi, song]

19 Say, can you listen to the artless woes / Of an old tale, which every schoolboy knows. [The Roman Father, Prologue]

WALT WHITMAN 1819–1892

1 I hear it was charged against me that I sought to destroy institutions, / But really I am neither for nor against institutions. [I Hear It was Charged against Me]

2 If any thing is sacred the human body is sacred. [I Sing the Body Electric, 125]

3 O Captain! my Captain! our fearful trip is done, / The ship has weathered every rack, the prize we sought is won, / The port is near, the bells I hear, the people all exulting. [O Captain! my Captain!]

4 But O heart! heart! heart! / O the bleeding drops of red, / Where on the deck my Captain lies, / Fallen cold and dead. [Ib.]

5 Out of the cradle endlessly rocking, / Out of the mocking-bird's throat, the musical shuttle. [Out of the Cradle endlessly Rocking]

6 Have you your pistols? have you your sharp-edged axes? / Pioneers! O pioneers! [Pioneers! O Pioneers!]

7 Camerado, this is no book, / Who touches this touches a man. [So Long! 53]

8 A great city is that which has the greatest men and women. [Song of the Broad-Axe, 108]

9 Where the populace rise at once against the never-ending audacity of elected persons. [Ib. 121]

10 I celebrate myself, and sing myself. [Song of Myself, 1. 1]

11 I loafe and invite my soul. [Ib. 1. 4]

12 Always the procreant urge of the world. [Ib. 3. 45]

13 I believe a leaf of grass is no less than the journey-work of the stars. [Ib. 31. 663]

14 I think I could turn and live with animals, they're so placid and self-contained, / I stand and look at them long and long. / They do not sweat and whine about their condition, / They do not lie awake in the dark and weep for their sins, / They do not make me sick discussing their duty to God, / Not one is dissatisfied, not one is demented with the mania of owning things, / Not one kneels to another, nor to his kind that lived thousands of years ago, / Not one is respectable or unhappy over the whole earth. [Ib. 32. 684]

15 Behold, I do not give lectures or a little charity, / When I give I give myself. [Song of Myself, 40. 994]

16 Do I contradict myself? / Very well then I contradict myself, / (I am large, I contain multitudes). [Ib. 51. 1324]

17 I sound my barbaric yawp over the roofs of the world. [Ib. 52. 1333]

18 Afoot and light-hearted I take to the open road, / Healthy, free, the world before me. [Song of the Open Road, 1. 1]

19 When lilacs last in the dooryard bloomed, / And the great star early drooped in the western sky in the night, / I mourned, and yet shall mourn with ever-returning spring. [When Lilacs last in the Dooryard Bloomed, 1. 1]

JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER 1807–1892

20 'Shoot, if you must, this old gray head, / But spare your country's flag,' she said. [Barbara Frietchie, 35]

21 For all sad words of tongue or pen, / The saddest are these: 'It might have been!' [Maud Muller, 105]

22 The Indian Summer of the heart. [Memories, ix]

23 Dinna ye hear it? – Dinna ye hear it? / The pipes o' Havelock sound. [The Pipes at Lucknow, iv]

REV. CORNELIUS WHUR 1782–1853

24 But lasting joys the man attend / Who has a polished female friend! [The Accomplished Female Friend]

BISHOP SAMUEL WILBERFORCE 1805–1873

1 If I were a cassowary / On the plains of Timbuctoo, / I would eat a missionary, / Cassock, bands, and hymn-book too. [Impromptu verse]

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX 1855–1919

2 No question is ever settled / Until it is settled right. [Settle the Question Right]

3 Laugh and the world laughs with you; / Weep, and you weep alone; / For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth, / But has trouble enough of its own. [Solitude]

4 So many gods, so many creeds, / So many paths that wind and wind, / While just the art of being kind / Is all the sad world needs. [The World's Need]

OSCAR WILDE 1854–1900

5 I never saw a man who looked / With such a wistful eye / Upon that little tent of blue / Which prisoners call the sky. [The Ballad of Reading Gaol, Pt I. iii]

6 Yet each man kills the thing he loves, / By each let this be heard, / Some do it with a bitter look, / Some with a flattering word. / The coward does it with a kiss, / The brave man with a sword! [Ib. I. vii]

7 I know not whether Laws be right, / Or whether Laws be wrong; / All that we know who lie in gaol / Is that the wall is strong; / And that each day is like a year, / A year whose days are long. [Ib. V. i]

8 The vilest deeds like poison-weeds / Bloom well in prison-air; / It is only what is good in Man / That wastes and withers there: / Pale Anguish keeps the heavy gate / And the warder is Despair. [Ib. V. v]

9 Down the long and silent street, / The dawn, with silver-sandalled feet, / Crept like a frightened girl. [The Harlot's House]

10 Tread lightly, she is near / Under the snow, / Speak gently, she can hear / The daisies grow. [Requiescat]

11 And yet, and yet, / These Christs that die upon the barricades, / God knows it I am with them, in some ways. [Sonnet to Liberty]

12 Other people are quite dreadful. The only possible society is oneself. [An Ideal Husband, III]

13 Really, if the lower orders don't set us a good example, what on earth is the use of them? [The Importance of Being Earnest, I]

14 Truth is never pure, and rarely simple. [Ib.]

15 I have invented an invaluable permanent invalid called Bunbury, in order that I may be able to go down into the country whenever I choose. [Ib.]

16 The amount of women in London who flirt with their own husbands is perfectly scandalous. It looks so bad. It is simply washing one's clean linen in public. [Ib.]

17 In married life three is company and two is none. [Ib.]

18 LANE: There were no cucumbers in the market this morning, sir. I went down twice.
ALGERNON: No cucumbers!
LANE: No, Sir. Not even for ready money. [Ib.]

19 Rise, sir, from this semi-recumbent posture. [Ib.]

20 To lose one parent, Mr Worthing, may be regarded as a misfortune; to lose both looks like carelessness. [(Abbreviated in some editions) Ib.]

21 All women become like their mothers. That is their tragedy. No man does. That's his. [Ib.]

22 The old-fashioned respect for the young is fast dying out. [Ib.]

23 The good ended happily, and the bad unhappily. That is what Fiction means. [Ib. II]

24 Charity, dear Miss Prism, charity! None of us are perfect. I myself am peculiarly susceptible to draughts. [Ib.]

25 I never travel without my diary. One should always have something sensational to read in the train. [Ib.]

1 Your friend Bunbury is quite exploded. [Ib.]

2 In matters of grave importance, style, not sincerity, is the vital thing. [Ib. III]

3 Three addresses always inspire confidence, even in tradesmen. [Ib.]

4 Never speak disrespectfully of Society, Algernon. Only people who can't get into it do that. [Ib.]

5 No woman should ever be quite accurate about her age. It looks so calculating. [Ib.]

6 Prism! Where is that baby? [Ib.]

7 This suspense is terrible. I hope it will last. [Ib.]

8 It is a terrible thing for a man to find out suddenly that all his life he has been speaking nothing but the truth. [Ib.]

9 I can resist everything except temptation. [Lady Windermere's Fan, I]

10 I am the only person in the world I should like to know thoroughly. [Ib. II]

11 A man who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing. [(Definition of a cynic) Ib. III]

12 Experience is the name every one gives to their mistakes. [Ib.]

13 The English country gentleman galloping after a fox – the unspeakable in full pursuit of the uneatable. [A Woman of No Importance, I]

14 One should never trust a woman who tells one her real age. A woman who would tell one that would tell one anything. [Ib.]

15 LORD ILLINGWORTH: The Book of Life begins with a man and a woman in a garden.
MRS ALLONBY: It ends with Revelations. [Ib.]

16 Children begin by loving their parents. After a time they judge them. Rarely, if ever, do they forgive them. [Ib. II]

17 GERALD: I suppose society is wonderfully delightful!
LORD ILLINGWORTH: To be in it is merely a bore. But to be out of it simply a tragedy. [Ib. III]

18 You should study the Peerage, Gerald. . . . It is the best thing in fiction the English have ever done. [A Woman of No Importance, III]

19 There is no such thing as a moral or an immoral book. Books are well written, or badly written. [The Portrait of Dorian Gray, Preface]

20 All art is quite useless. [Ib.]

21 There is only one thing in the world worse than being talked about, and that is not being talked about. [Ib. Ch. I]

22 A man cannot be too careful in the choice of his enemies. [Ib.]

23 It is only shallow people who do not judge by appearances. [Ib. 2]

24 When good Americans die they go to Paris. [Ib. 3]

25 I can sympathize with everything, except suffering. [Ib.]

26 Women represent the triumph of matter over mind, just as men represent the triumph of mind over morals. [Ib. 4]

27 Meredith is a prose Browning, and so is Browning. [The Critic as Artist, Pt i, 'Intentions']

28 A little sincerity is a dangerous thing, and a great deal of it is absolutely fatal. [Ib. ii]

29 Ah! don't say you agree with me. When people agree with me I always feel that I must be wrong. [Ib.]

30 As long as war is regarded as wicked, it will always have its fascination. When it is looked upon as vulgar, it will cease to be popular. [Ib.]

31 There is no sin except stupidity. [Ib.]

32 Art never expresses anything but itself. [The Decay of Lying]

33 Please do not shoot the pianist. He is doing his best. [Impressions of America, 'Leadville']

34 As for the virtuous poor, one can pity them, of course, but one cannot possibly admire them. [The Soul of Man under Socialism]

22 All the mighty world / Of eye, and ear, – both what they half create, / And what perceive. [Ib. 105]

23 Nature never did betray / The heart that loved her. [Ib. 122]

24 Nor greetings where no kindness is, nor all / The dreary intercourse of daily life, / Shall e'er prevail against us, or disturb / Our cheerful faith, that all which we behold / Is full of blessings. [Ib. 130]

25 I heard a thousand blended notes, / While in a grove I sate reclined, / In that sweet mood when pleasant thoughts / Bring sad thoughts to the mind. [Lines written in Early Spring]

26 If this belief from heaven be sent, / If such be Nature's holy plan, / Have I not reason to lament / What man has made of man? [Ib.]

27 The sweetest thing that ever grew / Beside a human door! [Lucy Gray]

28 O'er rough and smooth she trips along, / And never looks behind; / And sings a solitary song / That whistles in the wind. [Ib.]

1 'Twas pastime to be bound / Within the sonnet's scanty plot of ground; / Pleased if some souls (for such there needs must be) / Who have felt the weight of too much liberty, / Should find brief solace there, as I have found. [Miscellaneous Sonnets, I. 1]

2 A flock of sheep that leisurely pass by, / One after one; the sound of rain, and bees / Murmuring; the fall of rivers, winds and seas, / Smooth fields, white sheets of water, and pure sky; / I have thought of all by turns, and yet do lie / Sleepless! [Ib. I. 14, 'To Sleep']

3 The first cuckoo's melancholy cry. [Ib.]

4 Blessed barrier between day and day. [Ib.]

5 Surprised by joy – impatient as the wind / I turned to share the transport. [Ib. I. 27]

6 The holy time is quiet as a nun / Breathless with adoration. [Ib. I. 30]

7 Where lies the land to which yon ship must go? [Ib. I. 31]

8 The world is too much with us; late and soon, / Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers: / Little we see in Nature that is ours; / We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon! / The sea that bares her bosom to the moon; / The winds that will be howling at all hours, / And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers; / For this, for everything, we are out of tune. [Ib. I. 33]

9 Great God! I'd rather be / A pagan suckled in a creed outworn; / So might I, standing on this pleasant lea, / Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn; / Have sight of Proteus rising from the sea; / Or hear old Triton blow his wreathèd horn. [Ib.]

10 Scorn not the Sonnet; Critic, you have frowned, / Mindless of its just honours; with this key / Shakspeare unlocked his heart. [Ib. II. 1]

11 When a damp / Fell round the path of Milton, in his hand / The thing became a trumpet; whence he blew / Soul-animating strains – alas, too few! [Ib.]

12 Earth has not anything to show more fair: / Dull would be he of soul who could pass by / A sight so touching in its majesty: / This city now doth, like a garment, wear / The beauty of the morning; silent, bare, / Ships, towers, domes, theatres, and temples lie / Open unto the fields, and to the sky; / All bright and glittering in the smokeless air. [Miscellaneous Sonnets, II. 36, 'Upon Westminster Bridge']

13 Ne'er saw I, never felt, a calm so deep! / The river glideth at his own sweet will: / Dear God! the very houses seem asleep; / And all that mighty heart is lying still! [Ib.]

14 Why art thou silent! Is thy love a plant / Of such weak fibre that the treacherous air / Of absence withers what was once so fair? [Ib. III. 25]

15 A Poet! – He hath put his heart to school. [Ib. III. 27]

21 Men are we, and must grieve when even the shade / Of that which once was great is passed away. [Ib.]

22 Thou hast great allies; / Thy friends are exultations, agonies, / And love, and man's unconquerable mind. [Ib. I. 8, 'To Toussaint l'Ouverture']

23 Two voices are there; one is of the sea, / One of the mountains; each a mighty voice: / In both from age to age thou didst rejoice, / They were thy chosen music, Liberty! [Ib. I. 12, 'On the Subjugation of Switzerland']

24 Plain living and high thinking are no more. [Ib. I. 13, 'Written in London, Sept. 1802']

25 Milton! thou shouldst be living at this hour: / England hath need of thee: she is a fen / Of stagnant waters. [Ib. I. 14, 'London, 1802']

26 Thy soul was like a star, and dwelt apart. [Ib.]

3 O Nightingale, thou surely art / A creature of a 'fiery heart'. [O Nightingale]

4 That was the song – the song for me! [Ib.]

5 There was a time when meadow, grove, and stream, / The earth, and every common sight, / To me did seem / Apparelled in celestial light, / The glory and the freshness of a dream. / It is not now as it hath been of yore; – / Turn wheresoe'er I may, / By night or day, / The things which I have seen I now can see no more. [Ode, Intimations of Immortality, i]

6 The rainbow comes and goes, / And lovely is the rose, / The moon doth with delight / Look round her when the heavens are bare, / Waters on a starry night / Are beautiful and fair; / The sunshine is a glorious birth; / But yet I know, where'er I go. / That there hath past away a glory from the earth. [Ib. ii]

7 While the young lambs bound / As to the tabor's sound. [Ib. iii]

8 A timely utterance gave that thought relief, / And I again am strong. [Ib.]

9 The winds come to me from the fields of sleep. [Ib.]

10 The babe leaps up on his mother's arm. [Ib. iv]

11 Whither is fled the visionary gleam? / Where is it now, the glory and the dream? [Ib.]

12 Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting: / The soul that rises with us, our life's star, / Hath had elsewhere its setting, / And cometh from afar: / Not in entire forgetfulness, / And not in utter nakedness, / But trailing clouds of glory do we come / From God who is our home: / Heaven lies around us in our infancy! / Shades of the prison-house begin to close / Upon the growing boy. [Ib. v]

13 The youth who daily farther from the east / Must travel, still is Nature's priest, / And by the vision splendid / Is on his way attended; / At length the man perceives it die away, / And fade into the light of common day. [Ib.]

14 Earth fills her lap with pleasures of her own; / Yearnings she hath in her own natural kind. [Ode, Intimations of Immortality, vi]

15 Behold the child among his new-born blisses, / A six-years' darling of a pigmy size! [Ib. vii]

16 Thou best philosopher, who yet dost keep / Thy heritage, thou eye among the blind. [Ib. viii]

17 Provoke / The years to bring the inevitable yoke. [Ib.]

18 O joy! that in our embers / Is something that doth live, / That nature yet remembers / What was so fugitive! / The thought of our past years in me doth breed / Perpetual benediction. [Ib. ix]

19 Those obstinate questionings / Of sense and outward things, / Fallings from us, vanishings; / Blank misgivings of a Creature / Moving about in worlds not realised, / High instincts before which our mortal nature / Did tremble like a guilty thing surprised. [Ib.]

20 Hence in a season of calm weather / Though inland far we be, / Our souls have sight of that immortal sea / Which brought us hither, / Can in a moment travel thither, / And see the children sport upon the shore, / And hear the mighty waters rolling evermore. [Ib.]

21 Though nothing can bring back the hour / Of splendour in the grass, of glory in the flower. [Ib. x]

22 In the faith that looks through death, / In years that bring the philosophic mind. [Ib.]

23 And O, ye fountains, meadows, hills and groves, / Forebode not any severing of our loves! / Yet in my heart of hearts I feel your might. [Ib. xi]

24 The clouds that gather round the setting sun / Do take a sober colouring from an eye / That hath kept watch o'er man's mortality. [Ib.]

25 To me the meanest flower that blows can give / Thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears. [Ib.]

13 Small circles glittering idly in the moon, / Until they melted all into one track / Of sparkling light. [Ib. I. 365]

14 A huge peak, black and huge, / As if with voluntary power instinct / Upreared its head. [Ib. I. 378]

15 The grim shape / Towered up between me and the stars, and still, / For so it seemed, with purpose of its own / And measured motion like a living thing, / Strode after me. [Ib. I. 381]

16 My brain / Worked with a dim and undetermined sense / Of unknown modes of being. [The Prelude, I. 391]

17 Huge and mighty forms, that do not live / Like living men, moved slowly through the mind / By day, and were a trouble to my dreams. [Ib. I. 398]

18 The leafless trees and every icy crag / Tinkled like iron. [Ib. I. 441]

19 Science appears as what in truth she is, / Not as our glory and our absolute boast, / But as a succedaneum, and a prop / To our infirmity. [Ib. II. 212]

20 Where the statue stood / Of Newton with his prism and silent face, / The marble index of a mind for ever / Voyaging through strange seas of thought, alone. [Ib. III. 60]

21 I made no vows, but vows / Were then made for me; bond unknown to me / Was given, that I should be, else sinning greatly, / A dedicated spirit. [Ib. IV. 334]

22 When from our better selves we have too long / Been parted by the hurrying world, and droop, / Sick of its business, of its pleasures tired, / How gracious, how benign, is solitude. [Ib. IV. 354]

23 Spirits overwrought / Were making night do penance for a day / Spent in a round of strenuous idleness. [Ib. IV. 376]

24 There was a boy: ye knew him well, ye cliffs / And islands of Winander! [Ib. V. 364 (cf. There Was a Boy)]

25 When the earliest stars began / To move along the edges of the hills. [Ib. V. 366 (cf. as above)]

26 A gentle shock of mild surprise / Has carried far into his heart the voice / Of mountain torrents. [Ib. V. 382 (cf. as above)]

16 Like a sea-beast crawled forth, that on a shelf / Of rock or sand reposeth, there to sun itself. [Ib.]

17 Upon the margin of that moorish flood / Motionless as a cloud the old man stood, / That heareth not the loud winds when they call; / And moveth all together if it move at all. [Resolution and Independence, xi]

18 Mighty poets in their misery dead. [Ib. xvii]

19 Still glides the stream, and shall for ever glide; / The form remains, the function never dies. [The River Duddon, 34, 'After-Thought']

20 Enough, if something from our hands have power / To live, and act, and serve the future hour; / And if, as toward the silent tomb we go, / Through love, through hope, and faith's transcendent dower, / We feel that we are greater than we know. [Ib.]

21 The good old rule / Sufficeth them, the simple plan, / That they should take, who have the power, / And they should keep who can. [Rob Roy's Grave, 37]

22 A youth to whom was given / So much of earth – so much of heaven, / And such impetuous blood. [Ruth, 124]

23 She dwelt among the untrodden ways / Beside the springs of Dove, / A maid whom there were none to praise / And very few to love:

A violet by a mossy stone / Half hidden from the eye! / – Fair as a star, when only one / Is shining in the sky.

She lived alone, and few could know / When Lucy ceased to be; / But she is in her grave, and, oh, / The difference to me! [She Dwelt among the untrodden Ways]

24 She was a phantom of delight / When first she gleamed upon my sight; / A lovely apparition, sent / To be a moment's ornament. [She Was a Phantom of Delight]

25 I saw her upon nearer view, / A spirit, yet a woman too! / Her household motions light and free, / And steps of virgin-liberty. [Ib.]

26 And now I see with eye serene / The very pulse of the machine; / A being breathing thoughtful breath, / A traveller between life and death. [Ib.]

27 A perfect woman, nobly planned, / To warn, to comfort, and command. [Ib.]

28 For still, the more he works, the more / Do his weak ankles swell. [Simon Lee, 59]

20 O heart! O heart! if she'd but turn her head, / You'd know the folly of being comforted. [Ib.]

21 The little fox he murmured, / 'O what of the world's bane?' / The sun was laughing sweetly, / The moon plucked at my rein; / But the little red fox murmured, / 'O do not pluck at his rein, / He is riding to the townland / That is the world's bane.' [The Happy Townland]

22 I have spread my dreams under your feet; / Tread softly because you tread on my dreams. [He wishes for the Cloths of Heaven]

23 Out-worn heart, in a time out-worn, / Come clear of the nets of wrong and right. [Into the Twilight]

1 Nor law, nor duty bade me fight, / Nor public men, nor cheering crowds, / A lonely impulse of delight / Drove to this tumult in the clouds. [An Irish Airman Foresees his Death]

2 I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree, / And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made: / Nine bean-rows will I have there, a hive for the honey-bee, / And live alone in the bee-loud glade. [The Lake Isle of Innisfree]

3 And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow, / Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings. [Ib.]

4 And evening full of the linnet's wings. [Ib.]

5 The wind blows out of the gates of the day, / The wind blows over the lonely of heart, / And the lonely of heart is withered away. [The Land of Heart's Desire]

6 The land of faery, / Where nobody gets old and godly and grave, / Where nobody gets old and crafty and wise, / Where nobody gets old and bitter of tongue. [Ib.]

7 All things uncomely and broken, all things worn out and old, / The cry of a child by the roadway, the creak of a lumbering cart, / The heavy steps of the ploughman, splashing the wintry mould, / Are wronging your image that blossoms a rose in the deeps of my heart. [The Lover tells of the Rose in his Heart]

8 Time drops in decay, / Like a candle burnt out. [The Moods]

9 Why, what could she have done, being what she is? / Was there another Troy for her to burn? [No Second Troy]

10 A pity beyond all telling / Is hid in the heart of love. [The Pity of Love]

11 Rose of all Roses, Rose of all the World! [The Rose of Battle]

12 Who dreamed that beauty passes like a dream? [The Rose of the World]

13 Under the passing stars, foam of the sky, / Lives on this lonely face. [Ib.]

14 Turning and turning in the widening gyre / The falcon cannot hear the falconer; / Things fall apart; the centre cannot hold; / Mere anarchy is loosed upon the world, / The blood-dimmed tide is loosed, and everywhere / The ceremony of innocence is drowned; / The best lack all conviction, while the worst / Are full of passionate intensity. [The Second Coming]

15 And what rough beast, its hour come round at last, / Slouches towards Bethlehem to be born? [Ib.]

16 Far-off, most secret and inviolate Rose, / Enfold me in my hour of hours. [The Secret Rose]

17 A woman of so shining loveliness / That men threshed corn at midnight by a tress, / A little stolen tress. [Ib.]

18 When shall the stars be blown about the sky, / Like the sparks blown out of a smithy, and die? [Ib.]

19 Romantic Ireland's dead and gone, / It's with O'Leary in the grave. [September 1913]

20 And pluck till time and times are done / The silver apples of the moon, / The golden apples of the sun. [The Song of Wandering Aengus]

21 The brawling of a sparrow in the eaves, / The brilliant moon and all the milky sky, / And all that famous harmony of leaves, / Had blotted out man's image and his cry. [The Sorrow of Love]

22 Civilisation is hooped together, brought / Under a rule, under the semblance of peace / By manifold illusion. [Supernatural Songs, 'Meru']

23 What shall I do with this absurdity – / O heart, O troubled heart – this caricature, / Decrepit age that has been tied to me / As to a dog's tail? [The Tower, i]

24 Death and life were not / Till man made up the whole, / Made lock, stock and barrel / Out of his bitter soul. [Ib. iii]

25 When you are old and grey and full of sleep, / And nodding by the fire, take down this book. [When you are old]

26 But one man loved the pilgrim soul in you, / And loved the sorrows of your changing face. [Ib.]

27 Love fled / And paced upon the mountains overhead / And hid his face amid a crowd of stars. [Ib.]

INDEX

References are given thus: '173 : 3', which means 'page 173, quotation 3'.

Plurals, and the third person singular of verbs, where these take only an 's', are indexed with the singular or nominative; for example, 'hate' and 'hates' are indexed together, 'hate' being abbreviated to 'h.', and 'hates' to 'h.s'. Where the plural or third person form has '-es' or '-ies' (e.g. 'misses', 'hurries'), these are indexed separately.

This index includes foreign as well as English words. The former are printed in italics.

Irregular, archaic, and dialect spellings are indexed under the normal modern spelling of the word, unless the former spelling is likely to be well known. Some words are indexed under both forms.

Friend – contd
save me, from the candid f. 97:15 say, 'Welcome, f.!' 127:9
separateth very f.s 39:34
shameful to distrust one's f.s 297:15 sharpeneth the countenance of his f. 40:22 their sad f.s do say 144:4
those f.s thou hast 314:32 thy f.s are exultations 422:22 to his f.s and his relations 170:15 troops of f.s 335:17 troops of unrecording f.s 391:24 truest f. to thy lover 244:14 want of f.s, and empty purse 65:8
way to have a f. is to be one 154:24 whirring me from my f.s 344:22 who lost no f. 288:5
who's your fat f.? 78:13 with a religious book, or f. 427:14

then they dream of l. 347:29 they above l. to be loved 366:7
this spring of l. resembleth 353:23 those who l. want wisdom 362:12
thou shalt l. thy neighbour 32:1 48:38 though last, not least in l. 327:22 thy l. is better than wine 42:4 to be wise, and l. 351:19 to let the warm L. in 217:10 to look at was to l. 387:10 to Mercy, Pity, Peace and L. all pray 60:23 to tell thy l., l. that never told can be 60:2 true l. never did run smooth 339:27 true l.'s the gift 305:27 true l. sits him down 8:11 trust thou thy L. 302:14 turns to thoughts of l. 387:5
two l.s I have 357:2
use him as though you l. him 62:13 waft her l. to come 338:26 wanton l. corrupteth 17:21 wayward is this foolish l. 353:22 we must l. one another or die 14:5
what l. I bore to thee 421:3
when I was in l. with you 199:17 when l. and duty clash! 389:28 when l. begins to sicken and decay 328:5
when l. once pleads admission 1:12 when L. speaks, the voice 331:22 where L. is throned 352:23 whoever l.s, if he do not 142:13 whose l. will never die 251:3
whose l.s I prize 313:5
with all their quantity of l. 319:26 with all thy faults I l. thee 124:33 with l. brooding there 418:16 you cannot call it l. 318:14
you made me l. you 242:15
your true l.'s coming 352:16
Love-adept: dreaming like a l.-a. 362:16
Loved: better l. ye canna be 267:20 better l. you'll never be 191:26 better to have l. and lost 87:28 for I l. the man 212:20
I l. him for himself alone 365:5
I l. him not; and yet 230:3
l. her that she did pity them 342:32
l. long since, and lost 270:13
l. needs only to be seen 148:1
l. not wisely but too well 344:16
l. so long and sees no more 298:18 never l. sae kindly 82:20 never to have l. at all 385:14
no man ever l. 356:26
no sooner l. but they sighed 312:15 out upon it, I have l. 377:11 place and the l. one all together 74:26 say why I l. him 263:13
she who has never l. 166:11 sought the thing he l. 421:17
sour to them that l. 326:11 that l. not at first sight 245:28 this man l. me! 230:5
thou hast not l. 310:34 to have l., to have thought 10:16 what did your L. One pass on from? 411:17

it was a l. 312:19
l. all as frantic 340:26
l. of my life, O soldier-saint 76:25
l.'s ear will hear 331:21
l.'s eyes will gaze 331:21
l.s are round her 265:5
l.s cannot see the pretty follies 337:31
l.s find their peace at last 160:7
l.s, just at twelve, awake 288:12
l.s lying two by two 199:15
l.s scorn whom that love do possess 366:7
l.s were all untrue 149:12
l.s' seasons run 143:29 lunatic, the l., and the poet 340:25 make two l.s happy 283:25 my fause l. stole my rose 85:4
old l.s are soundest 412:8
pair of star-crossed l.s 347:20 run into't as to a l.'s bed 310:3
sighed as a l. 167:6
such a constant l. 377:11

w.s of kites or crows 260:19
w.s or women have 326:1
w.s that make ambition virtue! 343:31
what can w. but endless w. 260:8
Warble: w., child 331:15
Warbler: Attic w. pours her throat 177:14 ev'ry w. has his tune by heart 124:24
Ward: pretty young W.s in Chancery 169:1
thou knowest my old w. 321:5
W. has no heart 298:16
Warden: stood the W. of Judas 27:10
Warder: what, w., ho! 306:16
War-drum: w.-d. throbbed no longer 387:17
Ware: I should dine at W. 123:4
Warfare: rest! thy w. o'er 305:16
Waring: what's become of W. 78:5
Warld: this fals w. is but transitory 150:1
Warm: aha, I am w. 43:31
be w., but pure 92:18
Warn: to w., to comfort, and command 425:27
Warning: give w. to the world 355:27 or come without w. 130:9
steal away, give little w. 22:4
w. of what I feel now 94:7
Warp: weave the w., and weave the woof 176:15
Warrant: truth shall be thy w. 295:9
Warrior: British w. queen 121:26 but he lay like a w. 419:17 home they brought her w. 390:7
w. famousèd for fight 355:6
who is the happy w.? 420:8
Warsaw: calm reigned in W. 307:19
Wart: these roughnesses, pimples, w.s 127:20
Warwick: W. and Talbot, Salisbury 324:25
W., peace ... proud setter up 325:19
Was: what w., again may be 76:20
Wash: w. me, and I shall be whiter 36:5
Washing: home, and, being w. day 281:4
nothing grows ... only w. 394:17 taking in one another's w. 6:11
Washington: bequeathed the name of W. 93:12
Wash-pot: Moab is my w.-p. 36:13
Wassailing: here we come a-w. 7:12
Waste: melancholy w. of putrid marshes 359:15 that w.s and withers there 416:8
Watch: as a w. in the night 37:7
call the rest of the w. together 341:26 ef you don't w. out! 296:17 for some must w. 317:26 set a w. ... before my mouth 38:28 short as the w. that ends 411:11
w. and chain, of course 298:12
w. and pray 49:30 154:2
w. not one another out of fear 142:25
w., sir, hath indeed comprehended 341:33
w. to babble and to talk 341:27
Watcher: some w. of the skies 218:4
Watchman: w., what of the night? 43:4
Watch-tower: w.-t. in the skies 254:3
Water: as ready by w. as by land 154:7
as the sound of many w.s 56:30 both the w.s and the wind 344:21
but limns the w. 19:13
cold w.s to a thirsty soul 40:10 conscious w. saw its God 127:4
deeds shall be in w. writ 26:8
Water – con'd drink no longer w. 55:26
fades o'er the w.s blue 88:17 fountain of the w. of life 57:22
he took w. and washed 49:32 hear thee where the w.s run 386:19 how does the w. come down 370:11
I came like W. 159:3
I don't care where the w. goes 110:9
king over the w. 6:16
lay a great w., and the moon was full 384:25
leadeth me beside the still w.s 35:9
let him seasonably w. 18:33 little drops of w. 100:2
little w. clears us 333:26 living w.s and streams 42:11
many w.s cannot quench love 42:16 mighty w.s rolling evermore 423:20 more w. glideth by the mill 351:2 moving w.s at their priestlike task 217:16 nothing but w.s wap 244:10 sitteth upon many w.s 57:14 smooth runs the w. 325:11
so low that she drinks w. 105:24 stolen w.s are sweet 39:13 throwing w. into the sea 104:15 wash me in the w. 8:16
w. in the rough rude sea 345:18
w. is best 282:2
w. lapping on the crag 384:29
w. that goes by his mill 85:24
w., w., everywhere 114:23
w. willy-nilly flowing 159:4
w.s cover the sea 3:6
w.s of the heart 394:6
w.s on a starry night 423:6
w.s [quiet] as the shore 380:13
w.s, rolling from their mountain springs 421:13
w.s wild went o'er his child 96:16 what dreadful noise of w. 346:29
what's the w. in French, sir? 136:26 whose name was writ in w. 219:20 world of w.s dark and deep 256:35 written in wind and ... w. 103:13
Water-cart: doin' somethin' in the w.-c. way 139:5
Watercresses: looked rare with bulrush and w. 78:10 that world-earthquake, W.! 389:11

W. was won on the playing fields 412:25
Waterloo: W.! W.! W.! Morne plaine! 200:22
Waterman: great-grandfather was but a w. 79:22
Watermen: w. that row one way and look another 85:10
Wattle: did you ever hear of Captain W.? 133:4
Wave: and what a w. must be 139:24 blue w. rolls nightly 92:34 came the w.s and washed it 371:17 cleave ... thy glassy w. 178:8
climbing up the climbing w. 388:1
come as the w.s come 306:21
glassy, cool, translucent w. 253:13
I wish you a w. o' the sea 354:14

Wave – contd
lift me as a w., a leaf 361:19 light-hearted masters of the w.s 11:14 longed-for dash of w.s 11:20 mounting w. will roll us shorewards 387:29 out-did the sparkling w.s in glee 421:7
silver w.s of thy sweet singing 362:25 sunk beneath the w. 123:20 thro' the w. that runs for ever 386:30 upon an orient w. 255:11 walk o'er the western w. 364:1
w. hangs that shall cut off their sun 130:10
w.s beside them danced 421:7
w.s make towards the pebbled shore 355:19
w.s wanne 244:10
what are the wild w.s saying 100:4
when the w.s went high 146:20 wild w.s whist 349:37 with w. and whirlwind wrestle 236:9
Wax: as w. melteth before the fire 36:22
how neat she spreads the w. 410:19

This dictionary is designed for the casual reader. It sets out to give him the common stock of quotations from Shakespeare, the Bible, and Paradise Lost, side by side with remarks and stray lines by almost unknown writers who have enriched the language with only a single phrase. Foreign languages are quoted in the original where the quotation is generally remembered in its foreign form, but an English translation is always provided. Modern authors have been drawn on for what the compilers believe to be their memorable sayings, and the ancients have been pruned of many lines that have gone into previous dictionaries of quotations, but which are now almost certainly forgotten. The reader, the writer, the after-dinner speaker, the crossword-puzzle solver, and the browser – all will find what they want among the 12,000 or so quotations of this dictionary.

J. M. Cohen is the translator of several Penguin Classics, including Cervantes, Rabelais, and Montaigne, and has compiled three Comic and Curious anthologies for Penguins. Mark Cohen, his son, is particularly responsible in this dictionary for the more recent authors, for the dramatists, and for certain seventeenth-century writers in whom he is interested.
